Whereas a few of the more skeptical citizens have been wondering whether their pocketbooks would have a rich green-and-silver lining next year, Treasury officials put their fears at rest this week. If you are an average citizen, you will wear out $35 in currency this coming fiscal year, the officials announced. For that reason, government printing presses are today roaring at top speed, producing $18 million in new bills daily to replace the frayed and worn-out currency. Those whirring presses certainly constitute one business that's always in the money!

MEN AGAINST A MOUNTAIN

In a world where most of us hold to the task whereby we earn our daily bread, and where the land rings loud with clamorous disputes over employment, production, and taxation, it is interesting to read of the men still willing to risk their lives and fortunes in pursuit of high adventure alone. That, and perhaps one moment of fame, are their sole rewards — if they come back alive. This week seven members of another British expedition are again making their tortuous way up toward Mt. Everest's peak where no man has yet trod. Everest's howling blizzards and fierce monsoon have proved themselves — thus far! — implacable watchdogs against all trespassers into their wild mountain kingdom. They have slain many a would-be conqueror of Himalaya's heights. Sometimes the murderous monsoon whips across Everest in late May, sometimes not until early July. For the sake of the Seven, we hope the watchdogs of that mighty mountain sleep late this year!

Ethiopia's Farewell

The representatives of fifteen nations sat silent yesterday as a little black man, sick and defeated, bowed gently to them all and walked slowly out of the Council room at Geneva. They had listened in silence while the one-time Emperor of the last black empire told the white world what he thought of its morals and its ethics. He was pleading a lost cause, and he knew it. For overwhelming reasons of their own the statesmen present had already made their decision on his case. But also he knew that in his dignified despair he was cutting a better figure than his auditors. They knew it, too. In his defeat Haile Selassie tasted the revenge of giving the Council of the League a half hour of the most acute discomfort it has ever exeprienced. Ethiopia, dying, delivered the funeral oration at a death that was not hers alone.

The honors of the occasion go to Haile Selassie as the striking symbol of the end of an epoch starred by many hopes, many illusnons and many hypocrisies. The tragedy of the Negus is not lessened because he never completely dominated his dark and primitive empire, but it is heightened because he could have saved the best part of it if he had not counted on the support of the League and dealt directly with the aggressor. The other colonial Powers never carried complete conviction into their condemnation of Italy for doing, too late, what they had done before. The experiment in sanctions was never whole-hearted. The nations in the League, in short, never learned not to act as nations.

Now the artifices and unrealities of an epoch are swept away with its dreams, and on the bare, day-lighted stage are pathetic, well-meaning, frightening figures, but none that are wholly admirable, honest or romantic. Even that Great Bystander, the United States, today underlining the scene at Geneva by reiterating its policy of non-recognition of the fruits of aggression, has joined the majority in acquiescing in a conquest far more cruel than that of Ethiopia. Austria was not even granted Haile Selassie's privilege of bidding the world a contemptuous farewell. New York Times

COMMENTS ON WORLD EVENTS

Said the Dallas Journal: "Dallas leaders who seek to stir up hatred between white people and black people are up to no good, whether those leaders be of the one race or of the other . . . All that is mean and cowardly and cruel when done by the worst elements of German blood against a helpless Jewish minority in Vienna does not become noble and brave and humanitarian when proposed by the worst elements of American blood against a helpless Negro minority in Dallas . . . We have need to be on the alert against these professional haters."

From the Dallas Morning News: "Dallas' record on the score of civil liberties received another black mark Friday when the Dallas Interracial Commission was virtually forced to change from the Central Y. W. C. A. to the Moorland (colored) branch of the Y. M. C. A. a meeting which a visiting Negro was the principal speaker . . . The fact that a police guard was considered advisable will tend to give Dallas an added reputation for infolerance . . . It is a pity that the activities of a few agitators who do not truly represent the city can so effectively give Dallas a black eye."

Again from the Dallas Journal: "White men who hold that the superiority of their race is threatened by the exercise of free speech by a Negro before an audience which has specially invited him to come and speak, have a queer idea of superiority. A superiority so frail that it cannot survive that must be pretty weak . . Only the man who is uncertain about his social position makes a great noise about it."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Perhaps a copy of a leteer which I recently mailed to Mr. Leon Washington, editor of the Los Angeles Sentinel, may interest some of your readers. The letter follows . . .

Mr. Leon Washington.
Editor of the Los Angeles Sentinel,
Los Angeles, Calif.,
Dear Sir:

During the past few weeks, I have noticed in your paper that certain political candidates seeking public offices in near future elections have been sent letters by you and your newspaper office requesting that Negro girls be employed in the campaign offices of these candidates as secretaries or right. I believe that your last stenographers. That is very commendable and no more than publication revealed that only one candidate has even acknowledged receipt of your letters.

You state that "maybe. 80,000 votes did not count," maybe, but let us first analyze the situation. In the first place, if Negro girls are hired in the capacity of clerks, or stenographers, or even secretaries for the customary few cents a day, or volunteer their services free with the hope of receiving future recompense, that particular candidate, if and when elected will beyond doubt be through with the colored electorate until next election.

The funds alloted for these secretaries, etc., during political campaigns are exceedingly low.

When Negroes contact the elected public official, he merely greets them, rocks back in his swival seat, puffs his cigar, gazes idly out the window, and with a cynical twinkle in his eye, provokes a twisted-faced sarcastic and triumphant smile and informs his Negro constituency that he employed so and so during his campaign as one of his office girls, which indicates his racial impartiality. These conditions only indicate that Negroes are not going to be employed by him or through his recommendations, and that issues affecting the colored voters are obsolete as far as he or his office are concerned.

Negroes are entitled to appointive positions meted out by public officials and public officers according to their racial representation, ability, and merits only.

Tell me, why should a candidate receive support merely because he hired a Negro girl a day before the primaries, and whose past record indicates that he is diametrically opposed to the better interests of the colored citizenry.

Suppose that we scrutinize very honestly the past and present records of public service rendered by all of these public officials and candidates in order to ascertain if they are meritorious of our group support and worthy of the name and responsibility embodying the office sought. We should investigate in the minutest detail the past and present policies of these candidates to learn whether or not they will have a definite, concrete, and workable platform which will be utilized to the benefit of the masses of all race groups.

Regarding the colored electorate, . . . colored citizens are as diversified in their political thinking and casting of votes as the four corners of the earth. An aggregation of Negro voters in any community vote from one end of the ballot to the other. Please inform me where these 80,000 Negroes are, I really desire to know, please be specific. Only God knows which way the Negroes are going to vote. Maybe two thirds of the "80,000 Negroes" wherever, they are, are under the voting age, maybe half of those who are registered voters may not vote, and perhaps the remaining half will scatter their votes equally among the various candidates.

Please inform me what has become of the fine battle which you were waging against the Los Angeles Railway Co., for refusing to hire Negroes in the capacity of motor-men, street-car conductors, electricians, etc.

I am going to acquaint other newspapers of these grave situations affecting our group by dispatching copies of this letter to their offices.

Although I am a young man: I am not too young to think, nor too young to investigate anything, and am too full of fight not to act an dearry out the dictates of a keen sense of justice.

Very truly yours.

DR. TEMPLE'S RADIO BROADCAST

Dear Editor:

The radio broadcast of Dr. Ruth Temple last month found favor with so many people that I have been anticipating more of them. In spite of the neumerous magazine articles, especially those in the Ladies Home Journal, women still seem to think the subject of syphilis and gonorrhea is taboo.

Those who heard the broadcast remarked that many an unspoken question had been answered because everything was explained so clearly. Women, who were unfortunate enough to miss it, have been asking if there will beanother.

You have the means through radio to educate the public in fighting venereal disease and take it out of the whispering stage. Many people think there is not a cure so they hesitate to consult a doctor as to whether they are infected.

The busy houswife hasn't time to sit down and read but she finds time to listen to a worthwhile radio broadcast. the public to write their questions to you, to be answered on some future broadcast. A radio talk of questions and answers is so much better than a lecture, so please give us more radio broadcasts on the subject of venereal disease.

Sincerely
(MRS) JEANETTE ZELL

I couldn't say nothing right away, 'cause she had spoke so sudden an' harsh 'till it kinder froze me up. All the time though, I'm trying to figure out which one of my old sweeties she is. You know when a feller's been a ladies-man all his life, an' has did a lot of traveling, he just can't remember all the diff'rent women he promised to mary. I looks at Small Black to see if he could give me the dope on this "broad" but he was standing there trembling like a leaf on a tree. Before I could figure out whether to answer yes, or no, the landlady hollers out:

"You'se the same guy. Get outer here, an' get out quick. If you don't, I'll SCALD you. If it hadn't been for you telling my husband a lot of lies about me back in 'Frisco, me an' Small Black would've been together yet." An' she made for the kettle on the kitchen stove.

from him: and today, for protecting what he thought IRREVOCABLY his, that man stands at the bar of Justice with every chance of receiving a death sentence.

But, then, two innocent men have died, victims of Farley's deadly aim. Should their deaths go unavenged?

But actually these questions are not of great importance. The real issue lies deep in a system which allows such things to occur. Through the medium of this case — whether Farley be declared innocent or guilty — I believe the State of California will effect a great reform, and if it does not, I am fearful for the future. It is just such incidents which bring us suddenly face to face with great problems — imperfections in our laws. They should be regarded.

Plagued with an ulcer, a powerful man may die if he does not take the proper surgical steps. So too may our great democracy die if we are not diligent in cutting out the ulcers of unfairness in the law.

tance of his products has made it possible for his company to keep the force working through the depression. He points with satisfaction to the work of his sales-manager, William Woodson, whose ability in this important position has meant much to the company's progress.

"What about your expansion program?" he was asked.

"The idea of expansion has been first and foremost in my mind since first I started out as my own salesman", he said. "As a concern expands, naturally it has to employ more people."

I put Mr. Parker down in my little black book of Who's Who for his wonderful vision and activity in a field packed with competition. He worked one year alone, on foot, knocking on doors and having many slammed in his face. Then came the glorious day when his savings went for a Ford truck, then the rental of a store front and the wholesale field beckoned: help was needed. He hired a girl to keep his store front while he peddled to restaurants. Busines grew and in three years time there were three men on trucks and four employes inside and the store front became too small for a man who wanted to be a leader for his people by actually applying himself to his work and providing for others.

Work produces results and by 1926 the new plant was built on State street, designed to meet the requirements of the United States department of agriculture, so as to do an interstate business.

Today, the company serves Chicago, Gary, Ind.; Evanston and Chicago Heights with four refrigerated trucks. In all classes of stores, including chains as well as independents, Parker House products are sold.

"HUSTLIN' HANK" FORCES ROSS TO RETIRE

Los Angeles' own Henry Armstrong is being hailed all over the nation this week as the greatest fighter in modern boxing history following his sensational victory over Barney Ross to win the welterweight championship of the world. In Madison Square Garden's Long Island Bowl, Armstrong, already the featherweight champion, slashed and hammered the Chicagoan all over the ring to win a unanimous decision and in most experts' opinion 13 of the 15 rounds.

Starting his climb up the fistic ladder of fame in this city, Armstrong seeks his third title next month, July 26, when he meets Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers. Ross told newspapermen that he was retiring after absorbing the worst beating ever administered in the ring.

LAST MONDAY, Senator Bilbo, Democrat of Mississippi and a leader of the recent anti-lynching bill filibuster, introduced an amendmnet to the relief-recovery bill asking for an appropriation of funds to "repatriate" the Negro—that is, transport all willing Afro-Americans to the Republic of Liberia.

The selection of Negroes in a repatriation scheme is a strange one to students of American history. The fact, in most cases, is that the colored citizen of the United States can trace his ancestry on this continent further back than the average white. Whereas the Negro has been a national figure since the very beginning of our history, the greatest waves of white immigration occurred only during the past half-century.

Throughout the story of America the exploits of Negro pioneers, soldiers, workers, and thinkers may be found. There has been no group as important in the agricultural development of the nation, and what we term "American Culture" is largely a product of the Negro influence. The only folklore the nation can hold claim to is of black origin. Likewise in the world of music, the two distinctly American contributions in that field — spirituals and jazz — are brain-children of the race. The inception of our poetry is seen in the writings of Phyllis Wheatley and Paul Lawrence Dunbar — and among the founding fathers of modern journalism, Frederick Douglas.

Possibly the Senator from Mississippi is not aware that a Negro was the founder of the City of Chicago; that five thousand free men of the race battled in the Revolution — still more in the War of 1812, and so on down the military history of the nation. It may be that Senator Bilbo does not know that there were some half dozen Negroes in the party of less than twenty that founded the pueblo of Los Angeles — that the idea of manual education as practiced thruout the world was first advocated by Booker T. Washington. There is hardly an American institution whose history will not reveal the name of some illustrious Afro-American.

If the United States, one of the most thinly PEOPLED of world powers, suffers from a sudden overflow of population, how much more fitting the "REPATRIATION" of the thousands upon thousands but recently immigrated who, perhaps, have not yet mastered the language or become acquainted with the customs of our land. Despite his claims to the CONTRARY, we feel certain the Senator will find it a difficult task to persuade Negro citizens to forsake their native land, for their place here has been purchased long since by the sweat and blood of ancestors.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS in Europe seem to indicate that Adolph Hitler contemplates an invasion of Czechoslovakia. As in the Austrian putsch, the German claim is that those of ARYAN descent in the smaller nation deserve the boon of government by the fatherland.

In this case, however, Hitler does not face a weak country — one ready and willing for the yoke of dictatorship. Democracy in Austria was a step-child of the Versaille's treaty—democracy in Czechoslovakia a matter of deep principle. The Czechs are a hard-bitten, hard-fighting people with a great love for independence. In an attack upon them, the new Germany will face a determined, armed resistance — one that will not fall prey to Nazi radio short-wave propaganda.

It is suggested that the Czechoslovakian republic take a more "intelligent attitude toward its German minority. There is no denying that the Germans within the republic have been grossly discriminated against and held in high disfavor. The Germans themselves have maintained an attitude of superiority and antagonism. The solution offered is land division which will create a more or less federal type of government. That is, a government composed of both a central unit and various sovereign states. It is held that by allowing Germans a maximum in local self-government their great thirst for alliance with the fatherland will be quenched.

Example nation is Switzerland, composed of German, French, and Italian minorities. Each group occupies separate states and has absolute power in local affairs; each sends representatives to a national congress. There is no interference by the central government in local policies, and all three languages are recognized and spoken in the national parliament. By this attitude of tolerance and goodwill, the Swiss have remained without internal strife for 700 years. Czechoslovakia, lone defender of democracy in central Europe, would do well to mimic her sister republic's milder ways. In the meantime, the world trembles

WATTS LABORER HELD IN MURDER OF ESTRANGED WIFE

Uncover Domestic 'Racket', Belief

Confesses Slaying of Wife in Home

Autopsy Shows 11 Gunshot Wounds in Chest of Dead Woman

"I haven't been of sound mind in two months. I have been absent-minded since my wife left me."

These are the words Ellis Black, 52-year-old laborer, allegedly used in confessing to police the fatal shooting of his wife, Mrs. Alberta Black, age 43, in their Watts home Tuesday afternoon of last week.

Black was held to answer to a murder charge following the coroner's inquest last Thursday morning. The coroner's jury found that Mrs. Black, a prominent churchwoman, came to her death by gunshot wounds in the chest, inflicted by Black with homicidal intent. Black assertedly signed a full confession within six hours after the tragedy.

The confession, allegedly made voluntarily to officers of the 77th street police station, was not introduced in the inquest. Testimonies of Mrs. Timothy Carroll, a roomer in the Black home and Robert Sturm, white truck driver, were heard.

ANTICIPATED TROUBLE

Mrs. Carroll told the jury that she was sitting in the living room of the Black home at 10802 Willowbrook avenue the afternoon of the murder when Mrs. Black arrived to remove her personal belongings. Evidently anticipating trouble with her husband, Mrs. Black was accompanied by two policemen. Shortly after their arrival, Mrs. Carroll told the jury, Black drove up.

Black displayed so cooperative an attitude toward his wife, aiding her in packing her possessions, that the policie left, obtaining his promise, however, not to make trouble.

Shortly after the police left, Mrs. Carroll said she heard four shots coming from the vicinity of the bedroom where Black and his wife were packing.

Sturm, who drives for the Bekin Van and Storage company, corroborated Mrs. Carroll's testimony, although he said he heard five shots. He and a partner in the kitchen were packing the dishes for storage. An autopsy report stated that there were 11 gunshot wounds in the dead woman's chest.

Neither witness testified to seeing Black with a gun. After shooting his wife he walked thru the house to his car and drove away. He returned later to give himself up to police. Sturm called police, who found Mrs. Black dead when they arri

ESTRANGED TWO MONTHS

In the confession Black said he had been estranged from his wife for two months. Their difference, he said, grew, out of influence assertedly wielded over Mrs. Black by a spiritualist, Magnolia Jackson, and a man, Pete McDonald.

During their estrangement, Mrs. Black had been living with

Eagle Editor On Negro Expo Body

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the California Eagle, accepted an appointment this week to the National Committee of the 75th year of Negro Progress to be held in Detroit in 140.

Mrs. Bass was notified of her appointment Monday by Dr. George W. Baber of Detroit, chairman of the committee, who wrote:

"The foremost place that you have obtained in the journalistic world of America has motivated us in asking that you accept this appoinment." Governor Frank Murphy is honorary chairman of the Exposition.

Worker Says She Labored Without Pay

Plaintiff May Take Case to Courts; EAGLE Will Support Probe

What appears as the newest American "slave-racket" was revealed this week by Mrs. Alice George, who reported the activities of the Wilshire Apartment Service to the EAGLE.

Mrs. George charged that the organization, which maintains circuits for domestic workers, had employed her for a period of four weeks and two days without remuneration. She further stated that her hours were sometime nine or ten a day; and she was steadily on the go from one swanky Hollywood apartment to another, two hours here, three there and so on. The woman also said that she had been required to sign a lengthy legal agreement with the Apartment Service company which stipulated that her earnings should represent 70% of the contract price agreed upon between the service and the owner of residences in which she should labor.

TO LABOR DIVISION

The EAGLE immediately took the case to the Division of Labor Statistics and Law Enforcement, charging operation of an employment agency without license, violation of laws regarding working hours, and failure to fulfill contract. Mrs. Leuna Haswell, operator of the Apartment Service, hailed before Deputy L. A. Barnes, justified her failure in paying Mrs. George on the ground that the colored woman had stolen a seven dollar check given her by a client and that Mrs. George had attempted to "steal the route for herself". These accusations were firmly denied.

Also present at the hearing was Mrs. Olli Lee, 1278 East 58th, a former employe of Mrs. Haswell. She charged that the white woman failed to pay her in a similar case, in which, however, she received part payment. Taking Mrs. Haswell into Small Claims court part of the little which she had received was returned to the service operator on the identical ground that Mrs. Lee too had "attempted to steal her route". Mrs. Haswell's success in the latter legal battle was attributed to her lawyer husband who, it is believed, keeps the organization just within the letter of the law. Through him, it was stated, Mrs. Haswell is able to entangle uninformed domestics ni webs of legal phraseology, thus defeating any attempts on their part to protest.

The Division of Labor Law Enforcement held that no law actually had been broken, and advised that the case be taken into the Civil courts.

SUPPORTED BY EAGLE

Supported by the EAGLE, Mrs. George has stated she will take the case into these courts, and it is believed that after adequate investigation an extensive Hollywood employment racket will be revealed.

A copy of the highly technical agreement Mrs. George signed, follows:

"AGREEMENT

"This Agreement made this 22nd day of April, 1938, by and between ALICE GEORGE herein called the party of the first part and WILSHIRE APARTMENT SERVICE, 3871 Wilshire Blvd., herein called the party of the second part, for the considerations herein named,

Fingerprint Experts On Way to Chicago to Link Suspect With Crimes

William Nixon, 18-yr.-old suspect in the murder of three Los Angeles women, will have has fingerprints taken and analyzed by Detective Lieutenant Tommy Bryan and M. G. Gaskell, fingerprint experts who left Los Angeles yesterday for Chicago in an attempt to wring a confession from the boy of the murders of the women.

According to Chicago authorities, Nixon has admitted three killings in Chicago but refused to confess participation in the Los Angeles murders.

Police in Los Angeles declared they found fingerprints at the scene of one of the murders that definitely link him with the crime.

They were found on a milk bottle in the home of Mrs. Edna Worden and her daughter, Marguerite, 12, found slain by a brick on April 4, 137, that match those of Nixon, it was reported.

An effort is also being made to link Nixon with the slaying of Mrs. Rose Valdez, killed with a brick in March, 137.

Chicago police will not release Nixon to California authorities before trying him there for the murder of Mrs. Florence Johnson, fireman's wife, brutally beaten to death with a brick last Friday.

Captain Homer Garrott, of Newton street station, told an EAGLE reporter that Nixon had been arrested for petty crimes committed around 5th and Central avenues before he left for Chicago.

Officers here received a telegram from Sheriff A. J. Siever, of Aaabama, recommending 'swift justice' for the boy in a suggested death sentence.

The message read:

"Rebort Nixon, Negro," the telegram read, "born July 19, 1919 has been a sneak thief and house burgular since he was six years old. Had no legal punishment suitable except chastisement.

"His mother is a cook. She worked for me while Robert was

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

As far as the colored actor and actress are concerned they have at last realized that acting is a highly developed profession. Many of our better artists are now seeking opportunity to act on the stage to get experience. Experience of the sort that teaches the right and sincere approach of a character. To build up the imagination until it becomes a fine tool, to mold out personalities, not only of your present time but characters of the past. It is particularly noticeable that the younger persons in the profession realize that they must know and understand the slogan, "TROUPING". And since directing Hall Johnson's "RUN LITTLE CHILLUN", I am finding out in a practical sense, if more actual work on plays of this sort could be the lot of these young actors there would not be such a confused idea of what is right and good for the modern theatre. Just talking about ACTING and believing that you can ACT is as false a realization as trying to cross the ATLANTIC ocean barefooted. Amazing to some, to find out they do not walk properly when exposed to acting and when the defects are pointed out they are very flexible and begin to be REAL. All in all, we have a great amount of raw material that has great potentialities but must have WORK IN THE THEATRE. ACTING has another strange way and that is you have to keep ACTING before audiences or it will grow dull and pointless. The facial muscles slow up, the ear for tone grows distorted and the art of TIMING fails. TIMING, the right amount of time between phrases or sentences, some call the dramatic pause. The right force at the right time or the time to throw away an expression carelessly, can only be perfected before an INTELLIGENT audience. And when I note at a recent preview of MGM's "TOY WIFE", they point with pride on their program, that "this picture afforded employment to almost every NEGRO PLAYER in HOLLYWOOD", it is evident HOLLYWOOD is aware of your presence. So perfect your ART! (Copyrighted by Clarence Muse - 1938.)

COMFORT alone would be a good reason for owning the automatic refrigerator that is silent. But there's an even more important reason: the gas refrigerator makes no noise because it has no moving parts in its freezing system. And parts that do not move can not wear. That's why gas refrigerators bought today will be operating like new ten and even twenty years from now. See the gas refrigerator, Servel Electrolux, at dealers' or gas company showrooms.

Hawaiian Official to Attend Institute of Gov't in City

HONOLULU, June 2,—(Exclusive to the Eagle) Nolle R. Smith, secretary of the Hawaii Bureau of Governmental Research, Honolulu, will arrive in Los Angeles on the Lurline Friday morning, June 10, to attend the Institute of Goverment which opens sessions in that city June 13.

While in Southern California Mr. Smith will also spend some time in San Diego and Long Beach, confering with city government officials on matters of municipal administration. He will leave for Seattle June 22 to continue his official studies of the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain cities.

A native of Cheyenne, Wyoming, following his graduation in civil engineering, Mr. Smith went to Honolulu over 20 years ago, and for some time conducted an excavating business. His success in his work and active interest in government affairs brought him into the limelight. As a result he was elected to the Hawaiian legislature for two terms.

So notable were his accomplishments while a member of that body that after completing his second term he was called to the Hawaii Bureau of Governmental Research, where his brilliant achievements have continued. One of the most popular citizens of the Territory, Mr. Smith was invited to become a member of the internationally famous Lions Club in 1928, two years after its establishment in Honolulu.

The group of 50 business and profesisonal men "with a definite record of achievement" who met in Honolulu to apply for a Lions International charter May 11, 1926, learned that the constitution of the organization restricted membership to "white male adults". Since Honolulu is probably America's most cosmopolitan city a representative of the proposed Lions Club was sent to the convention meeting in San Francisco, July of the same year, to contact in the Lions International to work for an amendment to the constitution.

The result of the effort against racial restriction was rewarded with the 10,000 delegates, on July 24, 1926, voting to delete the word "white from the membership provisions of the Lions International.

In 1928 Nollie R. Smith became the only Negro member of the famous club, which has as its prime objective service to the community of which it is a part.

The Lions Club, founded in 1817, now has a membership of about 100,000 throughout the world. Its activities revolve around such mottos as : "To serve most and to serve best;" "Lionism is caught—not taught"; "It takes a long time and a great deal of work to make a first class Lion out of an ordinary citizen."

TWO YEARS AGO HERE

In 1935 the Hawaii clubs were designated as of Zone 10 in District 4. Two years ago, however, when Mr. Smith, who was deputy district governor of the Lions, visited Los Angeles to confer with District Governor Luther Mack on matters pertaining to Lionism in Hawaii, he proposed that the territory should be divorced from district four and made into a separate district.

The suggestion met Governor Mack's approval and Mr. Smith was authorized to discuss the proposed change with other international officers throughout the east. Later in the year, at the International convention held in Providence, R. I., following the successful work of Mr. Smith, Hawaii was desigated as Lions district No. 50.

At the first district convention held in Honolulu in March of last year Deputy District Governor Smith was honored by his fellow members by being elected governor of District 50 for the fiscal period 1937-38.

Since 1928, Governor Smith is the only members of his district to have a continuous 100 per cent attendance record. As the highest officer of the district his duties carry him to all parts of the Territory and his advice and sanction must be obtained on all matters pertaining to Lionism in Hawaii.

He was a delegate to the Convention at Denver, Colorado, in 1930, president of the Honolulu Lions in 1930-31, and listed as one of the "old monarchs" of Lionism in Hawaii. In the special edition of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin devoted to the Lions last January, Governor Smith contributed the guest editorial.

Mr. Smith is married and the father of 4 children. One of his daughters will do graduate work at Columbia University next year, and another daughter will enter Howard University.

During his stay here he will be the house guest of John L. Hill, of 1190 West 36th street, vice president and manager of the Angelus Funeral Home.

Mr. Hill has planned a series of affair in honor of Mr. Smith.

Louis-Schmeling Ducats Go On Sale at New York Hippodrome

Tickets for the Joe Louis and Max Schmelling world heavyweight championship bout, scheduled for the Yankee Stadium in New York on Wednesday, June 22, went on sale yesterday at the New York Hippodrome.

Already thousands of requests have been received by the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, each accompanied by certified checks, postal money orders or telegraph orders.

An idea of the universal interest in the big bout is to be gained from the report by Mike Jacobs, the promoter, that already residents of thirty-four states in the Union have applied for reservations, calling for tickets which range along the reserved seat scale of $5.75, $7.75, $77.50, $16.50, $20.00 and $30.00, which include all taxes.

Honors

Commemorating 50 years of YMCA work in Atlantic City, N. J., C. M. Cain, now manager of the Stanley M. Holmes Village, was honored last Friday by civic, welfare, busines sand professional leaders of the state, both white and colored. A Gold Certificate "for distinguished Christian service" was presented him.

Attorney Butler H. Wilson, prominent member of the bar was presented last week with the gold medal given annually by the Ford Hall Forum at the 20th anniversary dinner of that organization held in Ford Hall. The presentation speech was made by Forum President George W. Coleman, who said that it was awarded to the citizen in Massachusetts who has rendered preeminent service to human welfare.

Edward Dugger, Jr., freshman engineering student at Tufts college, Boston, was recently elected to membership in Sword and Shield, sophmore honorary society, the highest honor a first-year man can attain. Dugger is the first of his race to be so honored in the history of the college.

Rev. William Cooper, talented colored artist, was among the painters invited to display their canvasses at last week's exhibit held at Mint Museum of Art, Charlotte, N. C., of which Mrs. Lewis C. Burwell is curator. Two of Cooper's entries were hung among the oil entries, and the three judges awarded Cooper the second prize in oils. First went to Rosile Hook Gwaltney, white.

Robert Nesbitt, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Nesbitt, graduates from Champaign high school, Champaign, Ill., in June, an honor student and the only colored member of the National Honor Society. He received the highest score in a general objective test given recently to 200 senior students by Knox college.

In 1932, young Nesbitt's brother, Russell, was valedictorian at Champaign high and he and a third brother, Lendor, will graduate with honors from the University of Illinois in June. In February, 1938, a fourth brother, Rozelle was graduated from the University College of Engineering. A fifth brother, George Nesbitt, several years ago received both his bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws degrees from Illinois, is now practicing law in Chicago.

Miss Julia Skinner, widely known in educational circles and now serving as professor and director of home economics at Bluefield State Teachers college, will sail on June 4, from New York on the S. S. American Legion for a year's study of rural education and native life in Brazil. Miss Skinner is a graduate of Tuskegee institute, received her master's degree at Columbia university with a special diploma in teaching. She is now engaged in work for her doctor's degree.

Dr. Alonzo P. Holly, widely known physician and former counsul for Haiti, has been informed by his Alma Mater, the New York Medical college and Flower hospital, that he is to be honored with a Gold Diploma on June 3, the 50th anniversary of his graduation.

Race Issue Involved in Passage of Wage-Hour Bill

WASHINGTON, June 2 (ANP)—Enactment of federal wage and hour legislation, which now looms as a certainty with the measure's passage by the house Tuesday night by a 314 to 96 vote and the current efforts ofhouseandsenate committees to dovetail the legislation passed by both bodies, will find North and South sectional lines of battle again drawn up.

Southern Congressmen fought vigorously against the bill's passage on the grounds that cheaper living conditions in Dixie should cause a wage differential, but it is common knowledge that their main objection is the prospect of Negro workers drawing the same wages as whites.

Chief support for this legislation is found in the North, where industrialists and economists declare that the lure of lower wages has caused manufacturers to move below the Mason and Dixon line where lessened overhead enables them to undersell Northern companies. Both the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization, enemies for some time, are whole heartedly back of the bill.

Backing the measure and against any sectional wage differentials is the NAACP which believes that different standards for geographical areas will result in the Southern colored laborer sharing little, if any, of the bill's benefits.

The house measure provides a minimum 25 cents an hour, 44 hour week, which becomes a 40 cent 40-hour standard at the end of three years. This would apply however, only to those industries engaged in interstate commerce. An amendment also provides that individuals engaged in, among ohter things, handling, packing, storing and ginning of farm products would be exempt from the bill's provision.

This means that even if the bill in its present form becomes the law, it will affect neither the wages nor working conditions of many Negroes. Those engaged in cotton ginning, handling, etc., would not come under its provisions; domestic workers would not be included; porters, janitors, etc. would be exempt and so would be the barber shop and beauty parlor, as well as the average small business and its employees.

In fact, conservative estimates have it that those who would be relieved from working long hours at low wages would number between 2,000,000 and 5,000,000. The percentage of colored who would be aided is not known.

Although Southerners contend a lower standard is needed for the South since the cost of living is far lower than in large Northern urban areas, the figures show that after all, those workers sharing in its benefits would be assured of a minimum wage of only $16 weekly . . a salary that is hardly conducive to the purchase of imported cars or 20-room mansions with private swimming pool and golf courses.

Some Southerners, professing an interest in the Negro, contend that passage of the law would result in the replacement of colored workers with white in those industries affected. They say that if the employers must pay all the same wage and are no longer permitted to pay colored less than they do whites, then they will take on all-white personnels.

Certain Southern manufacturers who employ Negro workers in their plants have come out and frankly stated that if the minimum wage goes into effect, they will fire their colored help and put on white, giving as their reason that their Negro employes are "too inefficient to merit the higher wage scale."

MAJOR ROBERT A. BYRD, a member of the City Zoning Board of Appeals of Springfield, Ill., is also treasurer of the Springfield local housing authority.

See Recognition of Negro in Slum-Clearance Drive

Recognition of the needs of the Negro for low-rent housing is indicated by the appointment of 11 Negroes to membership of housing authorities now participating in the Government's slum-clearance program, a statement by the Office of the Consultant on Racial Relations of the United States Housing Authority pointed out this week.

Nathan Straus, Administrator of the United States Housing Authority, expressed gratification at the appointment of Negro members of housing agencies as evidence of a desire on the part of municipalities to integrate the race into the $500,000,000 nation-wide slum-clearance and low-rent housing program going forward under the auspices of the USHA.

Dr. Theodore Cable, a member of the Indianapolis (Ind.) City Council, has been named vice-president of the State Housing Board of Indiana.

Major Robert A. Byrd, a member of the City Zoning Board of Appeals of Springfield, Ill., has been elected treasurer of the Springfield local housing authority.

When the Newark (N. J.) Housing Authority was organized recently, Harold A. Lett, an Urban League executive, was chosen as acting secretary.

Speech on Negro Wins Debating Honors at LAJC

A speech on Negro oppression in the South won a second place for Merle Brodsky, Jewish student at Los Angeles Junior College, in the Pacific Coast debating championships Friday and Saturday of last week at Occidental college.

Brodsky's speech was concerned with the 14th amendment, its promises and operation.

True Love Knows No Barrier, Says Mrs. Polly Dawes-Steele

BOSTON, Mass., June 2. (ANP)—In what was reported to be her first public statement since her "interracial" marriage a fortnight ago to Julian D. Steele, colored former director of Robert Gould Shaw House, Mrs. Mary Bradley "Polly" Dawes-Steele, white socialite and settlement worker, declared this week.

"True love knows no barrier. It transcends class, color, creed or condition. It surmounts all obstacles. Every hurdle is leaped as an act of love. Love is intensified and sanctified by acts of love . . I just know we will be very happy."

Bridegroom Steele, head of Shaw House for seven years and storm center of the nation-wide controversy over his romance with the Boston socialite, was equally confident that "love is grand", and that real happiness will crown their union.

He said, "I am colored. I was born to colored parents, raised in a district with white people. At Jefferson grammar school, at Boston Latin School, at Harvard and at the New York School for Social Service Work I associated with both. I am a firm believer in the principle of democratic association. I know we will be happy."

Permits Required to Make Campfires in Nat'l Forests

Permits are required to build campfires in all national forests, advises the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California. They may be secured without charge through various agencies including all offices of the automobile club. Issued for the calendar year, they are good only in national forests, not in national or state parks or on private lands.

Even fires in trailer stoves come under the classification of campfires and require a permit.

Each person receiving a permit must sign an agreement to abide by the following rules:

To carry a shovel and ax of specified dimensions for each automobile or pack train when camping in national forest.

To clear a space at least ten feet in diameter of all leaves, needles and trash before starting the fire.

To attend it at all times and to extinguish completely all open fires with water and to leave fires in closed stoves on improved camp grounds in such condition that the fire cannot escape.

To maintain a clean, sanitary camp, burning or burying all refuse or disposing of it in provided receptacles.

Not to build fires on national forest lands which are closed to camping or to building of fires.

Not to smoke on lands closed to smoking except in camps, places of habitation or special posted smoking areas an dthen to extinguish all burning matches, cigarettes, cigars and pipe heels before throwing them away.

To extinguish al small fires discovered, or if all small fires port it promptly to the nearest forest officer.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

Every Porter A Reporter

UPTON SAYS—

IT COULD NEVER HAPPEN HERE

Just one more little shake of old mother earth like the one early Tuesday morning and there won't be any more Railroad Clatter, because I just can't stand the strain. After a nice drive up to Val Verde in the fresh mountain air on Decoration Day, I returned home for a god night's sleep. Did I get it, well I was doing too fine up until the wee hours of the good morning and my bed began to "Rock it for me", my thoughts went dashing back to the terrible evening in March several years ago when the whole darn city was shaking like a bowl full of jello and everybody's clotheslines were full of B.V.D.'s the next day.

I Said to myself—well here it comes again, I groped around in the dark and couldn't find the light and in my haste I missed my bed room door which I have been going in and out of in normal conditions for over fifteen years and hit my head up against the wall. Yes sir that little quiver come mighty nigh ruining me.

SANTA FE TO SPEED UP TRAIN S

Faster train schedules between Los Angeles and Chicago will be inaugurated June 12 by Santa Fe Railway. The Grand Canyon Limited will be re-routed through Amarillo, the Texas Panhandle and Western Oklahoma.

PREPARATOR TESTS MAY CHANGE LINES

The recent preparatory tests held by the Pullman Company may have a 'telling effect' upon the various lines in the near future. Many rumors have been going the rounds that a big majority of the Los Angeles lines will go up for bid but of course this only hear-say.

BROTHERHOOD HOLDS REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Los Angeles Division of Brotherhod of Sleeping Car Porters will be held Monoday at 11 a. m. at the Brotherhood headquarters and some very important business will be taken up. Members are earnestly requested to be present and on time.

WOMEN'S ECONOMIC COUNCIL WILL ELECT OFFICERS

The Women's Economic Council will elect new officers at the next regular meeting which will be held at the Brotherhood Headquarters, 1208 E. 20th street, Monday evening, June 13th at 8 p. m. A very large attendance is expected to be on hand at this meeting. They will have installation ceremonies also. Since receiving the news from Mr. Randolph that a national convention will be held in Chicago in September, the organization has increased its membership considerably and much interest is now being manifested among the members as to who will head the body during the next term and also who will be elected as delegate to the convention. All porters' wives are invited to join the Council and surely no porter who is a member of the Brotherhood can afford to see his wife remain out of the organization. A large responsibility as to the success of the Council in this division rests upon the porters themselves, so be sure and send your wives to the meetings and the writer is confident you will find it well worth while.

MRS. E. C. CAMPBELL AT HOME

Mrs. E. C. Campbell, wife of Earl Campbell is now slowly recovering from a recent illness which had her confined to the hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery.

DADDY JACK STILL OFF

The writer has just been informed that Daddy Jack is still on the sick list with an injured hip.

THOUSANDS OF SHRINERS HERE IN JUNE

Los Angeles will be the hosts to the Shriners' convention during this month. Already the city is taking on a gay appearance with its shrine decorations. Along with the Shriners and their special trains will also come many Pullman Porters and Dining Car Waiters and it behooves all railroad men of this city to see that these boys are made welcome. The headquarters of the Brotherhood will be kept open and information of any kind cheerfully given by the secretary-treasurer. Let's make the boys feel at home.

Boy Scout News

By LOVELL ESTELL

Memorial day presented an opportunity for many troops to pass their civic service tests. Troop 381 was on duty at Evergreen cemetery. Cyrus Kelly was at the gate and the boys seemed to be carrying out their orders in fine fashion. On the other side of town Troop 180 had stationed 12 boys at the Coliseum. They put in 6 hours of work.

Up in Elsinore the Girl Scouts spent a glorious week end and holiday. Mrs. Louise Taylor had under her supervision 19 girls and they spent the time in swimming, maybe I should say bathing, taking pictures, resting and eating. I heard Leontine Taylor was the only girl who could really swim. Get busy girls. You know they are glad to teach you at the "Y" and at school. Mrs. Thomas Nelson was also on the job, lending a hand to seeing that the girls had a good time.

William Johnson, and Harold Odum went to the Board of Review to pass more merit badges. The troop was dismissed early last Friday.

Troop 180, and especially the Cobra patrol, wishes a speedy recovery for Mrs. Holland, mother of Bill Holland.

Many of the cavalcades were seen at the splendid dancing party given by Algenon Mitchell on West 29th street. Algenon was a first class host and everyone had a good time.

Masons in Eulogy for Wm. Sutton

Benumbing us with shock, that dread reaper, whom none can elude, ruthlessly snatched from our midst, our beloved Brother Wm. S. Sutton, on last Thursday evening, May 26. Brother Sutton had been made a Mason only five short weeks before. They were full of the utmost promises of brilliant Masonic future. He came to us an active member of other fraternal orders and displayed every intention of swiftly attaining the zenith here as he had elsewhere

Card of Thanks

Mrs. Mamie Cummings, a very prominent pioneer resident of this city and member of the Independent Church of Christ, wishes to express her sincere appreciation to the many members and friends of the church and various other churches for their courteous hospitality in every way during her long period of illness.

Mrs. Cummings has been confined to her home for the past two years. She is very feeble and has for the past three months become bedridden by a slow paralysis. She is much improved at present, however, through the professional care of Dr. Chas. A. Jackson and the attentive nursing day and night of Mrs. Louise A. Cook, one of Los Angeles' prominent licensed missionaries Mrs. Cummings has been pronounced recovering nicely and is able to walk about slightly.

Eagle Editor Opposes Slated '39 Baptist Meet in Atlanta

In line with the editorial policy of the paper, expressed many times, (See Eagle, April 28), Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the California Eagle, went on record this week as opposing holding the World Baptist Alliance Meeting in Atlanta, Georgia, in 1939.

Mrs. Bass was questioned as to her attitude on the proposed site of the convocation by H. M. Smith, director of the Chicago Baptist Institute. She answered Dean Smith and wrote to Dr. J.H. Rushbrooke, executive secretary of the Baptist World Alliance in London, and to Dr. Louis D. Newton, Chairman of the Southern Baptist Convention Committee to Entertain the Baptist World Alliance, in Atlanta, expressing her opposition.

It will be recalled that when 87 year old Bishop W. H. Heard attended last year's convocation in Edinburgh, Scotland, he was refused hotel accomodations. Although British high church officials, when the incident came to their attention, did their best to make amends, adverse publicity to the Conference went all over the world and the feeling aroused was said by many to have dimmed the influence of the meet.

Mrs. Bass' letter follows:

"Dear Sir:

My paper has come out editorially on more than one occassion against holding of conventions of any sort, in which Negroes participate in parts of the United States where jim crow practices prevail as the rule.

In the case of the World Baptist Alliance, which meets in Atlanta, Ga., in 1939, my objections are as strong, if not stronger than usual.

Georgia has long been known as the state where a most vicious system of racial oppression flourishes. If the color line would be drawn as far from Southern shores as Edinbourgh, Scotland, how certain we are of it monopolizing the scene in Georgia.

I feel that even a hint of Jim Crow practice on such an occasion would defeat the purpose of the convocation. I wish to go on record as opposing Atlanta as the scene of said convocation."

Chorus Returns On WPA

Grandpa Rufus and the little meeting house at the cross-roads will again charm KMTR listeners when "Deep In the South" is broadcast at 7:30 on Tuesdays.

Federal Theater of the Air's all-Negro presentation recently returned to the airlanes in response to popular demand and is once more established as a musical novelty.

Enhanced by Sherman Walker's celebrated chorus the fifteen-minute program features such old song favorites as "Tryin' to Git Ready", "Deep River", and "Oh, May Don't You Weep".

"Deep in the South" players include Earl Smith, Vera Morris, Ruby Dandridge and Juanita Danby.

NATIONAL • POLITICS • STATE—CITY

POLITICAL POT-PIE

Lieut.-Gov. George J. Hatfield, in his quest for the Republican nomination for Governor, is laying his case before the people in a two-fisted campaign in which every issue is carefully outlined. His record as an official and square, fair dealing with all groups is a potent factor in his increasing popularity.

Gov. Merriam is pursuing his campaign to succeed himself and sends "feelers" to sound-out Negro voters. All they can report truthfully is that the group awaits his answer as to why he failed to keep his promise to give the group recognition?

Supervisor Herbert C. Legg, Democrat, is on a tour organizing Legg-for-Governor clubs. It is talked that Legg is in the race to muddy the waters for which services he will be rewarded with a $10.000 a year appointment. Politics cuts some queer capers, so queer that Negroes who yell loud, and sever friendships are dropped from the picture when the pie is passed.

District Attorney Buron Fitts is said to be seriously considering making the race for U. S. Senator on the Republican ticket. Fitts has a powerful following thruout the state and stands an excellent chance of being nominated should he decide to run.

Assembly Speaker William Moseley Jones and Louis Kaminsky, Democratic candidates for State Attorney General, are proposing a scheme to eliminate all Democratic candidates for the place save one by means of a postcard poll. The boys are having a parrot and monkey time among themselves!

Judge Walter S. Gates, incumbent, will be opposed by a brace of Democrats, Stanley E. Fox and Leo Gallagher, crusader for civil liberties. Judge Gates it will be remembered decided that Negroes have the right to use Municipal swimming pools regardless to location. The decision was a bold manly stand for civil justice and won the lasting gratitude of the race.

Fred Roberts, New Age Dispatch editor, last week carried official announcement of the former Assemblyman's candidacy for Congress, 14th District. Mr. Roberts is a staunch Republican. Among his most outstanding acts as a legislator are the Civil Rights bill and a measure against racial hate via propaganda and cartoons reflecting upon any group or race.

Leo Gallagher, veteran attorney and crusader for civil liberties barely got in under the wire last night to file with Registrar of Voters William M. Kerr his intention to become a candidate against Judge Walter S. Gates for Superior Court Office No. 2.

On the judicial ballot for office No. 20 appears the name of Judge Jess E. Stevens, Republican, appointed by Governor Merriam. Judge Stevens if you'll reflect back a few years was City Attorney and not only failed to appoint a Negro to a place in his administration, but handed down a ruling that barred colored citizens from the use of municipal plunges, the upkeep and maintenance of which they are equally taxed. He waged a bitter fight to inforce upon the group taxation without representation. When the case was presented before Judge Walter Gates he knocked out Mr. Stevens' Dixie ruling and today we enjoy the same rights and privileges given other citizens. Leo Gallagher, a fine fellow can't hope to get to first base against Judge Gates, and why he flied against the Judge we can't understand. If Mr. Gallagher would oppose this fellow Stevens, we feel sure he would be elected.

Following are the candidates who will be entitled to file for the 21 Superior Court offices, with their political affiliations:

Office No. 1 Judge Charles W. Burnell, R., opposed by Saul S. Klein, D.; Charles Murstein, R.; and Ray Brockmann, affiliation unknown.

Office No. 2—Judge Walter S. Gates, R.; opposed by Stanley E. Fox and Leo Gallagher, Democrats.

Office No. 3—Presiding Judge Reuben J. Schmidt, R.; opposed by Assemblyman John Gee Clark of Long Beach, D.; H. R. Collins, R.; and Arthur Garrett, R.

Office No. 4—Judge Robert H. Scott, R., unopposed.

Office No. 5—Judge Minor Moore, D., opposed by Municipal Judge Newcomb Condee, D., and Corwin Townsend, Joseph L. Call, Joseph Marchetti and James H. Pope, all Republicans.

Office No. 6—Judge Charles C. Haas, R., opposed by William A. Anderson and Willard B. Bobbitt, Republicans.

Office No. 7—Judge Clement D. Shinn, R., opposed by R. C. W. Friday, D.

Office No. 8—Judge Lewis Howell Smith, R., opposed by John W. Luter and Theodore Gottsdanker, Democrats.

Office No. 9—Judge Georgia Bullock, R., opposed by Frank Lober, R.

Office No. 10—Judge Henry M. Willis, R., opposed by Joseph (Joe) Lewis, D.

Office No. 11—Judge Carl A. Stutsman, R., opposed by Donald Armstrong, R.

Office No. 12—Judge Charles D. Ballard, R., opposed by Ben M. Kochman, R., and David A. Sondel, D.

Office No. 14—Judge H. Parker Wood, R., unopposed.

Office No. 15—Judge Leslie E. Still, R., opposed by John R. Stephens and George W. McDill, also Republicans.

Office No. 16—Judge Ingall W. Bull, R., opposed by Percilla Lawyer Randolph, R., and Clyde M. Murphy and Fred Lindsay, both Democrats.

Office No. 17—Judge Edward R. Brand, R., opposed by Leo V. Youngworth, R.

Office No. 18—Judge A. A. Scott, R., opposed by H. C. Greenlee, D.

Office No. 19—Judge Benjamin J. Scheinman, R., opposed by Theodore N. Doro and Gladys Towles Root, both Republicans.

Office No. 20—Judge Jess E. Stevens, R., unopposed.

Office No. 21—Judge Clement D. Nye, R., opposed by Albert R. Benniston, R., and John Beardsley, D.

Negro's Vote Discussed in Post Article

How will the Negro vote in the coming elections? Why?

These questions are in the minds of every Negro according to an article by Dr. Stanley High in this week's Saturday Evening Post. The article forms the second of a series of two in the Post.

Dr. High describes at length the formation of a "Negro Belt" of voters, and explains the forces that swung a large portion of voters from the Republican party to the Democratic rolls in 1936. But that, says Dr. High, is no sure indication that the preponderance of the Negro vote will again be Democratic in 1938 or 1942.

According to Dr. High, the trend of the Negro vote is likely to be dictated more by economic than political considerations. In other words, he thinks that the Negro will vote for whatever party seems most likely to give him the best economic breaks.

"The last three elections, and particularly 136," he says, "indicated that the Negroes are likely to continue to vote together. In 1936, they moved, bag and baggage, into the Democratic camp. But it is a long jump from that fact to the conclusion that they can be counted upon to park there indefinitely. In view of what is stirring in the Northern Negro community, it is exceedingly unlikely that the Negro voter can be counted on to park anywhere indefinitely."

Behind this, says the author, is the new force of Negro coalition, sponsored by such leaders as Walter White and A. Philip Randolph.

Vann's Fall Analyzed By Floyd Calvin

By FLOYD J. CALVIN

One detail the daily newspapers did not mention in the Pennsylvania primary last week was the crushing defeat of Robert L. Vann. Rising to power on the crest of the New Deal wave, Vann fell ignominiously in the quadruple vote split among the Democrats.

There are several points of interest to be considered in this sensational collapse. A former Republican who reputedly out of revenge turned on those who would not honor him, Vann went over to the Democrats, apparently to "get even". His reign was brief. Of a temperament that makes it difficult for him to get along with people, Vann stayed on his big job in Washington less than for his appointed time, and on his return home, instead of fixing his local fences, went off on a campaign to create for himself sentiment for appointment to the Supreme Court. Had he looked after his own local affairs he might still have lost, for eventually the people would have found out that basicly he is for himself first, but maybe this upset might not have looked so bad. Anyway, whoever heard of a political hack, satellite of a State Boss,--not to mention being a Negro--being seriously considered for the Supreme Bench.

GAPING FISSURE

The New Deal long ago showed a gaping fissure on the Negro front when Vann undertook to dictate national policy in the Negro group. Few can forget the "dog fight" in Philadelphia just before the Democratic National Convention in '36, when Vann wanted to "run things" because the meeting was in his state. He failed again when he announced, after a spectacular airplane ride from Washington to Pittsburgh, that Chairman Farley would name HIM leader of the Negro forces Farley never named him.

In the primary just ended, Vann charged that Paul Jones, $6,000 a year referee in the State Compensation Department, that Vann is said to have named, had turned on his "political father", because Jones supported the candidate of State Chairman David Lawrence instead of the Guffey-Vann slate. Jones won.

Vann made the big mistake of thinking his huge newspaper circulation gave him political strength and made him popular. People can buy a commodity and hate the man who makes it, as W. R. Hearst can readily testify. And Hearst is not a political factor today, personally, in spite of his financial success in journalism. And history shows that Hearst certainly tried hard enough to make the grade in politics.

IVAN AUSTIN TO RUN FOR ASSEMBLY

Ivan Austin, Central Avenue business man, announced his candidacy this week for the Assembly. He will run on the Republican and Democratic ticket.

LIEUT. GOVERNOR HATFIELD

Hatfield Seen as GOP Nominee

"With pledges of support coming in daily from groups and individuals, expressing confidence that Lieutenant-Governor George J. Hatfield is particularly well qualified to serve as the state's chief executive, his nomination as the Republican gubernatorial candidate August 30 appears assured."

Lawrence "Ty" Cobb, secretary of the Republican State Central committee, former state assemblyman, and now chairman of the Southern California Hatfield-for-Governor committee, made this confident statment yesterday on the heels of the announcement that former Governor C. C. Young had endorsed Hatfield.

Cobb pointed out that Hatfield is now in his prime, being only 50 years of age, and that his record is one of noteworthy achievements.

"Our job here in Southern California," Cobb said, "is to tell the voting public the truth about George Hatfield, to give every voter a clear-cut idea of the man, his record, and the vital issues that are at stake in the coming election.

"If we are to conquer the critical problems of labor unrest, unemployment, business insecurity and exorbitant taxation, we must have an aggressive, intelligent and independent leader. In George Hatfield, I see, that type of leadership. Throughout his career, he has been a champion of progressive legislation that because of its fairness has won him the confidence and respect alike of both workers and employers. This reputation of his for fair-dealing and unswerving honesty will go far toward insuring the success of his program for peaceful mediation and arbitration of labor disputes. And industrial peace is one thing that the Pacific coast needs, and needs badly."

MINOR ROBINSON IS JORDAN HIGH STAR

Minor Robinson was high point man for his team, Jordan High school, as the Watts school took third place behing Rus and South Gate in the Pacific League track championship meet. Robinson placed second in the 100 yd. dash, third in the furlong and third in the broadjump.

Jordan's class B team remained undefeated winning by twenty points over Bell.

Urge Cooperation in City's Vacant Lot Cleaning Drive

An urgent appeal for cooperation in the city's anual vacant lot cleaning program now under way was made this week by Adolph W. Hoch, president of the Los Angeles Board of Public Works.

"While our lot-cleaning crews are busy burning grass and weeds on the thousands of vacant lots in the city, we must rely upon the cooperation of property owners to keep vacant properties clear of rubbish and debris," President Hoch stated.

"It is unlawful to place tree trimmings, rubbish, tin cans or other debris upon vacant lots and violators of the city ordinance prohibiting this practice are subject to arrest and conviction. Cooperation of property owners in reporting all violations of this ordinance would assist materially in the campaign to clean and beautify the city", Hoch pointed out.

Attention of property owners is called to the fact that the parkway (that portion between the sidewalk and curb) is considered a part of the lot and must be cleaned. If this section is not cleaned by the property owner, or the lot is not properly cleared of grass and weeds before the city crews arrive the work will not be accepted.

"Citizens would be rendering a splendid service in the clean-up program if they would report cases where tree trimmings and other debris are being placed upon vacant properties inviolation of the city ordinance. If the license number of the truck or trailer used by the violator, is obtained and reported proper investigation will be made." Hoch stated. All information, giving the necessary data, should be addressed to the Board of Public Works, room 173, Los Angeles City Hall.

Bus service has been established in China between Chengtu in Szechwan province and Paoki in Chensi province, four days being required for the 805-kilometer journey.

CARL JOHNSON

Young GOP Group Elects Carl Johnson

SACREMENTO, June 2.—Carl Johnson, of Los Angeles was elected assistant secretary of the Young Rejublicans of California when the 400 members of the organization met here Saturday, Sunday and Monday in a three day convention.

Johnson is the only representative of Los Angeles to obtain an office and was the only Negro present.

Governor Frank Merriam was one of the several Republicans who addressed the organization during a breakfast session in the Hotel Senator Sunday.

Communits, Nazi and Fascist organizations which foster racial and religious intolerance or other "Un-America" activities within the United Statest were condemned in resolutions unanimously adopted by the delegates.

Lord Lonsdale Recalls How Johnson Bout Was Stopped

LONDON, June 2. (ANP) — How King Edward VII of England caused a proposed fight between Jack Johnson and Bombardier Billy Wells, British heavyweight champion, to be called off years ago because of the color question was told here recently by Lord Lonsdale, for many decades one of Britain's foremost sportsmen.

According to Lord Lonsdale, as the time for the fight neared, a strong agaitation developed against it because it was a mixed match and as such "would do harm". A minister started opposition on the ground that all boxing was wrong, but the popular belief was that the issue was whether a white man should fight a colored man.

At this time, there was trouble in Africa over the color bar, and King Edward sent for Lord Lonsdale. "He told me he was strongly opposed to the match", said the peer. "He thought the idea of a black versus white fight at that juncture would not be in the best interests of either country, especially from a colonial point of view. He asked me to see Winston Churchill. He took the matter up, and the fight was eventually abandoned."

COMPARES OLD BOXERS WITH NEW

Comparing present dav fighters with oldsters, he said, "The days of the really great fighters among the heavyweights are gone. It is difficult to single out any particular boxer from the hosts that I have seen and known and point to him and say 'He was the greatest of them all'".

"Sam Langford was a terrific fighter. He somehow reminded me of my great protege Peter Jackson, though I would not say he was anything like so fine a a boxer. I saw Langford fight 'Iron' Hague at the National Sporting Club in 1909, and I remember how one of my friends described that contest as 'a sledge hammer trying to defeat an electric dynamo.'

"Hague was the sledge-hammer. The Negro was a clever fighter; he was elusive and unperturbed all through, and his good humor was almost diabolical. He had a queer, enigmatical smile, and you never could guess what he was thinking. Langford defeated the Englishman in the fourth round, and there was a strange ocurrence towards the end. Up to then Langford had, as I say, been absolutely poker faced.

"But suddenly something at the ringside seemed to annoy him . . . I think it may have been the flash of a camera, or the noise it made. It was buzzing a lot. Anyhow, the Negro's face changed in an instant, and he became a snarling figure of hatred. He dashed in with a terrific blow to Hague's jaw . . . and soon the cinema camera was registering pictures of what happened after the fight."

FAMOUS HOSTELRY RE-OPENS DECORATED "WONDER BAR"

By J. E. KEYS

CLARK HOTEL CONTINUES TO LEAD

In an exclusive interview with Mr. Horace P. Clark, owner of The Clark Hotel, this reporter asked these questions:

"Where did you get your idea for the decoration of your bar? Did you see one like it in Hollywood or did some one tell you of a like one in Europe?"

The answer Mr. Clark gave was in the form of another question—"Why?"

We told him the reason was simply that in all our travels in the last four years from Los Angeles to Honolulu, and from Honolulu to Sidney, Australia, visiting many of the continental capitals of the world, we have never seen a bar which in any way even remotely compares with the magnificent splendor of the Clark Hotel "WONDER BAR".

Mr. Clark stated that, "After a recent tour of the Eastern states and peeping in on many of the famous cocktail lounges, I resolved to return to Los Angeles and give to my community a bar that would surpass any that I had seen in the East or midwestern section of the United States".

This scribe stands willing and ready to vouch for Mr. Clark's achievements in his plans, pains and decorations of his "WONDER BAR", because never before have we known one to go so far to give to a clieftele such perfect atmosphere as that which awaits those who may drop in at the "WONDER BAR".

Negro Labor Groups to Convene in New York

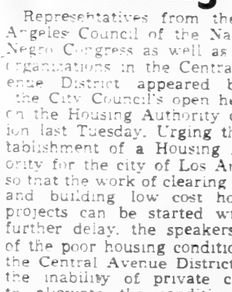
NEW YORK June 2.—Among the most important persons invited to the forthcoming National Negro Labor Convention to be held under the auspices of the Harlem Labor Union, Inc., in New York June 23- 26, is Bedford V. Lawson, militant young lawyer of the New Negro Alliance, Washington D. C., which won from the Sanitary Grocery Company of the District of Columbia the U. S. Supreme Court decision as to their right to picket as a racial group.

Leading Negroes in every walk, even loyal trade unionists contend that the time is ripe for the unification of groups similar to the New Negro Alliance, nationally for a concerted drive to determine the best way to take advantage of the court's decision.

Possibly one the most unusual features of the entire Convention will be the Public Wedding to be held during the intermission of the Convention Ball on Saturday, June 25.

A nationwide search is on to find a couple who is willing to marry publicly during this Convention. Interested persons are requested to get in touch with Miss Cornelia Hall, 254 W. 135th Street, N. Y. C., The bride and groom will be offerd free marriage licenses, a minister's services, 24 bride's maids, wedding flowers and numerous gifts.

Signs of the times in the political pot-pie seem to indicate certain candidacy for Augustus Hawkins on the Democratic ticket and Spurgeon C. Jones, on the Republican band-wagon in the 62nd District Assembly battle.



It is remembered that the slight, militant Democrat Hawkins has distinguished himself at Sacramento, and, by aggressive pursuance of liberal policies, won the support of many both in and out of the district. On the other hand, Spurgeon Jones is one of the best known and liked business men the Aveue boasts. His fine record in the commercial world (he is at present manager of the Eastside Eastern Outfitting store), bids fair to be duplicated in the equally precarious realm of statesmanship.

. . . And A. Hartley Jones of Elks fame, says "I'm comin', too!"

Negro Groups On Housing at Hearing

Representatives from the Los Angeles Council of the National Negro Congress as well as other organizations in the Central Avenue District appeared before the City Council's open hearing on the Housing Authority question last Tuesday. Urging the establishment of a Housing Authority for the city of Los Angeles so that the work of clearing slums and building low cost housing projects can be started without further delay, the speakers told of the poor housing conditions in the Central Avenue District, and the inability of private capital to alleviate the condition, Assemblyman Agustus F. Hawkins, Norman O. Houston, Clarence R. Johnson, Preston Heath, John E. Hargroves represented the Central Avenue community; while Rev. T. F. Jones spoke for the citizens of Watts.

No definite action has yet been taken by the City Council. The Congress committee on Housing urges that citizens of the community make every effort to write or contact personally the Councilman from Eastside districts to urge their favorable votes for a Housing Authority for the city of Los Angeles.

'CHRISTIANITY NEEDS THE WHOLE WORLD TO LIVE IN' --- DR. CASTON

Trinity Pastor Makes New Approach to Missions

Taking his text, "The field is the world" (Matt. 13:38), Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, restated the dynamics of world-wide missions last Sunday. Speaking of Jesus, he said: "This country preacher, with little or no formal schooling who was born in a stable, grew up in a despised community as a carpenter's apprentice, preached less than three years and who hadn't travelled fifty miles in any given direction, but who succeeded in getting himself killed at 33, challenges my admiration when he dares speak of his message as being world-wide in scope."

The minister traced the history of this missionary motive from nation to nation and thru century after century down to the present and insisted that "Christianity needs the whole world to live in". Speaking to our modern "intermeshed, indivisible and reticulate world unity" he called attention to the fact that "we send cigarettes, cinemas, food, even our junked automobiles all over the world. We send our methods of warfare, our aviators, our poison gas and our race prejudice. We have built for ourselves a rather resplendent Tower of Babel, but we haven't learned the art of living together. A communal philosophy must weld us into a community of men of good-will. Unless Christianity can take the world, it will fail like local option failed."

He spoke of the "universal Christ" and pointed to Christ's own words as proof of "the universal spiritual values which know no race, creed or station in life. Like pure water, like pure air, like the law of gravitation, like insulin, this universal Christ and these universal values belong to all men everywhere".

Concluding he said: "I desire that you bear me witness that I have not been emphasizing the fact that the world needs Christianity. You hear that often and you can preach a sermon on that yourself, but I have been trying to make you see that we are entrusted with a world-wide, challenging enterprise which no one of us can neglect: that Christianity must take the world or it fails. We can no more prosper in our world, half Christian and half pagan, than could America half slave and half free. The greatest privilege in our day is that we shall reaffirm and dramatize the theme of that country preacher who has become the hope of all men and who said: "The field is the world."

Young People's Revival Progresses at Independent

The All Ctiy Young People's Revival, the first of its kind for young men and women on the Eastside, which opened at People's Independent Church of Christ last Sunday night, has been continuing through the week with remarkable success, according to Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister.

Youthful representatives from all local churches have been in constant attendance at the meetings, which are being directed by Rev. Russell. All arrangements are in charge of inter-denominational committees of young people.

At the opening meeting, which was largely attended the minister for the evening, Dillard Brown, divinity student, who leads the youn gpeople's work of the church declared that the youth of the city were in need of setting a period each year to focus attention upon their spiritual lives as a group. "This", he said "will tend to offset the growing emphasis on things material by our youth, which is causing religious interest to be gradually forced into the background."

The meetings will continue Thursday and Friady nights, with special closing exercises, Sunday evening beginning at 7:30. The general public is invited to witness the inspiring efforts of the young people in this revival.

REV. S. M. BEANE, president The Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance and pastor of Hamilton M. E. Church who will speak Tuesday evening on the Westminister Presbyterian pastorate silver anniversary program.

Mrs. Layton to Address Baptists

Mrs. S. W. Layton of Philadelphia, president of the Women's Convention of the National Baptist Convention will speak to the Baptist Ministers' Union next Tuesday, June 7, at eleven o'clock it was announced this week. The meeting will be open to the public and will be held in the auditorium of the Second Baptist church.

This week's speaker was Mrs. Frances B. Watson, a returned missionary from Africa. Visitors included Dr. Chisom of Pheonix, Arizona, Mrs. Mosby of Kansas City, and H. Rozier.

Hamilton Has Women's Day Sunday

Women's Day will be observed at the Hamilton M. E. church, 18th and Naomi on Sunday, June 5. Worship services at eleven will present Mrs. Susie Kinsey, evangelist, who will deliver the sermon. In the evening, a program will be presented by the women of the church. At three o'clock in the afternon, Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor, will administer the Holy Communion.

A potluck dinner will be served at the church following the 3 o'clock services. Young People's day will be observed on June 12.

Cite Animosity in U.S. As Contributor to World Strife

As long as there's animosity in America, there will be no peace in the world--We will still be in danger of war," Rev. H. Mansfield Collins told a capacity audience at the First AME church, 8th and Towne avenue Sunday morning.

Rev. Collins who served as a chaplain in the World War continued, "War isn't music, flags and bright uniforms. It's suffering, terror and filth . . . War does not settle the sores of a nation . . . War will never settle anything." He pointed out that until racial hatred is destroyed from within Christian ranks there can be no peace. He cited the controversial issue being raised by the Methodist merger because of Negroes and contended that God "hasn't been in a lot of churches for fifty years."

The powerful sermon was concluded with: "War is collective hatred--authorized murder sanctioned by public opinion."

NATIONAL MINISTERS INSTITUTE IN SESSION

NEW ORLEANS, June 2. (ANP)—The National Minister's Institute began its ninth annual session at Leland college here May 20 and will continue through June 3. Among the speakers will be Dr. Noble Y. Bell, Dr. J. W. Shepard, Dr. J. S. Clark, Dr. L. C. Simon and Dr. William Hicks.

Christian Science Text Cited

"Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created." These words of the Revelator are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "God the Only Cause and Creator" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

A Scriptural selection presents these words of David, from I Chronicles: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine: thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all. Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all; and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all. Now therefore, our God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name."

In one of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy, is the statement: "Unfathomable Mind is expressed. The depth, breadth, height, might, majesty, and glory of infinite Love fill all space."

Wesley, Rev. E. W. Rakestraw will speak for the subject, "Purposive Inspiration; in the evening from "Bought With a Price". Holy Communion will be administered at both services.

A PIONEER GOES HOME

Buddy is going home to die! Old and feeble, her eyes closed by the strain of sharp-sighted service, Buddy is going home, going back to the home in which she began her career long years ago.

For a decade, Buddy has walked the streets, guiding her master thru the perils of traffic. For Buddy is a Seeing Eye dog, the first of all the dogs to graduate from the famed Seeing Eye school in New Jersey.

But, now Buddy is going home! Flying across the country with her master, Morris S. Frank, vice-president of the Seeing Eye, Buddy is going home to spend her last days in the school she pioneered.

For Buddy is a real pioneer. Like the great personalities of the past, she ventured out on new paths. Her path brought happiness to hundreds, brought hope to those caught in the despair of blindness.

Buddy needs no monument to mark her career. Her monument rises high in the lives of the hundreds of blind given new life through the service she pioneered.

Westminister Presbyterian Church Has Celebration

The congregation of the Westminister Presbyterian Church will celebrate the close of the twenty-fifth year of the pastorate of the Rev. Hampton B. Hawes on Sunday, June 5, The program will continue through Wednesday, June 8.

Several ministers of the city will join in the silver anniversary services with the Rev. A. A. Moore, youthful pastor of Bethel AME church preaching the initial sermon Sunday morning, June 5. On Monday evening, June 6, the Rev. W. E. Roberts, pastor, West Adams Presbyterian church will be the speaker; on Tuesday, Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor Hamilton M. E. church and president of the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance will be featured. Wedesday evening's speaker will be announced later.

Musle, solos and choir renditions will be furnished by various church choirs. Cleaning, repairing and redecorating the church edifice is also a part of the celebration. The financial goal has been announced as five hundred dollars.

Val Verde

By CLARA TAYLOR

The largest Memorial Day crowd ever gathered in Val Verde to celebrate was with us Monday. Residents appreciate the fine type of people who joined in making this a day to be remembered. Every home entertained guests while Dudley's Inn, Taylor's Ranch and Baldwin cabins were filled to capacity. An orchestra at the club house provided music for dancing which was much enjoyed by the crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cox of Los Angeles were week end guests of Mrs. Ethel B. Johnson.

Mrs. Sellers' friends will be glad to know that there is a slight improvement in her condition.

Mr. John Davis and several friends spent the week end spring cleaning his lots. The boys consdiered this great sport. Mr. Ben Bramlett prepared delicious barbecued meat for the feast.

Mrs. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. McAdams and son, Mrs. McAdams' mother and Miss Crawford, Rev. Malone, Rev. and Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Caddie Lawson, Mr. Neely, Mrs. Margé Howard, Mrs. Dora Collins and Mr. Leonard Beamer were recent guests at the Taylor Ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. McCauley and Mr. and Mrs. P. Fowler occupied their respective cabins over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roberts and two daughters spent a few days at Casa de Baldwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Macbeth and family spent the holiday at their cabin.

The residents of the valley will hold a meeting at the Dudley Inn to make arrangements for housing and feeding the men who are to work on the swimming pool.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cameron spent their vacation at their home in South Val Verde.

An attractive cabin is being erected for Rev. Trent under the immense oaks on his property.

Among numerous guests at Mrs. Lillian Watkins place were Mrs. Belle Brown and Mrs. Page.

Mrs. Ella Johnson Dotsy and little Miss Mosley spent their vacation here. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were recent guests in the valley.

If popularity can be deduced from the number of cars and persons stopping at the Rhodes and Hall's cabins, there can be no question in this case.

Mrs. Gertrude Moses, who has always been an ardent Val Verde booster, celebrated Decoration day, here, by purchasing a beautiful lot on Val Verde road.

Two weeks ago, the residents of the valley were awakened by arrival of a caravan of trucks, autos and cabin trailers, loaded with drilling machinery and equipment and large operating crew.

A derrick was immediately erected on a sight just south of the Community House. Drilling operations are now well under way for a test oil well by the Snell Oil Co. who hold leases on a large area in this vicinity. It is reported that indications are very promising. At present the drill is down about 1500 feet. Who knows but that residents will son be experiencing the thrill of an oil boom.

Separate Army Division Opposed By NAACP

NEW YORK, Jpune 2.—In a letter to Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has pointed out that while it is in favor of hearings before a House committee to place in the record the discrimination against Negroes in the army, it cannot endorse Congressman Fish's bill which provides for the creation of a seperate Negro division in the army.

"HAITI" MAY TOUR

NEW YORK, June 2 (ANP) — "Haiti", the federal theatre project [illegible]-cast drama that has been a sensation in Harlem's Lafayette theatre, may either be taken to Broadway or else sent on a tour of the nation, it was revealed last week.

The show has been grossing $2.000 weekly in the Harlem theatre and busines has been so good that patrons wanting desirable seats have been forced to purchase them through ticket brokers.

Host Lodge to Pacific States Ass'n Oldest Lodge in West

OAKLAND, June 2—Athens Lodge No. 70 of Oakland which is to be host to the Pacific States Association of Elks in its ninth annual session, was organized in 1905 and is now the oldest lodge west of the rockies. It still boasts of having some of its charter members in the lodge in Charles Jamieson, who was the first District Deputy, James M. Sims, the present Treasurer for more than 25 years, Atty. Edw. Mabson, Jas. E. Harris, Chas. W. Johnson, R. S. Alexander, Geo. Gordon, Edw. Jones and Lester Mapp.

Herbert L. Clarke has been financial secretary for over 15 years, and a member since 1912. For several years he served as trustee and was Exalted Ruler in 1923-24. Thomas M. Jackson, chairman of the Trustee Board, has been a member since 1925. W. R. Wingfield, District Deputy, has been a member since 1926, has served in the different offices of the lodge, and one term as Exalted Ruler, and has been District Deputy since 1934. He is also 2nd Vice-President of the Pacific States Association. Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of that body of Northern California.

The late Dr. W. W. Purnell, one of Oakland's most prominent physicians, was first Exalted Ruler.

At present Athens boasts among its membership some of the most prominent business and professional men in Northern California. Dr. Francis M. Nelson is the Exalted Ruler.

This year, Athens Lodge for the second time is host to the Pacific States Association. It is assisted by its auxiliary, Mizpah Temple. Ten years ago Athens Lodge had a membership in the neighborhood of 1000 members. In the year 1927 its present home and building located at 1219 8th street was purchased and in December, 1438 the mortgage was paid in full. Athens has since put in improvements running into several thousands of dollars. Among these was a cocktail lounge which is the mecca for the celebrities of Northern California and surrounding cities.

Shell Oil Co. Sales Manager Gets Promotion

L. G. McLaren, general sales manager of Shell Oil Company will become its vice-president in charge of marketing on June 1. Announcemet of McLaren's appointment and the date upon which he will assume direction of Shell's sales, storage and distribution operation in the West, British Columbia and Hawaiian Islands, was made yesterday by S. Belither, president.

Shell's new vice-president comes from the ranks. He entered the Company's employ in December 1921 as a service station employee in Seattle, Washington. Promotions followed rapidly and McLaren, now only 45 years of age, successively served the Company as salesman, local manager, district manager and division manager in cities of the Northwest and the Hawaiian Islands. From the post of division manager for the Northwest, with headquarters in Seattle, where he began his Shell career, McLaren was brought to San Francisco as general sales manager in 1935.

McLaren is expected to visit this division soon, according to Shell's Division manager here, R. D. Stetson.

CALEXICO

Miss Joyce LaReine Dancer, charming and talented debutante, who has rendered several years of musical service to Fountain Mission, was one of the honor graduates at the annual commencement of Calexico high school, held Friday, May 27. Urban Upton Gamlin and Walter King also graduated with athletic honors.

Greater Men's Day is being observed at Fountain Mission this Sunday with Arthur Prince of El Centro elementary school, as the main speaker. Other participating in the special worship service which begins at 10 a. m. are Cleveland McCloud, R. W. Bostic, Chester Lockard, James Bunch, Leon Jackson, Louis Henderson, Samuel Gray, John and William Hysaw.

Miss Pearl Heron and Geraldine Bostic were unanimously elected, last Sunday, as Fountain Mission delegates to the Southern California District Conference being held at San Diego, June 22-24.

Every Auxiliary of the Mission is driving hard to raise and complete annual conference claims by June 15th. Among some of the leaders in the drive are Mesdames S. B. Gillum, Willie Wright, Julia Keever, James Bunch and Mr. Cleveland McCloud. It is gratifying to note that many local citizens as well as out-of-towners are responding to this effort which should help Fountain Chapel pull up out of the mire and rise to the standard of a first-class California AME Mission.

Free Negro, Hold Mexican in Tex. Killing

AUSTIN, Tex., June 2. (ANP)—Last week when the body of Hope Elizondo, 12-year-old Mexican school girl who had been ravished and murdered, was found in a wooded section near Lavernia, between Austin and San Antonio, a scrap of paper was discovered near the body with the name of a Negro scrawled on it.

Immediately, of course, the colored man was arrested and later rushed by officer Wilson to the county jail at Floresville to avoid a lynching. Shortly thereafter, bloodhounds were placed on the scent, soon gave the case a new angle as they made a direct trail from the victim's body to the home of a 40-year-old married Mexican.

The Mexican was placed under arrest and later, after much deliberation, officials were convinced the Negro had no connection with the child's death, so he was released. The tension and high feeling among the farmers and others of the district soon subsided.

Hanford

By WILLIE BELL WATTS

C. Kelly and daughter, Sarah Lee, spent the week end in Sacramento, visiting relatives and friends. They were accompanied home by Willys Kelly who has completed his first year at Sacramento Jaysee.

Miss Aldine Meyers has gone to Palo Alto where she will spend the next few weeks, visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blakeney, Robert Blakeney, Mr. and Mrs. William Petis and little daughter, Corie Rey of San Mateo, visited Mrs. C. Blakeney, who is the mother of Mrs. Petis and Mrs. C. Blakeney. While here Mrs. Petis and Mrs. Blakeney were honored guests at a tea given in the parsonage of the AME Zion church Thursday afternoon.

"International night", a program sponsored by the Y Men's Clubs of Hanford was a grand success. Every nation was represented in full dress and a number typical of their country were executed. The Negro was creditably represented by Howard Chapel chorus, singing: "I Couldn't hear nobody pray", directed and accompanied by C. O. Weaver.

Harold Hill, Sarah Kelly, Queen Mary Hardin, Lloyd Welcher, Jr., Katherine Todd, Dorothy Carol and Stanley Benton motored to Fresno Wednesday night to a dance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fowler of Los Angeles were business visitors in Hanford Sunday and Monday.

Howard Chapel, AME Zion church held its Memorial Day service Sunday morning with the pastor, Rev. George H. Maunder, speaking on "The Message of Sacrifice". Evening services were postponed in order that those wishing to attend the baccalaureate services for the high school could do so. Katherine Todd was the only member of the group graduating this year.

Rufus Mason of Fresno was a Hanford visitor Wednesday. Rev. Maunder, Mrs. A. Knox and Mrs. C. Davis were Fresno visitors Saturday.

Miss Anita R. Kinnard has filed intentions to wed Isaih Patterson of Armona.

Mrs. Mary Anderson of East 11th street suffered a harrowing experience about eleven o'clock last Friday night when she was seized suddenly in the dark by a man as she was walking home on North Green street. She screamed and although her assailant tried to stop her by putting his hand over her mouth, her cries roused to the neighbors who put the would-be assaulted to rout. She was not harmed in any way other than a slightly twisted wrist.

W. Hunt, Mr. Lawson and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hunt of Los Angeles visited their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hunt of Laton. Mr. and Mrs. G. Johnson of San Mateo were week end guests of their sister, Mr. and Mrs. Forney of Laton. J. E. Abernathy, Miss M. Abernathy of Monmouth, E. Young of Pittsburgh, C. Young, Mrs. B. Harper of Oakland and Mrs. and Mrs. J. P. Jones and sons of Hanford were also guests at the Forney ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. House of Oakland and Miss Alyce Young of Visalia stopped over in Hanford Saturday to visit their cousins. They were en route to Allensworth to visit the graves of their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. S. Hackett. Leo Tolliver has gone to Imperial Valley for an indefinite stay.

LEONARD REED WINS SPEEDY DIVORCE

CHICAGO, June 2. (ANP)—Leonard Reed, well known in theatrical circles as a producer and composer, was granted a speedy divorce Tuesday from his wife, Mrs. Anna Pleasure Reed, just four days after suit was filed charging desertion. Mrs. Reed, former entertainer at the Grand Terrace cafe, is now hostess at the Parisian cafe.

SENATORS ASKED TO OPPOSE DIFFERENTIAL

NEW YORK, June 2—Senators who were named May 26 on a committee to consider the wages and hours bill were urged today in a telegram from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to oppose any attempt in the conference committee to impose geographical wage differentials.

If you fail to read the California Eagle, you may never know it happened.

Child Labor Report Made in N. Carolina

RALEIGH, N. C., June 2. (ANP)—Convincing proof of the great disparity between white and colored juvenile factory workers of the state, and the lack of opportunity for colored children employes to learn manufacturing work is contained in a recent report issued by the Division of Statistics, State Department of Labor, of which A. L. Fletcher is commissioner.

The division has just completed a table showing the employment certificates issued under the new Child Labor law, for a six-months period. In order to secure a work permit or certificate, the age of the child must be established. Certificates for full-time employment for the six-months period were issued to 12,269 boys and girls between 16 and 18. During the same period, part-time certificates were issued to 4,344 boys and 1,588 girls, ranging from 12 to 18 years of age.

In the full-time group there were 9,448 white and 190 Negro boys; 5,569 white and 62 Negro girls. In the part-time group there were 4,054 white and 290 Negro boys; 1,559 white and 29 Negro girls. In other words, 98 per cent of the children that work full time in North Carolina are white, and 2 per cent are colored; while 95 per cent of those in part-time employment are white and 5 per cent colored.

In checking the permits issued for full-time employment, it was found that the textile industry gives employment to the greatest single group of children. They employ 4,016 white and 22 Negro boys; 3,496 white and 7 Negro girls. The same disparity as between white and colored child workers obtains in the mercantile industry, the telegraph service, lumber business and other enterprises. The tobacco industry (with 1.1 per cent) employed fewer children than any of the other industries.

Appeals Argued in Scottsboro Cases

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 2,—The Supreme Court of Alabama heard argument last week for a new trial for three of the Scottsboro defendants, Clarence Norris, Andy Wright, and Charlie Weems.

The argument was made by Osmond K. Fraenkel of New York, one of the lawyers in the famous case.

Mr. Fraenkel's brief, later summarizing the testimony in the trials, argued that the lower court, presided over by Judge Wiliam A. Calahan, erred in not granting the motion made at the time for a new trial; that the court erred in rulings on evidence; and the court erred in overruling objections to the summation of the prosecuting attorney.

On this latter point, the brief cited the statement of Melvin Hutson, the prosecutor: "I know he (Norris) is guilty and I think Mr. Leibowitz knows he is guilty."

In the Weems case the brief cited the statement of Hutson: "How would you like to have your daughter on that train with nine Negroes in a car." The brief contended a new trial should be granted to each of the defendants.

The court is not expected to announce an opinion for several weeks.

ODD JOB MAN SOUGHT IN WARREN SLAYING

BAKERSFIELD—Chief of Police Robert Powers requested California officers to detain Willie Starr, 27-year-old Negro odd jobber, for questioning in connection with the slaying of Mathias Warren, father of District Attorney Earl Warren of Alameda County, in his home May 14.

Chief Powers said Starr, former employee about the Warren home, left suddenly without collecting wages due him at a lunch stand where he was employed.

Dig 12 Hours to Release Worker Caught in Cave in WAKE FOREST, N. C., June 2. (ANP)—Twelve hours after he was trapped as an old well caved in and while rescue workers of both races rushed frantically to dig him out, George Nelson, 55 succumber to his injuries.

Nelson was buried alive while cleaning the walls at the bottom of the 200 foot shaft. The rescue work was directed by members of the fire department aided by a number of volunteer workers who helped take dirt from the shaft in buckets. A crowd of between 200 and 300 persons looked on.

Andrew Jeffries, a companion, escaped being trapped shortly after Nelson was caught. He had started into the shaft in an attempt to give aid when a section of the wall fell on him, but he got out with no serious injury.

Indict Girl for Writing FDR 'Threat'

TOPEKA, Kan., June 2. (ANP)—In jail here since last December on a charge of sending a threatening letter to President Roosevelt, the plight of Miss Lucille Harris, 18 years old, has attracted wide attention.

Last Friday the Federal grand jury returned an indictment against the girl charging her with sending through the mails a threat to kill the President. Interest in her case has been aroused because of her winning personality and intelligence, and her solicitude for her mother, an invalid living in Virginia. Her father is dead. She is a member of the Roman Catholic church.

According to Miss Harris she was stranded here last winter without a job as the army officer for whose family she had been working was transferred to another city. Her futile quest for a job assertedly prompted her to write the letter.

She explained, "After being without a job for over a week, applying to welfare authorities, begging for work and being turned down, going without food for five days, knowing of no one else to ask aid, I thought surely I could write the President of the United States, telling him of my situation as best I could. I wrote him and I received no answer. I grew frantic and wrote again—what they call a 'threatening' letter. I don't remember just what I wrote, but I didn't know I had written anything wrong until I was arrested at Junction City December 22, 1937, and brought to Topeka on Christmas day."

Boston WPA Worker Wins Hero's Acclaim

BOSTON, Mass., June 2. (ANP)—Eugene Stewart, 28 years old, a WPA worker, father of five children, last week won a hero's aclami for his bravery in plunging into the icy cold, muddy waters of Fort Point channel and remaining there for 20 minutes, as he dived repeatedly in an effort to save a motorist whose car had catapulted into the water from the Dover street bridge.

Stewart's heroism, however, was in vain. Nearly exhausted and suffering from exposure, he was finally pulled from the water. A short time later a wrecking crew hauled the auto from the muddy bottom of the channel, found the driver, a white man trapped behind the steering wheel. This was Stewart's second bid for a hero's honors. Last year at City Hospital he averted threatened tragedy during a fire, was himself severely burned and otherwise injured. Queried as to what prompted his brave act last Thursday, Stewart replied: "I lost a very good white friend of mine this way last year and I never want to see anybody else die that way."

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL
Society Editor

There isn't any month in all the year that's like it . . . It quickens the heart beat! . . . It presses velvet roses closer to ardent bosoms! . . . It's a wear and tear on the pocketbook and a boost to the jewelry business. It's a pick-up for the telegraph messenger and a headache for folks at home . . . It's a breathless happy time that hurts and blesses when wordless speeches reach their zenith. June . . . the month of brides and commencements . . . and teas and vacation beginning . . . and surprises!

Surprise of the Spring, however, didn't wait for June . . . Kenneth Mack and Esther Avery were congratulated at their marriage reception Sunday in the Avery home in Pasadena . . . The laugh's on the gang 'cause the Mr. and Mrs. Mack have been just that since last August. From now on we're rooting for these quiet, unassuming boys . . . Best wishes for years and years of happiness.

The J. C. Tates of East 50th street, have issued invitations to the wedding reception of Miss Grace Reynolds and Robert Moore in the Tate home Sunday, June 12 . . . To them, too, we are happy to extend best wishes.

IN SEASON; OUT OF SEASON:

Quite in keeping with the time is the announcement that Memphis will contribute to L. A. visitors with Professor Mayo, dean of music at LeMoyne college, and his mother . . . and that Mrs. Florence Cole-McCleave, who recently returned from Florida where she was presented in recitals, is hosting Mrs. Lorenzo Jordan-Cole, who may take the trek with Mrs. McCleave and the Mayos here for the summer.

Out of season . . . and for that reason promising a lot of hilarious fun is the basketball game— yes, basketball — between the popular femmes fatales . . . Les Bonbonnieres and Club Coterie on June 11 at the YMCA . . . Just an urge to do something different . . . a change from teas, etc.

It seems that everyone who didn't go to Val Verde for the holiday week-end went to Murrays' Dude Ranch . . . and everyone who didn't go to one of those places hit it off to Elsinore or to Santa Monica beach . . . but since the air show must go on, ye scribe found work to do at home after delicious breakfast with friends and browsing in a Westside floral nursery. Monday evening held a departure in a surprise party . . . the surprise being effected through a lot of "connivin' " that worked — for our youngest staff member and your favorite newscaster, John Kinloch.

It so happens that the young honoree arrived at the age that Booth Tarkington made famous — sorry I can't tell — in a best-seller . . . so we did things like "coffee potting" and "calling all cards" . . . with two or three pennies that might have been matched. Among the guests were younger-setters Ralph Walker, Martin Hewlett, Consuello Robinson and sister Alice, Nelle Adams, Gwendolyn and Almena Davis . . . An informal affair, where you could rock on your heels and laugh with a broad "a" or clipped one . . . where you always get some more ice cream and the punch never runs out; where you aren't afraid to ask for another slice of the cake. 'Course there were presents . . . and a few spanks. Mrs. Idell Bateman helped John's aunt, Mrs. C. A. Bass, do the hosting.

Home at midnight . . . no sooner settled than one of those quakes . . . that I'll never be able to appreciate, but then I like the sunshine . . . so no need knocking earth tremors.

MARGINAL NOTES:

Maybe it was supposed to be a stag . . . but Ouida White, June Baker, Cecelia Dye and one of the lovely Pasadena Harris sisters were in on the hastily put together picnic the Kats staged up in Big Tiyunga . . . and we're all mad . . . thinkin' seriously of givin' them a piece of the mind . . . The "Apes" are having a party Saturday night and there's talk among the graduates of going to the Biltmore graduation prom afterwards . . . which is as it should be.

Wanted: For the EAGLE Graduation Edition next week, pictures of all collegiate grads . . . and all outstanding high school and junior college diploma seekers. Among those missing thus far are names of two Chapman co-eds, Beatrice Smith and Lois Collins . . . because it's especially for those who have completed the four-year (or five—smile) courses for degrees . . . we don't want to miss anyone. Friday is the deadline . . . Saturday, the squeeze . . . Please.

Pansy Harper is now Mrs. Reginald W. Harang . . . and very happy . . . Seeing the pair swing along the Avenue is a cure for the blues. Pet peeve of the week: People telling about enjoying chicken dinners . . . and all that . . . with no appreciation for the dinner hour being near . . . and no chicken.

Have you wrapped the grads' presents . . . and lined up telegrams?

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTHE MEAUX

"What fools ye mortals be", Shakespeare's little Puck and I'm inclined to believe that that little guy had the right slant on us queer human beings, especially after that little icy expedition in which we indulged over Memorial Day.

But we didn't have to suffer alone in our cold misery because we had plenty of company down Santa Monica way.

Scene on the beach: Kenny Washington and June Bradley with their heads together and doing a bit of talking on the serious side, or maybe it was the sentimental side . . . "Drippy" Williams and Betty Smith having decided that it was much too cold to brave the icy waves attempting to coerce the sun to come out so that they could shed a few of their blankets and enjoy a sun bath . . .Gwen and Corrine Jones trying to make us feel bad by reminding us how cold it was every time we passed in front of them . .. Mae Turner and Gwen Shaeffer watching the parade go by as they sat on the side lines . . .Frances Carroll and Melvin Nickerson doing the most sensible thing by remaining in their car and watching the rest of the guys freeze . . . George Curry being all brave and everything as he plunged into the Pacific to enjoy an invigorating swim, only to return on shore within the space of a few minutes a little on the purple side.

Taking advantage of Uncle Sam's holiday were Ike Lewis, Sylvia Smith, Lois Evans, and Sammy McPherson walking up and down the beach at a rapid rate to keep from becoming just plain icycles . . . Ida Bowman who was entertaining her niece for the day was spied farther down the beach at Ocean Park just as she disappeared in one of the buildings in Toonerville town. Also spied her as she came out a bit on the nervous and mental wreck side . . . Ethel Carter in the fun barrel was hitting a new high in contortionistic angles as she tried to figure out a way to get up and stay up in that moving thing. . .(Notice I'm not saying anything about the bruises I've got to show from that same adventure) . . .Ballinger Kemp inveigling Vera Collins into going on the roller coaster and scaring a half year's growth out of her.

On the stroll back to Santa Monica noted Cato Robinson, Carrie Jenkins and Chuck Stovall who had joined the ice expeditioners in their journey to the ocean.

And so they were married . . . and in such a lovely wedding too . . . Of course we mean Dorothy Tenette, who loked like a petite Dresden figure in white satin and net, and Leon Baylyff, whom we've never seen more handsome.

The bridesmaids dressed in pink net Shepherdess frocks over pink moire taffeta, pink net baby bonnets faced with rosebuds, and carrying old fashioned nosegays of pink and blue sweetpeas made a lovely contrast to the solid whiteness of the bride's costume. . . Didn't know all the bridesmaids but recognized Janice Coleman and Francis King, who by the way was the maid of honor.

Completing the bridal party were the best man, Sammy McPherson . . .and Ushers Johnny Brewer, Dunbar Hunt, Tilman Thomas, and Clarence Smith, (Trust me to know all the men), who really looked most handsome in tails.

There to wish the bride and groom much happiness were Manda and Danetta Smith greeting people they hadn't seen for ages . . . Murlie Brewer, looking a bit proud over little brother's ability to wear tails with such dash . . . Mary Woodyard . . . Era Larieu . . Bill Williams . . . Jessie and Mytrle Robinson . . . Anna Rosa Broyles and her sister, Mrs. Henderson . . . Fay Thomas . . .and Johnny and Winifred Orr.

MODELS, PATRONS INSURE SUCCESS OF L. A. HI-Y VARIETY SHOW JUNE 3

Paul White, Universal Juvenile Star, to Be Featured

With a beautiful array of popular Angeleno socialites and sub-debs, strengthened by dapper scions of prominent families as models, with an enviable list of patrons and "super-scooper" program, the L. The show which will be held in the Lincoln Theatre Friday evening, June 3, will feature among other stars, Paul White who is one of Universal's juvenile stars, a singing and dancing sensation.

PATRONS NOTED

The energetic group headed by Norwood Lewis numbers among its patrons Hattie McDaniels of the cinema world, Mmes. Betty Hill and Emily Brown Portwig of the club and social realm, Baxter Scruggs, and Atty. Lloyd Griffith among the civic leaders and a host of others of no less importance. Social organizations who are patrons include L. A. Tri-Y, Social Barons, Belmont Hi-Y, Polytechnic Hi-Y, Jefferson Hi-Y, Royal Syndicators, Jolly Gents, Social Counts, Manual Arts Tri-Y, Majestic Corsairs, Fenpers, the Riis Tri-Y and Lancers Hi-Y.

DANCE TO FOLLOW

The show will be followed by an informal dance for participants, Hi-Y members and their guests in the second floor ballroom of the Elks' Building on Central avenue.

YWCA Annual Garden Fete at Tyler Residence

Mrs. Willis O. Tyler, 1117 South Serrano Avenue has offered the use of her beautiful gardens to the educational committee of the Twelfth Street Branch Y. W. C. A. for its annual garden fete on June 12. The event will be from three to six o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Leonard Stovall ,assisted by Mrs. Emily Portwig is in charge of the fashion parade which will take place at four o'clock. The public is invited.

It was also announced that the reports of Mmes. Louise R. Kenner and Isabel Clifton, delegates to the recent national convention in Columbus, have returned to the city and will give their reports soon.

VIRGIL MORROW SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

Virgil Morrow, 855 East 32nd street, was surprised in his home Thursday evening with a birthday party hosted by his wife, Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow. Clever planning on the part of Mrs. Morrow kept the honoree absent from home until a large number of guests arrived. He was greeted by the familiar "Happy Birthday" refrain and the flashing on of lights revealing his evident surprise.

Seventy-five guests showered Mr. Morrow with many useful and attractive gifts. The evening climaxed with the cutting of a sky-scraper candle bedecked cake.

Sister Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Mattie Lee Steward honored her sister, Miss Hattie Byrd with a birthday party Sunday, May 22, at her home, 4061 McKinley. The celebration marked Miss Byrd's eighteenth birthday.

Pink and white roses made up the centerpiece for the buffet table from which supper was served at six by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Bertha Lee Roberts.

Prizes were won by Misses Trenety Lewis, Celo Young, and Ruth Maxwell. Other guests were Misses Ethel Nash, Mary Johnson, Christine and Kathryne Samberk Lovey and Maethell Green.

Cosmetology Prexy States Purposes

The California Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association which will meet Monday evening, June 6, at 7:30 in Henrietta's Beauty school had its purposes set forth in statement from its president, Mrs. Fannie Bdanchette this week. Mrs. Blanchette's statement follows:

"We have in our area some of the finest cosmetological establishments in the nation, and as a whole, we believe the California establishment will rate above those in any other comparable area. For our security and protecetion, we are out to build the finest association in the country with a membership so large and so representative of the fine character of our establishments that we shall be able to improve our position. The time to improve our position is now and we intend to start doing so now!

This association is formed for the mutual benefit, education and protection of its members.

To promote and foster the best interests of hairdressing and the cosmetological profession, to establsh a standard of professional knowledge and ethics to be lived up to by the profession;

To promote a feeling of good will, harmony and cooperation for general good;

To encourage interchange of views regarding importantant business and educational matters affecting the profession as a whole;

To enlighten and direct public opinion concerning the profession of hair dressing and cosmetology and its direct reation to the attainment and preservation of health through the encouragement of beauty and attractiveness;

To promote uniform legislation that will be just and beneficial to the profession and to the public and to discourage needless and detrimental legislation.

Florence George, Chicago Civic opera star who makes her screen debut in Paramount's "College Swing", is in the midst of purchasing a ranch. She needs space for her present and promised collection of pets.

ELAMS' SOUTH L. A. HOME SCENE OF DINNER PARTY

Miss Ressie Elam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Elam of So. Los Angeles, was honoree at a birthday party Sunday evening in the Elam home in celebration of her birthday. The informal affair, beautifully planned, featured a decorative scheme of blue and gold and corsages of red and yellow roses for the ladies; the honoree's corsage was of orchids.

Guests to the dinner party included Misses Iona Logan, Nadine Fortier, Naomi Dunn, and Joan Barker; Messrs. Joe Comfort, Leonard, Frank Comfort, Morris Wiggins, Thomas Duckett, Harold Lewis and Leroy Laws. Laura Comfort and Margaret Hauchins. Serving as hostesses were Miss Albertha Busuy and Mrs. Maude Elam.

Following dinner the party joined friends at the K. P. hall for an evening of dancing.

Hundreds of Angelenos who missed the first showing of the film welcome the second chance to see it at popular prices in the Florence Mills theatre beginning June 7.

Other girls can have WHITER SKIN, too!

"PLEASE don't print my name, but if my story can help other girls, here it is! I was unpopular, never asked out on account of my ugly, blotchy dark skin! I tried so many remedies I grew discouraged. I said 'I'll try just one more.' Luckily it was Nadinola. Now my skin is several shades whiter, soft and smooth as silk. Men say I'm alluring."

What YOU Can Do

Tonight, smooth a little of this fragrant, scientific cream on your face; no rubbing or massaging. While you sleep your skin becomes lighter and lighter—softer, smoother, too! Other flaws and blemishes, coarseness and ugly shine are improved at the same time.

Nadinola Is Sure and Safe

Don't take chances with unproved bleaches, ointments or salves. Demand genuine Nadinola, tried and trusted for two generations.

You Get Results—or Money Back

For sale at good drug stores in two sizes, 50c and $1. Every jar of Nadinola contains full instructions and positive money-back guarantee. NADINOLA BLEACHING CREAM

Los Angeles and Pasadena Society . . .

By GEORGE GARNER

One famous writer, a great bishop of the Church of England has said: "For the Christian there can be but one ideal, the perfect development of every man for the occupation of his appointed place, for the fulfilment of his peculiar office . . . and as a first step toward this, we are all bound, as Christians, to bring to our country the offering of our individual service in return for the opportunities of culture and labour which we receive from its organization . . . What we hold for a time is to be administered for the relief of distresses, and for the elevation of those among whom we are placed. Personal and social egoism are equally at variance with this conception of humanity . . . repression of individuality and the individual appropriation of the fruits of special vigour and insight equally tend to impoverish the race. Service, always ready to become sacrifice, is the condition of our joy." . . . and going further, I liked the statement of the brilliant, dynamic speaker, made at the 55th baccalaureate address of the University of Southern California . . . just this Sunday afternoon past . . . the words which came, clarion like across the greensward of the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum: "The world is not so much troubled by the wolfishness of the wolves as it is by the sheepishness of the sheep."

The University of Southern California holds its 55th annual commencement exercises, this oncoming Saturday, June fourth . . . in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum . . . at 2:00 o'clock . . . that the role of participant rather than onlooker will have been accorded to me this year makes me but ever more grateful for the manifold gifts that God places within our reach upon this plane . . . President Rufus B. Von KleinSmid has extended a cordial inviation to the citizens of Southern California to attend the always impressive ceremonies.

I found not unlike the atmosphere of an English gentleman's home the stag party given last Friday evening to honor ace-engineer A. A. Alexander . . . and for which eminent architect Paul R. Williams asked in a number of men prominent in the business, legal and theatrical professions to enjoy the hospitable atmosphere of his Westside home . . . and so another more than pleasant evening amid the cultural surroundings, enjoying the smooth order, the perfection of viand synonymous with the Williams' home . . . present were Messrs. J. L. Hill, of the Angelus; YMCA's B. A. Scruggs, Dr. Arthur Booker, Attorney Lloyd Griffith, Attorney Thomas Griffith, pharmacist J. T. Smith, insurance executive George Beavers, Dr. Fred G. Whiteman, Attorney Ivan J. Johnson III, architect Floyd Henderson, Ralph Vaughn, contractor Frank Harvey, Golden State's Norman Houston, the inimitable, world-famous "Bill" Robinson, Deputy District Attorney Charles Matthews, Power and Light corporation's Titus Alexander, contractor Charles Blodgett, T. Curtis Smith.

Amid a profusion of fragrant blossoms and greenery, a mantel-piece banked with chaste white flowers, heightened by graceful, lighted tapers, the Oscar Averys of 180 Glorieta St., feted their newly wed daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth William Mack, with an elaborate wedding reception . . . the former Esther Avery wore a full-skirted diaphanous gown of white, gardenias blooming amid her high-piled curls . . . she carried a spray sheaf of Paul Pernet and Talisman roses . . . others in the receiving line included groom, Kenneth William Mack, bestman Arthur McNeeley . . . and the Misses Gussie Valley, Cecelia Dye and Kathryn Harris, each carrying globular bouquets of sweetpeas . . . the handsome and costly wedding gifts were displayed in a room beyond . . . guests, including Los Angeles and Pasadena younger-set members and young marrieds for the most part, continued to pay their respects to the newly spoused pair until well toward nine o'clock.

POST HOLIDAY NEWS INCLUDES:

The week-end trip . . .and a thoroughly enjoyable one, too . . . made by Mmes. Anna Baptiste, Ruby Curry and George Robert Garner to San Francisco and Morgan Hill . . . the weeks-end vacation of the Henry E. Burtons spent at their ranch . . . the never ending stream of "beachcombers" going along and toward Santa Monica . . . the more than one pair of horsewomen and men jogging along the trails at Griffith Park . . . the ultra ultras who went up to Vistorville and fashionable "Murrays" for a day or two of smoothly "roughing it".

"Significant Facts in the Anti-Lynch Fight and the Lesson It Teaches" will be the theme of a guest address . . . when the Fellowship Breakfast league holds its customary monthly session this coming Sunday morning . . . members and guests will have gathered to hear well known barrister Thomas L. Griffith speak to them . . . Attorney Griffith has very kindly accepted the invitation to appear as the morning's main speaker . . . reservations for the always important sessions at breakfast held by this civic organization may be yet phoned to TErrace 0735 . . . Breakfast, served by the Sharp Sisters Catering company, begins promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

Memorial Day, May, 1938, found Southern Californians remembering among other loved ones, the former presences of two beloved Southlanders . . . Mrs. Bertha L. Turner, and pioneer Californian Charles Prince . . . the loving generosity and manifold kindness of the former will forever be treasured in memory.

With the stage all set, Pasadena Community Sing Association's Women's Auxiliary will fete the community this next Thursday, June ninth, with an "Old-Fashioned Carnival" . . . scheduled to hold forth from the entire Garner Community Center from eight o'clock until 12 . . . with a prize for the most clever old-fashioned costume . . . cards, dancing and refreshments . . . cards of admission, priced at 25c may be procured from members of the auxiliary and from Mrs. Pearl Fairfax, auxiliary chairman.

The Missionary Society of Friendship Baptist church will present Mrs. S. W. Layten, president of the Women's auxiliary to the National Baptist convention in a gigantic mass meeting at 2:30 p. m. . . . the first Sunday in June . . . Mrs. Layten has been the only president of this body since its organization . . . having spoken to audiences both at home and abroad . . . Mme. Madeline Hawkins-White, celebrated concert artist, will also appear on the program . . . Mme. White has recently come to California from the East . . . The entire populace of Pasadena would do well to hear these two distinguished women . . . Mrs. Eva C. Burton is mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. B. Corinne Carter, wife of the pastor to Friendship, will introduce Mrs. Layten to the audience . . . the meeting has been scheduled for 2:30 o'clock to give ample opportunity for all persons to hear Miss Edythe Meaux at 4:00 o'clock in Pasadena's First Baptist church.

s.c.a.n.n.i.n.g THE CLUBS

THE DAFFODIL GIRLS held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. L. Washington last week. The carnival dance given Saturday, May 14, was recalled as an enjoyable event where five hundred guests were entertained to the music of Roy Clark. Officers of the club are: Ora Townsend, president; Wilda Smith, vice-president; Laura Washington, secretary; Mamie Heath, corresponding secretary; Minnie Beatty, treasurer; Gladys Grundy, reporter; and Anna Horn, critic. Other members include Eunice Joseph and Jennie Butler.

Les Femmes Modernes met at the home of Mrs. Katherine Johnson, Wednesday, May 25. Business consisted mainly of reports from the recent smoker.

After discussing various affairs to be given in the near future, the business session was closed. For their skill at "Society Craps" Miss Martha Lewis won the first prize and Miss Suzette Harbzin won the second prize.

The meeting then adjourned to meet with Mrs. Thelma Knight Wednesday, June 2.

THE CARNATION BRIDGE CLUB was hosted by Mrs. Dora Young on Thursday evening, May 26. Final plans were made for the barn dance to be given on June 18 at 3724 Paloma. The next meeting will be with Mrs. L. Hill, 1158½ East 41st Place.

The GAY CABELLEROS Social club met at the home of Richard Asbery Monday evening, May 23, with the president, I. D. Butler, in the chair. A lively business session was followed by bridge and prizes were won by Spencer Buckner and I. D. Butler.

The NOUS SERVONS club of the First AME church, 8th and Towne Avenue will be hostesses to their second annual June Rose tea on Sunday, June 12, in the home of Mrs. J. L. Hill, 1190 W. 36th street.

Miss Sara Collins is president of the club and Mrs. Paul R. Williams is adviser.

The PLEASURE SEEKERS were hosted by Mrs. Hazel D. Holmes of 1244 East Vernon, Wednesday, May 25, in the Swing Hi. Cocktails were served in the lounge of the popular spot and lunch in the Bamboo Room. Bridge followed at the home of Mrs. Holmes.

Sing Association Vesper Musicale Set for Pasadena

Miss Edythe Meaux's essay: "The Black Side of a White Subject" which won second prize in the recent Phi Beta Kappa awards, will furnish the piece de resistance at this Sunday's vesper musicale, to be given in the sanctuary of the First Baptist church, Marengo and Holly streets. The 4:00 o'clock services will be given by the Pasadena Community Sing association, George Garner, director, as a gesture of appreciation to the association's many friends and patrons. Miss Meaux, who graduates this Saturday, from the University of Southern California school of journalism, will bring her freshly won laurels to the Pasadena audience, on Sunday.

Dr. J. M. Brown, minister to Pasadena's First AME church, will deliver the invocation and welcome the assemblage to the late afternoon affair.

Music by members of the Garner chorus, featuring baritone soloist Elijah Hodges and pianistes Merleen Ballard and Freddye Ward, gifted young artists, will fill a major portion of the programme.

Each year the Pasadena Community Sing association brings to the music-loving and church-going public in and around the Crown City, a vesper service to which large crowds are invariably attracted — by dint of the Southern California reputation of the Garner chorus and its enthusiastic following.

This Sunday's vesper musicale will be no exception in that it will attract music lovers as well as those members of both races intent on hearing, for the first time in Pasadena, Miss Meaux's splendid writings.

Seating accommodations will be available from 3:30 o'clock.

BRIDGE POINTS

In response to Question Box queries of 5-12-38 which appeared on the want ad section of this paper.

1. A five no trump bid by either partner is not a grand slam force, if preceded by a four no-trump or Asking bid.

2. An asking bid is in order when the bidding has placed 6-6½ or 7 honor-tricks with eleven sure winners combined hands.

3. An opening suit bid of two is forcing for one round even though you have a part-score.

4. When your partner has given you a single raise, you cannot bid to the level of three without 5½ winners.

5. You can open a shut out bid of four in a major with a little as 1 plus honor-tricks and eight probable tricks not vulnerable, if vul eight sure winners, however, you MUST have a strong rebidable suit.

6. A minimum bidable suit consist of any four card suit headed by, AJ32, KJ32, QJ32. Shaded bidable suits: A1032, K1032, Q1032.

7. A slam try should be made when the bidding has placed a minimum of twelve playing tricks in the combined hands, or a reasonable 50-50 chance for the twelfth or thirteenth trick as the case may be.

Bridgers starting next week I will give you a few pointers on the Royal Deck or the Five-Suit bridge that is storming the country.

on the question, "Will Hitler Dare?"

A NEWS item in the last edition of the California Eagle states, "William Cunningham, of Philadelphia, once killed a man who stoned his dog, got a reward yesterday for being kind to animals — a $500 bequest in the will of Mary Craige Yarrow.

"Miss Yarrow, a daughter of a Philadelphia physician, said in her will that the $500 'has been long due' Cunningham."

It strikes me that in this item rests a possible salvation of our present economic woes. The President has been loud recently in denunciation of the rich who cling to their money, keep it inactive in vaults, and thus deny to the general public so much purchasing power. The President states that this currency must get into circulation. In my opinion, here is the answer.

Since we see with what beneficence people will separate with five hundred dollars to a canine defender, may we not create a wage-hour scale and make the thing a national institution. For instance, if Willy Brown in Muck County, Idaho, kills his next door neighbor for pitching foot gear at the local alley cat, he may be rewarded by three hundred dollars to be deducted from the net profit of any Republican concern within a fifty-mile radius selected through strawdrawing by a specially appointed ten thousand dollar year commission. On a declining scale we may have set prices all along the line — that is, one bat in the eye delivered a dog hater may bring fifty dollars, while a determined kick upon the posterior presented a chronic cat despiser, might call for thirty-five dollars and seventy-five cents "out-go" tax.

With a little vision and constructive criticism the whole thing may be worked into a great monument to American intellect. Of course, there would have to be differentials. One could not expect to draw the same for assault upon a cat drowner in Mississippi as in New York. If one did, a filibuster might occur. The whole system could be gotten under one competent central organization to be known as the National Unified Terror Society —abbreviated, N-U-T-S.

At the end of each fiscal year we might call in the economic experts of the AAA, NRA, FHA, SERA, and PWA. After giving the books a complete going-over they may report that even though there is a 38 billion dollar deficit in the organization, the expenditure of five billion more will make everything all right and that above all else the Society must not "let the people down".

STYLE NOTES

For protecting your skin, you'll want a good cleansing cream . . . and a foundation preparation, preferably a liquid one, that can be patted on gently with less likelihood of giving you a greasy appearance. You'll want a fine smooth grained powder . . . Whatever you do, don't try to make out with what you've been using all winter. A change in shade and texture of make-up to suit the season will give you a refreshed look. If you perspire freely, use as little powder as possible and a cream rouge that can stand at least six hours. If you choose the latter carefully, half your make-up worries will be solved. The wrong shade of rouge hardens your countenance and it may spoil a perfectly matched outfit. Learn to apply just enough for natural coloring for daytime--and, if your complexion is too dark, you'll do better to use none at all--For evening, apply it according to your dress style and color, and, of course, lighting.

Lipstick is the most popular item for your kit . . . because it's something that everyone can wear advantageously if used dextrously . . . The fundamental rule in purchasing your favorite shade is the same as the one for powder--that is, avoid a heavy lip rouge . . . and be sure to try a new shade.

Most vexing of all summer ills is your hair. Sol has a way of streaking it with dirty red . . . or picking up dullness that has been hidden all winter . . . If your hair is sensitive to sun, better drop in and have a conference with your beautician before you hie to the beach or ranch in a rumble seat. Colorful scarfs are a godsend for wind . . . but, alas, most of us still suffer around the temples from swimming. A good bathing cap helps, but if you are an ardent swimmer . . . you may as well make room on your beauty budget for twice as many trips to the beauty shop. A simple hair style will be more comfortable and easier to keep . . . and combing your tresses up will not only mark you as keeping up with the current trend . . . but will also take a few years from your mouth and give you that cool feeling on the hottest day. If your scalp perspires freely, use a mixture of 1 part olive or castor oil and two parts lavender oil applied before a jaunt in the wind and sun. Use it very sparingly and above all keep your scalp clean.

San Diego ---- -- ----ytk,psS1

Playing before the largest crowd of the season, Luke's Auto Laundry baseball team lost their first game at Banning Park of the Athletic club by a score of 1-0. The game was bitterly contested from start to finish. Until the seventh inning the game was scoreless. Roberts, pitcher for Luke's pitched a wonderful game. George Sterling was on the receiving end in place of Bertrand who was injured in last week's game when he was hit by a ball from the bat of a Harbor Belt Line Club. Robert Storey, senior in San Pedro High school, was the only member of Luke's to get in a scoring position, but he failed to score.

Timothy T. Goolsby, senior in San Pedro High school was the only race boy to take part in the track meet last Friday which was held at Gardenia High school. Winning the 100 yard dash and running a leg on the mile relay team will make Goosby eligible for participation in the all City meet.

Mrs. Will Stewart entertained her daughter, Roberta, at a surprise birthday party Friday night. Those present in the city were the Misses Alice and Ethel Gladdis, Joyce Stewart, Timothy Goolsby, J. W. Roberts, C. C. Searcey, and Leon Roberts. The honoree received many lovely presents.

The Frederick Roberts Social Club will hold their weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. Will Stewart next Sunday.

On Saturday night there will be a party at the residence of Mrs. Adonie Roberts on the corner of Pacific avenue and Santa Cruz street.

Another colored champion looms in Willie Clive Forman of Wilmington. Willie runs on the relay, runs the 60 yard dash and broadjumps.

Mrs. W. Olashford of Los Angeles has moved to the city and likes it.

MONROVIA

Second Baptist Church
Maple and Shamrock Aves.,
Rev. John A. Davis, Pastor

Last Sunday was a very busy day in Second Baptist Church! Beginning with the Sunday school. At the morning service the pastor brought a very splendid message to a fine audience. His text was taken from Judges 8th chapter and the 2nd verse. Subject: Lessons that Memorial Day should teach us. He concluded with a very appropriate eulogy of the life of Mrs. E. J. Layne, who passed one year ago May 13th. Our visitors for this service were Mrs. M. M. Blantyne of Los Angeles, Mrs. Lucille Moore of Arkansas and Mrs. Johnnie Polk of Venice and Mrs. Gordon of Los Angeles, mother of Dr. Gordon, who was visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jackson.

At 3 p. m. the Missionary rendered a very acceptable program, featuring Mrs. H. H. Chiles, President of the Women's Convention of the Western Baptist Convention, as the principal speaker. Mrs. Chiles delivered a very masterly and eloquent address and many things were said that provoked sound thoughts. Mrs. D. M. Hughes, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Scott, and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Jolly and many others from the Friendship Missionary Society were present. Two selections were rendered by Mrs. Jolly and a paper read by Mrs. Lawson. Remarks by Mrs. Hughes. Mrs. G. Prely president of the Central Section, Mrs. B. T. Mayfield, president of the West section and Mrs. Sophie Castle, president of the East section had charge of the Pews.

At 8 p. m. another splendid crowd was on hand for the evening program. Mrs. E. Sandifer rendered a reading, and a duet was sung by Mr. and Mrs. James Woods. Mrs. Florence B. Watson returned Missionary from Africa was the principal speaker. Mrs. Watson held the audience's attention, as she spoke to them out of the fullness of her heart about the land to which she yearns to return.

The A. H. J. Club gave a Waffle breakfast in the dining room of the church on Decoration Day. The Monrovia Branch of the N. A. A. C. P. is holding a very important meeting Tuesday, May 31st at the Church. Lt. W. W. Robinson is the president. At the Shiloh A. M. E. Church Quarterly Conference was conducted by the presiding Elder Rev. J. B. Holmes, he preached in the moring at 11 a. m. and in the evening at 8 p. m. Rev. W. R. Lovell, pastor of First A. M. E. Z. Church of Los Angeles, preached at 3 p. m.

The Bethel A. M. E. Church had splendid services all day.

Mrs. Clyde Howell and some of her friends spent the afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. Castle, and were her dinner guests, they came to church and enjoy the message of Mrs. Chiles.

ELSINORE

By Anna Louise Thomas
(Roe and Flint St.)

Elsinore had a glorious revival of ye goode old days, lake lovers were again crowded on the lake and fish lover were plentiful with over two thousand at the dam many were forced to come down on the river in order to get their hooks in the water. There were so many visitors in so many different places of attraction that your reporter felt like one must feel when lost on the desert not knowing which way to turn, so I apologize for not being able to mention all of the visitors.

The Elsinore Inn opened with great success Sunday, entertainment began early in the afternoon and continued until late.

There were large crowds coming and going all day, everyone enjoyed themselves and gave their approval.

Visitors were:

Mr. Robert Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Burk, Miss Geraldine Oldham, Mrs. Flora Moton, Mrs. Eddie Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Smith, were present at the delicious turkey dinner served at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. Daniels.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Willbourn, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Anderson and son, George Anderson, Mr. S. Perry, Mrs. Katy Dix, were visitors at Mr. Hickman.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Floyd, Mrs. Frank Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Will Carter, Mrs. Georgia Thomas, were all visitors at Mrs. Hendricks.

Mr. and Mrs. Winder were also among the visitors.

Liquidation of the business has begun.

EL CENTRO NEWS

By W. A. Payne

EL CENTRO, June 2.—The baccalaureate services for the public school system here was held Sunday night in the auditorium of the Douglass high school. The largest congregation that has ever attended a similar service was present and very attentive to a most excellent program. The procession of forty elementary school graduates, seven high school graduates and four graduates from the Junior College was very impressive. Music for the service was furnished by a Choral Chorus composed of members of the several church choirs. Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor directed the chorus and Mrs. A. E. Prince acted as accompanist. Mrs. Clifford Freeman Dixon of Seattle, Washington, a noted vocalists was present and sang "Show Me the Way, O' Father".

The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. J. Taylor, Minister of the Church of God. His sermon was an inspiration and teemed with advice to the young people completeing one epoch of their lives and beginning another.

Miss Pauline Slater of Los Angeles a former teacher in this city was present and happily responded to the request for remarks. An informal reunion was held in her honor at the close of the service. Superintendent Guy A. Weakley and Harry Sones, president of the El Centro School District Board of Trustees and their wives were present and attested to the most excellent program rendered.

Elaborate plans are being made for the remaining school closing programs. Washington school will hold its graduating exercises on the school campus Tuesday evening. The young people will sing the cantata "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," directed by Mrs. Lucille Culberson. On Thursday evening Douglass High School and Junior College will hold their graduating exercise. Dr. S. M. Beane of Los Angeles has been chosen commencement speaker. The members of the class will present numbers on the program Following the commencement the Girl Reserves will entertain graduates and their friends with a reception.

The Melodious Four composed of Miss Gervaise Jones, soprano; Mr. James Robinson, tenor; Miss Lenore Cooper, alto and pianist; Mrs. Lucille Culberson, contralto and violinist delighted an audience with a fine concert last Tuesday evening. The concert was given in the Washington school. It was sponsored by the W. W. G.'s, the proceeds going to the building fund of Second Baptist church. Miss Jones and Mr. Robinson gave solo numbers; Mrs. Culberson violin selections; Miss Cooper, piano selections. Miss Cooper, Mrs. Culberson, and Mr. Robinson formed a trio that rendered several delightful numbers. Another feature of the evening was the rendering of compositions and arrangements of Miss Cooper by the trio and by the composer herself. The concert was one of the delightful affairs of the season.

The Washington School teachers joined the city school teachers in a banquet at the Barbara Worth hotel last Tuesday evening. The affair closed the social activities of the teachers' club for the season. Washintgon's group stole the show singing "Jim" and "The Tack's Principal Prince maintaining his reputation as a soloist.

The Douglass High School Letterman's Club celebrated a very succesful year with a banquet at the Community Club house and a dance afterwards in the high school auditorium. After an appetizing dinner served by the home economics department, a series of appropriate talks and addresses were made by Messrs L. J. Stewart, John R. Allen, James Stocks, James Robinson, George Venable. Mr. Payne the toastmaster presented Coach Stocks who gave to the deserving athletes certificates of merit; letters to successful athletes; and the gold baseball to the best all round athlete, Thomas Craig. John Jingles the retiring captain led the boys in pep talks and introduced Roland Maples the captain for the next year. The success of the team this year has been remarkable and has occasioned much interest among the youthful athletes.

The Hearth Club of the Daughter Elks held their revealing ceremonies last Wednesday evening. With Mrs. Lottie Augustus acting as Mistress of Ceremonies, Mrs. Anna Jackson as postmistress and W. V. Lawrence and Mrs. A. F. Webster as carriers, a season of enjoyment, surprises, and hilarity was had. This club has done much to cement the bond of friendship among the members. Following the revealing of Hearts and the distribution of presents, the Daughters served one of their famous dinners. A departure this year was the including of Brother Elks and one guest for each member. Were we lucky?

Mrs. Ruth McGregor and Miss Gladys Gier entertained with a well planned party honoring the graduates of 1938. The class room of Mrs. McGregor had been converted into a bower of beauty. Amusing and interesting games were played during the early part of the evening. After the serving of refreshments dancing was enjoyed by the young people. Schol and class colors were used in the decorations.

Miss Theresa Dixon of Seattle, Washington is visiting here with her sister-in-law of that city and Miss Pauline Slater of Los Angeles. While here they are guests of the Prince-Owens-McGregor families. A number of friends were invited to meet the guests last Saturday evening. A delightful time was had. The visitors also shared the very informal but bountiful breakfast served by the University Club Monday morning following the close of the tennis tournament. The breakfast closes the University year; it is always well attended and enjoyed. Imperial Valley's choicest cantaloupes were served before, during and after the breakfast--as many present will testify.

Grand Esquire Eugene Sorral, D. D. Grand Exalted Ruler Littleton McDuff, and Grand State Organizer James Jackson of Los Angeles spent Thursday here renewing old friendships. During the evening they attended a regular session of Salton Sea Lodge of Elks. Exalted Ruler Felix Gray and his membership accorded them every courtesy possible. During the meeting they brought timely messages telling of the work in general and the plans to hold the Pacific States Association in Oakland in June and to bring to the West the Grand Lodge in 1939. The Master of Social Session had thoughtfully prepared a spread honoring the visitors at the close of the meeting.

Miss Zelma Perkins of San Diego, an alumni of both the Douglass high school and the Douglass Junior College is here to attend the series of services and entertainments.

Mr. A. C. Beasley a member of the high school alumni is home visiting friends during the week.

"Deuce" Tipton and Roland Jones, old timers, dropped in to see how affairs were going and to greet former friends.

Mr. T. W. Wright, Jr. of Los Angeles has harkened to the pleadings of Captain Miller and has returned to join the ball team. With Wright at first base the El Centro team will be greatly strengthened.

Rev. and Mrs. Hayter spent several days out of town last week, Rev. Hayter visiting in San Diego; Mrs. Hayter in Calexico.

Dr. H. Francis McClure, presiding elder of the San Diego district is conducting services in Brawley this week. While in the section he visited friends in El Centro.

The Women's Home and Missionary Society conducted the services at the Second Baptist Church, Sunday. Mrs. M. Burton delivered an address. Music was furnished by a mens' chorus. The pastor, Rev. I. N. Whitten preached from the subject "The Model Missionary Society."

RIVERSIDE

By FRANCES M. WILLIAMS

4 Receive A.B.'s From S. F. State College

ANNA FOSTER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2—Commencement exercises held here last week for San Francisco State college saw four race students receiving bachelor of arts degrees. They were Helen Williams, Loel Allen, Helen Cox and Muriel Anderson.

Miss Allen, while on the campus, was a member of the International club and the Negro Students' club. Miss Cox was president of the latter organization and a member of the Delta Sigma Nu sorority, and A Capella Choir. She intends to take her M. A. at Stanford.

Miss Williams, graduate of the 1938 class, was a member of the International club, the Westminister club and the Negro Students' club. She majored in social science. Miss Anderson, a member of several clubs, including the Greek sororities, will continue her studies in the modern dance at Mills college this Fall.

"The Little Shepherd" of Bethel AME church used as his text "The new and greater miracle". O. Anderson, choir master, sang an appropriate solo. Rev. E. J. McGruder and his choir met at Bethel in a joint meeting in the evening. Dr. Edgar Gilcrest was guest speaker. Miss Helen Cox, graduate of State Teacher's College, will be guest speaker on June 5th, under the auspices of the Allen Christian Endeavor League.

Father Humphreys S. S. J. E. of the St. Cyprian's Mission in Sutter street, is doing a splendid work with his devout followers. This Episcopal Mission presented Wm. Powers in recital at the Sciot's Hall with a prominent pianist as accompanist. The work of the artist was excellent and the group will again present this fine young man in the very near future. On Sunday evening little Miss Olda Garrick was crowned queen of the May festival. Arthur Cary and Billie Brown were well represented on the program. Anna Foster was guest soloist.

A luncheon, given by Mrs. Eva Williamson brought forth an announcement of the coming wedding of her daughter, Jane, to Lorin Lewis. Miss Williamson imparted the news to the young ladies present, who will be the bridal attendants, by place cards containing a scroll, telling of the betrothal. Guests were Misses Havens Newman, Dorothy Watkins, Avis Scott, Nola Johnson, Johnny Beverly, Anita Washington, Helen Powell, Margaret Graves, Dolly Graves and sister Joyce Williamson. A miniature bridal party adorned the table and all were elated at the coming social event.

Mrs. Edith Nicholas, socialite, elaborately entertained the Thursday Afternoon Bridge club on the past Thursday at the home of Mrs. Amelia Farmar in Buchanan street. Guests of the Bay region, Peninsula and Los Angeles were present.

Mesdames Ellen Barrios, Byrdie Andrews, Ann Powell, Leona Johnson, Laura Davis, Pearl Barber, Hinds, Mae Tull, Lottie Fisher, Mae Dawson, Billie King, Mae Wingfield, Homer Brothers, Maudie Troky, Stapler, Anna Hogan, Viola DeClaybrooke, Mack, and Amelia Farmar, were guests of the club while members were Mesdames Ella Foster, Adah Wilson, Adah Manley, Ada Edwards, Mayme Hellmes, Willa Evans, Mabel Jones, Alicia Butler, Zela Hulsey, Edith Nicholas and Anna Foster.

Mrs. Missouri Allen of Los Angeles is a delegate to the Parent Teacher's Association Convention that is convening in this city and is the house guest of Mrs. Adah Wilson in Sutter street.

Mrs. Jaunita Conway was tendered many lovely and gracious affairs during her stay in the city. Arriving on Mother's Day, she spent two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Ida Mae Brown.

David Sands, San Francisco's own youthful tenor marked showed artistic ability in his formal recital at the Community Playhouse on the past Wednesday evening.

Mr. Sand's Italian group was very well rendered, however, our tenor triumphed in his rendition of "Where ere you walk" by Handel, "The birth of Morn", Leoni, and his interpretation of "Go Down Moses" was superb. Thunderous was the applause and among encores, Mr. Sands sang "Boy of Mine", we imagine to an adoring mother.

Needless to say, John Hoskins ably accompanied the artist and played selections that enthralled the audience. Mr. Hoskins is a pianist of note and will again thrill numerous audiences.

RESEARCH TASK

In preparation for "If I Were King", staring Ronald Colman, Producer Frank Lloyd directed a staff of seven research experts in the study of more than 100.000 pages of written and pictorial material contained in more than 200 separate volumes dealing with 15th Century France.

SANTA MONICA NEWS

Miss Edna Rosalyne Heard, celebrated concert singer and composer and Mrs. Nancy Butler, prominent pioneer citizen of S. M., attended the opening performance of "Will Shakespeares" Clemence Dane's famous historical fantasy now current at the Hollywood Playhouse. Mrs. Heard was one of the most interested musicians present on opening night of this production as she is the composer of the entire original musical score of "Will Shakespeare" that plays a large part in making the performance of the Fantasy a tremendous success. In addition to the musical compositions used in this play, Miss Heard has received national acclaim for fine other original musical score for production that have been played recently in leading theatres, and it is to her credit that all these productions have been overwhelmingly successful. Also Miss Heard has added new laurels to her many achievements by recently composing the music for a couple of songs of the old English type, overtures and condensed orchestrations and incidental music for stage plays.

Representatives of the leading local churches, lodges and clubs assembled last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Flavia Craddock, prominent Christian Scientist practitioner. The purpose of this meeting was to arange for the gigantic mass meeting scheduled for the second Sunday in June. Mr. Alden Prudhomme educational director of the Cosmopolitan club gave a report on the principal speakers that have been engaged by Mrs. Lillian Jones, sec'y of the National Negro Congress for this Paramount occasion. Mr. Cook, leader of the Boy's Club was selected to be master of ceremonies for this affair which will be at the First Baptist Church of Venice. Others present and who pledged their support included: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Reese, prominent in civic and church activities in Venice, Mrs. Marcus O. Tucker, head of the YWCA and wife of S. M.'s leading physician; Mr. J. Allen Reese, government employee and a national figure in fraternal and religious organizations. Mrs. R. H. Hill, Mrs. Eunice Russell Ward, Pres. of the Cosmopolitan club. Other representatives included the Hi-Hatters, Royal Twelve, Bee Square and others.

The Cosmopolitan club was entertained last week by its executive Sec'y, Mrs. Velma Kennedy at the Wayside Bar-B-Q Inn on Pico Blvd. A delicious dinner was served followed by an hour of dancing and games.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Gibson of San Diego, bride and groom of a few weeks, spent their honeymoon in the city and vicinity while here they were house guest of Mrs. Jane Burton, relative of the groom. A very delightful cocktail party and dinner party was given in their honor on the eve of their departure at the residence of Mrs. Laura Mae Manuel, 417 Bay St. Many well known citizens were present.

Mrs. Chism's little boy is a wonder child when it comes to the art of learning "strip tease" . . . The Count became very temperamental last Thurs. evening and threatened to walk off the set, just before the production of "Pride of Pasadena" was to go on . . . Where in the world did the Royal 12 get the cash register?. . . Looks like La Vert Payne has some competition in one Willie Collins, better known as "Shorty" . . . Killer Allen was really giving the little chick a line of jive last week at the Royal 12 swing session . . . Those men interested in taking part in a play or any one with special talent in tap dancing or music please get in toch with John Moore and James Ware.

Fresno News

This week-end found Mr. and Mrs. Ernest King motoring to (Frisco), Mrs. Mary Bigsby was one of their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Givens played bridge at Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Bigsby's Wednesday nite after the dance given by the American Legion Post No. 511. Mr. Givens has one of the best colored swing bands and floor shows on the Pacific Coast.

Mrs. Edna Jimmerson, Miss Erma James, and Miss Elsie Jones of L. A., motored through enroute to Ontario, Canada for their summer vacation.

FLASH

Mr. Kimble's daughter, Jessie, was assaulted by Willie Knox, a roomer in their home for the past two years. She was struck over the head several times with a hammer until she submitted to his command that she keep the incident a secret. This she did thus possibly saving her life. Police are still loking for Knox.

BAKERSFIELD

By JERRY FLEMING

Rev. R. E. Handy of Cain A. M. E. Church closed out a spiritual revival in which the Rev. F. E. Edwards conducted the meeting. On last Friday evening a beautiful banquet was sponsored by the Women's Missionary society and the Young Women's Auxiliary. The president, Mrs. Hatie Camp, and her co-workers made the affair one long to be remembered.

Rev. H. A. Green, pastor of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, spoke to a large and appreciative audience Sunday morning. As a result of this sermon, 2 persons were added to the church. Sunday evening the Pastor also preached the annual Thanksgiving sermon of the Sisters Mysterious ten, with Mrs. G. A. Jackson Mistress of Ceremonies. The weekly meetings is going over in a big way. Tuesday the mission circle gave a Calendar banquet. The chairman, Mrs. A. J. Small was well pleased, for this affair was a great success. Rev. S. M. Beane, Grand Patron of O. E. S., will be the guest speaker Sunday evening at Cain A. M. E. Church. Guest of the Lend-a-Hand Club of which Mrs. H. S. Houston is president. The Modern Mothers Club is planning a Unique Affair June 11. at which time the following officers will be installed. Mrs. Saral Little, president; Mrs. Ella Austin, vice president; Mrs. G. A. Jackson, secretary; Mrs. Mary Eason, treasurer. The Political Study Club under the leadership of Mrs. Emma Drisdon is progressing nicely. Plans are being made to help our young people. We are also looking forward to the visit of Dr. Ruth Temple.

Playing before a record breaking holiday crowd, the Bakersfield Cubs trounced the Fresno Cubs 5 to 1. The Bakersfield team showed air tight defense in pinches, behind the superb three hit pitching of Ragsdale. He fanned six and only three men were passed to second base.

Thrilling and hair raising catches made by the B-Cubs kept Fresno's score down.

Briefs: With the holiday crowd in the city, Bakersfield seemed like a small metropilis. Sammy McFadden and John Moore of Los Angeles, formerly of our fair city, were strictly "killers" at the game and matinee. By the way Mr. McFadden seems to have it all his way with a certain young lady whenever he's in town. Didn't know Fresno had such beautiful girls. It's too bad they lost the game before such lovely rooters.

If Milton Bussey doesn't leave a certain girl from Fresno alone, he will have to move up there. We wonder when Gene Green is going to grow up? John Moore's attention seems to be divided equally between Los Angeles and Bakersfield.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By TED THOMAS

Some years ago, Dr. James Henry Breasted, a famed historian, realizing that history as it was written told only part of the story of mankind, joined the archalogists who were seeking out the lost cities of the world to discover what records these lost nations might have left behind them. He succeeded in discovering many facts which made it possible for him to clarify the jig-saw puzzle of history in his last book. "The Conquest of Civilization", which a philosopher as well as a scientist and historian and saw history not merely as a matter of wars and conquests but as a record of the people, how they lived and what they contributed to culture and civilization. His book, therefore, is written not as history but as the story of a great human adventure. No one can read it without responding to this inspirational quality.

Historical novels still seem to be the order of the day judging by the present output. Rose Wilder Lane adds her contribution with "Free Land", a drama of raw life on the Dakota wheatlands. This story of rugged pioneers is centered around the life of a young married couple who left their home to take up a claim in South Dakota. Their gruelling fight against drought, great blizzards, claim-jumpers, horse-thieves, illness and poverty, presents a stirring picture of our beginnings in the middle west which will leave an indelible impression upon the minds of those who read this book.

An unique book with plenty of action and meaty conversation is "The Third Hour", by Geoffrey Household. After finding a quarter million dollars in gold boullion when he helped bomb a train for some Mexican revolutionists, Manual Vargas was forced to flee the country shortly after he had hidden the gold. With the help of some friends, he finally succeeded in getting the gold to England. There he gathered together a group of people who were dissatisfied with the world and wanted to make it a saner place to live in. Their criticism of modern civilization is bitter and true but the remedy they propose is fantastic. It is certainly a novel to be recommended for it will appeal to readers of varying tastes.

White Vocational College Duplicates Program at Famed Tuskegee Institute

In 1881, 57 years ago, when Dr. Booker T. Washington founded Tuskegee institute, based on then revolutionary theory of industrial education, many Negroes of the North, West and East turned thumbs down on Mr. Washington's educational plan, said it would never work.

Today vocational training and industrial education are in practice on a national scale, have been adopted by the Chicago Board of Education and given equal rank with academic subjects in the high schools. Where colored leaders scoffed at Dr. Washington's idea, the whites soon realized its advantages.

How one white Tennessee college has made use of the Tuskegee program was detailed in the May issue of the Readers Digest, in an article "Self-Supporting College," written by Weldon Melick. Writer Melick says in part:

"In 1904 the Nashville Agricultural Normal Institute at Madison, Tenn., consisted of 11 students and some dilapidated farm buildings on 400 acres of worn land purchased with the E. A. Sutherland and four other teachers. In addition, however, it had one invaluable asset: Dr. Sutherland's idea that a college education should be made available to any boy or girl willing to work for it. . . .

"From this idea has grown a unique institution which, practically without endowment, has put $520,000 from its own last cent of its founders.—Dr earnings into buildings, grounds and equipment. It now has 300 odd students from 36 states and nine foriegn countries. . . .

Madison's curriculum includes 27 campus industries, run by the students to support the college and themselves. Every student is required to work for at least half, and preferably all, of his academic expenses. . . .

The school farm is as important to the college economically as is the Sanitarium. There are 60 acres of garden, 70 acres of and two green houses which, incidentally, supply flowers for the hospital rooms. The student canning factory, puts up enough vegetables to feed students and patients the year round. And 15 years of research in food chemistry have resulted in new food products too useful to confine to campus menus.

"The 120 college and sanitarium buildings, cottages and dormitories on the 900 acre grounds have been entirely student designed and student built under skilled supervision by the 28 instructors, most of whom are masters of a trade as well as their acddemic subject. . . .

"Many graduates go into nursing, medical work, home economics, or agriculture. Almost 200 of them have helped establish three high schools, six junior highs, and 21 grammar schools in the South, all modeled on Madison's self-help principles. Usually they include a health center providing the only medical care within miles.

"There are larger and older schools that combine industrial with academic training, but Madison has shown how education can be put on a self-supporting basis."

The LAUNDRYMAN

"NEWSPAPER EDITOR KIDNAPPED BY THE LAUNDRYMAN"

Hello, folks. I reckon that head-line makes you-all think that I've lost my mind, and mebbe you're right. Everybody's pulling some kind of a stunt now-a-days trying to break in the limelight, so I thought I'd might as well take a chance.

You see I been reading a certain Thursday morning advertising sheet for months and months, and the Editorials have always been so high sounding, so Race-pride-ful, so full of militant Hoo-ey and so-forth, till I got down right suspicious. You know there's such a thing as being too upright, too Public spirited, too eager to launch militant campaigns for the Dear Old Unsuspecting Public.

So the thought came to me all at once, to kidnap this here Editor and dope him with truth serum, and see how he'd react.

Well, I got busy right away and after pulling a few wires through my political connections, I managed to get hold of two gallons of the stuff what was left over from the Kynette case. But the next step . . getting hold of this Editor . . . wasn't so easy. I tried to make several appointments to talk with him concerning the vital needs of the Race, but he invariably claimed that he didn't have time.

Finally though, an idea come to me that I figured right away was sure-fire. I called him on the phone and told him I was going to open up a market on Central avenue for his people, and wanted to talk to him about a full-page ad in his paper. Well, believe it or not, he got so excited till I thought for a minute, that he was going to come to me over the telephone wire. He asked me where, oh where I was at, and I told him 168th and Western Ave., and for him to come to the old house on the hill at the Southwest corner. He said he'd be there Right Away, and he kept his word.

I hardly had time to get my lasso ready to tie him down with before he was knocking on the door. I opened it, roped him almost, at the same moment's hesitation. His head the floor. He started to holler, but I gagged him with the latest copy of his own paper, and then shot a pint of this here Truth-serum into his arm. He had convulsions for a few moments . . . which after all was no more than could be expected when you stop and consider that Truth has scruples about mixing with any and everything, same as some honest people.

He soon quieted down however, so I knowed the stuff must be working. I taken the gag--his last Thursday edition--out of his mouth, and started to ask him some questions.

"What is the primary pur-

These boys and girls are future citizens who are building up their bodies and minds at a few of the recreation centers more than 15,000 in number, operated by the W. P. A. in cities, towns, and countries all over the United States. In most cases, these youngsters' parents had no such opportunities in their youth, but they know the value of the worthwhile use of leisure time for their children. With other citizens in their communities, they formed committees which have investigated the needs for recreation. With WPA assistance they worked out a plan supervised by trained recreation leaders. They also arranged to provide needed parks, playgroundsand community buildings in which these programs could operate. Like 20,000 other citizens, these wide awake parents have organized their communities to take advantage of Federal funds which are now providing recreation centers for communities throughout the United States.

Caralina, West Virginia and Florida have been particularly active in seeing that their youths share in this WPA leisure time service. They have learned that long-range plans for constructive use of their children's spare hours tend to lessen crime, raise health standards, increase interest in art and crafts and boost employment of persons capable of supervising the hundreds of activities in WPA recreation centers. These citizens are laying the foundation for a better America. Their children, in these pictures, show the monentary joy while at play. But their

A Guinea Pig Race --- We Need to 'Squeal'---Hancock

Conferences on a few aspects of "Negro Life" are becoming tiresome for their frequency and sameness. Housing, health, crime and recreation as they pertain to "Negro life" are the favorite of "discussions" in these rapidly multiplying meetings. "Experts" are invited to deliver learned dissertations with academic erudition which too often bewilders and confuses the unsophisticated. It has come about that the Negro teacher is harrased with questionaires from students in the various universities asking assistance in their "study" on the Negro. In spite of the fact that science has not established any correlation between race and social phenomena, these "Negro studies" go on apace; and what is more important, they are multiplying with startling rapidity.

Even the most casual student knows that poor housing and lack of recreational facilities make for crime increase . . not only among Negroes, but among all racial groups; that crime and poor health are closely connected with poverty, which is, in turn, closely connected with economic opportunity; that the real attack therefore must be an attack on the basic problem of economic opportunity. These fundamental propositions have been established for nearly a hundred years and yet we go on making surveys and holding conferences to establish what has been scienetifically established lo these many years. It would be interesting to know what becomes of all the information that has been gathered on the impoverished Negro. As a guinea pig race it is high time that we do a little "squealing" in protest against the gathering from us of information that evidently is place in cold storage.

It is distressing to note that such program as the Negro has for his own salvation hardly incudes more than education of the old classical type—and protest. Protest and education to their logical conclusion give no guarantee of that economic opportunity we must have or perish. Today as 50 years ago, it is racial treason to suggest vocational education for Negroes although the vocational type of education is in great vogue among the whites.

Classical education is not proving the Negroe's salvation. It is even so with protest. If we by protest accede to our "proportional share" of everything governmental, we shall still come short of the Economic Promised Land; for a people so circumstanced needs more than its proportional share. The private nature of the economic life of this country places the necessary employment and economic opportunity beyond the reach of protest. Protest cannot reach effectively into private employment; moreover it may give a certain type of employer just the ocassion he seeks to completely displace the Negro laborer.

Unless our protest is supplemented by an inter-racial program of self help and cooperation we are doomed. The situation demands the expansion of Negro business; it requires a revision of educational ideals such that vocational educational efforts; it requires the self-help complex related to the possibilities of the ballot and inter-racial cooperation. Protest alone, or even added to the ideals of classical education, will not solve our problems. Moreover there is a protest of words and a protest of achievement and neither must be employed to the exclusion of the other. The Negro artist or inventor is just as surely a protestant as the Negro orator and writer; and the Negro manual laborer becomes as important for the cause of advancement as the Negro scholar.

The pretentious program of Negro insurance companies is a protest of a very constructive kind in that it shows the way that the Negro must look for deliverance! That cooperation and confidence evidenced in the growth of Negro insurance is a blue print for the building of a larger and more secure Negro economic life.

In Which We Write A Letter to the Marvel of the Age

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Henry Armstrong
Featherweight and Welterweight Champion
Boxing Realm of the World

Dear Hank:

First of all, allow us to congratulate you on your latest achievement, that of lifting the world's welterweight diadem from the worthy brow of one Barney Ross of Chicago.

In accomplishing this feat, you have become the first man in the glorious history of the prize ring to surmount such great limitations as the featherweight and welterweight divisions represent.

We won't attempt to go on and on and on and use a lot of words in praise of you; although we could do just that. The fact that you have shown the skeptics that it could be done is enough for us. And let me remind you that there were quite a few of these people, staunch admirers of you, too, who just couldn't realize that you would be returned the victor of your latest joust.

You are now the toast of your two kingdoms. May your reign be a long and successful one. Go on in July and add the lightweight title to your collection. You can't be denied.

If you decide to relinquish your rights to the featherweight and welterweight kingdoms after you have won the lightweight crown, defend the latter as you are a natural lightweight now, and then retire to a life removed from the squared circle, for with your family there is real happiness.

In conclusion, let us reiterate, you are the marvel of the ages, and most striking of all, a gentleman to boot . . J. C. F.

COATES, ZORRITA WIN OLYMPIC BOUTS

Charley Coates knocked out Chester Parks, a substitute, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round main event Tuesday night at the Olympic. A short right hand did the trick. Leon Zorrita won on a technical knockout in the eighth rouid of the second 10-rounder carded for the evening. Frank Rowsey and Al Romero who were supposed to meet Coates and Zorrita, respectively, were excused, for one reason or another. Carl Guggino and Babe Brandelli, in the third feature spot, put on a good show for the weary fans, the former getting the decision which was closeasthis.

Mystery: Where Did Beale Street Get Its Name?

Now, a good many years after Beale street has become internationally known as Memphis, Tennessee's most famous thoroughfare, some inquisitive soul has taken it upon himself to ask where did Beale street get its name--and thus far nobody has found an answer.

The street was given its name by Robertson Topp, white, a young Nashville attorney who came here in 1840's. He named if after what was supposed to be a famous general at the time, but none of the authorities can correctly place this general.

George W. Lee, author of "Beale Street", said Judge J. P. Young, who wrote the standard history of Memphis, once told him General Beale's first name was Edward, but while both the Encyclopedia Americana and Encyclopedia Britannica list several Beales with military prominence, all of them attained their fame long after the street was named.

The war department records in Washington or the standard volume on army biography fail to list the elusive general whose name the street bears. It seems, therefore, that the famous street was named for a famous man, but nobody knows why he is famous.

Meanwhile, if anybody knows just who this elusive Beale fellow, that person will do Memphis a service and relieve several headaches if the information is sent immediately to this city's officials or newspapers. (ANP)

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVERS found a variety of programs designed this year, perhaps more than others, to honor the valiant dead. Exposition Park was the scene of great ceremonials commemorating those who fell in the World War. In those exercises our Ben Bowie Post of the American Legion brought thrills and cheers from many thousands gathered in the Olympic Memorial Stadium. Griffith Park's bowl echoed the inimitable choral singing of Hall Johnson's choir in a concert of appropriate songs. Cemeteries all over the city were veritable flower gardens of choice blossoms and tenderly placed home-grown variety on the graves of loved ones. There was less hilarity among surf bathers, little of the abandon one finds in nite clubs and none of the boisterousness of ordinary holiday merry-makers. Memorial Day this year was solemn. Was it because we feel a bit nearer another world conflagration than we were last year?

PASS THE ASPIRIN

How to handle studio sightseers during the Shrine and American Legion convention here in June is the topic of conferences among studio publicity heads. Under present agreement, each studio will appoint one man to supervise tours so that production will not be interfered with.

FEEDING THE STARS

Los Angeles provides one of the most interesting examples of enterprise in Roy and Minnie Loggins' catering service which furnishes lunches and dinners for thousands (per day) of motion picture players on location sets.

Paramount, Columbia, Universal and a number of independent studios engaged them last week. About 25 waiters and waitresses are regularly employed. And a curious mixture of races works side by side over the portable steam tables of these enterprising Texans (Dallas) who started frying chicken in a small pan, hit upon this unique and invaluable service to studios that take hundreds far away from the cafeterias and restaurants when a great production calls for out-door location.

CHURCH VS. CABARET

INTERVIEWING big names of entertainment, it is almost impossible to find a blues singer or an especially talented orchestra player who has not had his first lessons in music in some church choir back in Squeedunk.

Most of the girls are daughters of ministers, and the boys will admit that their first tootin' on the trumpet was done in the Sunday School basement where they put curley-ques on the hymnals when Dad or the superintendent wasn't listening.

CLEO BROWN, who just went off the air swinging, "My Gal Mezzanine", is the yungun of a Baptist minister; same goes for the Brown Sisters trio. ETTA MOTEN'S papa is an AME presiding elder. NORA HOLT'S father was among the frist AME's to be college graduated for the ministry. LAWRENCE BROWN, ace player in Duke Ellington's band, got many a tanning for umping up the common metres of Rev. (Pasadena) Brown's congregation, while HATTIE McDANIELS tells you proudly that she led the choir of a Denver church with a rich mezzo soprano that drew many a weary soul to the mourner's bench. Many of the actors seem to have missed their calling by being out of the ministry and, vice versa, many of the ministers could hold an audience spell-bound with their antics before the footlights.

BABIES FOR COMICS

Congratulations are in order for STEPIN FETCHIT who became the proud father (for the second time) of a son. A devout Catholic—when he isn't breaking speed laws, Stepin named his first born JEMAJO after the Holy Family: Jesus, Mary, Joseph. Number Two coulld easily start the draw on the Twelve Disciples and give the comedian something to work up to. Madame Fetchit, Winnie Johnson, is one of Harlem's prettiest stage stars, met Step while she was appearing at the Cotton Club in "New Faces".

FIRE THE NEWSHAWK!

NEGRO ENTERTAINERS have a notorious habit of demanding the dismissal of any newspaperman or woman who drops the hint that they may be reaching the end of the histrionic rope; or who mildly suggests that their act is lousy and a little brushing up wouldn't do anybody any harm.

Fortnight ago, a columnist writing on one of the sundown sheets made some such crack about ETHEL WATERS which drew the ire of FREDI WASHINGTON in 72-point bold type asking that the editor fire the boy because he was ignorant anyway and didn't know the show business!

As hard as it is to get a job on one of our papers; as seldom as Negro newshawks are paid for their work; as little as so-called "actors" of the race know about the THEATRE and DRAMATIC art themselves and in view of the stink we're all raising about Hitler and his press-gagging methods, it little behooves one who has to DEPEND upon the goodwill of the Negro newspaper to speak such an unholy piece about its writers.

And just in case you never heard of it, PORTER ROBERTS, we have a quaint method in Hollywood of NEVER mentioning the name of the "offended" squawker in print! Give them a ration of silence for a while and they realize the value of publicity and your Negro newspaper and how very smart and nice you were after all.

Porter Roberts' is one of the few columns appearing in the s. d. s. that one may read without feeling that it has been edited and compiled with a pair of scissors and a paste bottle. It is honest, newsy, unpretentious, breezy and colorful. The writer may be a dumbbell but he often writes items that a lot of folk are thinking who haven't the courage to express.

Incidentally, I think that Ethel Waters IS a woman of great soul, possessed with that spark of genius for song and pantomime of limited subject which seldom touches our so-called "artists".

When Miss Waters tagged onto an unknown band and did a round of third-rate theatres, I thought — from this distance — that she was doing a dipsey doodle that did not lead to the top. If our entertainers are not frugal enough or sensible enough to save up a few dollars from their staggering salaries (which newshawks do not even dream of receiving even in their maddest moments) to tide them over the lean periods so that they are held in a position to REFUSE trashy engagements and MAINTAIN their prestige, then they stick their chins out to be written up as sliding downhill when they return to Main street from Broadway! How else, under heaven, does one judge their worth?

'TOPSY' IN PICTURES

Louis Rantz announced that he would produce a film, "Topsy," an adaptation from the stage play of the same name by Yasha Frank. Although "Topsy" is based upon incidents in the Harriett Beecher Stowe novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," it is not the story depicted in the famous book the the producers said.

Production goes into work immediately at the Grand National Studios with no release as yet set. Meanwhile, Producer Rantz is searching for a girl to play the title role. In all probability, an "unknown" will portray the part.

The script is in work with Alden Nash and Frank doing the screenplay.

CHARLOT SONGS COMING

Insured for $1000, a package of 200 songs from the library of Andre Charlot, noted former London impresario, are on their way to Paramount studio in Hollywood for the picture, "Zaza" in which Isa Miranda will star. Charlot is technical advisor.

RACE TROUBLE DUE TO COLOR MIXING STOPS F.T.P. PLAY

Associated News

OBJECTIONS TO alleged forced embraces between whites and blacks in the play, "Sing for Your Supper", temporarily side-tracked the first scheduled musical production for New York's Federal Theatre.

The show was postponed until August and wil be re-written, it is understod, to eliminate white-Negro mixing.

REDS BEEF

Those who first complained were told to continue in the show or quit the project. After several days of bickering, alleged radicals took issue with a New York columnist, who hinted at the 'social' trouble. They are said to have wired him, disclaiming any such movement.

Action was decided on, it is said, when directors saw the project radicals' beef getting too warm and when threat of exposing the younger element as non-actors before FTP, a frequently recurring allegation, came to a head.

The show had only been rehearsing a short while when the order went through to quit.

two popular song origins in dispute

Controversy arising over the origin of a standard song which has been published for years by various firms looms in the case of 'Short 'nin' Bread'.

Clarence Williams, publisher, claims that he copyrighted this number as an original work in February, 1925 and he has served notice on other publishing concerns that have been putting it out that he proposes to enforce his right by litigation, if necessary.

Williams states that he got his copyright by assignment from the composition's writer, Reese Dupree.

WATER BOY

Another number of similar genre that recently brought claims of original copyright infringement after it had been treated for years as out of the public domain was "Water Boy".

Avery Robinson, an English amateur composer, declared that he held a valid copyright of the number and that he intended to stop all but the authorized publisher, Boston Music Co., from exploiting the composition.

ANNOUNCE DATE OF WEST COAST RELAYS

FRESNO, June 7—The 13th annual West Coast Relays was set for May 13, 1939 at the Fresno State college stadium, it was announced today. The committee in charge placed emphasis on the entry of teams from outside the state, thus making competition keener.

showman's estate involved in suit

ST. LOUIS—A suit to set aside a $105,000 trust established in 1932 by the late Justice of the Peace Charles A. Turpin, a Negro, who amassed his fortune in the operation of local film theatres, was taken under advisement last week by Circuit Judge E. J. Sartorious.

If the assets of the estate are found to be part of Turpin's estate they will go to Turpin's son, C. Udell Turpin, Chicago attorney. Otherwise the income from the principal asset, 40 shares of A. T. and T. stock will go to Turpin's sister.

In addition to the corporation stock Turpin's estate consisted of other stock and U. S. treasury notes valued at $1,500.

Martha Raye plays the first "legitimate" role of her screen career in the new Paramount musical, Tropic Holiday", in which she appears as Ray Milland's romantically minded secretary.

music soothes nations claim of song maker

What the world needs to increase friendship and understanding between nations is more music, according to Boris Morros, head of the music department at Paramount studios. Morros bases his statement on the fact that music more than any other medium is a world-wide language of emotion and spirit, he declared this week.

"Say it with music, which was once the topic of a song popular in America, sums the whole thing up," Morros declared. "When soft music is playing, it is hard to start a fight. When religious music is being played, it is hard to hate. When funny music is being played it is hard to be sad.

"All humans react in the same way. The more music there is in the world, the more peace we will have, the more understanding, the more happiness."

CHAMP'S BOUT AIRS ON JUNE 22

A popular demand showing of the memorable Globe Production, "The Spirit of Youth" depicting the rise from poverty to riches and fame of the world's heavyweight champion, Joe Louis, brings to the Florence Mills theatre, at Central avenue and East Jefferson, what is declared by critics to be the best motion picture with an all-Negro cast in screen fare.

Florence Mills manager Snadow announced this week that a special broadcast of the fight between Louis and Schmelling will be given to patrons viewing the film on the night of June 22.

Opening date of the picture is set for June 7 with elaborate plans for several special features included in the two-weeks' showing as added attractions. Cash prizes will be awarded the holder of a duplicate ticket on which is marked the winning round of the championship bout at a drawing June 22, Snadow announced.

Matinee for Kids

A matinee, with appropriate favors for the children is set for Saturday and no increase in admission is to be charged for any show.

Following its eastern premiere in Washington, D. C., "The Spirit of Youth" starring Louis, with Clarence Muse, Mae Turner, Moreland Mantan, Edna Mae Harris, Cleo Desmond and other stellar performers, drew exceedingly favorable and enthusiastic comment.

All-American

The Hon. William J. Thompkins, Recorder of Deeds, compared "The Spirit of Youth" with other films he had seen with all-race casts and said:

"I have seen Paul Robeson, Louise Beavers, Bill Robinson and others participate in the finest shows the picture producers have presented to the American people.

"I made a prophesy that the time would not be long before Negroes would be playing leading roles in other pictures.

"My prophesy was realized when we were honored with the world's premier of "The Spirit of Youth" in which leading men and women of our race were given leading roles . . . Speaking for myself and friends with whom I have discussed the film, it is clean, wholesome and all-American."

JIM CROW REVERSED AT LUNCEFORD ORK CONCERT IN 'TUCKY

(Special)

WHEN JIMMIE LUNCEFORD'S orchestra appeared in Louisville, Kentucky, for a one-night engagement at the Iroquois Gardens, Wednesday, he filled a second engagement that made history in two ways.

On the same evening he played for a colored audience at the Memorial Auditorium, with Negro patrons seated on the lower floor and balcony seats reserved for whites.

That arrangement reversed the order of jim-crow in the south which usually places Oscar in the 'peanut gallery' and marks orchestra "for whites only."

The concert also 'first' in that it was opened appearances of colored performers in the Memorial auditorium, which is the locale of all concert and road show attractions.

actors barely escape injury in car crash

In a head-on collision with a truck on the Capistrano Highway early Sunday morning, Lillian Yarbo, Marguerite Jones and Eddie Redmond barely escaped serious injuries, it was reported here yesterday.

The party was returning to Los Angeles from San Diego. Miss Yarboro was on vacation from her work in "You Can't Take It With You", a Columbia picture.

gala premiere at lincoln of 'duke'

Starring Ralph Cooper and Lena Horne in "The Duke Is Tops", Million Dollar Productions presents its first showing in a gala premiere at the Lincoln Theatre, on Friday, June 10.

The suporting cast includes such stellar players as: Lawrence Criner, Vernon McCalla, Monte Hawley and musicals by the Basin street boys, Willie Covan, Joe Stevenson, Marlem Maniacs, the Cats and the Fiddle and others.

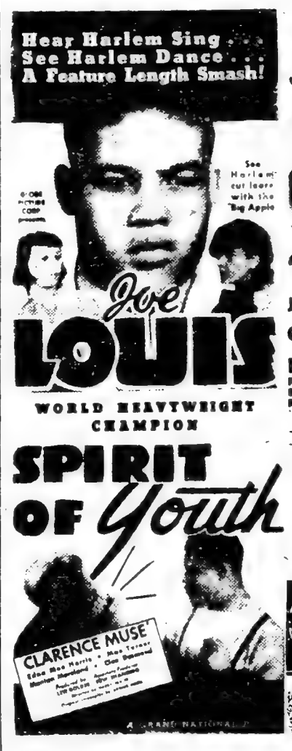
Musical score is an original by Harvey Brooks and Ben Ellison.

Bob Hope, next to be seen in Paramount's "College Swing", rose to fame in vaudeville by telling Scotch jokes.

negro choirs for 6 summer short-waves

Foreign Correspondence

Ever since Elder Michaux rode the Mutual network with revival meetings that were short-waved to England last year, Negroes and their unusual activities to the British stirred listeners in the United Kingdom to besiege British Broadcasting Corporation for something like it.



The corporation's New York office is trying to line up a summer series of six Negro choirs for as many programs of spirituals to be short-waved to England, it was authoritatively learned this week. Also wanted is a 'typical' Southern 'holy roller' church from which to pick up a remote service, it was learned.

MOVIE STEPS FORWARD

A step forward in film production that has attracted much attention in Hollywood has been the synchronization of music and dramatic action by Director Andrew Stone in Paramount's "Stolen Heaven", co-starring Olympe Bradna and Gene Raymond.

CABIN FOR ROBIN

Bob Burns, who was christened Robin, celebrated the start of his new Paramount musical picture, "Tropic Holiday", by holding a "warming party" in the log cabin he has just built in the back yard of his home. Bob will do all his writing in the cabin.

DOWN IN FRONT

BEN JOHNSON, mighty "little atom" of Columbia University, was the reason Princeton defeated the Blue and Gold Saturday during the local college championship track meet.

While the popular bronze track captain lay ill with a stomach complaint, the Tigers came on to win a title that they could not possibly achieve with Ben's 15 or more points to be reckoned with . . . And the stummy complaint having developed into the measles, little Ben is out of the IC4-A meet Saturday.

That Wallace Jinx seems to have cropped up on Jimmy Herbert again . .

Capable of reeling off a 47 flat quarter mile against a world beater like John Woodruff of Pittsburgh university . . . the crack bronze ace of N. Y. University had to content himself with eating the dust of Fordham's Wallace (white) in time nearly 2 full seconds away from the aforementioned . . . Just can't understand some jink's . . . JIMMY???

The wise boys were betting you 20 to 1 that ARMSTRONG would not knock out BARNEY ROSS or SCHMELING kayo the "Bomber" . . . of course . . it has to be placed in a parlay.

They gave you 5 to 1 that Louis and Armstrong wouldn't show in the "first hole" via the decision route . . . but your bet had to be one of $1,000 upwards . . . Get the rub there, mates???

Out in the Middle West, Michigan university's one man track team, BILL WATSON, ran amuck like Jim Thorpe was accustomed in the Carlisle Indian's heyday . . .

All the gritty, sensational 20-year-old kid did was jump close to 25 feet in the running broad jump; 6 feet 5 inches in the running high jump, throw the discus better than 155 ft., and heave the shot near 53ft to roll up more single points than any other two competitors . . .

At the Ann Arbor institution of higher learning, the name of BILL WATSON . . . is one to conjure with . . .

Are we proud of the likes of this Watson fella? . . . a few million more is all that we can say.

Oh! Those Aggressive Chinese! Japan Issues Olympic News Statement

Say, who started the war in China, anyway?

Through the "Olympic News," monthly bulletin of the Japanese Olympic Committee the Japanese Government has issued the following statement, concerning its stand on the Games scheduled for Tokyo in in 1940.

"China has taken the attitude of prolonging hosalities toward Japan, but we are putting forth every effort to end this current conflict. There are still two years before the opening of the XIIth Olympic Games and we believe that by that time the conflict will be ended. With this fact in mind we are preparing for the XIIth Olympic Games in order to assure a successful celebration in 1940, which coincides with the 2600th anniversary of the Japanese Nation. It is a wonderful opportunity to reveal the true aspect of our nation to the youth of the world and it is also altogether proper that ample support should be given for the preparation of the XIIth Olympic Games Tokyo, 1940."

3 UCLA Stars Qualify for Big 10 Meet

The three colored members of U. C. L. A.'s track and field squad, plus one white youth, Paul Van Alstine, qualified for the Big Ten-Coast Conference dual meet to be held at the Northwestern Stadium in Evanston, Ill., June 24-25.

Pacific Coast conference coaches decided Saturday night to send the first two men in each event of the Conference meet held at Berkeley last Friday and Saturday, to invade the East.

Thomas Berkeley placed second in the 440 yard race and third in the 220 yard low hurdles. He will be permitted to run in the latter event. Bill Lacefield placed second to Mack Robinson in the broadjump. Woodrow Strode won the shot put and placed fourth in the discus. He will be permitted to enter the latter event. Berkeley will run on the mile relay team composed of Erwin Miller, Pettichord of Washington and Malott of Stanford.

BERKELEY REPRESENTS UCLA IN IC4A MEET; IS ONE-MAN TRACK TEAM

Officials of UCLA were praised this week for unprecedented impartiality in choosing Thomas Berkeley, senior student and member of the track team, to be the school's sole representative at the IC4A meet in New York this week-end.

Berkeley is the only qualifying athlete on the Bruin squad who has finished his final examinations and is thus eligible for the trip. An upper bracket student, he goes East as a "one man track team" for the West Los Angeles school.

In making the announcement, the school officials said Berkeley is a "good student and his brilliant track record thus far in the season justifies his trip". He left Monday and will remain East for the rest of the month. Three other members of the U. C. L. A. squad, members of the Coast Conference team that will compete in the Big Ten dual affair and the National A. A. U. competition, will meet Berkeley in New York the week of May 14. They are Woodrow Strode, weight man, Bill Lacefield, broadjumper and Paul Van Alstine, white.

Eight champions defending titles earned at last year's IC-4A meet head an entry list of 454 athletes from 30 colleges. Races will be run at Randall Island Stadium before approximately 25,000 spectators.

Yale is leading the field in number of athletes entered with 44 registered. U. S. C. will have a full sized squad, all white, and is chosen to win the title.

Ben Johnson, Columbia's sepia flash, and Johnnie Woodruff of Pitt, hold five of the titles that are to be defended. Johnson won the 100, 200 and broad jump last year. Woodruff was an easy winner in the quartermile and the half.

Berkeley will enter the quarter mile, in which he is fast coming to the fore. He is touted by those in the know on the Coast to take second behind Woodruff. Mallott, white Stanford flash who defeated Berkeley at the Pacific Coast conference meet Saturday, is not entered.

Other defending champions include Edward Burke of Marquette, high jumper.

The reason—Joe is soft about the head, Jack said, and blows that connect with that portion of his anatomy will spell defeat for the champion.

Manual Arts Ekes Out Win Over Jefferson Spikesters

"Jefferson defeated Jefferson," the caption should have read on the stories, reporting the Southern League prep track championship meet held Friday afternoon at Fremont High School. All the misfortunes that could befall a team, "latched on" to Coach Harry Edelson's Democrats, defending their thrice-held Southern League title.

Manual Arts was the winner by four and a half points, digits presented them free of charge by overconfident Jefferson sprinters, namely Sam Lankford, George Allen, crack hurdler and Vernon Small, quartermiler.

Sam Lankford was disqualified for two false starts in the century. Then he placed fourth in the furlong. Invariably this season he has placed second to his brother, Saul, in both events. Allen "climaxed" a season in which he has been undefeated, placing fourth and fifth in the high and low hurdles. Small favored in the 440, was defeated by Kerns of Manual Arts in 50.2.

Previously this season when Jefferson met Manual, the team score came out 67½ to 36½ in favor of Jeff.

No one seems to know just what did happen in the relay. With the fastests prep sprinters in the state, Jefferson loped home behind Manual. Winning time was 3m. 1.6.

Big Tom Direaux remained the most consistent man within the Eastside aggregation. He set a new Southern League title in the shot put, throwing the 12 pound ball 56ft., 4 inches.

In the Class B events all eyes were focused on Dodo Roundtree, youngster from Polytechnic High. Roundtree breezed the century in 10.1 and the furlong in 22.2 Walter Seagraves of Jefferson won the 660 in 1:27.2. Jefferson Bees won fifteen points over Polytechnic with Fremont, Manual Arts, Washington and Huntington Park trailing.

New Baseball League to Open

Sunday will be a big day in the newly organized National Negro Semi-Pro and Amateur Baseball Association when several Eastern State Leagues will swing into action.

Q. What is the name of that great colored sprinter who some years back attended Whittier college and the two world famed white dashers he licked in a feature race?—Gordon Croques, New York City, N. Y.

A. The sprinter in question was Nathaniel George, and his defeated opponents were: Frank Wycoff, the scrappiest dash man (speaking of fisticuffs and hot tempers) the cinderpath has ever known; and Charley Borah, nephew of Senator Borah, both representing the University of Southern California. The date was May 4, 1929; and the time was 9.8s.

Post Office Team Wins All-City

Faced by the strongest competition in the history of the All-City Industrial Track and Field championship meet, the Los Angeles Post Office team walked away with the title last Saturday afternon at the Rancho Cienega Stadium. The Municipal Playground and Recreation department sponsored the meet, which has been held annually for the past fourteen years.

The mail carriers were led to a 41 to 24 victory over the Bank of America team by three colored first place winners, one of them a defending champion. Third place was won by the Goodyear Tire Company with 14 points.

Wilbur Ashford, holder of the meet high jump record at 6ft. 4 inches, leaped 6ft. 1in. to retain his title. He was followed in third place by K. Austin, also of the postoffice. Bob Green, former UCLA athlete, won the broadjump and placed second in the hop, step and jump. J. Mullins won the 120 yard low hurdles in 13.4. He was followed to the tape by J. Hawkins of the Broadway Department store.

PARKS OUT

The colored fellows, all former stellar high school or college athletes, were entered in almost every event. Joe Parks of the Broadway department store, an ex-Jefferson high school runner, was among those in the mile and the half mile. Parks "pooped out" in the third lap of the former event and finished out of the money in the latter.

32 men entered the half mile, in which D. Haley, white of the Southern Pacific, finished first. Ed. Smith, Post Office, placed second, but was disqualified. Vernon Spaulding, third place winner, was awarded the second place medal. Spaulding, a former Polytechnic high athlete, ran for Petren-Leigh Ford dealers. Bill Wynn, Post Office, formerly of Manual Arts Hi, also-ran.

Emmet Ashford, brother of Wilbur, entered the quartermile, but failed to place. Big James O'Neal, one time Jefferson star, met bad luck in a pulled muscle while putting the shot. James, a Post Office representative, was outed to take the sprints, but a similar injury early in the training season prohibited his entry.

Austin and Hawkins took second and fifth in the 100 yard dash.

Uncle Sam's boys came through to win the 440 yard relay. However, the last event, the mile relay was the most exciting. Hawkins finished his day in fine fashion, giving his Broadway Store teammate, Spencer, a 100 yard lead over the field. Spencer ran out of gas on the back stretch and finished about 20 yards behind the Bank quartet.

PAUL L. BROWN

Marksman to Organize Rifle Club

NERVE, spelled with all capitals as what we would say the gentleman, posed so formidably above, possess. He is Paul L. Brown and he shoots chalk out of people's ears and shatters corsages from young ladies shoulders, leaving them unharmed just as easily as calling off a log.

Brown was notified recently that his activities as a riffleman have earned him government authorization to organize a branch club of the National Rifle Association in Los Angeles.

31 years old and a native of California, Brown is the only colored rifleman in the State, recognized by the War Department, and one of the few in the Nation. In the bulletin issued by the war department he is ranked in third place out of forty other riflists of the Nation in the Class C division. His total total was 405 out of a possible 500 points.

In the Class A division, rifle men in that division use higher priced rifles, 500 was only reached by three men. In the competition, riflemen are divided into classes according to the evaluation of the rifles they use. Brown evaluates his firearm at $25.00.

Employed by the Cudahy Packing company Brown is a member of the Company's rifle team. In mount Pictures and the Plomp a series of matches with Para-Tool company. Brown's bullseyes netted the packing team the trophy. He shot 496 tieing for first place with two other rifilists on this team.

Watson Captains Michigan Team

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 2. (ANP)—Bill Watson, Michigan's current one-man track team who has designs on the 1940 Olympic decathlon, has been elected captain of the 1939 Wolverine track team. He is the first of his race to receive that honor here.

A week ago Saturday, he paced Michigan to its 16th Big 10 championship by retaining the titles he won in 1937 as a sophmore in the shot put, discus and broad jump and taking third in the high jump.

Claim Strode Off Form in Coast Meet; Laud Berkeley

BERKELEY, June 2. (By Special Correspondent) — Woodrow Strode, UCLA's champion weight man, who has humbled the best of Stanford, USC and California on several occasions, suffered a set-back here last Saturday afternoon in the Pacific Coast conference track and field meet.

Strode, touted to take both the shot and discus events, by virtue of past performances, won the former, but was shoved back to fourth place in the discus by a bad throw of 150ft. 11½ inches.

Winners were Zagar of Stanford, 155ft. 5⅝s. Wrotnowski, U. S. C., 153ft. 7⅜s. and Gasper, U. S. C., 152ft. 9⅞ inches.

Strode was obviously off-form. He has beaten any and all of the men, mentioned above, and threw over 156 feet in the recent West Coast Relays to set a new mark for that meet. He has been topped only once this season and then by the experienced Olympic club representatives, Phil Levy and Ken Carpenter.

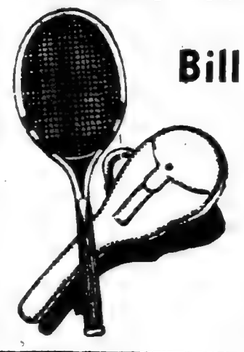
BERKELEY LAUDED

Westwood's Tom Berkeley came in for plaudits of the crowd as he performed like a champion in the fast quartermile race. It looks like Berkeley has found himself in that event.

Only on two occasions this season, and once before, has he done the quarter stint. In the relay at the Fresno meet he anchored his team and in the Compton Invitational meet he ran third to Miller of Compton and Oklahoma Baptists' Cagle. The race was run over a meter course and in 47 flat.

Saturday's event was measured in yards and run in 46.9. Winner was Malott of Stanford. Berkeley was second, five yards back.

Berkeley placed third, two yards behind Mack Robinson of Oregon and George Anderson of Cal., in the 220 low hurdles. The time was 23.4s.



The great Robinson was suffering from a head cold that somewhat cramped his style. Instead of his usual four events he only won two, the broadjump, in addition to the low sticks. He placed fourth in the 100 yard dash that was won by Talley. The time was 9.7. He didn't enter the furlong.

UCLA's Bill Lacefield was only a fraction more than an inch behind Mack in the broadjump. Bill has foregone the high hurdles since the USC-UCLA dual meet to concentrate on the broadjump, in which many believe him potentially the greatest in the west.

California's Leonard Spencer assayed the mile run, placing a close third two yards behind Burrows of Stanford the winner. The time was 4:21.7.

Prep Prelims Tomorrow

Prepdom will square off tomorow in the Coliseum in the preliminary to the City League championship meet. Finals will be run off June 11.

Some eighteen high schools will enter teams, totaling approximately 800 athletes in the A, B and C divisions. Jefferson High school dispite the defeat suffered at the hands of Manual Arts High school in the League title meet, is favored to win the City title, its fourth in as many years.

Manual Arts is picked to place second with Los Angeles High school third and Fremont, Roosevelt and Belmont jockeying for the runner-up places.

A fast aggregation of sprinters and field men will be pointing for new city meet records, if not state and national marks. Records likely to fall are the high jump, in which Paul Shoaff, white of Jordan High school is favored winner, the pole vault in which Baylor Maynard, will be pointing skyward for a higher mark and the shot put with Tom Direaux eyeing the world prep record.

In the Class B division Jordan High school is favored to take the title from Jefferson's undefeated team. The B team from Watts is led by Clarence Mackey, crack city high jumper, prevented by a League ruling from competing varsity. Mackey jumps 23 feet and sprints the hundred in 9.9.

Harry O'Neal is Belmont Hi Star

Belmont high school has a youngster who has a penchant for second place. He is Harry O'Neal and his efforst almost netted a Northern League victory for his school on last Friday afternoon at Garfield High.

O'Neal staged a terrific fifty yard finish in the furlong to place a close second to Roosevelt's Borkin, white, winning in 21.7. O'Neal emerged from the field at sixth place and drove past Hugh Wilson of Belmont. Later he tied for third with a Garfield youth in the high jump and placed second in the broadjump, again behind Borkin.

Belmont's Neal Wilson bowed to Lincoln's Diez in the low hurdles. Time: 20.3.

Vallejo Jumper Pushes Foe to New Prep Mark

HOLLISTER, June 2.—Gil La Cava, Beverly Hills High school high jump star, was pushed to his new interscholastic mark in that event by Vernon Higbee, Vallejo High school student.

Higbee, formerly of Los Angeles Manual Arts High school, has done 6.6. He tied at that height for second with three youths from San Diego and Santa Ana high schools.

La Cava's new state mark upsets the old one of 6.7, set by Corny Johnson while he was attending Los Angeles high school but which was never accepted.

If La Cava's mark is accepted, it will go above that set by Willis Ward, Michigan State 37, when he was attending Northwestern High school. La Cava is white and is the son of a Hollywood director.

6 Sepia Stars Pace L. A. High to Habitual Victory

Six colored youth led Los Angeles High school to its usual Western League victory last Friday afternoon on the Roxan field, L. A. scored 77 points to Venice's 32, winning by a larger margin than any other victor of the many league meets held throughout the city that day.

Three of the lads took as many first places. They were Henry Duvall "little brother of Al Duval, former Loyola University football player. Henry won the shot put with a toss of 50'1". Neil Collins, star hurdler, suffered a setback in the high sticks when a falling hurdle slightly injured his leg. He came back, however to win the low hurdles in 20.3, with Donald Bowdoin, one of the six, placing second.

Curtis Howard won the high hurdle event in 15.5.

Clifton Russell, L. A. sprinter, placed third in the 100 yard dash and second in a close 220. Time in both events was slow, although the 10.2 mark in th century equals the Western League mark.

Young Bowdoin took second in the broadjump and Tommie Long tied for fifth in the high jump.

ROOSEVELT'S COSTLY EXPERIMENTS

The New Deal goes deeper in the mire daily and unless a halt is called before 1940 the country will be years in struggling out of a mountain of debt.

By the election of Republican Congressmen and Senators next November we will be able to steer the ship clear of the rocks for which she is now headed.

Like a kid tiring of a toy every few minutes and casting it aside, is a fine illustration of New Deal "cures" that fail and have to be abandoned for another wildcat scheme in an effort to blunder out of the gulch into the sunlight of prosperity and happiness.

The New Deal candidates are again going to try to coast back into Congress on the tail of the Roosevelt kite as was the case two years ago, but the record that is being presented showing the failure of Roosevelt's experiment cannot be disputed. For instance we'll take Roosevelt's —

"FEDERAL 'ECONOMY'

At Pittsburgh, October 29, 1932, Candidate Roosevelt said:

"'I regard reduction in Federal spending as one of the most important issues of this campaign. In my opinion it is the most direct and effective contribution that Government can make to business.'

"Expenditures of the Federal Government under the Hoover Administration for the fiscal year 1932 — in which year Mr. Roosevelt's 'economy' speech at Pittsburgh was made — were $5,153,644,895.

"This expenditure amounted to $171.78 per family (30 million families).

"Sums expended during the calendar year 1937 by agencies WHICH THE NEW DEAL CREATED and added to the existing Government debt included:

"Agricultural Adjustment Administration, 10 millions; Federal Emergency Relief Administration, 8 millions; Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, 4 millions; emergency conservation work, 64 millions; Public Works Administration loans and grants, 1896 millions; all other public works projects, 367 millions; emergency housing, 50 millions; Federal Housing Administration, 16 millions; Resettlement Administration, 209 millions.

"CANDIDATE Roosevelt, SEEKING office, advocated REDUCTIONS in Federal expenditures 'as the most direct and effective contributions that Government can make to business.'

"PRESIDENT Roosevelt, HOLDING office, ENORMOUSLY INCREASED the nature of the amount of Federal spending."

HITLER INVADES U.S.A.

The German-American Bund, an organization thru which Hitler spreads his poison in America, glorified the Nazi swastika at an indoor meeting in San Francisco Saturday.

Two thousand five hundred anti-Nazi demonstrators surrounded the hall in orderly protest of the un-American demonstration.

If America is ever forced into a war, our most stubborn foe will come from the ranks of class whose spy system will have so honey-combed our military set-up that every movement would be known ever before it was put into execution.

It's our gazing at a gnat and swallowing a camel if not nipped in the bud right now will prove disastrous. Had two or three so-called Communists assembled at a public park or a street corner every police officer in San Francisco would have swooped down and clubbed the group half to death. But Hitler's emissaries are permitted to assemble behind closed doors, fly the swastika and sing aloud, "Horst Wessel", the Nazi song commemorating one of the movement's heroes. If Germans love the work of Hitler so dearly, we say throw them on a boat and let 'em sing, shout and wave the swastika at the feet of this cowardly butcher.

STRIKES IN THE SCHOOLS

With manifestos and demands filling the air, America's school children are entering into the "Let's all strike!" spirit of 1938 with a bang. In California, Illinois, New York and other states, the younger generation is learning to go for a walk every time it discovers a grievance, a walk that leaves teachers facing empty class-rooms.

FREE SPEECH

The mob spirit flared anew in Jersey City, N. J., Friday, thus again proving that local officials will not enforce constituted law to protect citizens from mobs of hoodlums.

Congressman Jerry O'Connell, Montana Democrat, again invaded Jersey City and attempted to deliver a speech in defiance of an order issued a few weeks ago by Mayor Hague.

At Pershing Field, the Congressman had hoped to address a crowd of 25,000. Uniformed police officers seized O'Connell and carried him to a train as milling thousands sought to seize and do him bodily injury. In the melee, Mrs. O'Connell, his wife, was knocked down, pummelled and beaten.

The free speech and free assembly in America is a thing hoped for but not permitted unless you dance to the music of those in power. The American Constitution guarantees this right which has been forcibly denied a member of the next highest law-making body in our government.

What will President Roosevelt say and do is the absorbing question of the day.

AMERICA IN MINIATURE

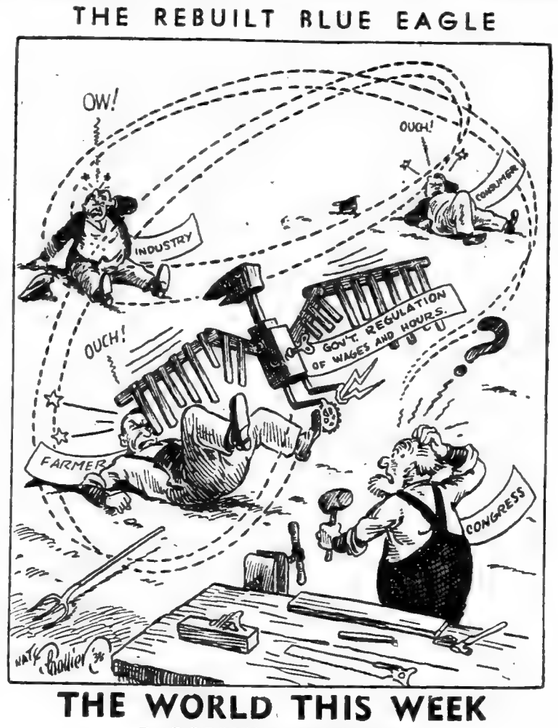
Billions of dollars, millions of people, thousands of cities, and tens upon tens of taxes! This America of ours, huge, rambling, complex — do you find it hard to understand, hard to catch in the focus of a single pair of eyes?

There's one way to bring America down to size, a way worked out recently by R. L. Engleken of Los Angeles. Suppose we divide all the facts and figures by a million. Then we can look at a miniature America, exactly like the real thing, but just one-millionth of it in size.

What is it like, this one-millionth America?

It's a country three miles square, a country well-stocked with oil, coal, iron, rich land and all the bounties of nature. It has a population of 130 people. In normal times 42 of them live on farms and 48 work in factories and offices. Right now, however, 12 are without employment.

With a total national income of $60,000, the Federal government owes $40,000, with another $17,500 owed by the states and cities.



Most of the citizens complain about taxes, but only five are required to pay an income tax, and only one has an income of more than $5000.

What do the inhabitants think of their country? Well, some of them complain and some seek to change the form of government. But most of them find miniature America, like its real counterpart, a mighty attractive place in which to live.

Certainly our fathers of the spare-the-rod school would find this mass rejection of discipline a serious affair. But perhaps our children are just learning to use a weapon which many of their elders seem to find very useful. Perhaps it is all a part of preparation for life, this business of learning to strike while you learn to spell. Perhaps a school sit-down strike is just the 1938 way of keeping children after school.

At that, we find it a bit bewildering! With Johnny home from school on strike and Daddy picketing the factory, we expect to hear any moment that the house-wives have gone out demanding shorter hours and vacations.

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

RACE FOR VICTORY

The Japanese march on toward victory and potential disaster. Having pounded into Suchow with broadsides of artillery and aerial bombardments, the legions of the Rising Sun have seized the objective of many months of fighting, the junction of the Tientsin-Nanking railroad and the east-west Lunghai road. The papers in Tokyo shout forth the news of a great victory. But like every preceding step in their country's rocky road to conquest, that victory has been won at an enormous price. It means that Japan's already dangerously long communication lines have been extended still farther into China to provide an extremely tempting and vulnerable target to well-organized Chinese guerilla bands. And Japan continues to face an appalling threat which China may yet hurl against her invaders — dynamiting the dikes of the mighty Yellow River and sending this deadly torrent swirling over hundreds, possibly thousands, of square miles. Japan runs a harrowing race, with each victory darkened by the shadow of disaster in full pursuit.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

Right 'round the corner comes June with its romance and its brides! And hastily chugging up in the rear like a wise but doting uncle is the well-timed report of the Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles. The Institute has been studying 374 couples who classify themselves as unhappy, and 436 other couples who say they enjoy only "run-of-the-mill" happiness. What the studies revealed was this: love-at-first-sight marriages occurred eight times as often among those who considered themselves unhappily married. Couples who declared they possessed an average degree of happiness knew each other longer than 20 months before they became engaged. With June's spell in the air, we are somewhat skeptical whether such sober counsel will make love-at-first-sight postpone its vote for marriage almost two years ahead and let Father Time help make up their minds. But eight hundred couples can't be wrong, and that's their verdict!

THOSE DEBTS AGAIN

Lord Beaverbrook, England's biggest newspaper publisher, gave America a reassuring pat on the head a few days ago and said, in effect, "There, little boy, don't cry. You'll get your pie in the sky — someday." He announced that one day Britain would reach a point where it would be able to wipe out its five billion dollar war debt to the United States on terms satisfactory to American taxpayers. Judging from recent opinion polls, the American taxpayers want that debt settled only on one term — full payment. Lord Beaverbrook is doubtless as well aware of that as anyone, but with troublous times prowling over Europe, he can't be blamed for saying a few cheerful words to the United States, can he? America's men, money, and cooperation, have proved extremely valuable in the past. Why not again?

Not all of technology's creations have been so friendly to wage-earners as the new robot which went into action in the Oklahoma oil fields last week. This machine can dig wells two miles deep, holding a drill pipe weighing up to 75 tons, and is automatically controlled by three push buttons. Its size is approximately that of an automobile. The industry welcomes it because of its efficiency in drilling. And the workers in the oil fields are welcoming it because it's the most warm-hearted robot they've seen in years — it doesn't displace a single one of the crew!

The Rights of the Press

By GRENVILLE CLARK

From an address before the American Newspaper Publishers Association

(Printed in Christian Science Monitor)

American liberty, as I conceive it, should be used to express the same consepts as the phrase "the liberties of the subject" in England, whence our basic rights historically derive . . .

A few of these rights of the citizen have been deemed so vital that by constitutional prohibition they have been placed beyond infringement by any government, even though chosen by a free majority of the people. These include the rights guaranteed by the first eight amendments of the Federal Constitution, including freedom of conscience, of speech and of the press, of assembly and petition and the right to fair hearing or trial before one is deprived of his life or of his normal privilege to stay out of jail or of his property . . .

But this is not the whole. There are two other meanings to the liberty of the British subjects and of the American citizen that are of no less importance, but have received less attention and must now receive more.

Another requirement of civil liberty is the existence of a healthy condition of democratic self-government, a system under which a majority of the people, really and not nominally, freely and not under coercion or bribery by individuals or corporations or by the government itself, choose those who are to make and execute the laws and under which the legislative, executive and judicial branches exercise their proper functions without domination of the others . . .

Then there is a third essential ingredient—the maintenance not only in theory, but in practice, of the "reign of law." . . .

These three aspects of civil liberty are, of course, interrelated. Yet it conduces to clear thinking to view them separately and then to realize that liberty depends upon the co-existence of these three elements, and safety of the little group of fundamental rights that are constitutionally safeguarded, the healthy existence of democratic government and the prevalence of a spirit of fair play between government and the citizens. I repeat that all these things are essential to the maintenance of true civil liberty. They will all in the long run stand or fall together.

Now I can put my question more concretely: "What can the newspaper press most effectively do at this time to safeguard our enumerated constitutional rights, to maintain democratic government in a vigorous condition and support the great principle of fair play that I call the reign of law?"

I will answer my own question by saying that the two most definite and vital things that the press can do now for civil liberty are: First, to stand up for freedom of discussion and criticism not only in the press itself, but through all other mediums of expression; and second, to resist abuse of official power from whatever source or direction that abuse may come.

In respect of all the elements of civil liberty that I have mentioned, one thing can be said with confidence: they are all dependent on the continuous free flow of public criticism and discussion, what President Roosevelt recently refered to as a "free exchange of views". Here, then, lies the first and plain duty and opportunity of the press, to see to it that all the channels of public information and discussion remain or shall become free.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WANTED—COLORED ENTERPRISE IN 'FRISCO

Dear Editor:

I am writing you the news of this city. Maybe you have been here to have found out for yourself. I am from Los Angeles myself, but you can't appreciate Los Angeles until you go away from it and yet I will say that some of our people are satisfied with whatever comes along.

I am with the "Thanks For My Wife" Company and am working as valet to Mr. Alan Dinehart. The show came to this city on the 29th of May. I arrived at 5 p. m., and until 12:30 midnight was trying to find a hotel and finally found a place in one of the old stand-by places. By that I mean to say it is one place where they never turn away our good old American money--the Japanese. I was told of several cases where this happened to our colored bands and other professional people, and it seems that some of our people would try to do something about it.

I was sent to the colored places in this city, and believe me it is not what the better class of people would care for. Now I don't want to be misunderstood for in each and every place there is something wrong, but it seems as a big city like this which has as many professional people, there should be someone to operate a nice and quiet place. It is very embarrassing to go in some place and have to say that I am Mr. and so and so's butler or whatever you may be. I wish you would try to contact someone that is connected with this city and see what kind of spunk they have here. I would love to hear from you as I shall be here for two weeks. You may say a word to the Lone Wolf Boys for me as I am a member.

If anyone that knows a good barber, tell him that a good living can be made in the small town of Santa Barbara if he can stay or live in a small town.

Yours truly,
JIMMIE RENFRO

FROM FARLEY'S ATTORNEY

My Dear Mrs. Bass:

Permit me to express on behalf of other defense counsel and myself our profound thanks for the manner in which you aided George Farley in the recent events that led to his trial on murder charges, As you pointed out in your paper, one need not condone his acts in order to understand the tragic events that led to the unfortunate occurrence.

Those of us who had the honor to represent Mr. Farley are more than thankful to the people of the community for the manner in which they rallied to his aid and saw to it that he received the fair trial guaranteed to every citizen of the state and nation.

The widespread publicity you gave to this case and the manner in which you pointed out the real issues led, we are sure, to a thorough understanding of it on the part of your readers. Will you thank them, through your columns, on our behalf?

Very sincerely yours,
LOREN MILLER

FROM THE GOVERNOR OF MICHIGAN

Dear Editor:

The plan to hold an exhibition devoted to 75 years of Negro freedom and progress in Detroit in 1940 meets with my full and equalified approval.

No fair-minded American who sincerely believes in the fundamental principles of our nation-freedom and equal opportunity--can deny that the forward strides made by the Negro since emancipation are among the most eloquent examples of what can be accomplished in a free and liberal country.

His record is all the more inspiring because it has been achieved in the face of the obstacles born of racial differences. For although as a nation we are devoted to the ideal of freedom and liberty for all regardless of race or creed, we still have among us forms of discrimination and some denial of liberties. In time these will be lessened and we may have hope that they will eventually be largely eliminated, so that the Negro may enjoy the fullest realization of his heritage under the American system.

It is entirely desirable that an attempt be made to depict graphically some of his accomplishments in the many and varied fields in which the Negro is active. Such an exhibition would be a revelation to many, and I am particularly glad that it is to be held in the City of Detroit, the metropolis of our great state of Michigan, which has been, and I am sure will continue to be fair in its treatment of the Negro.

Governor Frank Murphy
State of Michigan

West's Greatest Negro Weekly:

Dear Editor,

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I am writing you, realizing that you are the one woman who has given the Negroes of the community something to be very proud of.

Within a few weeks the various persons seeking election will be among us buying, bribing, and making promises; I am hoping you or someone will write something concerning the Congressman Ford and Senator McAdoo, our representatives who have done nothing for the Negro in way of Federal appointments.

There is a young Negro woman who has been endorsed by all the necessary persons; County and State Committees and all the leading Democrats both of the Negro and white race but so far Ford nor McAdoo has seen that this young capable woman was placed.

Now Ford and McAdoo are among us seeking our votes and have done nothing. I would appreciate it if you would write something in your great paper so that others will know that nothing has been done for us.

Thanking you for any interest you may show, I am,
Respectfully yours,
A. JUDD

TAKES MR. BUCK TO TASK

Dear Editor:

Having read your publications with much interest for a number of years and noting particularly the enthusiasm and spirit you have shown in the material progress of our people, I am asking that you please print this letter in your fine paper.

I was a visitor at one N. A. A. C. P. meeting past Sunday afternoon and was very much impressed by an address given by an attorney, Mr. Williams. But was equally depressed by a talk given by a Mr. Percy Buck who styled himself as an outstanding citizen of this community. I understand he was asked to come there and talk on the future advancement of our people in the realm of labor. Among the deplorable things he said about the American Negro was that he needed to go back to the cotton fields as he is not capable of learning anything from books. (That his many years of experience with Negroes has taught him this.)

I also understand that this Percy Buck is an instructor of dining car waiters and gathers his expressed experience thru a few pupils who were not "cut out" for waiters and he undoubtedly does not keep up with the progress of his own calling and doesn't know that among a good many ex-waiters we find capable lawyers, doctors, teachers, journalists, builders and even trained farmers.

I trust Mr. Buck will be informed that his viewpoint is pitiful amusement and that he should take time off and learn something of Negro progress.

pose of your militant campaign for janitor jobs for your people" I says, shaking him briskly.

"ADS", he says, without a moments hesitation. His head drooped after he spoke, and I shook him again.

"You appear to be a great lover of your Race", I says.

"Yeah! They trades at the markets where I gets my Ads", he murmured. His voice seemed to be getting a little weak, so I shook him up good, for my next question.

"In your opinion, upon what main factors does the Future of the Negro Youth of America largely depend?

"Full page market Ads in my newspaper, by means of which I can get 'em jobs", he answers confidently. The next minute his head sagged to one side, and I knowed that the strain of telling the Truth was beginning to tell on him, so I doped him with a half-gallon more of the stuff.

"What is the real aim of your militant fight about beer-posters? I seen two columns about it on your front page last week?", I says. Well, folks, he twisted and squirmed, but he didn't say a mumbling word, I knowed then that he was putting up a strong fight to keep from answering, so I shot another half-gallon of Serum to him. He shivered, gnashed his teeth, and then screamed at the top of his voice:

"A two-page Ad from the Brewery! A whole entire sheet. And if the Loyal Colored Public supports me, I'll get it, too."

I looked at him and shook my head sadly, wondering over the vagaries of Human Nature. "What are the working conditions of the people who have gotten jobs through your noble endeavors?" I pressed.

"I dunno! They don't give me no advertising", he said listlessly.

Well by this time I was convinced that he had a AD complex, and that there wasn't any use in going no further. So I made a tomb-stone out of his two-column front page article about the beer-posters and stood it up at his head--in case he didn't survive the Truth-telling ordeal he had been through--and beat it back to Los Angeles.

BONNIE ADAMS DECLARED SANE; TO BE TRIED FOR MURDER OF MEDICO

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 59—NO. 9 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 9, 1938 PRICE FIVE CENTS

MRS. WILLIAM NICKERSON JR. (See Story Below)

JUNE 16 SET AS DATE OF TRIAL OF WOMAN WHO SHOT DR. BANKS

Back in County Jail as Mind Declared Normal

BONNIE ADAMS

Declared sane by physicians at the Mendicino hospital for the criminally insane, Bonnie Adams, 32-year-old former Metropolitan Life Insurance nurse, who fired three bullets into the body of her sweetheart, Dr. Theodore Banks, popular young dentist, on August 14, 1935, will be brought to trial on the murder charge June 16 in Department 43 of the Superior court.

Miss Adams' mental condition was declared too unstable for the strain of trial proceedings directly after the murder and the case was deferred until she should recover. She was confined to the hospital at Talmadge in September of 1935.

Early this month physicians at the Mendicino hospital declared her returned to normalcy and this week she was returned to the Los Angeles County jail.

The tragedy shocked the city and the smart social set in which Banks moved. The deed was allegdly done because Banks, to whom Miss Adams had asserted-ly been giving money, was jilting her.

The shooting took place in Banks' office on Vernon avenue. There were no witnesses with the exception of Theodore Hundley, a next-door neighbor who heard the shots.

Miss Adams, herself, called the police. Sobbing hysterically she told them that she got her gun and came to have a show-down with Banks, who had been growing colder to her for some time. When he refused to discuss the matter with her she said she pulled the trigger and "the gun kept on shooting".

FOR the past 14 weeks the California Eagle has given a nightly broadcast of news over Station KGFJ. S. A. Scherer, the popular Loan company, has been sponsor of these fifteen-minute news periods.

At this time the Eagle feels that it should pause long enough to acknowledge this courtesy from S. A. Scherer, and to thank our listeners who have showered us with telephone calls, telegrams, and letters.

When the Eagle was founded 58-years ago by John J. Neimore, who blazed not only a new trail in the field of Journalism, but at that time, pushed open new doors of opportunity for job-seeking members of his racial group, Los Angeles was an infant in the family of communities.

Until the day he died, Neimore delighted in telling how he landed in Los Angeles with one thin dime in his pocket but with head and heart in gear to run a newspaper.

So determined was this first Los Angeles Negro editor to transplant Negroes from Texas to California that he established headquarters near the old Arcade station--each porter becoming a mail-carrier. The Eagle told a glowing story of a new country where flowers and fruits grew and where race prejudice had not lifted its cruel head. Among those attracted by the Eagle's mighty clarion call were some of the most famed of early settlers. Like the pilgrims of Plymouth, they saw their greatest hope in the land. Biddie Mason; seed of the great Owens family, acquired property where Broadway and Spring streets from the center of the present downtown shopping district.

The Duston family bought land at Eighth and Linden, establishing one of Los Angeles' first and largest Storage companies. The Harvey brothers invested in sand and gravel works and recently supplied these materials in the construction of the present City Hall. The Blodgetts, contractors, built some of the city's outstanding structures.

Northern California also had its Negro pioneers. Among them, the Gary family, of racing fame; the Youngs, who planted the trees and laid out the town of Fowler in the central part of the state. In later years the Abernathy, Orr's and Youngs owned 100 and 150 acre dairy, peach, apricot, and grape ranches in Fresno and Tulare counties.

In addition to its first great policy of encouraging settlement, the California Eagle, throughout its lengthy history, has pursued doctrines of racial advancement, equal suffrage, and economic independence.

ANNOUNCEMENT this week of withdrawal of any implied support of the Pittsburg Courier--Representative Fish Army Bill by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is another indication that the organization is alert to the dangers facing the race today. This bill, presented in the columns of the eastern newspaper amid much fan-fare and verbal fire-works, is one of the most dangerous to be introduced in Congress since the court-packing proposition. Cleverly masking itself as an argument in favor of equality in status and participation in the armed forces of the nation, the Bill really proposes a separate, segregated, and detached branch of the Army for Negroes alone. Once stablished, this division would become a Gibralter of segregation against which no future arguments for equality could sound effectively. For years the placement of Negroes in various Army and Navy has been going forward slowly but steadily. This hard-fought, painstaking advancement would be destroyed instantly were the bill passed.

So it is with a deep sense of gratification we receive news that the NAACP, so recently distinguished in the anti-lynching fight, has refused support to this treacherous legislation.

ELOISE NICKERSON

Nickersons Go to Insurance Meet

The charming Mrs. William Nickerson, Jr. and daughter, Eloise, accompanied the president of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, William Nickerson, Jr., last Thursday to Cleveland where they will attend the National Insurance Convention.

While in the East, the Nickersons will visit in New York, Chicago, Kansas City and Washington, D. C. The trip will probably culminate in a visit to Houston, Texas, the Nickerson's former home. Melvin, the executive's youngest son, is also on the trip. They will return in mid-July.

Mr. Nickerson will be one of the most prominent figures at the convention by virtue of heading one of the soundest insurance companies in the country as well as the most progressive.

20th Birthday of Gold Co. is Celebrated

Celebrating its twentieth anniversary in business at the Washington and Central avenue location, the Gold Furniture company this week announced the creation of a new service to the East-side community in a Community Developement Fund.

"As a measure of gratitude for patrongae during the past twenty years Gold takes this means of rendering financial assistance to the churches and organized charitable organizations of the community," stated L. H. Markson, manager, making the announcement.

According to his plan, approximately $500.00 will be distributed each month to approved organizations. An impartial committee will be appointed to adjudge the worth of the organizations.

Markson explained the manner in which the fund will be administered as follows:

"Among the members of the organization benefitted are certain individuals who will be making purchases at Gold's in the future. When the individual makes a purchase, he will ask for a Community Developement Fund check. This check will be made payable to the charitable organization and is not transferable. The amount of the check will be based on the percent of the purchase."

Organizations that, it is expected, will receive aid, include the Outdoor Life and Health Association for the erection of a rest home for tubercular patients.

Art Student was County Employe

Fishing Boat Brings Almost Lifeless Body to Brighton Beach

Believed to have been dragged out beyond his depth by a treacherous undercurrent, Julian C. Robinson, Los Angeles County employe and promising art student, was drowned while swimming off Brighton Beach last Saturday afternoon.

With him were his wife's neice, Miss Juanita Johnson, and W. A. Lenoir. Because Robinson was such an excellent swimmer, his companions were not disturbed when he did not return to shore some time after he left them to go in again, and did not know of the tragedy until a fishing boat brought his almost lifeless body ashore.

"I'll never get warm again," were the last words uttered by the unfortunate man as he lapsed into unconsciousness after being hauled into the boat, the occupants said.

Strugggling against the strong current, those who were with him believe he realized his danger and called for help. He was heard by those in the fishing boat about a mile and a half away. Immediately they hurried to his rescue, threw him a rope and helped him aboard. But his strength was spent and he did not respond to first aid.

NATIVE OF RICHMOND

Robinson was a native of Richmond, Virginia, coming here from that city fourteen years ago. With his wife, Mrs. Jessie Robinson, he made his home at 1642 E. 108th street.

He was a volunteer in the U. S. army before the World War, serving five and a half years in the Eighth Company of the Ninth Cavalry. Following this, he saw service one year and one month during the World War. Later he studied art at the California school of Arts and Crafts, Oakland, four years, graduating with honors.

STUDIED UNDER GOODE

Coming to Los Angeles, Mr. Robinson secured employment in the janitors department of the Los Angeles county where he worked for the past twelve years but continued his art studies under Henry Goode, Los Angeles teacher.

In 1935, the coming artist attracted widespread attention when he painted a life-sized portrait of L. G. Robinson, president of the Angelus Funeral Home which was praised highly by famous art critics.

Modest and unassuming, he had been working for some time on a collection of murals to have been placed on exhibition. The fatal accident leaves one of his finest pieces unfinished.

Final rites will be solemnized in the church chapel of the Angelus Funeral Home this afternoon (Thursday at one o'clock) Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of People's Independent Church of Christ, of which the deceased was a member, will conduct the ceremonies. Interment will be in the soldier's cemetery at Sawtelle.

BULLETIN

Another death by drowning was reported late yesterday as an afternoon's lark in the 28th street YMCA swimming pool brought a tragic ending to the life of 10-year-old James Newsome of 1237 E. 28th street.

Young Newsome was swimming in the "Y" pool with his brother, Lawrence Newsome, and a group of boys when he suddenly sank below the surface of the water. A few minutes later the frantic boys drew his lifeless body from the water.

First aid methods and artificial respiration were administered by Newton Street police station ambulance doctors and firemen, but to no avail. The ambulance doctor expressed the belief, after a cursory examination, that the boy had been seized with a heart attack and had drowned before he could make an outcry.

James Allen, director of the pool, was momentarily in an adjoining room when the tragedy occurred. Returning, he reported, he found the lad being worked over by the other boys.

MRS. CLARA B. WORKMAN

New Addition to EAGLE Staff

Latest addition to the EAGLE staff in its program of expansion is Mrs. Clara B. Workman, former staff member of "The Informer", Houston, Texas' largest Negro weekly.

One time night editor on "The Informer", Mrs. Workman will take that position on the EAGLE. She is a product of Southern university, state college of Louisiana; Gilliam Business college, New Orleans; Chicago Business college and the Cabalistic School of Shorthand.

Mrs. Workman studied newspaper work at the McCormick School of Journalism; however, before that she taught school in New Orleans. She is the widow of the late Albert Workman, labor leader in New Orleans.

Willing to Serve 1-Year Term, Gets 30 Days; "Praises God" in Court

Clarence E. Johnson of Monrovia threw the Court room of Superior Court Judge Fricke in turmoil this week when he received only a thirty day jail term on a charge of being an ex-felon and carrying a deadly weapon.

Testimony revealed that Johnson had previously been convicted of burglary in Ttxas and in California and that on March 21, 1938 he was found near the corner of 41st and Compton Avenue in possession of an automatic revolver.

Johnson, when he appeared in court expressed readiness to serve at least a one year term. Upon being sentenced to only thirty days he "praised God" in open court. Johnuson was represented by Attorney Walter L. Gordon Jr.

Arrest WPA Forgery Suspect

The long-sought forger of WPA checks was thought found this week in the arrest last Monday evening by Newton Street police of Frank White, 27-year-old laborer of 1360 E. 41st street.

White was arrested on tip-off by the manager of Smith's Market at 43rd and Central avenue, who called Newton police when White, wearing dark glasses, attempted to cash a check indorsed by a Roger Willis, 1104 E. 22nd street. In White's possession when police apprehended him was a Social Security card with Willis' name on it.

PASSES IN HOME

Mrs. J. Bivens, pioneer California resident, E. 33rd Street died Tuesday night at her home after an illness of several weeks. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from Wesley M. E. Church of which she is a members. Angelus Funeral home is in charge.

NAACP HONORS GRADS AT HAMILTON SUNDAY

June graduates, those appearing in the special graduation section of this issue of the EAGLE, and many others will be honored on Sunday at the Hamilton M. E. church, East 18th and Naomi, by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, local branch.

A special educational program will be presented by chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Hazel Whittaker.

Speakers will include Charles Eason, Dr. W. E. Bailey, Samuel Brown, Mrs. C. A. Bass, LeRoy S. Hart, Dr. Edna L. Griffin, Miss Verna Arvey and Crispus Wright. Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke will be the soloist of the day and students Lena Torrance, Jesse Mosses and Helen Dundee will also participate.

Thomas L. Griffith jr. is president of the branch.

WOMAN GETS $3,000 IN INSURANCE SUIT

Mrs. James H. Shain's one-year battle with the Cohn Central Consolidated Reclamation District at Fresno, ended yesterday when her attorney, Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., received notice from San Francisco that an award of $3,000.00 is made in favor of Mrs. Shain.

On June 17th of the last year, James H. Shain, 37, transient worker employed by Reclamation District No. 761 was drowned when he lost control of the car he was driving and plunged into a "borrow" pit and fourteen feet of water bordering Tulare Lake. He and fellow workers were fighting to save the high levee from the lake, driving piles on the levee and packing them with straw and sandbags.

The insurance carrier had refused to pay Mrs. Shain contending that she was not legally married to the deceased. At the Fresno hearing it was proved that the deceased married Mrs. Shain before he received his final decree of divorce from his other wife. According to evidence offered by Mrs. Shain, she thought she was lawfully married and did not discover that an impediment existed until the case had come on for hearing.

The Industrial Accident Commission declared the deceased had a common law marriage to Mrs. Shain, but she was a member of the deceased's housesold in good faith and was totally dependent upon him for support and therefore, entitled to the death benefit.

PAYS WAGE CLAIMS OF DOMESTIC IN FULL

Following the sensational story in last week's EAGLE, Mrs. Luena Haswell, of the Wilshire Apartment Service, paid in full the claim of her late employee, Mrs. Grace George this week.

Mrs. George reported Mrs. Haswell and her system of domestic service to EAGLE reporters last week. The woman charged that her employer had refused payment of approximately a month's wages and that in addition she had been forced to work over eight and nine hours per day.

The case was taken immediately to the Division of Labor Statistics and Law enforcement where Mrs. Haswell, hailed before deputy L. A. Barnes, accused the domestic of theft of a seven dollar check and an attempt "to steal her route".

The "Wilshire Apartment Service" operates in the following manner: it employes domestic workers who are sent on 'routes' through swank Hollywood apartments. All money is paid by "clients" to the organization which in turn guarantees each worker seventy-per-cent of these earnings. A lengthy contract to this effect is signed by all employees.

In response to the charge of "stealing her route" and the check-theft, Mrs. George voiced a flat denial. The case was referred to the Civil courts by the Division of Labor Law enforcement, for which step Mrs. George was preparing when she received a call from her former employer.

With her husband, she went to the woman's office where she was paid in full.

In a statement, the domestic said, "The first thing I saw on her (Mrs. Haswell's) desk was a copy of the EAGLE".

ON THE AIR!

The Negro Newspaper of the Air, the nightly, except Saturday broadcast of the EAGLE, heard over station KGFJ at 8:15, continues its weekly features. Tonight, Baxter Scruggs, "Y" secretary, will be interviewed by Almena Davis. Friday night, sportscast by J. Cullen Fentress; Sunday, editorial comment by Mrs. C. A. Bass; Monday, society news by Helen F. Chappell; Tuesday, theatre news, Fay M. Jackson; Wednesday, news. Nightly announcer is John Kinloch.

Book Man On Burglary Charge

When Willie Campbell of 1215 E. 40th place and George Johns of 1209 E. 40th street, saw a truck, assertedly belonging to Harry Wright, parked at 40th and Naomi loaded with clothing, they became suspicious and called Newton Street police.

Police booked Wright, 32-year-old porter of 1237 E. 28th street, at Newton Street station on suspicion of burglary. Alfred Brown, 22, a friend to Wright who claimed that the clothes belonged to his sweetheart with whom he was "breaking up", was booked also on the same charge.

Elect Woman to Screen Board

Elected to the advisory board of the junior screen actor's guild of Hollywood, Mrs. Ann Mabry, of 639 East 52nd Place made history this week when she became the first race woman to serve on the board.

Thirty-three newly elected board members two of which are colored, Jesse Graves and Edward Boyd, voted for Mrs. Mabry.

Her name was submitted, along with two others by Graves.

PASTOR OPPOSES PERMIT FOR LIQUOR STORE HERE

An affidavit opposing license for a liquor store proved the main source of excitement in the court room of the Board of Equalization last Wednesday, June 8th.

Dr. E. R. Driver, Pastor of Saints Home Holiness Church, on East 20th street and Hooper avenue, declared that a liquor store in the vicinity named in the petition would prove detrimental to the children attending his Sunday school.

Attorney Walter Gordon Jr., representing Mrs. Francis Joshua, liquor applicant, drew testimony from the pastor to show that he had never opposed a Chinese or Greek liquor store in the same block although both were closer to his church than the proposed store of Mrs. Joshua.

Colored spectators and character witnesses were given a surprise when Dr. Driver declared that he was born in India, in answer to queries about his birthplace.

Leaders Meet Nolle Smith

A party of leading citizens, headed by J. L. Hill, manager of the Angelus Funeral Home, will be at the San Pedro pier tomorrow morning when Nollie R. Smith, secretary of the Hawaiian Bureau of Governmental Research and District Governor of the Hawaiian Lions Club, arrives to attend the Institute of Government which convenes here next week.

Including in the welcome party will be Norman O. Houston, secretary-treasurer of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co., Dr. F. R. Whiteman, Paul Williams; Frank White and Titus Alexander, of the Bureau of Water and Power.

The distinguished guest will be the house guest of Mr. Hill during his stay in Los Angeles.

Enjoy the sun, but keep the texture of your skin smooth and fine. Let Benton's tell you how—the advice is free.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Los Angeles added another page to it's glorious history when it paid tribute to a GREAT EDUCATOR and FRIEND, Robert Hill Lane. The entire citizenry came quietly to the YMCA where Baxter Scruggs is the permanent host, and under the guidance of the DELTA MOTHRES and Sponsor Club, EXPRESSED THEIR GRATITUDE for a man that LOVES PEOPLE. One of the few members of the BOARD OF EDUCATION that has always contended for clean school and the BEST TEACHERS for the Central Avenue District. And it was told that he was the GREAT SPIRIT that brought about the so-called impossible appointment of Mrs. Hazel Whittaker, to JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL. Very few speeches, no Race chats just a dignified "getting together" around a table to show that when fair play is given OUR CHILDREN, we are grateful and proud. Mr. Lane, was just as grateful, and when his charming MEXICAN wife was introduced there was a glow over his face that told the story of ONE THAT UNDERSTOOD the ignorant practice of RACE PREJUDICE and as he sat a new determination was written in his brow that more young GUARD our children. I am glad this gesture was made because sometime we forget to PAY our friends tribute while they are alive and LISTENING. Bouquets of flowers, a lovely plaque are the earthly reminders, but that sincere goodwill told in the exquisite taste displayed by Mrs. Morgan Robinson and her group of MOTHERS will be a living MEMORY to many future Mothers who must lead their little ones to the nearby school to start their careers of inspiration and education. Good schools, a few more men like ROBERT HILL LANE and Los Angeles will take it's place as the greatest spot for FAIR PLAY and OPPORTUNITY on earth. And I might say it is not far behind now. STILL WE NEED MORE thanks for an evening where races mingled and were at ease, no battles were fought and Father Moore could truthfully face GOD and ask his blessings, while Rev. Clayton Russell happily said, "AMEN"! (Copywrited by Clarence Muse-1938)

WENDELL S. GREEN

Elect Green to Head LAJC Men

Believed to be the first in the history of any local school that is not 75 percent colored, a Negro became a high student body officer last week when Wendell S. Green, student at the Los Angeles Junior college, was elected president of the Associated Men Students of the institution.

Young Green polled a 36 vote majority to defeat Bill Ruess, white in the preliminary balloting Wednesday. He accredited his majority to a bloc of "liberal", Negro and Japanese votes.

Efforts were allegedly made to recall Green directly after election returns came in. From authoritative sources, it was learned that when his race became known, ballots were reprinted to include Ruess' name. The Collegian, tri-weekly college newspaper, carried only Green's name on the sample ballot printed on the Friday before the vote casting, it was noted.

CUSHNIE WITHDRAWS

One other Negro student attempted to run for office. He was Bob Cushnie, star track man. Cushie signed for the office of President of the Associated Students, highest student office, but was forced to withdraw because of scholastic deficiencies.

Green told the Eagle he was urged to run by the "liberal elements" on the campus. Five others were backed by this "element". Three of them, including Green, were elected.

There are less than 200 Negro students on the campus, among an estimated 6000 total registration. The Japanese number about 250.

21 YEARS OLD

Young Green is 21 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Green of 1575 Santa Barbara avenue and the grandson of S. W. Green of the Pythias Insurance company.

He is a Jefferson high school graduate and will finish his course in finance at the Junior college next year.

Green offered a ten point program of student reform.

Among the things he advocated were "legal smoking" for the students, support of peace activities, A. M. S. sponsorship of a Model Youth Legislature on the campus, student representation at faculty meetings, support of the anti-venereal disease campaign which would bring tests to the campus.

Green was praised by students for his campaign speech delivered before the assembled student body prior to the vote casting. He told the group that in his candidacy "Democracy had been placed on trial". He asked his fellow students to consider issues and principles rather than prejudices and personalities.

COSMOS CLUB ELECTS LASHLEY; 21ST TERM

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9. — William Henry, Lashley, 1977 Bush street, was re-elected for the 21st consecutive term as President of the Cosmos club, popularly conceded the most distinctive club on the Pacific Coast.

THRASHER IN BD. OF EQUALIZATION RACE

Announcement that Edward Y. Thrasher, Los Angeles city councilman, will be a candidate for Democratic nomination for the Board of Equalization in the Fourth District, which comprises eight southern counties is made today.

Thrasher is serving his fourth term as councilman.

Central Ave. Celebrates Henry Armstrong's Win

Central Avenue snapped off radios and made a bee-line for the East 54th street home of Henry Armstrong's parents-in-law after the fifteen round fight Tuesday night of last week in which Los Angeles' own won the welterweight championship of the world from Barney Ross.

Hustlin' Hank's little wife, Ida Mae, and baby daughter, Leota, are in New York and were among the crowd of 30,000 that Pa and Armstrong set on ear during that hour of whaling the game Chicago Jew.

The new welter champ, the first to hold that and the featherweight titles at the same time, is the son-in-law of the Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Strauther. The Rev. Strauther is the Moderator of the Progressive Baptist Association.

Central Avenue was its gayest and most jubilant for hours after the decision was announced. Automobiles careened at top speed down the Avenue with horns shrieking full blast. Celebration lasted well into the morning's hours. However, though the hilarity was heightened by liquid refreshment, no seribus disturbances were reported to the police department.

Said liquid refreshments flowed more freely because of winnings "Our Boy" netted the faithful. And the faithful were legion. Many a Hebrew boss handed over a ten or a twenty-five and more when the decision was announced.

THE AVENUE PLUNGED

One might say the Avenue plunged. Betting was not limited to any one particular class. Prominent business man, Sidney P. Dones, was reported to have won $500 from an overconfident Jewish businessman. A shoe shiner in the 42nd block found an "ofay" who would give him ten to one odds.

And Central Avenue was not the only sector of Hank Armstrong's home town that wagered its shirt on his flailing fists. In the movie colony, Robert Taylor is $5.000 richer, George Raft, $25.000 and Al Jolson, $15.000.

Speaking of Jolson, best gag of the week was accredited to him during a personal appearance at a youth benefit at the Eastside's Lincoln theatre the night following the fight.

"The Jews and the Negroes ought to get together," Jolson told his audience.

"Only they got too close last night", he said.

Armstrong will return home next week to rest before training for his coming lightweight title bout with Lou Ambers. The Chamber of Commerce and the city dignitaries are planning honorary affairs, at which the key to the city, which Hank has been presented on other occasions, will again be extended him.

In the evening the Avenue will have its moment with "Our Boy". Avenue night spots are planning an Armstrong night, it is believed, and the proceedings therein involved will doubtless be a repitition of last Tuesday night's revels, intensified by the presence of the hero.

ROSSEVELT SIGNS ANTI-VENEREAL BILL

WASHINGTON, June 9—President Roosevelt last week signed the LaFollette-Bulwinile anti-venereal bill and thereby started a $15,000.000 war on the nation's last great plagues—syphillis and gonorrhea.

The bulk of the cash will go to set up state and local clinics to find, examine and treat infected persons.

National Funeral Directors Meet to Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, June 9. (ANP)—Quakertown is looking forward to entertaining the 13th Annual convention of the Independent National Funeral Director's Association here June 26-30. Reports continue to circulate among morticians about the country that dissatisfaction exists because of certain business methods which have characterized the conduct of a high official of the body and a heavy attendance is expected from all sections of the country to participate in ironing out the difference.

President Wm. J. Morsell of Chicago, a member of the important firm of Kersey, McGowan and Morsell of that city, says that he is determined to make this convention demonstrate the value of the annual gatherings.

"We are building an organization", said Mr. Morsell, of such strength and influence that it will be able to protect the profession against destructive elements. Every method by which service to our clients can be improved will be discussed and demonstrated. An unusually large number of exhibits will be on hand. Skilled lecturers will present the latest methods in embalming. The convention in many respects will be a refresher course for embalmers."

E. SIMMS CAMPBELL

Property Ban Upheld in N. Y. State

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 9—An alleged conspiracy by rich white property owners in exclusive Westchester County to deprive Negroes of the right to own property in the section was upheld last week when Justice Graham Witschief rejected an application by E. Simms Campbell, Negro artist, to compel mortgage trustees to sell a twelve acre estate in Mount Pleasant to him for $18.500.

Through his counsel, Arthur Garfield Hays, Campbell contended that the property was advertised recently at $16.000 and that even his higher offer was rejected because of his color.

The property, at Bedford and Saw Mill River roads, is near land owned by James A. Stillman, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Arthur Choate.

Campbell is famous for his cartoons in Esquire magazine.

Northwestern U. Summer Session to Hear White

EVANSTON, Ill. June 9—Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will be one of the speakers on the Northwestern University summer session course in contemporary thought. The course will consist of lectures on six Tuesday afternoons beginning June 28. Mr. White will speak Tuesday afternoon, July 5, with Dr. T. V. Smith, professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago. The topic will be "Future Racial Relations in America Democracy."

Other speakers in the series will be Governor Phillip F. LaFollette of Wisconsin; Carl Sandburg, modern American poet; Norman Thomas, Socialist leader; M. L. Wilson, under-secretary of agriculture; and Dr. William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany.

L. A. to Host National 'TB' Ass'n, June 20-23

Los Angeles will be host to approximately 1,000 of the leading physicians, nurses, social workers and laymen in the nation-wide fight against tuberculosis when the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis Association is held at the Biltmore Hotel, June 20-23.

Latest developments in the campaign against this preventable and curable disease which still takes more than 1,700 lives in Los Angeles County each year, will be reported and discussed.

Best Way to Make Trips to Yosemite, Disclosed

Motorists from the Southland planning trips to Yosemite National Park are advised by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California that the best present route is through Fresno and Wawona.

Leaving Fresno by way of Blackstone avenue, go via Friant, Kelshaw corners, Coarse Gold, Oakhurst and Fish camp. The road is in good condition and with the exception of a short stretch in the vicinity of Kelshaw corners is three-lane highway.

The All-Year highway from Merced is open but under control for twelve miles of one-way road between Bryceburg and Indian Flat. With increased travel noted each week-end congestion is to be expected at the control stations, hence Southern Californians are advised to take the Wawona route.

The heaviest flow of water in twenty-four years is reported to be cascading over the many falls, according to an Automqbile Club scout party which has just returned from Yosemite. The mountains are literally sponges from the heavy rains and are oozing water in many places. Wildflowers are out on the floor of the valley making a spectacular display.

The road to Glacier Point is now open. Heavy snows still block the Tioga pass route over the High Sierra and it is not expected to be open until late June or early July.

Kills Invader of Home; Gets 27-Day Term

PITTSBURGH, June 9—Eugene A. Cole, 45-year-old WPA worker, accused of killing Constable Andrew J. Conroy on January 21, when the white officer, ignoring a scarlet fever quarantine notice, attempted to evict Cole for a $15 rent debt, won a victory this week at the termination of his three-day jury trial.

Declaring the Court's conviction that the killing of the white constable "was done in the heat of passion with sufficient provocation", Judge J. Frank Graff sentenced Cole to serve 27 days of a five month sentence. Cole's sentence was made retroactive to the time of the WPA worker's arrest for the shooting on Jan. 21.

Cole's admission that he had shot the constable, which was a sudden switch in the defense strategy, dispensed with the necessity of further jury consideration.

The defense by Attorney Homer S. Brown, Pennsylvania Negro legislator, who aimed at complete acquital, but considered the sentence a "real victory" in as much as the state had been forced to drop its original charge of first or second degree murder. The court had set the degree of homicide at voluntary manslaughter.

Cole, a World War veteran, shot Constable Conroy when the white man refused to leave his apartment at 3914 Penn Avenue despite a Health Department quarantine and the promise of paying the small rent-debt in a few days "When my WPA check comes in." The police officer allegedly pulled his gun after a short argument and Cole, snatching up a shot gun, killed him. Cole's three small children were seriously ill with scarlet fever at the time.

Ireland raised wheat on 13 per cent fewer acres of land last year than in 1936 and there also was a large decrease in livestock production.

'TB' Patients Urge Trial of Newest Cure

Tuberculosis patients are protesting the present method of treating the disease used in the state's sanitariums and are urging trial of a new treatment, proposed by a Dr. Robert T. Williams, white, of Wilshire Blvd., it was revealed this week.

A victim of the "white plague", whose name is being with-held, wrote to the California Eagle this week from the Belvedere Sanitarium where he is confined, inclosing the pamphlet, explaining Dr. Williams' treatment and urged that the editor of the paper contact the proper authorities to see what can be done.

Treatment for tuberculosis today is confined to rest cures and rib recession operations. Dr. Williams claims that the customary period of one to five years in bed is not necessary. He is believed to have perfected a substance to be injected into the patient.

The pamphlet explained that the present Board of Supervisors did appoint a committee of three doctors and one non-medical man, who had assertedly been cured by the Dr. Williams' method, to set the case before the Board.

However, objection arose on the grounds that Dr. Williams is not a county patient and not qualified to practice in a county institution. Proponents of the cure claim that the Board of Supervisors wanted Dr. Williams to turn the formula over to the county chemist to be administered by a county doctor.

Conservatory Pianists in Recital at Gray's

One of the requirements at the Gray Conservatory of Music for piano students who have reached the fifth grade, is the rendition from memory of a program of varied classics.

The first of these programs for this year was given by Edith Owens in April. The second will be given by John Brown, Jr. on June 12th and the third by Phyllis Kelson on June 19th.

June Stevenson, Mary Louise Moore, Roberta Scott and Doris Howard are scheduled to appear in the autumn.

Admission to these programs are by card of invitation which may be obtained free at the office of the Conservatory.

Holes of any desired form can be cut in sheet metal without distortion or stretching the metal with a new tool that is used with a hammer.

Dixie Debate Team on Way to Australia

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—LeMoyne College debating team composed of James S. Byas and Charles W. Gilton to Australia and New Zealand started June 1 on their many thousand mile trip. Following several years of inter-racial debating in the United States, LeMoyne College is sending a debating team to meet the representatives of the Colleges and Universities across the Pacific Ocean in order "to attract attention to the development of the young Negro college student as well as to encourage not only the inter-racial but also international goodwill and understanding."

Debates have been arranged with Universities located in Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and Hobart, Tasmania, as well as with a number of colleges located in the provincial towns of Australia.

In New Zealand, the New Zealand University Student Association, has arranged for the LeMoyne debaters to participate in five University debates, to deliver six radio addresses, and four public lectures. Also in a number of towns LeMoyne representatives are scheduled to address the combined assemblies of high school students.

The LeMoyne representatives have been granted sponsorship of the National Student Federation of America thus giving the team the character of National representation.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?
A man working in the capacity of butler to an Ambassador in Europe was notified very suddenly that he had won one hundred and fifty thousand dollars on a sweepstake ticket and I am wondering what that butler said to the Ambassador when he rang the bell for him to hurry up and make it snappy and button his shirt, black his shoes and fetch his silk topper, maybe he said, "Sir it's your turn now to button up my shirt, the shoe is on the other foot. What would you do?

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Hany happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of June: W. Carter and J. Carter, popular members of the Tuxedo Boys Social Club, Frank Hammond, Recording secretary Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, and A. E. Barmore. Congratulations.

J. CARTER PASSES AT SAWTELLE SOLDIER'S HOME
Ill Long Time

Death called a halt to the lengthy illness of J. Carter early last week in the Sawtelle Soldier's Hospital. Carter passed quietly away after a sleepless night in which he made a vain and feeble effort to once again baffle government physicians as he did on several other occasions, once in the mammoth San Diego Navel Hospital where he underwent a successful operation with one chance in a hundred of coming out alive. Carter pulled through that serious ordeal and luck was with him for several years afterward in which he continued to railroad. He finally went into a decline in later years until he was forced to retire from the Pullman Company on the physical disability clause. Carter was a world war veteran and he immediately gained entrance to the Sawtelle Hospital where he could obtain expert medical care. He soon made friends with the doctors and officers but failed to recover in his health. He was in the last stage of heart trouble and placed in the "Last Go Round Ward". But he kept a cheerful out-look and fought hard to beat the rap. A doctor at the hospital took a great liking to Carter and had him placed under his direct supervision. It was not long after this happened that the big fellow began to show signs of improvement and the writer who was a great friend of Carter's was shocked and surprised to see him drive up to his door looking the very picture of health, but after all a man's heart is a delicate thing and it soon runs down like a watch unless you keep it wound up. This Carter failed to do after regaining his health and the night before he passed the doctor who loved him and was his friend, slept all night with him so that he could have every kind of aid at once. The next morning the big fellow, feeble and weak, looked at the Doc and said. "Doc I don't think I could have pulled through if it hadn't been for you." He was sinking right then and the Doctor, his friend knew it. Thus Carter passed. He was a swell guy.

PULLMAN COMPANY DEADHEADS SHRINER SPECIAL PORTERS HOME
Few Porters Held Over In L. A.

Due to the strict wording and ruling of the recent contract between the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and the Pullman Company, only those porters who were signed out for the entire round trip at their home terminal were held in Los Angeles until the convention. This move was made by the company because they would have to pay all porters held for service that remained her until the Shriners returned. However a number of temples are making a tour of Canada after they leave here and are also sleeping in their cars where their baggage is in care of the porters. These porters will be allowed to remain here to continue on their tour with the nobles. From Detroit, Joe Louis' home, a colored boy was carrying the base drum in that good looking Moslem Temple.

WM. ASBURY DESERTS SEATTLE RUN FOR CHICAGO

Wm. Asbury better known as the wise old owl has deserted his pet Seattle run where he could even have his feet washed in the Jap Hotels, for the Chicago run where he has relatives whom he claims he will stop with. Well we have our doubts whether he will ever see the relatives or not while operating to the windy city, but then after all, it's none of our business because he always wires his tips home anyway and he is tops with the War Department as long as he does that.

JOHNNY MOORE ENDEAVORS TO BLACKJACK A CRAWFISH

The following notables of Railroad circles started out on a Crawfish hunting trip one cool day last week and the following results were obtained. The notables were : Mr. and Mrs. W. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Ambrose. Well the Crawfish were darting to and fro between the rocks and Johnny Moore was standing on a twig crying that he could not catch any, however he soon got tired of that kind of stuff and pulled out a Blackjack and began slugging. The folks came home with a sack full.

STRUTTING HIS STUFF IN SAN FRANCISCO

A certain Pullman Porter operating out of Los Angeles District on one of our crack trains has found a new way to beat the War Department, and this is how he does it: He walks out of the house with his uniform pants and old civilian coat, having placed his brand new suit in the cleaners the day before with orders to the cleaner to have it all spick and span the next day, leaves home after kissing mama goodbye and breezes by the tailors and picks up said suit, goes to Frisco and struts his stuff in his brand new front like nobody's business, returns to Los Angeles the next day, leaves the new suit at the cleaners, tells him to press it up and he will phone for it later on that afternoon. Next week if this man don't see the writer he will publish his name. I just know the folks would like to know who this clever Pullman Porter is.

JAMES WHITE AND WM. ASBURY GO FISHING

We have just found out that Jimmy White is very excitable when he catches a fish. Last week Mr. White and Mr. Asbury while lolling around, waiting for the Hollywood Race track to open up, decided to go fishing and while on the barge, Jimmy snagged a Yellow Tale. He gave a yell and scared everybody in the boat but dragged the fish in, and while Susie his wife was frying some pork chops that night, the only excuse Jimmy had to offer was that he and his friend, Asbury, were out fishing for yellow-tail. Oh, well, I do a little fishing myself some times.

G. W. HENDERSON BUYS NEW CAR

G. W. Henderson, the man who knows more about the Mexican border line than any porter in the District, not disregarding H. O. Phillips, has turned up with one of the latest models Chevrolets equipped with radio and television, trap drums and a small cabaret. Mr. Henderson is off this trip with a bad corn . . James, drive the car around to the front door, please.

F. L. GLASSCOW LOOSES WIFE

F. L. Glasscow had the sad misfortune of losing his wife last week, All though Mr. and Mrs. Glasscow were separated, her passing has made her husband grief-stricken. The Railroad Clatter extends its sympathy. The funeral was held at Roberts Undertaking Parlors Wednesday at 1 p. m.

SAGACIOUS SAYINGS . . .

"Therefore, it is high time for other West Indians to continue the good work started by Uriah Butler and resist the oppressive paw of the British lion. For the lion has proved that he is bloodthirsty indeed as colored Englishmen are concerned." — (selected editorial the Amsterdam News)

"Fact is, the economic set up in New England's number one city is so fixed that only two classes do nothing for their daily bread: the rich who clip coupons from bonds and the indigent blacks who get the crumbs from the coupon clippers." — (Earl Brown, reporting on Boston)

"He feels as do most progressive Negroes here, that it would be the height of folly to create segregated institutions where no segregation exists." — (Comment on Julian Steele, husband of Polly Dawes.)

"The fact of the matter is that the depression has left people in such a state that anyone with a panacea is being listened to and hailed as a leader. That is the true explanation of the success of Father Divine."—(selected editorial from the New York Age.

"The Salvation Army needs to be saved." — (Adam Powell.)

"Well, there wuzn't nuthin' wrong wid de club meetin'—it wuz only when Bootsie started dat new stuff—what de he call it—Fillibuster?" — (selected cartoon.)

Boy Scout News

By LOVELL ESTELL, JR.

On May 27th Troop 702 left the city to spend Decoration Day at Camp Arthur Letts. The boys took part in the swimming contests, hiking, and the camp fire program. Scoutmaster Charles Hunter said about 30 boys enjoyed the outing.

Trop 180 went to the Court of Honor held at Mt. Vernon Junior High School Friday night, June 4. Harold Odum, William Johnson, and Morris Peterson received merit badges. Morris, already an Eagle scout, received a silver palm, an honor past the Eagle rank. A few of the scouts could not attend because of the Big Brothers banquet held at Foshay Junior high school.

The girls of Scout Troop 148 were led by Marvel Hutchinson in their last meeting. Mrs. Taylor had to be absent on business, and Marvel did very well.

Several of the scouts were present at one of the lovliest dancing parties ever given. It was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Taylor. Three May birthdays were honored, Leontine Taylor, whose birthday was May 3rd, William Taylor, whose birthday was May 14th, and my birthday, May 26th. They were the hostess and hosts. Colleen Pillow and Morris Peterson took first prize in dancing, Roy Hill and Connie Monroe, were a tie for second place along with Francis Robinson, and Rachel Isum.

Sam Armstrong, please get your news to me every Sunday. Also girls of 148 and 617. I will be down to see you soon. So long, Scouters, until next week.

IN THE AIR

With the J. Herman Banning Flying Club

By S. E. BOONE

Last Thursday evening an informal meeting was held at the home of Lieut. Wm. Atkens. Among those present were Margaret Mollison, Percy Bruce, James Parker, R. G. Mouton, Steve Boone and Lieut. Aikens. New members present were Louise Gillis, Mr. and Mrs. Woodard. It was decided in the discussions that the students may receive instructions on Thursdays as well as on Sundays; that all future meetings will be held in the home of Lieut. Aikens, 1150 E. 51st street, and that a portion of each meeting will be spent in the study of the "Air Commerce Rules and Regulations" and "Meterology and Navigation".

Students that received instructions last Thursday were: Margaret Mollison, ½ hour; Louise Gillis, ½ hour, and Edna Cummings, ½ hour. These ladies are new in the club and have made an excellent "take off".

Students who received instructions Sunday are: Margaret Mollison, 40 minutes, making a total of 4 hours, 40 minutes; Percy Bruce, advanced student, 1 hour solo time; Bob Mouton, ½ hour instruction, total time, 6½ hours, and Steve Boone, ½ hour instruction. Total time 6 hours, 40 min.

POST NEWS--

By TED THOMAS

Benjamin J. Bowie Post, No. 228 of the American Legion held their regular meeting Monday night, June 6th. It was stated that Los Angeles have a very important part to play in the coming convention being host to one of the greatest gathering of legionnaires ever in the history of California.

Members of our group are expected to arrive in large numbers from all parts of the country. The Post is making all efforts to have accomodations ready to house the guests.

More than half of the 60,000 Legionnaires in the State of California will join early this month in a state-wide mobilization test, a demonstration called annually by the State Department of the American Legion to test the organization of Legion members for public service in major disasters and other emergencies.

SWIM CLASSES TO BE HELD AT YMCA

From June 20, to 25 at the 28th Street Branch YMCA a swim campaign will be held as celebration of "learn to swim week". Buttons and diplomas will be given to those who participate in this campaign

A North Carolina dealer has constructed a truck that delivers coal on conveyor belts to prevent noise, spraying it with oil vapor to eliminate dust.

J. T. T.—About two weeks ago my son got his leg broken while working and the insurance man wanted him to sign papers and he didn't and I want to know whether they will come back or not. Will he get money?

Ans.: The company will have to take care of him for the injury he sustained while on duty. He should get in touch with his employer and they will tell him what to do. The insurance company of course will handle the claim but make them explain thoroughly what he signs, before he does place his signature.

R. L. C.—I have started to build up a band. I started six months ago and so far have six pieces. I want to know if I can make a great band and will I be successful in a musical career?

Ans.: Keep plugging and you will make your goal. You have great talent from a musical standpoint and I wish to urge that you try to learn each instrument that accompanies your band.

R. L. G.—I'm a reader of The Eagle and adore it so much. I also see a lot of interesting points which you give and I get a thrill out of reading them. It is really a point to a young girl's life my age. Some time ago a rough girl got between my friend and I but now he doesn't seem to care for her any more. Am I doing right by going to shows and dances with these other fellows that asks me even though I love my old friend.

Ans.: Exactly right. When your friend found out that you were the choice of all the other young fellows in town . . he opened his eyes. Keep him guessing but you might date him occasionally if you like. The boy does admire you and the way to win him is to act indifferent and hold to your many friends.

H. R. F.—I have taken this person in my home as he had no place to go and no work. I have treated him as one of the family for two years. Now he calls me all kinds of names when he is wholly dependent upon me and he fusses all the time. Why should he try to disgrace my home?

Ans.: Ungrateful and very inconsiderate of anyone else's feelings. You certainly have a heart of gold to put up with a man of this type when you realize so well that nothing but heartaches and disappointments could ever result from same. Get you a place without this party.

E. M. S.—Do you think it would be all right for me to make the trip down to Alabama this summer to see my mother and baby.

Ans.: The trip will help you and your mother and boy will welcome you with open arms. It seems to me that there is a young man who would thrill at your sight also . . but do not let him know that you are there for it would only cause you a terrible heartache . . he is married now. A very nice fellow, whom you will care a lot for, will enter your life before fall.

R. E. J.—I live in a foreign port but would like to see my question in print. Will I travel and would it be good for me? Will there be a marriage for me? Will I ever be lucky?

Ans.: Traveling is very broadening . . when you feel financially able to make some trips, then do so. A marriage is indicated for you later on in life . . . you haven't met your future wife. Make a desperate search for employment and you will be able to accomplish something worth while.

G. R. H.—I have two sisters and both are working but the one that gets the most money does less for her parents. Is she using her money as she should and is she living right?

Ans.: Your sister is not doing anything that she should feel ashamed of . . . she contributes a part of her earnings to her family but she feels that she should be looking out for her own future, therefore she puts away a sum each payday. Don't feel that she is doing wrong for she is not.

C. E.—I am 23 and I married and separated and since my first marriage I have had two wives and now I am trying to get the first wife back again and wonder if I will be successful?

Ans.: Gosh, but you work fast. It's going to take a lot of good behavior and convincing on your part to win the heart of your first wife back again for she is thoroughly disgusted with the way you have been living. She does hold a soft spot in her heart for you, though.

LEADS MORTICIANS

WILLIAM J. MORSELL of Chicago, progressive president of the Independent National Funeral Directors association, who announced that the 13th annual convention of that organization will be held in Philadelphia June 26-30.

Appreciation

To the many friends who have been so very kind to me during my recent illness I wish to express my gratitude and appreciation, especially to Conner and Johnson and Company for transportation to and from the Hospital and to the Golden State Insurance Co., for their prompt weekly payment. May God bless each and every one from his store house of plenty.

Very gratefully.

POLITICAL POT-PIE

Candidates are slow about opening up Central Avenue headquarters, and at this time we are unable to say who will be chosen as "shock absorbers" for the different vote hunters. It takes a high-powered individual as well as a diplomat to be able to keep the pressure off of a candidate. One must be able to absorb these shocks intended for his candidate and keep those who "work" in politics in a good humor. He must be able to convince those in quest of campaign employment that his man has so many—that all work must be practically a gift, that he (the "absorber") is donating his valuable time because Mr. Q is a fine man.

Newspaper advertising men are patted on the back and soothingly told that his man is absolutely without funds, is poor and therefore deserving of free space. At the same time almost nightly this penniless individual is putting the cash out in front for radio time. This salve once worked but if advertising space is desired in this sheet, You'll have to lay it on the line, or there's absolutely nothing doing.

Four candidates for nominations for Assemblyman in primary elections August 30, led a field of 11 who filed their candidacies with W. M. Kerr, registrar of voters, yesterday.

Two candidates for Justice of the Peace were Ernest Windle, incumbent, Catalina township, and Stanley Moffatt, San Antonio township.

Superior Judge Ingall W. Bull filed for reelection to Office No. 16, and Fred A. Syracuse, Democrat, for nomination for member of the Board of Equalization from the Fourth District.

Three candidates for County Central Committeemen were Walter A. Ham, 61st District; Claude H. Hallock, 42nd, and Joe Crail, Jr., 58th District, all Republicans.

New Prexy of P-TA Installs 10th Officers

Mrs. James K. Lytle, President of California Congress of Parents and Teachers performed her first official act as State President when she installed the new officers of Tenth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers at the district meeting held in Venice high school auditorium, Thursday morning, June 2.

Mrs. W. R. Goddard, president of Tenth District, presided, assisted by Mrs. L. C. Nimmo, first vice-president, and the presidents of the hostess councils, Venice Mission and Westwood, Mrs. Paul Hubley, Mrs. Dean Schuyler and Mrs. Daniel J. Dailey, respectively.

Mrs. Lytle installed Mrs. Rollin Brown as president, Mrs. J. L. Young, second vice-president, Mrs. Mildred Lamberson, fourth vice-president, Mrs. H. G. McElheney, sixth vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Powers, treasurer and Mrs. Gertrude Forster, historian. These officers will assume their new duties July 1.

In her farewell speech as district president, Mrs. Goddard expressed her great appreciation of the support given her from the entire district during her two year term of office.

Mrs. Goddard will continue her parent-teacher work as the newly elected third vice-president and Director of Extension for California Congress.

Mrs. Lytle gave a brief report of the National Convention held recently in Salt Lake City which she attended.

Speakers for this Convention came from all over the United States. Two of the outstanding contributors were from Los Angeles. Rabbi Edgar Magnin and Dr. Paul Poponoe of the family Relations Institute.

Mrs. Lytle stated that the national president, Mrs. J. K. Pettengill has chosen the theme—"Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness" as her program for the three national conventions under her guidance.

The four points to be stressed by the National Congress through all the state, district, council and local associations are to be

1. A self direction--To know where to go and how to get there.

2. Human relationship -- How to get along with your fellow man.

3. Economic Efficiency -- Every boy and girl should be equipped with training to earn his or her own way in the world, and to have a wholesome respect for work, no matter what kind.

4. Civic Responsibility -- It is the obligation of every citizen to play his part in civic affairs. He should not stand on the side lines and criticize but enter wholeheartedly into community activities.

Mrs. Lytle thanked the district for the support given her during her years of service to the district and state.

Mrs. Lytle said in part, "Without the district loyally back of me I would not like to go on. Because I feel you are back of me, I feel able to take on these new responsibilities."

Mrs. Goddard presented the annual certificates of award to the council presidents, who in turn presented them to their local presidents. To these certificates were attached seals of achievement in the various departments of parent-teacher work.

Mrs. H. T. Dohse, district press book chairman, presented the annual press book to Mrs. Goddard as a visable record of all that has been accomplished throughout the district during this past year of her administration.

A clever skit "Floradora Sextette" was presented by a group of members of venice Council.

MEETING OF METHODIST BISHOPS SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST, REPORT

Charles Stewart Returns to A. M. E. Connection

The proposed meeting of the bishops of the Methodist churches of color, scheduled for this August, will be to consider the union of all Negro Methodist churches, it was learned here this week.

Another significant move was made in the return of Rev. Charles Stewart of Brooklyn to the A. M. E. connection with a church of fifteen hundred members. Rev. Stewart left the conference two years ago to affiliate with the Community churches. He attended the council meeting of Community churches here last summer. Also among those returning in the last month were Revs. Derrick, Jennings and Slade of the Philadelphia conference. All these churches are members of the first episcopal district headed by the Rt. Rev. David Simms, presiding bishop.

Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, pastor of the First AME church at Eighth and Towne avenue attributes the swerve to closer union to the "onward march of Methodism". He was also encouraged by the move to unite all Methodist churches and said, "While this may not be the result, we do feel that an inspiration will be given each church."

Sabbath (Saturday). Sabbath school at 9:35 a. m. and this week the pastor speaks at 11 a. m., on "The Judicial Oath and the Christian".

The Young People of the church will have their day on Sunday, May 12th at Hamilton M. E. Church, East 18th and Naomi Ave., Rev. S. M. Beane, Pastor. Special Services at the morning and evening hours. At 11 A. M. the Young People will present the Junior Choir of the Independent Church, to furnish the music for the ocasion and the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity as the guests of the morning, in special features. It will be a great morning and you should be present to enjoy it. At 7:30 P. M. a special program will be presented. Epworth League will be held at 6 P. M.

The Conference Year will be closed on Sunday, June 19th, with the pastor delivering the closing sermons of the year. At 7:30 P. M. the feature of the closing service will be the installation of the New Board for next year and a complete report of the years activities.

Planning to surpass their splendid program of last year, the girls of People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, last week began preparation for the annual celebration of Girls' Day which will be held Sunday, June 26.

Miss Ruth Qualene Fowler has been named leader of the girls by the minister, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, and promises a presentation that will be more elaborate and inspiring than any of its kind ever held in the history of the church.

Prominent speakers will appear on the morning program, which will featuré a girls' chorus of a hundred voices under the direction of Gladys Dent. In the evening, "The Modern Girl and Her Religion" will be the unique attraction.

Silver Pastorate Fete Continues at Westminster

Sunday morning, June 5, marked the beginning of Westminster Presbyterian church's celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Hampton B. Hawes. The Rev. A. A. Moore of Bethel AME church was the speaker for Sunday evening with Frank Qualls as master of ceremonies.

On Monday, June 6, Rev. William E. Roberts, D. D., LL. D., pastor of West Adams Presbyterian church was the speaker while Mr. Brister, poet, was master of ceremonies. Dr. McPherson and Mrs. Maude Davidson were soloists for the evening. A commendable interracial audience attended.

Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor of Hamilton M. E. Church presided Tuesday night and presented his choir and Wednesday night was known as neighborhood night. Capacity audiences have been in attendance throughout the celebration. The church has been newly painted, floors carpeted, and a Hammond organ borrowed for the anniversary services. Over $500 has been subscribed for purchase of the instrument.

Noted Singer to Be Presented in Recital June 21

In tune with the melodies wrought through the air as another opera season blossoms and buds, Mr. Septimus Silas, eminent local baritone, prepares to meet a host of admirers when the Booster Club of Second Baptist Church presents him in recital, Tuesday evenin, June 21.

Like Roland Hayes, Septimus Silas hails from the grand southland. It was at Atlantic, Georgia in 1927 Mr. Silas first considered singing seriously, spending from 1927-1930 at Clark University School of Music under the tutorship of Mr. Fred Hall. He bears the distinction of being among the first Negroes to broadcast from Atlanta Radio stations.

Since his sojourn in Los Angeles, Mr. Silas has been under the immediate instruction of Prof. Albert Ruff, one of America's foremost teachers, and his associate Miss Dorice Gordon. Geraldine Farrar, Metropolitan opera singer, is a product of Ruff's muscular voice system. (Adv.)

ZION TEMPLE CHURCH
1315 E. Vernon Avenue
Bishop Sara Butler, Pastor

At eleven o'clock on Sunday morning we are holding a Consecration Prayer Service for the Sick and the Shut-ins. If you have a friend or loved one who needs the prayer of Faith for Healing, come out and help us ask the Divine Blessings of God to fall upon them. He heard the children of old, and he is the same God today, tomorrow, and forever. Many have testified to the blessings and healings they have received through our church.

At three o'clock, Rev. Pearl C. Woods of the Triangular Church Of Truth will speak for us. She is bringing her choir and invites her many friends to attend.

Sunday night at 8 p. m., a pageant will be presented by the Sunday school in commemoration of Children's Day. This program presenting beautiful scenery, beautiful flowers, and beautiful children, should inspire you. Worship with us on Sunday at Zion Temple.

Charles Edwards to Receive Award; to Head Boys' Day

Information was received this week that Charles Edwards, one of the most popular boys of the East 28th Street YMCA, will go to New York some time this summer to formally receive an award from the Motion Picture Academy.

The youth's award was for a motion picture, "Reel Vacation Days", made at the Y's boys' camp at Little Green Valley last summer. It was adjudged by the Academy as the best travelogue submitted by an amateur for the year 1937.

Young Edwards, who was employed by the Lincoln theatre while attending Polytechnic high school, has made a serious study of the technical art of cinematography, and is now understudying at Paramount studios. He has worked and purchased both a silent and talking picture camera, and is assisted by a group of Negro youths specializing in sound recording.

Active among young people at People's Independent Church of Christ where he is a member, he has been selected to lead the boys on the annual celebration of Boys' Day, Sunday, June 10.

More than a thousand boys of all races and denominations, made up of representatives of various boys' organizations throughout the city have promised to attend. The event is expected to be the most stupendous and spectacular in the history of the eastside churches.

An electric vulcanizer has been invented that automatically shuts off the current when its work is done, preventing burning out of equipment.

Give Christian Science Subject

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from Isaiah: "As birds flying, so will the Lord of hosts defend Jerusalem; defending also he will deliver it; and passing over he will preserve it."

Among the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon are these words of Jeremiah: "O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee shall be ashamed, and they that depart from me shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord, the fountain of living waters. Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my praise."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Mortals obtain the harmony of health, only as they forsake discord, acknowledge the supremacy of divine Mind, and abandon their material beliefs . . . By lifting thought above error, or disease, and contending persistently for truth, you destroy error."

Rev. E. E. Lightner, popular Pastor of the Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, Vernon and Hooper Avenues, will leave the City Sunday evening to attend the National Council of Congregational Churches, which convenes June 15th-22nd in Beloit, Wisconsin. He goes as a delegate from the Southern California Congregational Conference, which is a signal honor, not only for Rev. Lightner, but of the church of which he is pastor. The Lincoln Memorial Church is the only church of its denomination in California, which has a Negro pastor. The membership is made up of persons of both races. Every member and friend is invited to hear him in his final mesage this Sunday morning, before he leaves. At that time he speaks on: "What's Right with the Church". He will visit several places in the middle west while he is away including Chicago.

Trinity Youth Plan Young People's Day

According to the Rev. Sylvester Kelly, president of the Trinity Baptist Young People's Union, the young people of the church will be presented in a program on Sunday, June 19. This day, designated by the church as Young People's Day, will be devoted entirely to the youth. Young ministers will present the sermons and talks, junjunior choir will sing, young people will fill every place on program. Prominent leaders among Los Angeles youth will appear.

The LAUNDRYMAN

"NEGRO DOLLAR DAY EMIGRATES TO CHINA"

Hello, folks. You know I never did tell you-all what me and Secret did with the balance of the money we had left from the first "Negro Dollar Day" celebration, excepting of course the $150.00 I give him when he was figuring on buying that bran new Buick.

Well, after Secret had bought Milly a new pants outfit and got her satisfied, he cooled down enough for me to talk business with him. Our success with the first venture had give me big ideas about establishing a Chain of Dollar Days, and it had come to me that Arizona was the next place we ought to tackle. So I told Secret that I was going to leave him in Los Angeles to supervise the one we had already launched, while I ran over to Phoenix and looked the town over. He said O. K., and that he would look after everything.

The next day I went to the bank and switched the $1800 we had left, from a savings to a checking acount, in both our names. Before I left the bank, however, something told me to draw out $800.00 and stash it away, and I done it. Then I went home, showed Secret how to write a check so that he would be able to make a big down-payment to the wet wash laundry man on the next Dollar-day laundry bill, and then caught a train for Pheonix.

I left on the 16th, figuring to look around the town for about a week, and then return in time for the Dollar Day celebration on the 26th. Well I hadn't been there but five days before a telegram come to the hotel for me. It was from Secret, and it said:

"Laundryman stop. come back at once, stop., Dollar Day on way to China, stop, Hurry!, Secret."

Well, of course I got worried right away trying to figure out what had happened, and how Negro Dollar Day was going to move to China when there wasn't none of us over there. So naturally I grabs the first train after wiring Secret. "Don't move, hold everything till I get back."

I unloaded at the S. P. station at six o'clock that evening and taken a Black & White taxi for home. When I arrived I found that Secret and Millie had taken charge of my shack, and she was frying a big steak. He jumped up when he saw me and explained he wasn't expecting to see me until the next day I told him he didn't need to make me no explanation about that, but I wanted to know how come my Dollar Day had gone to China.

Secret scratched his head for a minute, then he says; 'Day before yesterday, Millie taken me to a Carnival at a big hall up on Central avenue. It must have been an All Nation affair because there was some Chinks there too. They was running all kinds of games, and there was a truck-load of money stacked upon the tables, so I taken a chance at the chuck-aluck game figuring to double mine and your money. I won at first, but the Chinks finally taken me to the cleaners. After I got broke, I went to the head Chink and tried to explain to him about the money not belonging to me, and about "Negro Dollar Day", but he just shook his head and said "Velly sorry." Too late now. Hock-way Dollar Day gone to China."

RIVERSIDE

By FRANCES M. WILLIAMS

Park Avenue Missionary Baptist Church, Rev. L. B. Moss pastor is having a two weeks' meeting, with Rev. Payne as leader. A great time is expected. Meetings opned Monday evening, June 6.

As a means of advertising, the Perrin Jewelry Co., defaced the face of the clock with the names of the graduates of '38, girls' names for the short hand boys' names for the long hand. When the clock ran down the short hand stopped on the name of Miss Verna Gordon, who was the happy receiver of a gold watch.

Mr. Eggleston, District Grand Master, made his annual visit to Magnolia Lodge 5470 last Monday.

After spending two weeks with her family, Mrs. Edith Jordán Eckford and baby, Lois, left for their home in L. A., leaving Lois Eckford with parents for a short stay.

Mrs. H. Carter, sons, Chas, Jr. and Harry, daughters, Majorie, Alma, Minnie motored to Pasadena and took Mrs. Gussie Valley to the Baccalaureate services of their son, Randolph Carter at Whittier, who will graduate Saturday from Whittier College. W. O. Mendenhall spoke of "Crossing the Bridge" which was very impressive.

GAB STUFF

In Which We Hail the 1938 High School and College Grad and Recollect a Little

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

JUNE, THE MONTH of graduates and commencement! It was about eleven years ago when we first heard the serious words of a commencement speaker. He was a great man, a man who had made good in his life's work. Off hand, we couldn't call his name. That doesn't necessarily matter, of course.

A few years later, we heard another great man tell us of the steps ahead on this Road called Life. We have forgotten his name, too! But that doesn't matter, either!

We do know that we tried to hang on every word. Both of these commencement speakers gave us the benefit of their experience and in a general sort of way we got an idea as to how best to prepare to traverse, that Road, successfully and happily.

At first, we had visions of our world toppling over at our feet. It was a natural feeling, too. Why, hadn't we spent a number of years learning how to do something well? We soon learned, however, that things don't happen just so and right now.

We learned that as we felt about our world doing a flip-flop, so did countless thousands of others feels the same about their worlds. We learned too, that after preparation comes the gaining of experience, and that the two go together: one depends upon the other for ultimate realization of safe passage along the Road of Life.

And once, one has learned what he likes best and that for which he is best qualified, the matter of constancy or what is frequently called "stick-to-itiveness" enters in the general scheme. Add to that the matter of confidence in one's self and one begins to get a picture of the Road of Life.

As we hinted above, we've forgotten what the two commencement speakers said, but we know it was along this general line. It had to be for commencement speakers have been telling young people the same thing for years. Fundamental truths hold good — yesterday, today and tomorrow!

All youth seems to ask today, as yesterday, is an opportunity to do something, no matter what, thereby earning and coming in possession of something that measures up to the standards of what we call living.

We wish we could call all of 'em together, find out what each wants to do, and see that he does it. But such is an impossibility, and besides, we have all we can do to keep our own two feet moving forward on this Road of Life!

Woman Denies Money Spent On Bigamy Suspect

Admitting that she was deceived by Robert Mallory, held in the city jail on a bigamy charge, Miss Myrtis Young, this week denied that she had spent $2000 on Mallory during the brief months of their marriage, as was stated in the California Eagle, issue of May 26.

Miss Young said Mallory posed as a government employee at the time she married him in December, 1937.

Mallory was arrested last month in New Orleans, La. by Detective C. N. Bradford of Los Angeles' Newton street station, and returned here to face the bigamy charge. He assertedly married Miss Young without divorcing his first wife.

The two women met by chance and comparing notes, learned they had been duped.

WE HAVE WITH US THIS WEEK

"We have with us this week" Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hooper Vernell, retired postal employee of Denver, Colo., stopping in Los Angeles at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lyons, 249 N. Bonnie Brae.

For 56 years a citizen of Denver, Mr. Vernell retired recently, lacking only one year of completing 30 years continuous service.

The couple will spend one year in California for benefit of Mr Vernell's health.

Before entering the government service Vernell saw six years service in the 24th Infantry in Cuba and the Phillipines. He was among the first ten Negroes to be employed in the Denver post office. There are now 28.

During his government work he maintained a record of never being late for work and his yearly average never fell below 95 per cent.

Wreck Puts Bookers in Hospital

TULARE, June 9—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Booker of this city and son, are in the Tulare Hospital suffering from injuries received when their car was involved in an accident on the Visalia Road.

Among Valley town graduates was Goldie L. Calvin, who finished his high school course. The youth will go on to college.

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of Jean King of Tulare to Ed Young of Bakersfield. The couple culminated a romance of long standing, marrying this week quietly in the presence of close friends and relatives.

Mrs. Nell Stamps of Los Angeles visited in Visalia recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Colbert. While here she was the dinner guest of Miss Myrtle Robinson and Miss Lucy Allen. Mr. and Mrs. William House of Oakland were week end guests of Mrs. House's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Young of Visalia. The party motored to Allensworth Sunday where they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Cowes. Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Flippin, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Browning and Mrs. McCann Steward, all of San Francisco, were week end guests of the Cowes. Mrs. Bella Woods was also present.

Mrs. Woods of Allensworth had as recent guests her two granddaughters, Mrs. F. Baquia and little daughter, Sylvia Bell and Mrs Harry Mallet. Rev. H. Maunder of Hanford with Mrs. Ella Isehour, Mrs. Anna Knox and Mrs. Davis, all of Hanford, as guests, visited Mr. and Mrs. N. Young of Visalia recently.

Mrs. Stella Burch entertained with a stork shower, honoring Mrs. Everett Pyle. Present were Mesdames Alberta Cokeman, Richard McNeal, Rebecca Adams, A. Kimble, and Misses Henrietta McNeal, Venovia Colbert, Lillie Burch, the honoree, Mrs. Pyle and the hostess.

Carl Young of Tulare rendered vocal solos at the Commencement exercises of Allensworth. He was in his usual form.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Albans visited over Labor Day at the home of Mrs. Albans' parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hinds of Farmersville over Decoration Day.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By MARIAM MATTHEWS

A new California writer comes to the fore with "Long Haul", a hardboiled, rapid-fire story about truck-drivers making hauls between San Francisco and Los Angeles. His name is A. I. Bezzerides, born in Turkey of a Greek father and an Armenian mother who brought him to Fresno when he was nine months old. Known as "Buzzy" for short, he attended the University of California but left three months before graduation because the engineering company where he worked nights showed him that the engineers had forgotten all he was sweating blood to learn. Suddenly, striving to learn seemed pointless so he quit studying to truck a while (but not to music!) He gave up the trucking business to get married and after trying several other jobs, is now devoting his time to writing. Not yet thirty, his stories have attracted wide attention in leading magazines such as Scribners, Esquire and the New Republic and this first novel bids fair to establish his reputation as a writer. Based upon the author's own personal experiences, the story of Nick Benay and his brother, Paul is told in the "Long Haul" in such vivid prose that the reader actually feels the hope and desperation that fills the lives of these earnest, hard-working drivers. Speeding through the night, listening to the endless whine of rubber on the hard road, making brief stops for coffee at all-night lunch stands and living in constant fear of falling asleep at the wheel, these men, poorly paid, cheated out of part of their small earnings, often not able to meet payments on their trucks, still live on in the hope that some day their luck will turn and they will own two trucks instead of one!

After reading H.G. Wells' short novel called "The Brothers" we are reminded of a striking parallel furnished by the story of the Franco brothers fighting on opposite sides in the Spanish Civil War. Twin brothers, separated since childhood and unaware of each other's existence, find themselves pitted against each other as powerful leaders of the Right and Left wing forces of the world. They meet under unusual circumstances and an unforgettable drama takes place. The essential idea behind this book is what might have happened if fate had not intervened in the form of a couple of bullets. The author attempts to point out that all causes are basically the same and that world peace might be possible through the union of opposing forces on the common ground of reason.

JIM CROW CONVENTIONS

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your very fine cooperation in helping to keep the 1939 meeting of the World Baptist Alliance in Atlanta free of the taint of jim-crowism.

You perhaps know that the Southern Baptist convention, meeting a few weeks ago in Richmond, Va., drew the color line and Negro Baptist pastors of Virginia refused to attend as segregated Baptists.

Sincerely,
H. W. SMITH,

TURBINE GENERATOR, PLANT NO. 2
LONG BEACH STEAM STATION

This turbine generator can generate electricity equal to the driving power of 133,000 horses. In the foreground is the auxiliary generator, then the main generator. Behind it is the turbine itself, whose blades, actuated by steam at high pressure, turn the generator and produce electricity. On each side of the turbine are the huge condensers containing cold sea water which change the steam back to water and return it through feed water heaters and powerful pumps to the boilers to be used over again.

Edison's Long Beach Steam Station is one of the country's newest fuel-using plants.

Claim Housewife Walks Five Miles Per Day

From four and one-half to five miles per day--that's how far the average housewife walks in the preparation of three meals a day in the old-fashioned, poorly arranged kitchen, acording to kitchen planning experts in the electric industry.

A recent survey made by specialists at the municipally-owned Bureau of Power and Light brought out this amazing fact: it showed, too, that not only did the homemaker in this kitchen walk a mile and a half in the preparation of one meal, but that her steps cross and recross in a veritable maze of waste motion.

Modernization of the particular kitchen in which the survey was made, arranging it in production-line pattern, spacing electric range, refrigerator, and sink at the pints of a triangle, and building standardized shelving and work tables between them cut the housewife's mileage to three-quarters of a mile per meal--just about half of what it was.

Electric equipment helped to reduce motions in preparing food to a minimum and fatigue of the housewife was cut tremendously by the improvements.

What was done in this home is possible anywhere. The arrangement of a poorly laid out kitchen, modernized with useful electric equipment, will save weary miles of useless walking, reduce lost motion, give many more hours of leisure, increase the efficiency of kitchen work.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL
Society Editor

Wednesday morning . . . one of those pale delaying hours between dawn and the sun before any cobwebs of the eight-hour shift have cluttered the day. But there's a little catch at the heart-strings brought by two of those formal looking envelopes sent by Uncle Sam's fastest way — one an invitation to kid brother's graduation tomorrow, and the other from a close friend on the Atlantic coast . . . a birthday greeting in Chinese . . . of course it's interpreted! And because there's a catch at two such ordinary occurrences, life has deeper meaning . . . Neither day has come before . . . neither will come again.

So to a lighter vein: Bill Robinson turned the tables on the skeptics last Wednesday night and brought the cream of Hollywood to the Avenue in the biggest show that's ever been pulled . . . And it wasn't told to me. I saw! Beloved Eddie Cantor . . . with a medley . . . and a Harlem find and a check for one-tenth grand, was the man of the evening. Perhaps, rivaled by our sweet-voiced Bob Parrish, Maxine Sullivan, Hattie McDaniels . . . and Jeni LeGon. And Don Ameche, Charles Farrell and Tyrone Power . . . Now, aren't you sorry! . . . Next time we'll all go . . . maybe.

WEEK-END . . . AND SO:

There was Friday evening, which began with gobs of ice cream and cookies in the home of Lillian Jennings Fentress — such a pretty and cozy nest — continued with a debate on attending the L. A. Hi-Y fashion show, and ending with the aroma of spaghetti at one of Zelma Watson-Duke's soirees to which the music world . . . and others are turning avidly. 'Twas to meet Colton Hollister, master of the piano . . . and to hear him interpret favorite numbers . . . with others singing. Like Jo James and Holland of Hall Johnson's choir . . . while Hall Johnson himself listened from an ante-room or hallway . . . his sentient fingers re-living every note . . . and a score of others. Sorry, I had to leave late . . . early!

Lorenzo Jordan Cole, director of Tuskegee's piano department of music, is home for the summer to vacation with family and friends . . . Rumor has it that the lady will probably stay in L. A. . . . to teach in the city school system . . . Hope it's true.

The Anderson Spanns of 1229 West 36th Place, are planning trips and parties . . . for their debutante niece of Pensacola, Florida . . . who is visiting them . . . following her graduation from Washington High of her home town . . . The deb's name: Mary Clark . . . sure, you'll like it here! Mrs. Clemmie M. Holley sends a formal announcement of the marriage of her granddaughter, Jane, to Harry P. Spragins. Mattie Joan Carter is now Mrs. Pierson . . . It happened Sunday at half after five in Eighth and Towne with floral embankments and beautiful women . . . music and men to lend atmosphere. Much happiness ahead is my wish for them! . . .

COURTESY OF A STOOGE:

And I'm quite appreciative of it, too: Margaret Crossley, who made a recent trip to Palm Springs pleasant, spent the week-end in Pasadena . . . dropped over here to attend the L. A. Hi-Y vodvil . . . Sorry, I didn't see you, Margaret. Next time, stop in . . . The Arthur Maloneys and Edward H. Boyers returned Saturday from a week in Yosemite! . . . some folks have all the luck. Mrs. Willa Evans of 'Frisco, was guest of sister, Mrs. Josephine Johnson, last week . . . Mrs. Helen Watkins and mother, Mrs. Katherine Turpin, are home again after a month in Honolulu . . . Atty. Zephyr Moore Ramsey and mater, Mrs. Mollie Moore, are in Pasadena. Atty. Ramsey, who with brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. W. Smith, hosted her mother through the winter, will return to Dee Cee in July where she has a fine practice . . . Rhetta Stone Ragland . . . is home from "schoolmarming" in Phoenix . . . to spend the summer with hubby, Geary.

SO SORRY . . . Last week, somewhere on this page, you were told that Pansy Harper Harang was showered by Mrs. James Lindell . . . It so happens that the fete was instigated and staged by the Dilettantes . . . of which Mrs. Lindell is secretary . . . It was held in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, outgoing president of the very popular group of charming ladies . . . Forgive the confusion 'twixt typewriter and type . . . Pansy, and the Dilettantes . . . We're still friends.

Among distinguished newcomers to the Southland is Mrs. A. C. DeWitt of the Philadelphia DeWitts . . . who is now residing in Pasadena. They stopped in to see what makes this institution tick Monday . . . when I say they . . . I mean the lady and a guest, Mr. Hines . . .

This column would be incomplete lest I thank you for the fine cooperation in getting grads and info together for this edition . . . that especially goes for Edythe Meaux who stuck by in the heat of the day . . . Congratulations to everyone of you . . . on your diplomas and degrees. May they make you a little stronger for the tough old world that's got a lot of soft spots if you just catch it in the right humor . . . I must get on to this coffee.

SCOTT M. E. CHURCH PASTOR TAKES BALTIMORE BRIDE AS 1500 LOOK ON

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Pair in Eastern City

BALTIMORE, Md., June 9.—In one of the loveliest and largest weddings of the season, Miss Marian Carroll Jackson of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Koiffer A. Jackson, became the bride of Rev. Karl Everett Downs of Pasadena, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Downs of Austin, Texas, on Wednesday, June 1, at the Sharp Street Memorial M. E. church, Dolphin and Etting streets. Approximately 1500 persons attended the wedding.

Rev. Robert F. Coates, pastor of Sharp St. Memorial M. E. Church and Rev. E. W. Kelly, pastor of Scott M. E. church, Detroit, Michigan performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. Keiffer A. Jackson gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a dress of white silk bridal tulle over satin, with short puffed sleeves, a heart shaped neckline and full skirt. Her veil swept into a long train. The bride carried a white prayer book and white orchids

Miss Juanita E. Jackson of New York City, the sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a bouffant gown of yellow net, fashioned on princess lines with short puffed sleeves, square neckline and fitted bodice. Talisman roses were carried and topped a chin length veil of yellow net.

The bridesmaids were Misses Grace Woolridge, Lucy Holt, Ethel Logan, Margaret DeMann, and Louise Kerr, all of Baltimore and fellow school teachers of the bride. They wore blue net dresses in similar fashion to that of the maid of honor. Chin length veils of blue net were worn and red roses were carried.

The best man was Rev. Charles Warren of Dallas, Texas. Messrs. David Whitfield, John Haywood, Maceo Howard and Rev. Charles Tarter of Baltimore, and Rev. Charles Carrington of New York City were the ushers.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson, wore beige lace with brown accessories. Mrs. Virginia W. Kiah, sister of the bride, wore peach crepe with white accessories.

Prior to the wedding the bride was given showers by the Baltimore Branch of the National Association of Colored Musicians, the Baltimore Branch NAACP, the City-Wide Young People's Forum, the Interracial Church Youth Council, and the faculty of the School No. 124 where the bride has been teaching for the past two years

The bridal couple left immediately after the reception for an extended honeymoon in Detroit, Chicago, Arizona and New Mexico before going back to Pasadena, Calif. to live, where the groom is the pastor the Scott M. E church. The bride is a graduate of the Coppin Normal School, Baltimore, and is known throughout the East for her vocal ability. The groom is a graduate of Samuel Houston College, Austin, Tex., Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., and Boston University. He is a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Community Sing Groups Host 75 at Breakfast

Seventy-five persons, numbering prominent residents of Pasadena and Los Angeles, attended the June breakfast session of the Pasadena Fellowship Breakfast League, held last Sunday morning in the hall of the Garner Community Center, 470 Blake St.

Attorney Lloyd C. Griffith, Los Angeles NAACP executive, and guest speaker for the morning meet, spoke from the theme: "The Significance of the Anti-Lynch Fight and the Lesson it Teaches." Mrs. Elbert W. Moore, wife of the League chaplain, gave an interesting response to Attorney Griffith's address.

George Garner, director of the League, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced several of the guests present, among them, Mrs. Charles J. Mortimer of Beverly Hills, staunch friend of the Community Sing Association; Mrs. S. Willie Layten, president, the Women's Auxiliary to the National Baptists Incorporated; Mrs. Nellie V. Conner and her guests: Mrs. Schofield and Mrs. Thomas; Mrs. Albertine Pickens-Glenn.

Followning breagfast, members and friends retired to the gardens surrounding the Center for an half hour period of fellowship.

At 4 o'clock in the evening, members of the Breakfast company joined with four hundred odd other music lovers of Pasadena in attending the vesper services sponsored by the Pasadena Community Sing Association in the beautiful chapel of the First Baptist Church, Marengo and Holly streets.

Featured at this year's vesper—an annual affair—was the reading of the Phi Beta Kappa prize essay: "The Black Side of a White Subject", by its brilliant young author, Miss Edythe

Haarlem Oil Capsules
Fine For Weak Acid Kidneys and Bladder Irritation

Stop Getting Up Night

One 35-cent box of these famous capsules will put healthy activity into your kidneys and bladder — flush out harmful waste poisons and acid and prove to you that at last you have a grand diuretic and stimulant that will swiftly cause these troubles to cease.

But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—safe and harmless—the original and genuine—right from Haarlem in Holland. Millions have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it—some symptoms besides visits to bathroom at night are backache, moist ening. They, of course, all were immediately convinced that the error made in giving Mr. Jolson so much bad publicity was the result of a misunderstanding. The story is undoubtedly now entirely without basis of fact!

I am sure that you will, in some way, retract your statement regarding Mr. Jolson "leading" a a "Jim Crow Try". (Ed's note: No retraction has appeared in metropolitan papers, first to carry the story.)

PASADENA YOUTH CONFERENCE

More than two hundred persons . . .youth for the most part, witnessed the launching of a Youth's Conference last Saturday in the main sanctuary of Scott's M. E. Church. The conference was a definite success. Miss Georgia Kelles is in charge of the group.

Opening services were characterized by conference introductions and an open discussion covering education, economics, finance, religion, home and government. A subscription luncheon.

Afternoon sessions and evening sessions were also characterized with a discussion of pertinent problems and conference objectives. The findings of the conference are expected to serve as a basis for program planning in both adult and youth clubs.

Floyd Covington, well known welfare worker was ably assisted by Percy Wiliams and Miss Dorothy Crafton as leaders of the discussions.

According to Mrs. Kelles, whose welfare work in the Pasadena community is well-known, the conference wil be an annual affair.

The Phyllis Wheatley Club of the YWCA held its annual election on Friday night last . . in the YWCA council room, 78 N. BRIDGE POINTS

By M. L. MILLIGAN

Five-Suit Bridge

This game consist of a five-suit deck of sixty-five cards.

The deck is dealt the same as in contract or auction, however, each player receives sixteen cards instead of the usual thirteen, the same as in contract or auction, the sixty-fifth is dealt face up in the center of the table and becomes the kitty, that is claimed by the one winning the contract.

Rank of Suits

No-trumps, royals then the usual sequences spades, hearts, diamonds, and clubs. A bid of one royal supersede any other one bid, except one no-trump.

It requires eight tricks to close a book, instead of the usual six required in Auction, or Contract, and 120 points for game instead of 100.

Scoring

No-trumps 40, Royals 30, Spades, and Hearts 26; Diamonds and Clubs 20.

Slams

There are three type of slams: Small slams equal fourteen tricks, you can lose two tricks and yet fulfill your contract.

For a Grand-Slam you must turn fifteen tricks, and lose one trick. A Super-Slam equals all the tricks in the deck.

Scoring Values of Slams

A little-Slam not Vul, 500; vul, 750. Grand-Slam, not cul, 1,000; vul, 1,500. Super-slam, not vul, 1,500; vul. 2,000.

Penalties and bonuses remain the same, with one exception: five aces in one hand is worth 300 points.

This game will not replace contract I hope since it will require more and more study on us poor bridgers. More about the game next week.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorors Entertain High School Girls

The Alpha Kappa Sorority entertained more than 100 girls comprising the junior and senior groups of the Los Angeles' high schools with an "Evening of Fun" on last Saturday night at the Avalon Christian Church.

The happy high school juniors and seniors, dressed in play togs, were greeted in the lobby by members of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority where Zenobia Allen, Arty Parks, and Audrey Bradshaw assisted in the registration. Presented with attendance cards the group filed past Ursula Adams, Edith Jones, and Ruby Jefferson into the gymnasium of the church where they were welcomes by other sorors.

Games were immediately under way with Miss Vivian Sims' competent athletic director of the Avalon Christian Church, in charge. Teams representing the leading Negro colleges, and the universities of Los Angeles were organized, each with cheer leaders, a Captain and a score keeper.

Loud and excited cheering aroused enthusiasm and cheered participants to victory in the relay races and competitive games. On the gymnasium floor with the girls were various members of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, including Zelma Duke, Patricia Hundley ,Violet Aldridge, Myrtle Hughes and Lucille Robertson. Cheering at the side lines and on the balcony were Edith Jones, Manela Smith, Georgia Williams, Josephine Blodgett, Williana Coleman, Carmelita White, Katie Wilson, Myrtle Robinson, Neosha Tatum and other members of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

After an excited hour of games the group was drawn into a large dining hall by the charm of Helen Dundee's music. There they formed a large circle the members of the Alpha Kappa Sorority and their pledges.

Pledges of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority served refreshments.

The girls enjoying the evening were from Polytechnic, Manual Arts, Jefferson, Susan Dorsey, Belmont, Lincoln, Compton, Jordan, and Los Angeles High schools.

SAN DIEGO NEWS

MI. 5430 By E. B. Wesley 1721 Logan Ave.

Mrs. J. E. Mackelroy president of the Missionary Society of the San Diego District of the A. M. E. Conference was a week-end visitor in the city from San Bernardino, the guest of Mrs. Susie Jenkins, president of the local Mary F. Handy Missionary Society.

Mrs. Mamie Hughes Cook, evangelist of Los Angeles was a Sunday visitor in the city.

Mrs. Chester I. Dixon who is quite well-known in San Diego as a vocalist of much ability spent Sunday in the city enroute from Imperial to Los Angeles where she will join her husband, Mr. Chester Dixon, who will take her to their home in Kingsport, Wash. Mrs. Dixon who was, prior to their marriage three years ago, Miss Clifford Freeman has traveled extensively and can count her friends by the score in the various cities in which she has sojourned.

Mrs. McGregor and young son, Mrs. L. H. Givens and daughters, Ruby and Clarice Hubert came up from Imperial Saturday to be present at the Women's Day services in which Mrs. Givens took an active part.

Memorial Day was a great day in the lives of thirty-two little boys who participated in the big down town parade of San Diego Monday A. M. at ten o'clock. Many people were somewhat impressive about it, but these boys stepping lightly to the strains of the Big Brass Band got a queer thrill as they received the biggest ovation of their lives.

The Women's Civic League of which Mrs. J. E. Craft is president, have on their Welfare Committee, a most efficient chairman in the person of Miss Antonia Rainwater, who working against odds to interest the boy's parents in the importance of having them properly uniformed, finding half of the parents did not respond the league determined to do this for her and did they feel more than paid as the big applause rang out from the crowd. They felt equaly as proud of Wally Noble whose picture is inset for they knew how hard he had worked to train them.

The Color Guards carried Banners with "Better Boy's Clubs sponsored by the Women's Civic League", "Good Citizens Growing with Our City", along with the American flag.

Officers are : Jimmy Merrit, capt.; Samuel Wilson, 1st Lieut.; Leroy Sheffield, top sgt.; and Charles Redrick, sgt., of colors.

Just back of the boys came the float majored by Mrs. M. Chance who marched before it dressed in white, wearing a long blue cap lined with red and sporting a jaunty white satin cap with red, white and blue tassels. Upon the float were League members Messrs. Barland, Brantley and Douglass, wearing long white robes with flowing sleeves bedecked with Gold Stars, and carrying a wreath for the unknown Soldier while ten little boys, Hawkins, Tezner, Davis, Loman, Moore Brothers and Simpson brothers grouped effectively represented soldiers, sailors and captains, with Master Cloud standing in front of them holding the flag: This idea of float decorating came from paper "Social Justice and the Army Bill")

For like you the San Diego Women's Civic League feels it their Civic duty to inspire their youth in becoming a part of everything that is fine in their city.

The Bethel AME club of La Jolla will meet at the residence of Mrs. T. L. Smith, 7568 Draper St., La Jolla, Calif., Friday, June 17, 1938 at 8 p. m. This club is an auxiliary to Bethel AME Church, 1647 Front Street, San Diego, California and the members are composed of the AME Church now residing in La Jolla. The club is fortunate in having for its president Mr. I. H. Bradbury formerly of St. Pauls at St. Louis, Mo., a very able layman of the AME Church Connection. Many summer visitors are coming to La Jolla as usual at this time of year. La Jolla welcomes all the former visitors and hopes the new visitors coming to La Jolla for the first time will find this one of the most beautiful cities on the Pacific Coast.

A party of ladies consisting of Mesdams Ada Cleveland, Bertha Shelton, Mildred Lanning, Emma Thompson, Mattie Bishop, Edith Wilkerson and Florenda Dickens motored to Los Angeles a few days ago where they as representatives of Ruth Chapter No. 5 O. E. S. attended a joint meeting with the Los Angeles O. E. S. chapters. Mrs. Florenda Dickens is Worthy Matron of the Local Chapter.

Sunday was Women's Day and it was observed to the smallest detail. The program began with Sunrise prayer-meeting led by Mrs. Ida Brown. S. S. at 9:30 a. m., with Miss Nadine Redman, supt.

At 11 a. m. the opening service was participated in by Mrs. Eilzabeth Kincaid, invocation; Scripture, Mrs. Lucy Brown, chairman of program; Decologue, Mrs. A. McCline; notices Mrs. Sarah Keene; Paper, Mrs. A. Groff; Solo, Mrs. Clifford Dixon; sermon: "Being a Christian in a World like this", Miss Mamie Hughes Cook, evangelist, Los Angeles Conference; Solo, Mrs. Margaret Harper. Mrs. Ida Jackson was mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. J. Hopes, chairman of usher board. Mrs. Cook brought a strong message on the subject chosen. The choir supplied the music. Benediction after the invitation and offering.

At 3 p m., the following excellent program was rendered with Mrs. I V. Jackson, mistress of ceremonies. Music, Bethel Baptist Choir; Devotionals, Mrs. E. Hampton: Solo, Miss Octavia Payne; Selection, Mrs. Beasley; Monologue, Mrs. J. E. Craft; Music, Bethel Baptist choir; Selection, Miss C. Van Lowe; Selection, Gospel Singers; Solo, Mrs. Janie Simpson; Address, Mrs. Goodwin; Selection, Mrs. M. Chance; Selection, Mrs. L. Norwood; Solo, Mrs. T. Williams; Quintette; offering, announcements; Benediction.

The Evening progam following the ACEL led by Mrs. Wesley was a very commendable one consisting of Processional choir, call to worship, Mrs. Brown; Invocation, Mrs. Susie Jenkins; Sripture, Mrs. E. Kincaid; duet, Mrs. J. Wilson and Mrs. Frances Dunham; solo, Mrs. L. H. Owens; seseltcion, Mrs. Sarah Keene; address, Mrs. L. Freeman; paper, Mrs. L. Cheaves; reading, Mrs. L. Johnson; solo, Mrs. Mabel Williams; solo, Mrs. L. Freeman; address, Mrs. I. Shepherd; offering, reports from captains, remarks by Rev. Owens; benediction. This closed one of the most sucessful women's day programs ever held at Bethel, with the replenshing of the treasury to the amount of more than $100.00, which was only a partial report. Mrs. Edna Morgan was awarded a cash prize of $1.00 for having collected the largest amount of class dues. Mrs. Morgan most graciously returned the amount to the treasury.

Calvary Baptist Church

Sunday school opened at the usual hour, 9:30, Mrs. Louella Roberts, supt. was in charge. The speaker for the day was Rev. E. J. Brannon of Chicago, Ill. Rev. Brannon spoke both morning and evening of two of the main religious topics of the day.

Music was rendered by both the senior and junior choirs under the direction of Mrs. Madge Wilkins.

Communion was administered after the evening services.

BYPU at 4 p. m. Mr. R. W. Lipscomb, president.

The members of the church were pleased to acknowledge the presence of numerous visitors throughout the day

Church of God in Christ

James A. Jackson, pastor

Sunday school opened at 9:30 a m. with Mr. Lee Pierson, supt. in charge. The lesson was discussed at length by the pastor.

YPWW at 6 p. m. under the supervision of Miss Myrtle Pressley and Miss Katra E. Tucker.

Elder Jackson delivered the message at both morning and evening services. At the close of the evening services, Holy Communion was administered.

Mt. Zion Baptist Church
Rev. C. Johnson, Pastor

The Sunday School of the Mt. Zion Baptist church, was called to order by the assistant superintendent at the usual hour. Every teacher was present and taught his class for thirty minutes, as one having authority. The pastor then came forward, and praised the school for their splendid work, during the past month.

The eleven o'clock service began with, a red hot devotion, conducted by the Deacons and gospel singers after which the pastor preached a most excellent sermon, from 2 Tim. 1:1-12, subject, The Foundation of the Christian's Hope.

At 6:30 the BYPU was opened and all officers and teachers at their post of duty. A very interesting lesson was enjoyed by all.

At 8 o'clock, devotionals, and spiritual testimonies were given.

The pastor preached again, from 2 Cor. 5:1-7, subject, Knowledge. We all enjoyed the message after which the Lord's Supper was ministered.

Mr. Warren and Miss Bates, were pleasant visitors at Mt. Zion Sunday morning. Mr. Warren was a former member of the church pastored by Rev. C. Johnson in Arkansas. He spoke words of the highest recommendations, of Rev. C. Johnson, telling us that we had one of the best pastors in the United States. We all agreed with the high esteem, the visitor paid our pastor. As we have already recognized in our pastor, the high and lofty qualities, of a Christian gentleman, and a wonderful preacher. Come to Mt. Zion any time, and you will hear the gospel in its fullness.

Rev. Beane Delivers Address at Douglass Hi School Jaysee

EL CENTRO, June 9,—The Graduation Exercises of Douglass High School and Junior College last Thursday evening, closed an eventful Commencement season for this community. Dr. S. M. Beane, Minister, Hamilton M. E. Church, Los Angeles, delivered the commencement address. His subject "Youth's Plymouth Rock" furnished the incentive for a masterly discussion of the problems facing the present day youth and the possible solution. The capacity audience listened most intently to the sane and logical dissertation presented by the speaker, Regina Payne, graduating from high school presented an oration "The Constitution and the Individual"; John Jingles of the Douglass Junior College presented the oration "Sociological Basis for in the House By the Side of the Road", Thomas Craig; 3 selections by the Girls' Glee Club directed by Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor. The girls very effectively sang "Litt Little Eyes", "Prayer Perfect", "Barcarolle". Rev. Hayes Hayter of the A. M. E. Church gave the Innvocation. Pricipal Payne presented the class and Mr. James Brock of the Board of Education presented the diplomas. Those receiving the high school diploma were: William Mayfield Culberson, James Carl Lamb, Charlesetta Mason, Albert Louise Miller, Regenia Audrey Payne, Mary Louise Valenzuela, Maurice Phillip Wiley. Those receiving the Associate of Arts degree from the Junior College were: Thomas Craig, Charles Homer DeMorst, John Gaston Jingles, Ruth Eunice Payne.

REV. SAMUEL M. BEANE

Following the close of the graduatilon exercises, the Girl Reserves gave a reception in the Washington School building honoring the graduates their parents and visitors. Among the out of town visitors attendind the exercises were: Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton, former teacher: Miss Octavia Payne, former graduate now living in San Diego; Mrs. Pansy Culberson Jeffries, D. H. S., Yuma; Mrs. John Evans, Los Angeles; Mrs. Emma Smith, Los Angeles; Mr. Theodore Dunlap, San Diego, Mrs. W.W. Gay, San Diego.

On Tuesday evening, Washington School, A. E. Prince principal graduated the largest class in its history. Forty girls and boys were given their diplomas by Mrs. J. M. Adair, retiring member of the Board of Trustees. The exercises were held on the school campus, the alcove of the new unit offering an ideal background and stage. Part I of the program consisted of numbers by members of the class. Following the very impressive processional and invocation by the Rev. W. J. Taylor piano solos were played by Margaret Prince, Doris Cleveland, Zelma Wiley; violin solo, George Cleveland; prophecy by Anita Fontes; selections by the school orchestra. The medal by the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion for the best essay was awarded Margaret Prince. Part II The graduates sang the cantata "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow". With Mrs Lucille Culberson directing and Miss Lenore Cooper accompanist, the young people in faultless style presented the production. The P. T. A. awards for excellence in work and scholarship were given to George Cleveland and Arselia Valenzuela.

PROF. W. A. PAYNE

Wednesday afternon the seventh grade of the school entertained the graduates with a prettily directed party.

Last Friday evening a number of persons attended the graduation exercises of the Imperial Union High School. Two of our group were graduates, Marie DeMorst and Clarice Hubert. Miss Hubert was an honor student and earned membership in the California Schoiarship Federation. She was one of the speakers at the commencement exercises discussing logically and fluently "Economic and Social Security".

Miss Ruby Hubert entertained a number of friends last Friday evening honoring her sister Clarice.

Other young people of our group in this section graduating from high schools are: Miss Joyce Dancer and Messrs Upton Gamlin and Walter King, Calexico: William Tate, Calipatria; LaRue Chester, Peter Jackson, Elmer Nix, James Silva, Brawley Union High.

Douglass high school seniors held their class day exercises last Wednesday. This proved a very enjoyable part of the closing season. Mary Valenzuela acted as Mistress of Ceremonies and presented Maurice Wiley who read the class history; Albert Miller, the class poem: Charlesetta Mason who read the class prophecy; and Regenia Payne who read the last will and testament. Reginia Payne sang three excerpts from former class operettas.

The last assembly of the school year was one of the most interesting and full of surprises. The pupils of Douglass high and the seventh and eighth grades of Washington assembled in the high school auditorium last Thursday morning. The program of exercises was conducted by Boyce Aten Post of the American Legion. After the opening patriotic ceremony, Dr. Floyd A. Johnson of the First M.E. church delivered an inspiring address in which was emphasized the conditions of awarding the American Legion certificate of excellence and the medals that go with them. Prof. Glen Kiefer presented to William Culberson and to Vangel Mason, Douglass and Washington representatives the awords for boys; Dr. Johnson presented to Regenia Payne and Jenny Alvarez the awards and medal for the awards to girls in respectively Douglass and Washington. Scholarships, character, deportment, service to the community are the determining points of selection.

Following this very impressive part of the program Athletics Director James Stocks gave to the members of the track team the coveted "D". Roland Maples was given a medal as high point man in scoring.

Principal Prince was then presented and on behalf of the Imperial Valley Tennis Association presented to Coach Stocks the Association's Trophy as tennis champion. This is the first time in the history of the sport here that the championship has come to our group. Applause upon applause greeted this award.

The Women's Civic and Improvement Club entertained the young actors and actresses that made possible their Fantasy in Black and Tan, with a reception last Sunday afternoon. Various amusements had been provided for the young people and a generous supply of appetizing refreshments were served.

Salton Sea Lodge of Elks entertained the public with a dance in their club rooms last Monday evening. The Valley towns sent their quota of visitors to the affair.

Several members of the Long family visited this city last Sunday, going to Evergreen Cemetery where they tenderly decorated the grave of the daughter and sister. This is an annual pilgrimage of the Long family and has in it so much of fine loyalty and tenderness that this family tradition is often referred to as one of emulation.

Last Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Irene Prince presented her piano pupils in recital. The affair took place on the Washington school campus and was well attended by relatives and friends of the young people. Solo numbers were played by: Arthur W. Prince, Rosemary Brissenden, Irene L. Prince, Robert Brissenden, Roland Brissenden, Deborah Bell, Margaret Prince, Rosemary and Richard Brissenden played the duet, Verdi's The Duke's Song from Rigoletto. The excellent program closed with Mrs. Prince and her daughter, Margaret, playing as a piano duet, Zampa Overture by Hearld. Following the recital refreshments were served the guests.

At the close of the AME evening worship, last Sunday, the Rev. Hayes Hayter united in marriage, Mrs. Minnie Farno and Mr. J. T. Hamilton. The couple has resided in this community a number of years and is well known. They will be at home to their friends in their home on East Heil St.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Craig was totally destroyed by fire last Thursday evening. The origin of the fire is unknown. Defective wiring is given as the probable cause.

SANTA MONICA NEWS

By WILLIE LOUISE GILMORE

The National Negro Congress is holding a mammoth mass meeting, Sunday, June 12th at 2 p. m. the First Baptist Church of Venice, Calif. All the principal Negro churches, lodges, civic and political organizations also social, of the Bay District are joining forces to put over this program. Such dignitaries as the Hon. Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, Att'y Loren Miller and the Hon. Clarence R. Johnson have been engaged to address the gathering. Miss Lillian Jones, secretary of the N. N. C. will introduce the main speakers. In addition a splendid musical program has been arranged for this paramount occasion. The public is cordially invited. admission free. Just follow the crowds.

Three official representatives of the Los Angeles Council of the N. N. C. visited Santa Monica last week. While in this city they were the guests of Mr. Alden W. Prudhomme, educational director of the S. M. Bay Cosmopolitan Club and Mrs. Flavia Craddock. During their visit, they negotiated with the local committee in charge of the National Negro Congress program scheduled for Sunday afternoon, June 12th at the First Baptist church of Venice. Mr. A. U. Cook, program chairman is available at his home for further N. N. C. mass meeting information.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Middlebrooks, prominent citizens of Venice were hosts at their home, Tuesday evening, May 31st to the Cosmopolitan Club. At this gathering Messrs Prudhomme, Barksdale and Middlebrooks sketched the activities of the National Negro Congress and its racial benefits throughout America. Miss Thelma Fletcher and Miss Jannie Stout, University of Arizona grads praised the work of this organization especially its program for complete equality for Negro women and the rights of Negro youth to equal economic and educational opportunities. Mrs. Thelma Kennedy, club's executive secretary, Mr. Geo. Savage, Mrs. Chas. Middlebrooks and several other members highly commended the Cosmopolitan club's affiliation with the N. N. C. At the close of the discussion a delightful repast was served, followed by playing several new and novel games. Fun and such fun! With laughter and merry voices filling the "Blue room" of the Elks club, when the "Bee Square" club entertained more than 200 guests at their Spring Formal, Saturday evening, May 28th with the men feeling at ease in their sport clothes and the ladies looking too lovely for words in their spring formals. A wonderful time was had by all who attended.

Aileen Lewis, reporter.

Mrs. Florence Smith was hostess of the "Jolly 13" bridge club at her home in Venice, Tuesday evening, May 24. The president presided over business session in the fore part of meeting, latter part was devoted to bridge and interesting conversation. The girls welcomed and enjoyed the presence of their guests, Mrs. J. Allen Reese. Prizes were carried off by exceeding high scores, Mrs Isadorah Williams, first, Mrs. Lillian Hughley, second, and Mrs. Ardella Layne, third. Take a tip from the hostess if you would like to know something very delicious and simple for a quick lunch for the menu, excelled with creamed beef on toast and other delicacies. Mrs. Mae Holloway, reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker spent the week end sight seeing via San Louis Obispo, Santa Maria and other interesting and scenic points.

The Gumshoers . . .

S. M. was on parade last Thursday nite to witness the most colorful affair of its kind presented by our own sepia thespians in their unique presentation of "Pride of Pasadena" at Miles Playhouse, it was a veritable hit if there ever was one. Practically every one on the beach attended and a few celebrities of the film colony. Orchids to Marion Silvey and Lloyd Courtney for turning in best performances, remainder of the cast was also tops in their roles . . . . Mr. and Mrs. Polk accompanied by Bob Burns are motoring to New York, they were last seen doing Chicago in a great big way . . . Bob Ware and Eula Mae Cox attended Prides of Pasadena together . . . Seen sporting at the Brentwood Country Club . . . . Roy Sampson and Christine Pegues . . . Daisy Quinn and La Vert Payne and John Moore and Sid Dorothy Cavanaugh and Ida Duncan did a bit of slumming last Friday nite at Mrs. Gray's Inn . . .

BAKERSFIELD

SPORTS

The Bakersfield Cubs fairly trounced the Porterville nine last Sunday 10 to 3.

Lefty Brown pitched a very good game. Going into the third inning, and holding the Porterville team to a few scattered hits, Brown struck out seven batters. This victory kept the winning streak of the Cubs intact.

The strong Porterville team had only lost one game out of seven previous to their game.

BRIEFS

M. Bussey, the Great Lover, is leaving his group of admirers here, to journey north to Fresno for the summer. It seems a certain Fresno lass draws him like a magnet . . . several local jaysee students are entering Fresno State College this fall. I wonder what Fresno has that makes it so popular . . . They tell me Johnny Sugar of Wasco can't be absent from a certain party down here in Bakersfield very long. As soon as school is over she is even coming down here to stay for the summer. This seems strange as Wasco is only a twenty minute drive from here. A certain Bill of this city is really slinging ink back and forth to a fair lass in San Antonio, Texas. Maybe he will take that long awaited trip this summer. My very good friend Mr. McFadden didn't like our city when he lived here. Now he is up here from L. A. almost every weekend. It seems that something is attracting him up here besides our lovely hot weather. Alwortha Hall, lovely school teacher at Allensworth, is down for a few weeks visiting here parents and friends. Incidentally she looked very lovely at the dance last week . . . With the plunges all opening up this week, it promises to be a good summer. . . Saw John and Oliver over in the latin quarters last Sunday night. Wonder what they were looking for . . . They tell me that Olive won't go back home to Baltimore this summer; I wonder if Bobby did some good turn and coaxed her to stay. Olive says no. . . Brantly is getting to be a man about town now, he knows all the answers. Wonder what he has to say about San Antonio, Texas? . . . When school turns out tomorrow there will be many a lost soul, wanting to be in Elm Grove again.

RE.: ESTATE OF NANNIE CAMPBELL, ETC., DEC'D

Mr. Macbeth, Myrtle Mae Williams and Lucille Bufford offered a will for probate which was dated November 23, 1935, the day on which Nannie Campbell died which after making a few bequests of furniture, $5000.00 to the Estelle Peabody Memorial Home, a dog to Frances Sides and money for Maxine Sides to go to school, left the residue, or bulk, the estate to Hugh Macoeth.

Frances Sides offered a copy of a will dated November 2, 1935, the original of which could not be produced, which, after making provision of the Estelle Peabody Estate, Maxine's education, and certain bequests of furniture and money to friends and relatives, left the bulk of the property to Frances Sides.

Proponents of the will of November 23, 1935, insisted that the will of November 2, 1935, did not exist. The court found that the will of November 2, 1935, was a valid will and that the will of November 23, 1935, was a part thereof.

The proponents of the will of November 23, 1935, next insisted that the provision of the will of November 23, 1935, in favor of Mr. Macbeth as residuary legatee revoked the provision of the will of November 2, 1935, leaving the bulk of the estate to Frances Sides. On a hearing on this matter the court found against the proponents and found that the provision in favor of Frances took precedence over the provision in favor of Hugh Macbeth.

On the final distribution of the estate, the bulk of the estate was ordered distributed to Frances Sides and her assigns. From this order an appeal was taken by Hugh Macbeth and Lucile Bufford. Before the hearing of the appeal the matter was settled by the payment of a small sum of money to the executors and their attorneys and the distribution of certain notes and other matters of small value to Lucile Bufford and Hugh Macbeth, the bulk of the estate going to the assigns of Frances Sides.

MORE THAN 30 NEGROES AMONG L. A. COLLEGE GRADS; EDYTHE MEAUX WINS HONORS AT USC

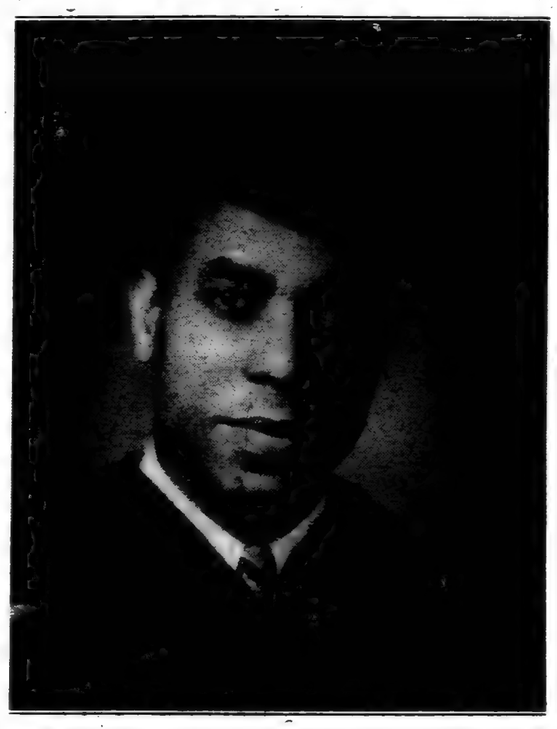
VOL. 59—NO. 9 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 9, 1938

MRS. SARAH LEE GRIFFIN

Commendable Records Revealed in Coast University Showings

Sarah Griffin Gets Scholarship Medal; George Garner Receives Degree in Musi



By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

Whether it be to the tune of the "March of the War Priests" pealing from a rare organ or from a borrowed and battered instrument in a back woods' school, graduation time is a glad and thrilling one. For the recipients of sundry diplomas and degrees; . . .for those who have waited years and planned and hoped for the day when their off spring would don cap and gown.

These early days of June have brought happiness to more than thirty Negro college students in the city of Los Angeles and a score more up and down the Pacific coast. Standing heads and shoulders above those being graduated with bachelor degrees is the versatile Edythe Meaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Meaux of St. Louis, Missouri.

Miss Meaux was the only Negro graduated with honor. Awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree in Journalism from the University of Southern California, she received the Sigma Delta Chi scholarship award for being among the three students having the highest scholastic average in the school of Journalism. Miss Meaux also received the Daily Trojan key for three years service on the daily university paper for which she was exchange editor during her junior and senior years and won a Phi Beta Kappa essay award for her dissertation on "The Black Side of the White Subject". Her essay has the distinction of being the only one from the university of Southern California that placed in the contest. The ranking young woman is former basileus of Sigma Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority . . '35-'37, ad former president of the USC Negro Students Club.

Another very distinctive graduate of USC is Sarah Lee Griffin who completed the dental hygienist course and received the coveted scholarship medal from the Dental Hygienist's Association for maintaining the highest scholas (cont'd on page 2-B)

CRISPUS WRIGHT

Sprinter Finishes Whittier State

Randolph Carter, star sprinter of the Southern California Conference, will be graduated from Whittier State College Saturday. Carter, aside from holding the conference sprinting record finishes with a very commendable scholastic record. He is a member of the pioneer Carter family of Riverside, California.

MISS EDYTHE MEAUX

LL. B. Conferred On Crispus Wright at USC

The degree of Bachelor of Law was conferred upon Crispus Wright last Saturday from the school of Law of the University of Southern California. Wright received the bachelor of arts degree from the same institution in 1935 and was valedictorian of the Manual Arts High school class of '32.

While an undergraduate, he was a member of the debating squad and the winner of numerous oratorical contests. This year he was appointed to the election board of the law school in which he has maintained an outstanding scholastic record. Fraternally, Wright is known as a member of Kappa Alpha Psi which he served two years as strategus. At present he is president of the USC Negro Students Club.

The law graduate recently received the scholarship award for 1938 from the Mothers Club of Kappa Alpha Psi. He is the youngest son of Mrs. Gertrude Wright, 1610 East 52nd Street and a brother of Dr. Warner Wright, prominent physician.

Miss Tycine Randolph is Honored

Tycine Randolph, brilliant daughter of Mrs. Anna Randolph Smith, and a graduate of Chapman college in the June class has the honor of being chosen one of the three "Chapman Ladies" of the entire college.

Included in her extensive and active career are the following attainments: Historian on the student executive committee, '36-'37; membership on the W. A. A. board and in the Alpha Phi Alpha Gamma fraternity, a co-educational journalistic organization; editor of the college paper, "The Panther" for '36-'37; president of the off campus women's council; treasurer of the senior class and a member of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

Warner Bros will star Kay Francis, as an aviatrix, in "Fly Away Baby", based upon the Broadway play of the same name.

FOREWORD

In his commencement day address at the University of Southern California last Saturday, Dr. Rufus Von KleinSmid stated that among the nation as a whole, one out of every hundred is a college graduate. If this is the ration for the entire country, how much higher must it be for the Negro race exclusively? Faced as we are with greater economic barriers, it is doubly inspiring to view the long list of our boys and girls who have "made the grade" this year.

Whether from High School, Junior College, or College these young people are perforce the standard-bearers of the race. To them will fall the hardest tasks and greatest responsibilities. Hence, with a knowledge that their path will be the most narrow and most difficult, we say and mean, "God Speed"! —Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass.

NOTE: Too much credit cannot be given Miss Helen F. Chappell, EAGLE society editor, who made all the arrangements, composed, and conceived this graduation section.

GEORGE GARNER

Grace Fisher Receives M. A.; To Become 'Mrs.' in August

Grace Helen Fisher, Los Angeles modiste and teacher in Jefferson High Evening School, had conferred upon her last Saturday the degree of Master of Arts in Psychology and announced Sunday her engagement to Weldon C. Atkins, Los Angeles postal clerk. August 14 is the wedding date.

Miss Fisher is a former student of the University of Washington where she concentrated in the field of home economics, however, she later entered the University of Calinfornia at Los Angeles and changed her course to psychology. She received the bachelor's degree from that institution in 1934. Miss Fisher is a member of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority and formerly contributed a stylist's column to the Women's department of the California Eagle.

Her fiance is a graduate of Tuskegee Institute and a former student of Ohio State University in Columbus Ohio. The coming nuptial date was announced at the meeting of the Associated Students of U. S. C. and U. C. L. A., Sunday, June 5, in Pasadena.

CARLTON GOODLETT

Goodlett Gets Ph. D. from U. C. at 23

Carlton B. Goodlett, Ph. D in the May 21 class of the University of California at Berkeley, has the distinction of being the only Negro receiving a doctorate degree on the Pacific coast this year and one of the youngest in the country. Goodlett is 23 and an alumnus of Howard University in Washington, D. C.

While in the Berkeley institution, he distinguished himself as director of race relations at International House from '36 to '37; a research assistant in the Institute of Child Welfare, and student instructor in psychology from 1936 until his graduation. Goodlett i a Kappa Alpha Psi frater.

ORGANIST EARNS DEGREE IN MUSIC

Miss Geneva Mae Bass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bass, cousin of the late J. B. Bass, editor of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE and organist for the Vesper Choir of the Second Baptist church, received the degree of Bachelor of Music from the University of Southern California last Saturday. Miss Bass was an honor student in high school and also finished the Los Angeles Junior College with a very commendable record.

TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTHE MEAUX

◆ As the butterfly emerges from this cocoon full grown and ready to face this new world of his, so the graduating classes of '38 have laid aside their undergraduate studies, their unburdened and carefree existence, their academic cap and gown, and with degree in hand are starting out in the world for that real commencement.

◆ Though not fatalistic, would that we could look into a crystal ball of our future to see what lies ahead. Perhaps it is just as well that we cannot for what we see there might be too discouraging. Still it would be fun to know what the future has in store for us. So just for fun let's attempt a prophecy for the class of '38. Remember now, you are no longer looking at the California Eagle of June, 1938 but at the issue of just 20 years hence, the California Eagle of 1958.

◆ A most efficient and capable executive is Miss Nellie Turner, who returned to Los Angeles this week from New York where she has been serving in the capacity of head librarian at Columbia university. Miss Turner wil spend her vacation on the coast and return to New York to continue her very fine work.

◆ News from the Hawaiian land indicates that Mr. Steven Rowland, he of Rowland Incorporated, is about to open his fifteenth chain store here on the coast (credit to be given to Kappas only.) Mr. Rowland and family will make a visit back to the mainland to personally open his new business addition.

◆ Miss Josephine Blodgett, (she maintains her maiden name merely for the radio), be loved by all the happy homemakers has just received an award for being Happy Homemaker No. 1 in these United States. We knew it was in you Jo, even back in the old days.

◆ Attorneys Crispus Wright and Tom Berkeley of the world famous legal firm of Wright, Berkeley, Wright, are departing for Europe to take charge of a case that will rock the world. The services of Attorneys Wright and Berkeley were solicited by Scotland yards at the request of the King of England.

◆ Mr. William Perry who has interested the country in his canaries that whistle "Yankee Doodle" has opened stores here and abroad in which he sells these birds to keep all future psychologists from going insane in attempting to do this.

◆ Mrs. Julia Taylor and Inez Hamilton have opened a finishing school in Oklahoma in which they specialize in Spanish. Attendance at the school has been so large until they have been forced to limit the number of entrants. The school's outstanding success may be attributed to the outstanding faculty which boasts the Misses Feralyn Lewis and Geneva Bass, both of whom wil be remembered as Uclans of the class of '38.

◆ Word from Italy has informed her friends that Mussolini has at last met his match, for Miss Manila Smith has refused to be daunted and has gone ahead with her intention of teaching Latin to Italian children though Mr. Mussolini would have it otherwise.

◆ And surprises of surprises, Dr. John Few Simmons, A. B., M. A., M. D., and Ph. D., is now on faculty at the University of Southern California. He hung around so long until the board of trustees felt obligated to give him a position in order to prevent him from getting any more degrees.

◆ Tycine Randolph is the rage of South America where she has been holding forth with her terpsichorean numbers. Senorita Randolph called La Argentina Butterfly has also proved herself a shrewd business woman for she has established several syndicated newspapers throughout South America.

◆ George Garner ,cosmopolite, is cruising around Europe giving concerts before royalty. He cables that he'd be most glad to have us of the class of '38 drop in on him for a reunion around the latter part of the summer.

◆ Georgia Wiliams, an old resident of Los Angeles, has turned her talents to writing books and has just written the best seller on "How to Return to St. Louis to Learn How to Appreciate California". This book is a personal experience narrative. Miss Wiliams has been living in the city of the angels for about 18 years, now.

◆ Dr. Albert James is astounding the universe with his philosophical solution in dealing with the depression of 1949, He has been invited to the White House to confer with President Roosevelt who has become the dictator of America.

◆ But all in all as one classmate to another, class of '38, we salute you.

MISS TYCIENE RANDOLPH

Miss Inez Hamilton, daughter of Master-Sgt. (retired) and Mrs. Samuel C. Hamilton, who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Spanish from the University of Southern California in the February Class. At present she is a student in the graduate school of U. S. C. and will probably receive her general secondary credentials next February after which she will be awarded the master's degree.

Berkeley Gets Scholarship to California

Thomas Berkeley, track star at UCLA, will be awarded at Saturday afternoon's Commencement exercises, in addition to the degree Bachelor of Arts, a three year scholarship to the University of California at Berkeley, it was learned this week by the California Eagle.

Announcement came as surprise outside of University circles where Berkeley's status as a senior was unknown. He attended the University only two years, enrolling there from Fullerton Junior college in 1936.

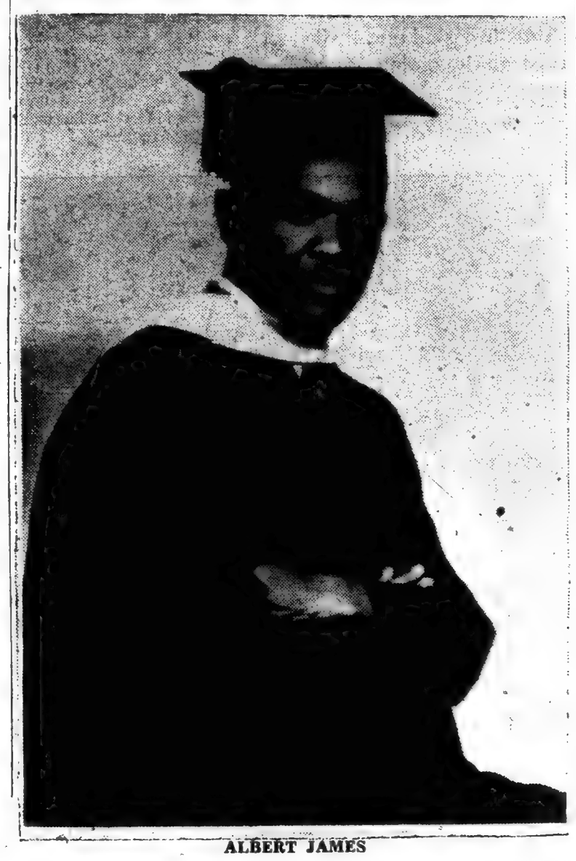
At Fullerton he led his class scholastically and the school in athletics. He was a two letterman, star player on the junior college basketball team and ace high jumper, dash man and hurdler on the track team.

At UCLA his record in sports has been as outstanding. He did not go out for the basketball team. He was the only member of the Bruin track squad sent to New York for participation in the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. meet.

He has majored in Ecorlomics at the University and will do his graduate work in law at the Northern branch of the school.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Berkeley of Fullerton, Calif. and brother of Mrs. Ruby Berkeley Goodwin, writer, formerly on the staff of the California Eagle.

Built for Honduran government officials, an armored automobile includes more than a ton of armor and steel plate in excess of its normal weight.



MISS GRACE FISHER, U. S. C.

Albert James Gets Only USC Philosophy M. A.

Albert James, magna cum laude graduate of Johnson C. Smith university in Charlotte, North Carolina, was recipient of the only degree of Master of Arts in Philosophy conferred at Saturday's commencement exercises of the University of Southern California. Aside from that he was the institution's only Negro graduate student in philosophy.

James numbers among his honors at U. S. C. election to Alpha chapter of the Argonauts; chapter Pi Epsilon Theta of the National Honorary Philosophy fraternity; membership in the "Royal Duds Philosophical Society. The latter is a companion organization to the scholastic fraternity, but given to sports and amusements. He also portrayed the leading role in the traditional philosophical play, "The Road to Samsakand", presented on May 31 in the patio of the School of Philosophy.

ALBERT JAMES

MISS JUANITA BLAKELY

Redlands University

Evelyn Spiller Receives Degree at Wilberforce

Miss Evelyn C. Spiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Spiller, 11128 Wilmington Avenue, So. Los Angeles, will be among the 120 graduates receiving bachelor degrees from Wilberforce University in Ohio today.

Miss Spiller will be a B. S. with a major in social administration. Before going to Wilberforce, she attended Shorter college and Manual Arts High School in Los Angeles. She is Delta Sigma Theta soror.

Other graduates of the famous university who live on the Pacific Coast are Martha Anderson of Seattle, Washington who finishes with an above average scholastic record; and Ramona Ross of Denver, Colorado.

St. Louis Girl Receives M. A. in Education

Miss Georgia M. Williams of St. Louis, Mo., who received the degree of Master of Science in Education at the University of Southern California in the annual Commencement Exercises June 4 completed all requirements for the Masters' Degree in February of this year.

Miss Williams received her early education in the St. Louis school system. She graduated from the Sumner High School and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from the Stowe Teachers' College in St. Louis, Mo.

While at the University of Southern California, she has maintained a high scholastic record and has participated in many activities. For two consecutive years she has served as secretary of the Negro club on the campus and was chairman of a class project. She is a member of the Nous Servons Club of the First A. M. E. Church and holds an office in the local chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

With her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Williams, Miss Williams is returning to St. Louis in the late summer, where she has a position in the St. Louis school system.

Ex-Angeleno is Redlands Grad

Among those receiving degrees from the cosmopolitan Redlands university in Redlands, California Monday, June 6, was Miss Juanita Blakely, pretty and talented daughter of Mrs. Bertha Blakely, and formerly of Los Angeles. Miss Blakely who was awarded the degree of bachelor of arts is an alumnae of Jordan high school in South Los Angeles where she was an honor student and of San Bernardino Junior College.

Scholastic prowess in high school days netted Miss Blakely a life membership in the California Scholarship Federation. In 1933, the Blakely family moved to Colton and she entered San Bernardino Junior College where she affiliated with the college glee club as well as identifying herself with other musical activities. In 1935, she received a scholarship to Redlands University. Unfortunately after completing her junior year, ill health prevented her returning in 1936. However, the fall of 1937 found her again at Redlands and in the midst of campus activity.

Miss Blakely was elected secretary of the Cosmopolitan club, one of the university's outstanding student groups, for the 1938 semester. She pursued a teacher's course majoring in social science and concentrating in the field of education.

Native Daughter to Finish USC in July With Honors

Mrs. Leona McDowell, native daughter of California and one of the first Negro teachers in Los Angeles, will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education from the University of Southern California in July. Mrs. McDowell has consistently maintained close to an "A" average despite full time employment in the city school system and care for her family and home. She has done her mapor work in English and minor in psychology.

Formerly active in club and civic circles, Mrs. McDowell served six years as a state officer and superintendent of education for the Federation of Colored Women's Clubs. She is a graduate from Los Angeles High school where she was an "A" student and a commencement speaker and the daughter of Mrs. Ella B. Sellers, an early pioneer.

KIN OF COLONEL ALLENSWORTH U. C. L. A. ALUMNAE

Graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles last Saturday was Josephine Blodgett, grandaughter of the late Colonel A. Allensworth and daughter of Louis Blodgett, prominent contractor. Miss Blodgett was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science with household science as her major field. She plans to enter the field of dietetics and is already known for a home economics column in a locale weekly.

Also among the graduates of U. S. C., George Garner, widely-known tenor, who has distinguished himself as a soloist and choral director as well as an organizer of music groups. Garner who was awarded the degrees of Bachelor of Music in Education is founder of the Fellowship Breakfast League of Pasadena, director of the Pasadena Community Sing Association and head of the Garner Community Center, Southland spot of choral festivals and entertainments.

Garner numbers among his triumphs solo work with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, a command performance at the Royal Alvert Hall, London; a recital in the Chicago Civic Opera House, solo and presentation of choral ensemble at the Pacific International Exposition in San Diego in 1935, and his initial California appearance in the Pasadena Playhouse.

Other U. C. L. A. graduates include Juanita Lemmonds, Feralyn Lewis, Tom Berkeley, track star, Geneva Mae Bass and Manila Smith on whom was conferred the master's degree.

BISHOP HONORS HER

MRS. ANNA M. P. STRONG of Little Rock, Arkansas, who was honored by Bishop College, Marshall, Texas, with the degree of Doctor of Education, at its fifty-seventh Annual Spring Convocation last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Strong was the ninth person upon whom Bishop College conferred an honorary degree and the only woman thus honored, during the institution's history. She is a member of the staff of the State Department of Education for the State of Arkansas, and has made a remarkable record as an educator and civic leader in that state.

Sigma Prexy Wins Master's Degree in Psychology

William Perry, president of the Phi Beta Sigma chapter of Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, added to his store of laurels the degree of master of arts in psychology Saturday, June 4, when 1600 students were graduated.

Perry completed his undergraduate work at UCLA and formerly attended Samuel Houston college in Texas. Last June he was initiated into Psi Chi, national scholastic fraternity in psychology.

Four Negroes in Los Angeles J. C. June Class

MISS BEATRICE DAY

WILLIAM TIMMS

CARL COTTERELL

Four Negro students will be numbered among graduates of the Los Angeles Junior College on June 23 according to the registrar's list of that institution.

They include William Timms, a science major in the semi-professional course; Velma Marsh, a product of the certificate curricula with a major in sociology; Beatrice Day, science major, also from the certificate curricula; and Carl Cotterell, graduate from the pre-medical course.

The four candidates are members of the George Carver club of which young Timms is president and have been active in student life. Cotterell is a member of the honorary fencing club--La Rapiere--and has been very outstanding in that sport. He intends to finish medicine at the University of Chicago and is the son of Dr. S. D. Cotterell, local physician.

Miss Marsh looks forward to entering the University of Southern California or UCLA this fall in preparation for Y. W.C.A. work. She is a member of the James Weldon Johnson club and the daughter of Mrs. Fannie Marsh in East 57th St. William Timms will enter the College of Embalming at 8th and Figueroa this fall.

Miss Day who has supported herself during her college career, plans to study at Berkeley and is ambitious to be a public health nurse. She was graduated from Jordan High School in 1934 where she became a member of the National Scholarship Society. Miss Day is best known for her energetic work in the Second Baptist church where she is vice-president of the Baptist Young People's Union and the Boosters Club.

ROBERT EDWARDS

Robert Edwards Among Loyola Grads

Robt. Edwards completed the college preparatory course with honors, having been exempted from all finals throughout his four years. He is salutatorian of his class, has served two in the R. O. T. C., four years in dramatics with several original plays to his credit, and four years on the "Loyalist" student publication, and in the camera club. Young Edwards will enter U C L. A. this fall

Stephen Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Rowland, received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Commerce from the Univeristy of Southern California. Before entering the Los Angeles school, Rowland spent one year at the University of Hawaii. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

Belmont Track Stars to Receive Diplomas; Poly Grad Among First 8 Scholars; Girl Edits Annual

Jackie Wilson, Well Known Lightweight Fighter, Finishes Los Angeles High

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

With 63 per cent of its enrollment being Negroes, Jefferson High school, in the heart of the Eastside, ranks first with the list of outstanding graduates, both in point of scholastic ability and leadership. Popular and versatile Francis Garland, president of the student body, finishes with a commendable scholastic record and leaves a pace for his successor as a basketball man with three letters and election to last year's all-city team.

Garland served as president of last semester's 28th Street Hi-Y and this semester was elected president of the combined Hope Street (white) and 28th Street branches. He was president of the first semester's Senior B class and is a member of the Vox Populi--public speaking club--and of the exclusive Jefferson Knights. Garland plans to enter Loyola University to study denistry.

COMMENCEMENT ORATOR

Most oustanding among students selected as commencement orators is William Elkins, president, the graduating class, who won the University of Southern California's alumni declamation contest two weeks ago and will be given the American Legion award for being the most outstanding student in leadership, scholarship and citizenship. Elkins is president of the 28th Street Hi-Y, a member of the Vox Populi and represented Jefferson in the U. S. C. oratorical contest. He plans to enter UCLA this fall as a pre-medical student.

Another commencement orator, Miss Blanche Wiley, was among the five Jefferson students elected to the "Ephebians", highest honor that can come to a Los Angeles high school graduate. Miss Wiley is also the Commissioner of Oral Arts at Jefferson and former Girl's League president. She is, at present, affiliated with the Youthful Accents, ranking social club of the younger set for which Miss Violet Aldridge is advisor.

Lloyd A. Herts, vice-president of the student body, is also an Ephebian.

BELMONT GRADS TRACK STARS

Leading Sepia candidates for diplomas from Belmont high school in the Temple district will leave a gap in that school's track team. They include Ormond Wilson, Jr., probably the most valuable, 180 yard low hurdles and 120 yards high hurdles star, who finished second in the first event in the city preliminary meet in the Coliseum less than two weeks ago. Wilson is also a member of the relay team and holds two letters for varsity basketball. He is secretary of Belmont's Hi-Y and a tenor in Ben Carter's swing choir, "The Plantation Boys". The son of Ormonde Wilson, 1632 Laurel Avenue, the singing track star will enter Los Angeles Junior College this fall to pursue a civil service course for postal work.

The other two cinder path stars are also Wilsons (unrelated to Ormonde) and brothers, Wilbur and Hugh. The former is a member of the relay team and promises to make a record in the 440; the latter runs the 100 and 220 and is also a member of Belmont's relay. He finished second in the 220 in the City Preliminary Meet.

POLY TO LOSE ORGANIST

When Albert McNeil receives his diploma from the John H. Francis Polytechnic High, the school will lose one of its most versatile students. McNeil, an adept musician, plays the organ for all school activities and received a pin as one of the eight ranking graduates in scholarship. In the sports realm, he was a member of the B and C track teams. As a participant in student organizations, he is a member of the World Friendship Club and was candidate for the presidency of the Scholarship Society.

FORMER EUROPEAN STUDENT AMONG DORSEY GRADS

Perhaps, the most romantic story among the sweet girl graduates is that of pretty Murlah Johnson, 17 year old graduate of Dorsey High School, whose kindergarten and grammar school work was done in Switzerland and France and first three years of high school work in the East. Murlah was elected class editor of the school's first annual and is the only Negro graduate to win collegiate recommendation. She will enroll at UCLA in September to study foreign languages. Miss Johnson lives with her parents at 2181¼ W. 28th street.

OLYMPIC BOXER FINISHES L. A.

Jackie Wilson, professional lightweight boxer and formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, is numbered among those who will be graduated from Los Angeles High School this month. Wilson was the only American to advance to the boxing finals in the Olympic meet of 1936 in Berlin. Although, he lost the bantam weight bout to Ulderic Sergo, Italian, in Berlin, he defeated the Italian three weeks later in New York. Since coming to Los Angeles, he has won twelve out of thirteen fights and is heralded as a coming lightweight champion.

Boxing is not the only fame claiming the Wilson lad. He is also adept with a paint brush and crayon and created the posters for a number of L. A. activities. He pursued the academic course because he does not intend to attend college. His manager, Walker A. Melrose, wealthy sportsman encouraged him to finish high school before continuing his boxing career. Wilson says, "Now I'm glad I did and I know my mother is happy that I did, but I'm anxious to win the championship in the lightweight division." The young boxer lives in the home of Mrs. Hattie Hampton on West 28th Street.

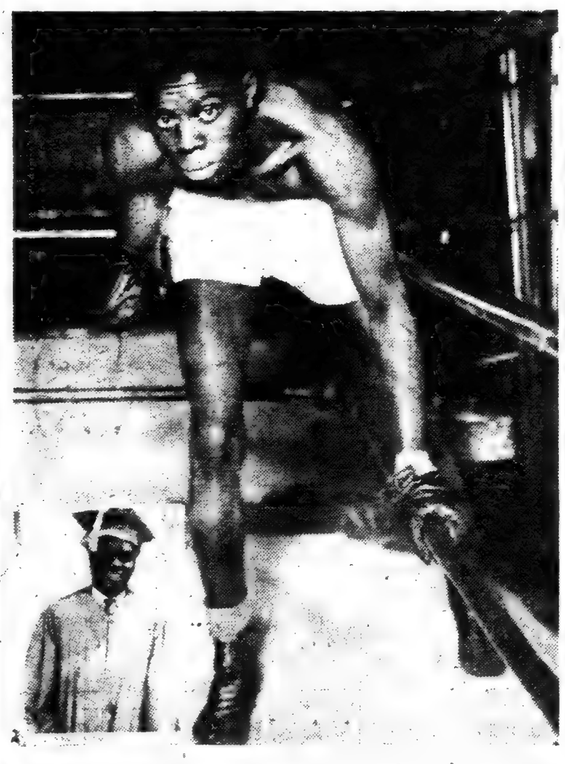
New Era Market Reports Progress

Race owned and operated, the NewEra Market at 4110 S. Central Avenue, this week reported progress through increased patronage by race conscious buyers.



Their motto, "A-1 Quality, Competitive Prices and the most Courteous Service," officers of the organization are Wright Fillmore, president, George Williams, vice-president, Mary Boges, secretary, C. McGuinn, treasurer, Miscs Louise Wilson, accountant Gilbert Lindsey, director of publicity and Cluade Dancy, manager.

Frances Gross, candidate for graduation from Polytechnic High school, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J Gross, 517 East 35th Street. Miss Gross is president of Poly's Tri-Y and has been active in dramatics; she plans to enter UCLA this fall.

Edward Bell, another Poly June grad, who majored in music and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bell, 1003 East 42nd Place. Before coming to Los Angeles, Bell attended Winslow High school in Arizona where he was a track star and held the 220 record for Arizona High schools. He will study music at the University of Southern California.

JACKIE WILSON, rising young lightweight boxer, will be off to greater honors following graduation from Los Angeles High School this month. Inset shows Jackie in his cap and gown. (See story)

'34 Pentathlon Champ is Jordan High Graduate

Clarence Mackey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mackey of Central Avenue Gardens and international junior pentathlon champion for 1934, is a member of the summer graduating class of the David Starr Jordan High school in Los Angeles.

Jordan's ace athlete, is also editor of "Jo-Hi", the school annual. Among honors held by him are included the international pentathlon broad jump and fifty yard dash records, the Pacific League B and C broadjump records, all city class C broadjump; Jordan high classes B and C broadjump and class B 100-yard dash; winner of class B high jump at all city relay carnival; a member of Jordan's record breaking relay team; and a member of the first All Pacific League football team for 1937.

The champion is also a member of the Jordan Knights and the Zephyr Hi-Y. He will enter UCLA this fall

HANK TO K.O. AMBERS, SAYS SCRIBE, AFTER WATCHING LOU-BABY DRAW

Gives Lightweight King Five Rounds With Armstrong

By J. Cullen Fentress

The Lou Ambers we saw fight Baby Arizmendi at the Olympic Tuesday night won't last five sessions with Henry Armstrong!

Ambers, the lightweight champion of the world, was awarded a draw by Referee Lieut. Kennedy after 10 rounds of fast milling. Arizmendi, who lost to Armstrong in the same ring a few months ago, was in superb condition and hurt the lightweight king on several occasions.

Concentrating on the head in the early rounds, the Mexican idol found Ambers wary after being clipped with a right hand. Arizmendi switching to a devastating body attack. It appeared that Ambers does not like them any too well in the kitchen.

At the end of eight rounds, as is Kennedy's custom, he tolled off the round count with four rounds to Ambers, three to Arizmendi and one even. The Baby took the ninth and the tenth found the going even.

The champion was booed lustily by the capacity house of 10,000. The Baby, of course, was cheered just as lustily, in the main by his countrymen in the gallery. The decision was NOT a home town verdict. In fact, the majority seemed to think the Mexican had won.

Ambers, every inch a champion, is fast; has a good left hand and a not-so-slow right; backpeddles when the going gets tough; takes care of himself handily in the clinches. But, he is made toorder for the style of Featherweight and Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong. He's wide open, with his arms down, and the boring, swinging from all angles style of Hustlin' Hank, as Charlie McCarthy says, "will mow him down."

In the prelims, Carl Dell, Lou's stablemate, scored a one-round kayo over Joey Matheson in a scheduled six-rounder; Dave Chacon decisioned Sheik Rangol in four; Sammy LaPorte won the nod over Santos Hugo in a fast go; Swede Hagler slugged out a TKO over Lee Terrill and Elmer Lewis outlasted Lee Wright in the opener.

Next week matchmaker Joe Waterman will show Eddie Simms against Wild Bill Boyd, both are heavyweights.

TO INVADE THE EAST

The East will get its first glimpse of the magnificent physique of Woodrow Strode, UCLA weight man, this month. With his team-mates, Strode leaves Monday night for points East, stopping at Minneapolis and Chicago for the NC2-A and the Big-Ten-Coast Conference meets. (See story.

The above photo shows the big fellow all "rared" back to toss the shot, weighing sixteen pounds, in the vicinity of 50 or 51 feet.

A few vital statistics: Strode stands 6 feet, 3 inches in his stocking feet, is 23 years old, weighs 200 pounds, wears a size 14 shoes, his calf measures 14 inches, thigh 24, waist 30, hips 46 and chest expansion 52. Has three W's in his name, WOODROW WILSON WOOLWINE STRODE.

Height and stream-lined build run in the family. An old California family, the Strodes are all over 5 feet, 9 inches tall. Brother Baylis, who confines his athletic activity to tennis--and mathematical problems, has a physique equalling Woodrow's without the extreme muscular development.

A sixty minute end on the Bruin football squad, running mate of the famous Kenny Washington, Strode is being developed by Harry Trotter, Westwood track mentor, for the decathlon in the 1940 Olympics.

DOWN IN FRONT

Reprinted from "Midwest Daily Record."

THIS IS the story of two young men. They were born in poverty, they grew up victims of vicious prejudice. One spent his youth in Chicago in surroundings which produce bums, petty thieves, murderers.

The other spent his in the South. He was refused an education, he was hounded from town to town. He finally left the South after desperate attempts to break through the heritage the plantation owners had given him—a heritage of starvation and subjection which had followed his people since they were brought here to be slaves.

Both of them reached the top of their profession. One a Jewish boy, became the most admired and most popular of modern day boxers.

The other, a Negro rose spectacularly to the top of the fistic world with a record of knocking out which has never been touched.

Tuesday night these boys met in the ring for the first time. For five rounds they stood toe to toe slugging so fast that it was impossible to follow the blows.

Then the Jewish boy tired. Soon it became evident that the fight was all but over. Only the courage and stamina of the Chicago boxer kept him on his feet. Years of battle against long odds had developed a courage and an idealism in him that refused to leave him even when he was physically battered to the point of collapse.

IN THE LAST rounds the other man seeing the fight won, eased up and sparred and shadow boxed to the finish. He might have placed his man away, but his fight was not against that other man in the ring. His battle was against the world that forced him into the ring.

When the fight was over the vanquished champion, Barney Ross, rushed over and threw his arms around his conquerer in a tribute to his courage and his ability.

One of them had won and the other had lost. But both of them would have rather had a battle in which both could win.

This is also a story of the great peoples these boys represent. Oppressed, persecuted ever since they refused to be the slaves the world rulers had attempted to make them, they have fought their way into the admiration and affection of large sections of the world's population.

Berkeley 3rd in IC4A Low Hurdles Race

NEW YORK, June 9—Tom Berkeley, UCLA's sole representative in the Intercollegiate 4-A track meet run here last Friday and Saturday at the Randall Island Stadium, placed a close third to Michigan State's Woodstra and Berkeley's Anderson, both white, in the 220 yard low hurdle finals run Saturday.

Berkeley beat Earl Vickery of Southern California over the hurdles and to the tape. Winners were timed in 23.9.

Scheduled to run the quartermile, in which he would have gone up against the invincible John Woodruff of Pittsburgh U., Berkeley withdrew because of the damp weather. Comparatively inexperienced in running that distance, he felt that it would be wiser to devote his energies to the low hurdle event in which he has greater familiarity.

The University of Southern California's lily white team was the winner of the IC4-A by 47½ points over Michigan State's 24.

John Woodruff was the only one of the defending champions that withstood the Trojan onslaught. Long, lanky Johnny won the 440 and the 880 in 47 flat and 1:52.5, respectively. Jimmy Herbert, New York U. runner, placed a close third to John in the quartermile, preceded by U. S. C.'s Erwin Miller.

Adrian Talley of S. C. had things all his way in the 100 yard dash as Ben Johnson, acknowledged Eastern champion, got up from a sick bed to perform. Ben, a Columbia U. student, ran fourth.

NEGROES FEW

Compared to other big meets held this year, there were few Negroes in the IC4-A. It was believed that most of them were kept away by incompleted final examinations or were saving up for the NC2-A and Coast Conference-Big Ten affairs the coming weeks.

Coast Stars Entrain for Eastern Meets

West Coast track and field athletes will entrain Monday night for the East to participate in the final collegiate track and field meets of the season, the N. A. 2-A Meet in Minneapolis June 17 and 18, and the Pacific Coast-Big Ten meet in Evanston, Illinois June 24 and 25.

UCLA's Woodrow Strode and Bill Lacefield and a white youth, Paul Van Alstine, will meet Tom Berkeley, Bruin quartermiler and hurdler, at Minneapolis upon their arrival there Thursday.

Tom was Westwood's lone representative in the IC4-A meet at New York last week end and remained East for the last two contests. USC has its IC4-A champions already on the Atlantic Coast and ready for the next two week ends' strenuous business.

Leonard Spencer, distance man on the California at Berkeley team, will make the trip East, it is believed. Although Spencer did not place first or second in the mile run at the Coast Conference meet two weeks ago, his third place was close enough, and his work on the relay team good enough, to earn him fare to the final performances.

Mack Robinson is Oregon State's most important contribution. Mack's digits in the sprints, low hurdles and broad jump will doubtless go a long way toward aiding the West Coast take the dual meet.

Sepia Prepsters Star in City Meet Preliminaries

Led by the Lankford twins of Jefferson High School, colored athletes just about swept the preliminary trials to the City Track and Field Championships, held at the Coliseum last Friday afternoon. Representing almost every school in the City League, the youths placed in every event except the pole vault. Finals of the meet will be held Saturday.

Saul Lankford, the speedier of the two brothers, won his heats in the 100 and 220 yard dash. He stepped the first off in 10 flat and was followed by Hugh Wilson of Belmont and Grady of Fairfax, white. The second event he took in 21.6 in front of Pickert of Fairfax and Cerro of Manual Arts, both white. In addition he ran the anchor lap on the mile relay team that nosed out Fairfax and Los Angeles in 3m.1s. Manual Arts, Venice, Belmont and Hollywood make up the other high schools that will race with Jefferson for the gold medal in that event Saturday.

Jefferson placed fourteen men and its relay team in the finals. Los Angeles High placed the second largest number, thirteen plus a relay team.

Big Tom Direaux was the only prepster who extended himself on the trial day. Or maybe he didn't extend himself. Maybe throws over 55 feet are getting to be a habit with the star Jefferson shot putter. Anyway he put the twelve pound ball 56ft., 6¾in. for a new city record. Other qualifers, totaling ten, including Henry Duvall of L. A. and Chatman of Jefferson.

Sam Lankford was beaten to the tape in his heat of the century by a last second spurt of Fairfax's Pickerts. He ran the time in 9.9s, fastest of the heats. Little Roland Denton of Jefferson placed third in the third heat to qualify for the finals. In the 220 yard dash he won his event from Mackey of Manual Arts and Borkin, white, of Roosevelt. The two Lankford's and Denton will be supplemented by sepia in the furlong in Wilson of Belmont and Clifton Russell of Los Angeles.

DUEL IN HURDLES

Jefferson's Pollard will have his work cut out for him in the 120 yard high hurdles and the 180 lows in which he will oppose L. A. High's colored performer Neil Collins. Both youths took their heats in 15.2 in the highs and Pollard took the lows in 20.2 and Collins, 20.1.

In the low hurdle event young Donald Bowdoin of L. A., Ormond Wilson of Belmont, and McDonald of Riis will be among those following Pollard and Collins over the barriers.

Jefferson's Vernon Small had to be content with a second in the quartermile as he was left way behind by Cliff Bourland, white of Venice.

Belmont's Harry O'Neal is among the ten men qualified for the broadjump, which was won by Jordan High School's Starks at 22 ft. 5⅝ inches. McCoy of Jefferson and Grant of Poly also placed.

L. A.'s Russell and Jeff's Pollard qualified among ten men for the high jump.

In the Class B events Jordan still looms the winner. Mackey and Fitzhugh won their heats in the 100. Reed and Duke qualified for the furlong. Daniels won the 120 yard low hurdles and the Jordan relay team took the measure of Fairfax, Manual Arts and Franklin in that event.

PUSHED RIVAL TO NEW WORLD MARK

The crossbar was set a fraction of an inch lower than the world's prep mark when Vernon Higbee of Vallejo High School, Vallejo, Calif., made the jump shown above. He leaped 6ft. 6½in. on a fourth attempt, which nullified his effort for a new mark.

Higbee, reputedly a former Manual Arts High School student, was second in the state meet at Hollister last week in which he pushed Gil La Cava, Beverly Hills High School student to a new world mark.

STRINGIN' MY RACQUET

By ALMENA DAVIS

And is our face red! Desiring an interview with James Stocks, number one Pacific Coast tennis player and winner, with Tommy Walker of Chicago of the National Doubles championship at Tuskegee last year, we dispatched a questionnaire to Mr. Stocks at Douglas High School in El Centro where he teaches the seventh grade and the physical education classes.

Exactly a month later we received a reply, a nicely detailed piece of information, prefaced by the bombshell that exploded any complacency we might have gathered in the last few months of sports writing.

"I read an article sometime ago in the Eagle," he wrote, "where you said you would like to see some Negro boy make a Coast University team. Don't you realize I played three years on the University of Southern California team and was intercollegiate champion in doubles My partner was Jack De Lara, who was captain".

A slightly apoplectic flush mounts to the roots of my hair, diffusing my natural tan with a rosy hue.

Overcome by said faux pas. I turn the column over to Mr. Stock's answers to the questionnaire.

"1. My game is still sound, but I need practice. It was good enough to win the Imperial, Yuma Valley and Mexicali County championship in both singles and doubles. This is my second straight year in the singles. My doubles partner was White of Calexico.

"2. I don't have any weaknesses when I am on my game. All I need is practice because I have plenty of experience.

"3. I will go to the Nationals this year if I am not too tired after going to summer school at U. S. C.

"4. My chances, I would say, are good of winning the championship. The only thing that beat me last year was the heat. I couldn't sleep therefore I was not physically fit.

"5. Yes, I will play doubles and my partner will be Tommy Walker of Chicago. We won last year. One can only play in two events so that leaves me out of the mixed doubles.

"6. My physical condition is good. I am not as heavy as I was last year but the weight doesn't have any effect on my wind.

"7. I practice with John Allen, a Negro janitor, and he is good. I also play with members of the El Centro Tennis club and Calexico club.

"8. I belong to the El Centro Tennis club and the Calexico Tennis club.

"9. I just finished the Valley Championship tournament in which I won with the loss of only five games previous to the finals which was defaulted to me.

"10. In the club matches I have beaten the best players of La Jolla and the Clay court champion of San Diego. Devine is the best player of La Jolla and Blakeley of San Diego. Blakeley beats Brownstein now. Brownstein, you remember, lost to Lubin in a five set match for the public courts championship.

"11. I have been playing

REHEARSALS FOR "RUN, LITTLE CHILLUN"

Hall Johnson's musical drama got underway this week in three halls of the new Federal Theaters Projects home on Western avenue. Production date is tentatively set for a Mayan Theatre showing July 21.

Featuring a cast of 100 players, singers and dancers, and produced under joint auspices of the Federal Theatre and Federal Music projects, "Run, Little Chillun" brings the first West Coast showing of the production that ran 126 performances in the Lyric theatre of New York.

AUTHOR DIRECTS

Hall Johnson

With choral mechanics under the skillful direction of Hall Johnson, author of the play and arranger of its accompanying music, the Carlyle Scott Federal Music Project Chorus promises some magnificent singing.

RUBY ELZY, who played in "Porgy and Bess" and was recently heard over CBS in its opening of Hollywood studios, is assigned a leading role.

CLARENCE MUSE, long a distinguished member of the film colony, brings authenticity to the direction of this exiiting folk drama. Webb King, a veteran of local stage and screen productions, is associate director. The pageantry of weird and stirring voodoo dancers will be in charge of Onest Conley, an authority on African folk dances.

SPLENDID CAST

Featured in the cast of outstanding Federal thespians, some of whom have achieved national repute for their work, JESS LEE BROOKS, popular for his creation of the role, "Christophe" in "Black Empire", was assigned the part of Rev. Jones, whose Baptist flock engages in a hot soul-saving contest with a pagan, moon-worshipping sect, calling themselves "New Day Pilgrims".

ALFRED GRANT, youthful Pasadena actor, plays the leading role, "Jim". OLIVE BALL, one of the original members of the New York cast plays the part of Rev. Sister Luella Strong, that ranked as the premiere dramatic moment of the season when "Run, Little Chillun" had its eastern showing. FLORENCE O'BRIEN, native Angeleno, essays the role of "Sulamai", opposite Grant.

In the supporting cast are such favorites as CLEO DESMOND, beloved Lafayette Player; MYRTLE ANDERSON, the Lady McDuff of "MacBeth" who came to Federal Theaters from the renowned cast of "Green Pastures. Darby Jones, Guernsey Morrow, ARTHUR RAY, Henry Thomas, Myrtle Dunham, Eva Grant, ROY GLENN, Bessie Guy, Larry Harrison, Earl Mitchell, THADDEUS JONES, Elizabeth Spratltey and GERTRUDE SAUNDERS complete the list named this week.

MOVIE PARADE

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER held a special showing of the Pete Smith short, "The LIFE OF DR. CARVER", to get your columnist's opinion of the film before its national release in top theatres this week.

It is done with the greatest care in point of details in the life of the great scientist, without undue emphasis on race, shows the far-reaching value of his contributions to HUMAN welfare and the result is 100 per cent entertainment and 100 per cent EDUCATIONAL value. As a featurette it runs 22 minutes, or two reels, and leaves one feeling that a major feature length production of this or others like it would not be far-fetched.

scientist immortalized on loew's and chinese screens

Stranger than fiction is the true story of Dr. George Washington Carver, former Negro slave child who was traded for a horse, and grew to be the greatest scientist of his race. With all its dramatic qualities and intelligently treated, the gripping and amazingly vital story of Dr. Carver—who saved the South its cotton crops and created 350 by-products and a 60 million dollars a year peanut industry — may be seen on the screen, beginning Wednesday, June 15, at Loew's State and Grauman's Chinese theatres.

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the fascinating history of one of the colored race's most outstanding personalities was filmed by Pete Smith under the title "The Story of Dr. Carver" as one of his regular series of specialty productions.

The briliant film starts its story with the year 1896, when the South faced starvation because of a condition of the soil. It follows the growth of Dr. Carver, as a six months old child to his youth and college days and finally it takes the observer into Dr. Carver's intricate laboratory where more than 350 by-products of the peanut crop have been developed.

Also on the program at both Loew's State and Grauman's Chinese theatres, are Don Ameche, Simone Simon and Robert Young in "Josette" and the gripping, exciting "Gangs of New York".

By JOHN KINLOCH

What is termed the "younger set", dressed up, came out, and went to town at the L. A. Hi-Y Third Annual Variety Vod and Fashion Show last Friday at the Lincoln.

As a fashion promenaderie, lobby ran stage a close second. Everything from tux-and-tails to fancy slacks were in evidence; from the chic street-suit of actress Mae Turner to the filmy white evening gowns of the Brigadettes Social club (who ushered).

The show was fast-paced and satisfactory in every detail. The Woodman Brothers' band started things with a scorching jam session — from which point forward all types and schools of swing emanated from the stage.

The Katz and the Fiddle betrayed talent and that wonder-asset — personality. The boys, operating legitimately in both vocal and string-music fields (from Fiddle to ukelele), also tossed in a bit of terpischorean effort which the audience quickly appreciated.

The show moved swiftly under the emcee hand of Moody Dandridge until it was stopped dead by Paul White, entertainer of radio and film renown ("Boy of the Streets"). When the master, White swung into action things just naturally stood still for a while. Introducting (at least so far as Central Avenue is concerned) a new dance, the Shucky-Wuck, Paul was very much a sensation.

The Basin Street Boys, later, performed adequately; were joined by "movie-star" Herbie Jeffries ("Harlem On the Prairie") whose voice somehow has ascended another octave or two. Jeffries' singing in "H. On the P.", at least that portion thereof which vaulted the faulty recording, was definitely in a lower register. Be that as it may, the young man is now in a class with Morton Downey or Kate Smith or somebody. The transition, however, is not an unfavorable one—he was returned for two encores.

A dancing team, the "Rug-Cutters", swung out in the accepted fashion and nearly brought the house down.

The Jones Octette did some very delicate harmonizing, adding a subtle touch to the proceedings. Despite a slight tendency toward monotony, the octette was easily one of the more professional acts. Their restraint was particularly refreshing.

The fashion commentating was handled competently by Miss Blanche Wiley. Couples included Thelma Scott, Alfred Bandon; Lois Evans, Vergil Benson; Virginia Dade, George Lee; and Jewell Harris. Mrs. Emmett Ashford was a highlight in her bridal gown.

Picture—"First Hundred Years"
Players—Robert Montgomery, Virginia Bruce
Place—Tivoli

"The First Hundred Years" is a very old story told in a bright and engaging way. Routine No. 4-b — it's the old one concerning Mrs. ——— who has a job, a good job; and Mr. ——— who desires the lady to quit in favor of domesticity. In the end, she does.

If one forgets the phoney plot — in particular that corny bit wherein an expectant Junior brings about the "final reconciliation" — there is discovered as smoothly written and directed a piece as Movie-Town turns out.

Robert Montgomery, who yearns for the Simpler Things in Life, and Virginia Bruce, the wife who would rather be an actor's agent, perform intelligently, neither forced really to "e-e-mote".

Warren William handles the comedy with his usual polish. Alan Dinehart just about steals every third scene as a somewhat thwarted divorce lawyer. Binnie Barnes, with limited opportunities, does nicely — one of her speculative side-glances at Montgomery smacking of the D. B. W. H. (Days Before Will Hays).

Picture—"Of Human Hearts"
Players—Walter Huston, Beulah Bondi, James Stewart
Place—Same

This is what Director Clarence Brown, late of the three-million-dollar "Conquest", allegedly has been pining to do for ten years. It is not a great picture.

Meticulously presenting the backwoods life of the 1860's, the story concerns a circuit-riding preacher, Walter Huston, his wife, Beulah Bondi, and irreverent son, James Stewart.

While Stewart remains a child everything is swell. The tear calculated for that spot where Beulah Bondi hocks her grandmother's silver to purchase a book for son James only to have him toss it nonchalantly aside really materializes. The lack of harmony between father and son is clear and understandable. Later the plot reveals son James so arbitrary and unappreciative that it is incredible.

The character actors — Huston, Bondi, and famous stage-player Charles Coburn, as a slightly disreputable M. D., steal top honors. James Stewart, in his supremely inconsistent role, does fair enough. James McGlyn sr. performs again as Abraham Lincoln.

GALA PREMIERE OF 'THE DUKE IS TOPS' AT LINCOLN FRIDAY

Ralph Cooper and Criner in Comedy Revelation

Ralph Cooper, star of "The Duke Is Tops", Million Dollar Production's new filmusical, and Lawrence Criner in a supporting role will be remembered as gangster overlord and henchman in Million Dollar's first thriller, "Bargain With Bullets". But in "The Duke Is Tops", which has its premier at the Lincoln Theatre tomorrow they will be seen dispensing a new brand of side-splitting comedy.

Ralph is "Duke Davis", in the smoothly running plot of the elaborate extravaganza, who out of employment as a vaudeville performer, joins the medicine show of Doc Dorando, played by Criner. Others in the cast are Willie Covan, The Basin Street Boys, "The Cats and the Fiddle", "Ruberneck" Holmes, Marie Bryant, Joe Stevenson and others.

BRONZE BEAUTY CHORUS PICKED FROM COUNTRY'S BEST

For the dance ensembles of the elaborate theatre and cabaret scenes in the "Duke Is Tops", the whole country was thoroughly combed. From more than a hundred girls, a score of talented, fast-stepping bronze beauties were selected, all young veterans of the largest theatres and finest night clubs in the country.

They were June DeCrier, Millie Monroe, Deany Gordon, Dorothea Ducham, Bobby Runes, Lois Bright, Hester Frost, Irma Washington, Avanelle Harris, Rosalie Lincoln, Neeta Johnson, Ruth Edmondson, Doris Ake, Myrtle Fortue, Louise Franklin, Nettie Mitchell, Helen Mitchell, Irma Young, Viola Clay and Mildred Boyd.

MILDRED SENNETT TO PRESENT RECITAL OF ALL-SENNETT PUPILS

Miss Sennett is also presenting several other students of unusual ability--the youngest being four years of age.

Music lovers and those interested in encouraging the efforts of our young people should not fail to attend this recital. Their presence will inspire and lend a helping hand to this young teacher and her pupils.

The public is cordially invited. The Wilkins Piano Academy takes pleasure in announcing a musical program to be presented by one of its teachers, Miss Mildred Sennett. at 8:15 P. M., Sunday, June 26, 1938, at Trinity Baptist church, 36th street and Normandie avenue, this City. The pastor is Rev. Caston.

The program is being sponsored by the Usher Board of the Church--of which Mrs. Elleen Jones is president and Mrs. Sarah Moore is secretary.

Miss Sennett is one of the Wilkins Academy's able and efficient teachers and, according to Professor Wilkins, shows great ability —one who, with the help of encouragement, will accomplish much in the world of music.

Mrs. Kathleen Davis Jackson, who, as Kathleen Davis, the child artist, in 1931-32-33, thrilled audiences of music lovers by her marvelous performances in mastering Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata and many other selections from the great masters, will make her first public appearance since 1933. All who remember little Kathleen Davis when her tiny hands could scarcely span the width of four piano keys will surely come to hear her play again.

George Dewey Washington On Way to Europe

George Dewey Washington, the deep-voiced baritone, will leave the states, it was reported, to fill four months of English bookings directly after the week of June 14.

The baritone is now featuring a new song, "High Water", by Reginald Forsythe which seems t ohave tremendous possibilities.

Last Sunday night when he appeared on the Harlem Children's Center benefit at the Apollo theatre, Washington, brought the house down when he sang, "Keep Smiling at Trouble", one of the songs which introduced him to the public years ago.

Skating Rink Opens on Central

An outlet for pent up energies of youth, a relaxation for the tired business man, Central avenue has a skating rink Opening of the rinuk, located at the Old Apex Cabaret, at 56th and Central, was held last night. Grand Opening will be held tonight.

According to announcements made by the managers, the rink will be conducted in orderly fashion. Music will accompany skaters as at up to date rinks in other parts of the city, a lounge will furnish a relaxation spot for onlookers, refreshments will be sold and the management will provide diversions for the skaters in the form of promenade race etc.

RAISING A PRODIGY

There's a lesson for parents in a news story from London. Yehudi Menuhin, the story reads, has just been married to Miss Nola Nicholas, 19-year-old Australian heiress.

If ever a child had the right to be called a prodigy, this brilliant young violinist earned that right. Hailed by the musical great of the world, Yehudi went on from great to greater triumphs with each passing birthday.

And yet, within the limits of fame, Yehudi has lived a normal life. In his retreat in the California hills, he spent one whole year in seclusion, living the life of a normal adolescent. Now, grown to manhood, his marriage marks the beginning of a normal adult life.

Through his years of growth, Yehudi's parents have fought to save their brilliant son from the ills of genius, to give him both the rights of normal living and the acclaim of musical success. Always, their thought has been, not how to save him for themselves, but how to save him for himself. In a relationship where love and selfishness too often become mixed, they have been as brilliantly successful as parents as their son has been as a musician.

For every father and mother, to each of whom their own child is a potential prodigy, there's a lesson in the story of Yehudi's successful growth from child to man. In the difficult job of growing up in the world, Yehudi has shown the way.

BIG "LITTLE BUSINESS"

The store-keeper who started at the "old cross-roads" is back at the crossing of the ways. But now he is the big "little business" man of America, and the roads that cross at his door are the great avenues of national distribution.

The era of the big "little business" man may be dated as beginning in 1938. He found himself unexpectedly in the spotlight of attention at Washington. If the President's conference of little business was chaotic, it was normally so. There had been no rehearsal; there was no precedent.

But little business began to think of itself in big terms. It is the largest part of the mercantile business of the nation. Its economic life is important to all.

Already we have thirteen organizations of small businesses springing up throughout the nation. Governor Merriam has called a state convention of businessmen to meet at Sacramento next week. The small business man is finding his voice. He had been something like Dopey, the dwarf, nobody knew whether or not he talked — he had never tried.

Small business will face the same problems that have put wrinkles on the face of big business. Small business will be offered leaders, political and professional. Only the other day, a well-known California columnist directed public attention to a "state convention" of nineteen delegates, which met in San Francisco, at the behest of a promoter who wanted to investigate all other small business organizations and to protest against the convention called by Governor Merriam because he was not consulted.

The merchants of California cities can accomplish great things for themselves and the state if they unite on a constructive program. They will have to steer clear of the racketeer and the politician.

Small business faces problems of taxation, employee relations, and legislation. To solve these problems leads down the road to progress.

COUNTY EMPLOYES IN ORGANIZED PROTEST

Threats of a flare-up of telling proportions loom strongly and may change the political destiny of county officials, responsible for cuts in salaries and suspension of automatic raises due July 1.

Rex Thompson, head of the department of charities, felt that he couldn't meet the rising tide of food prices and other living costs on $5,000 a year and some five or six weeks to the windward, funds were made available by the Supervisors to make Thompson's salary $10,000 a year. This created much comment from county employes and taxpayers, but the straw that put the camel out of commission was the announcement that automatic raises in salaries would have to be abandoned in order to economize and make the funds available hold out and carry the increasing load the coming fiscal year.

Disapproval of the action is loudly voiced by the State, County and Municipal Workers organization who protest "It's Not Fair" —

"To suspend automatic raises and group advancements.
"To cut wages of temporary county employés by 10%.
"To suspend mileage claims due to Department of Building employes.
"To reclassify positions without stating salaries.
"To economize at the expense of county employes, yet allow millions of dollars to be forfeited to the state and given to the Chamber of Commerce, All-Year Club, etc!!!"

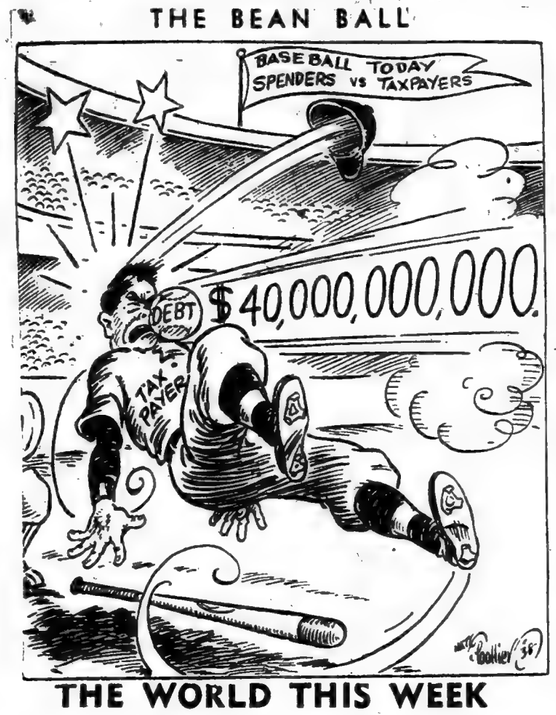
Among waste and other squandering of funds among "favorites", the circular puts those responsible for the employes' pitiable plight on the spot and says:

"Long - suffering County employes are again faced with the black cloud of 'economy' caused by the smudge pots of the Chamber of Commerce and Property Owners' Ass'n. These smudge pots of reaction have been burning steadily around the Hall of Records during the past few weeks of Budgetary hearings.
"WHAT IS BACK OF THIS CLOUD? Notwithstanding all their pressure for decreased cost of government, the Chamber of Commerce and All-Year Club received for their 'exploitation' fund almost the same amount of money necessary to grant the automatic increases to all eligible County employes and to restore the 10% wage cut to the temporary employes. Once again the Chamber of Commerce crowd gain at the expense of the County employe and the small taxpayer."

We have never been able to figure out the "why" of this "All-Year" outfit, save to furnish some "pet" with a soft spot at a high salary and swell the profits of a certain print shop who grind out several thousand dollars worth of hooey picturizing the glories of California sunshine. All printers assist in paying the bill but none have an opportunity to bid on doing the work. No indeed, it goes to certain shops; no questions are asked as to cost. Print it; send the bill; the people will pay!

Thousands on relief rolls of Los Angeles were lured here thru the appeal of this advertising, and are cursing the day they were led to believe this to be the end of the rainbow. The few hundred or perhaps a few thousand dollars are gone and they're on relief. Let's quit kidding people and care for our own.

ASSESSOR HOPKINS DIES



The sudden death of E. W. Hopkins from a heart attack at his home in North Whittier Heights Sunday night was not only a shock but deeply felt and regretted by the entire community.

Born in Ascaloosa, Iowa, 75 years ago, Mr. Hopkins settled in Los Angeles in 1878. He went to work in the Assessor's Office in 1893 and in 1907 was elected head of this department of the county government until his death.

Ed Hopkins was one of the finest men we have ever known and his honesty, devotion to duty, endeared him in the hearts of all the people.

The cross-road of business antagonisms and hostilities leads to the swamp of distrust where all business bogs down.

THE BEAN BALL

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

WORLD'S HEADACHE

This fevered, troubled world of ours stands badly in need of headache tablets. To that need, most intelligent men and women today subscribe. But in what, exactly, shall the curative powders consist? Even Premier Chamberlain's ambitious deal-with-the dictators policy, as a means of getting peace at any price, has been stretched taut to the breaking point. By the time these words reach print, that breaking-point may have been reached as Germany tugs fretfully at the leash, desperately anxious to unfurl the swastika over the rich dominions of wheat, oil, and steel lying to her East. But the rising temperatures along both sides of the German-Czechoslovak border are not the only source of the world's present headaches. The boom of war-guns over Spain testifies to the tragedy which continues to wrack that bleeding nation. And hints darkly at the prospect that this benighted land will have bled itself white before the last, weary Rebel and the last, bedraggled Loyalist lay down their arms and sue for peace.

WANTED—A REMEDY

Yet it is not Europe alone that accounts for all the thrusts and counter-thrusts of warring ideas, classes, and races which today precipitate such furious eddies in the onrushing stream of history. In the great Arab world of the Near East, Britain sits fearfully astride a powder-keg, attempting to tame — with bayonets and bullets — the centuries-old hatred between Jew and Arab. The fires of that hate have crackled steadfastly and bitterly for ages, but with grim stubbornness the imperial British believe they can quench its flames thru violence. With equal stubbornness and driven by wild dreams of empire and an inflexible religious zeal, the little warriors of the Rising Sun proceed this week with their dearly bought conquest of China. The world indeed stands badly in need of headache tablets at this hour of its history! Anyone with a sane, soothing remedy will kindly step forward please. The world, we believe, would welcome a surcease from the noisy blather of warmakers.

FOOTBALL IS A BUSINESS

The Federal tax collector has just added some important new names to his call list. Following last week's significant Supreme Court decisions, he'll be able to nibble into the salaries of workers employed by quasi-governmental state agencies. The Federal tax collector has also been given carte blanche to take his cut of intercollegiate football profits. Whatever universities' board of regents, or gridiron coaches, or sports enthusiasts may say about it, to the Nine Men of the Supreme Court college football, like selling shoes, making fly spray, or raising chickens for sale, is a business and therefore subject to taxation. The University of Georgia brought its case before the high court to prevent collection of a 10 per cent levy declaring intercollegiate athletics were an essential feature of higher education. It was a Pyrrhic victory for Georgia. If such sports are essential, isn't it because they're such darned good business?

GOOD NEWS

It isn't often, as everyone knows, that the National Industrial Conference Board has reported good news of late. The bulletins of this fact-finding body have frequently fallen on the melancholy side, but last week they made up for it with the announcement that unemployment in the United States decreased 233,000 from March to April. That's a step in the right direction, particularly when 233,000 people are in with that step!

WOULD A NEGRO ARMY DIVISION BE SEGREGATION?

By Gordon B. Hancock for ANP

The question of a separate Negro division of the United States army is before Negroes and the nation. Naturally, there are those who oppose it on the grounds that it makes for that racial separateness which in its ultimate implications means disaster to the Negro race. No Negro wants segregation and separateness as ultimate solutions of the color question, but as a means to an end, these have been in many ways the entering wedge for Negro endeavor.

Segregation in the field of business has produced our great insurance companies and made possible the fine contribution that they have made and are making toward Negro advancement. Segregation made possible the great A. M. E. church which is not only a credit to the Negro race, but to Christendom. Segregation has hastened the rise of a Negro intelligentsia which is prophetic of a better day. Making the most of segregation has stirred the Negro to desperate action in his own behalf.

The Negro has not wanted segregation and separateness, but having them forced upon him, he has achieved a self-confidence that is salutary. The North without its racial segregation is not the fertile soil for Negro ambition as the South with its segregation. Segregation gives the Negro something to fight against, and it is fighting against something that spurs mankind onward. In spite of much learned quibbling and mental gymnastics, the Negro has accepted segregation everywhere, and only illusions of grandeur prevent one from seeing it.

Although we may reject segregation in theory, we sometimes gladly accept it in practice as a means of lifting ourselves economically and socially. It is no more disgrace for the emancipated Negro to accept segregation that is forced upon him than for the slave to have accepted the slavery forced upon him. By making the most of segregation, the Negro can place himself in position to fight segregation. By accepting segregation in practice the Negro has an educational advantage and through these he has produced scholars who can combat segregation in principle. Even the N. A. A. C. P. has accepted segregation in practice, for in the South where they are proposing to fight the double standard of salaries for teachers, they are not legally opposing segregation, but discrimination.

Why, then, should we not have a Negro division of the United States army? This separate division would necessitate more students in West Point. It would give to our stifled military genius the necessary expression. It would lend military dignity to the Negro such as he does not have at present. It would elevate the Negro soldier above the level of "cannon fodder." It would lessen excuse for our "ditch-digging captains" and "log-rolling lieutenants" who hither-to have won their "spurs" with labor battalions.

The labor corps are just as necessary to the successful prosecution of war as the "board of strategy", but according to our present standards, not as noteworthy and dignified. If in religion and education and in business we have recogized segregation and accepted it, we cannot remedy matters by refusing to recognize it in a Negro army division.

The Negro's military voice will be louder and can be more insistent if there is a Negro division, than if we are merely billeted into labor batallions. The New Deal has been a marked illustration of accepting the practice of segregation. Never before has the Negro been such an integral part of the government; but this increased influence in the government is due to accepting the practice of segregation.

In other words, the Negro is more powerful in this nation today than if he had refused to accept "Negro" portfolios in the different departments of our New Deal government. Boring from within is a sound principle. Segregation has enabled the Negro to get on the inside of the affairs of government; now it is up to these Negroes to bore from within. A separate Negro division will not be a stumbling block, but a stepping stone! It is the unsatisfactory means to a desirable end. Boring from within.

Wages and Hours

The Swing to Sanity by the House of Representatives last week, when it overrode the reactionary Rules Committee by forcing the Wages and Hours Bill out of that powerful group and unto the floor of the House for a vote was as important an act as the House has ever done. It indicated that true representative government in the United States is not yet dead, in spite of the dogmatic efforts of such unregenerate conservatives as Representatives O'Connor of New York and Cox of Georgia to kill it.

The Wages and Hours bill is the greatest piece of legislation ever attempted by Congress. Any law that would put a floor on wages and a ceiling on hours of toil hits right at the core of our ailing economic order. And instead of being destructive it is most constructive. As we have said before, the economic battle that is now raging in America is one for the maintenance of huge profits by the economic royalists on one side, and an attempt to give labor (90 per cent of the population) an equitable share in what it plays the major part in producing, on the other. There is no doubt but that this could be accomplished if the great majority of the hide-bound employers were satisfied with a fair instead of a huge profit.

President Roosevelt is to be complimented for requesting the House to force the bill out of committee and onto the floor where it belongs. Although the election of Senator Pepper, an ardent supporter of the President, in the Florida primaries had much to do with getting the measure out of the Rules Committee, Mr. Roosevelt's public demand for action on it carried much weight.

It is again to be lamented that he did not do the same thing when the Southern Senators were successfully filibustering the Anti-lynching bill to death a few months ago. A large majority of the citizens had also shown that they were in favor of the lynch bill, including, 75 per cent of those in the South. True representative government will exist in the United States only when the legislative and executive branches of the government, as well as the judicial, accept the mandates of the majority of the people and put them into effect.

The main reason why Southern Congressmen have fought so hard against the Wages and Hours bill is because they want to maintain the double-standard wage system in Dixie, whereby Negro workers receive much less than white ones. If the bill is passed and this iniquitous system is abolished it will drastically change the whole economic order below the Mason-Dixon line for the better. And if is up to the government to see that the bill is lived up to, when and if it is enacted. If the government fails to do so then all of the efforts to pass it will have been wasted and Democracy will have received another black eye. N. Y. Amsterdam News.

PROPAGANDA OR EXPLOITATION: WHICH

Dear Editor:

This is a question for a journalist to slove. Why are public schols regulated by racketeers control and by their dictation, by prohibiting, what is not to be taught in public schools in this community.

In that, you cannot teach the science of law. According to my personal knowledge, there are two colleges in Los Angeles, California which students are preparing to attend, after they graduate. Namely: U. S. C. and U. C. L. A.

Just why, is it written: The United States is a Government of Laws and not of men, is an exception in this community.

The University of California in Berkeley, California and the U. C. L. A. in Los Angeles, California have a different source of instruction in teaching the different sciences; from a practical point of view, seem to be a misery.

Why! a line is drawn in Southern California against public schools 'teaching jurisprudence, makes me think: Government of men and not of law is an exception in this community, and the people are being deprived of benefits justly due, to them by exploitation for the benefit of a few chosen transfixers.

And the teachers in Los Angeles public schools, camoflage or disguise their instruction, contrary to the order of the day, when it is up to them to teach or to instruct, the students in the science of law.

Sincerely,
A. A. G.
Los Angeles, Calif.

ENJOYED MR. BEAVERS

Dear Editor:

It is so interesting and inspiring to hear your news over the radio every night that it comes over Station KGFJ. Tonight I enjoyed that discussion with Mr. Beavers about the Golden State Mutual Insurance company. I am so glad to hear that our race is so successful. I love my California Eagle and hope I will soon be able to renew my subscription. I hope that I will be able to attend the Republican meeting. I am a lifelong Republican.

I sent the name of your paper to the Marena Company, Des Moines, Iowa when I received a letter from the manager, asking me for the name of the paper I am interested in. If I am able to win a prize they will have it published in your wonderful paper.

Wishing you success and happiness,
A subscriber, Carrie V. Colly, 1010 E. 43rd street.

NEGRO HOTELS

Dear Editor:

I was surprised to read Mr. Jimmie Renfro's letter on having such a hard time to find a decent place to stay. Eagle, June 2. Pray, didn't anyone tell him about the Dunbar or Clark Hotel or Annex, all very nice places, and usually having the best of people staying there.

Also there are a lot of private homes that take people in and they offer first class accomodations. I think the fault lies with Mr. Renfro as I have never had any trouble finding a place to stay in Los Angeles, no matter what time of night or day I arrive.

I find that the reason so many places refuse to take in professional people is that they always work so late at night and then they are guilty of raising a lot of cain, keeping the tenants up. So many proprietors complain also about them not paying their bills. So you see, Editor, the fault is not always with our hotels.

What do you think about the matter? I would like you to publish your opinion.

Sincerely yours,
A. JOHNSON

Ed's Note: Reader Johnson misunderstod. Writer Renfro's complaint was not directed to the Los Angeles hotels, of whose existence I am sure he is aware; but to San Francisco and the cities in the Northern part of the state. There is not a first class stopping place beyond San Diego, he contends.

Los Angeles, in the Dunbar and Clark Hotels, has the finest hostelries maintained by and for Negroes in the country, not even excepting New York and Chicago.

EVERY MEASURE which has come before the Congress of the United States within the past four years which has had the slightest hint of benefit for the Negroes of the nation has been defeated—often as not through the great American system of political double-cross "compromise".

Latest of such bills to meet the inevitable end is the "Wages-Hours" proposal, just amended to suit the like of certain southern legislators who cannot stomach the possibility of Negroes receiving the same pay given whites for the same work taking the same time to perform. The differentials for which they have successfully contended, are but a thinly-disguised means of creating two wage-scales — one white and the other black.

In the Wages-Hours measure the colored citizenry of the country found hope for a long-sought decree of economic fair-play and justice. For not only has the race been forced to face the threat of "Last Hired First Fired", but for years has been cheated through a system of wage discrimination. For a moment, Negroes believed that a brave measure had at last come to sweep away this outrageous situation—at least in the low-pay bracket southland. For a moment, they believed progressive legislators would stick by the guns.

But now it is fairly obvious that in schemes of national Utopia, the New Deal regards the colored citizens as a sort of step-child—handy election year, though not warranting a concerted effort to down unjust opposition to measure entailing benefit for him. It is now clear that Afro-Americans must suffer a political party which will bend over backward to please a group of reactionary southern congressmen. And here skeletons begin to rattle—little things like the appointment of former Ku Klux Klanner, Associate Justice Black, the Democratic-led Anti-Lynch Bill filibuster, the discrimination at the President's personally-sponsored Warm Springs Infantile Paralysis Home. In the face of all this, many wonder whether the black vote can be held by the New Deal thru WPA checks alone. Progressive legislation that might favorably affect the race has been altered in order to exclude the group from its benefits; other favorable measures have been fought to their defeat — meanwhile, our President — the Roosevelt who has resurrected oratory in the world of politics, has instituted the Fireside Chat, commented upon everything from China to the Austrian refugees — meanwhile, our President maintains a flawless silence!

A NEWS dispatch this week states that Germany has taken offense at the new Czechoslovakian army service order, which will keep young Czechs in the army three years instead of two.

German retorts held that nalf the Czech army might look upon an invading force as a "liberator from despotism". The Sudeten German minority group has said through leaders that it intends to collect a "liberty fund" in order to combat this great injustice.

Immediately we are struck with two or three rather amazing aspects of these German protests. Offhand, one would not regard a nation that allows not even microscopic criticism of national affairs as in line to "liberate from despotism" a sister nation. Again, one might think that a state which has conscripted its entire youth into labor camps at a wage of seven cents a day, would not become too dreadfully upset over another government's decreeing merely an additional year in military service.

This would be the reaction of the average ignorant citizen unacquainted with the gems of Nazi philosophy. For instance, an individual unable to accept death rather than be saved by a Jewish doctor, could hardly appreciate the self-sacrificing piety of an uncalled-for invasion of a smaller state. Before becoming fit to perceive the unbounding wisdom of these high things, the average person must, of course, realize the justice in racial persecution. If one is unable to accomplish these mental feats, the superiority of Aryan intellect is really understood. The new Germany has grasped all this hardly without trying. Indeed, with Der Fuehrer Hitler, we are inclined to bow our heads in quiet reverence before the great German mentality — for truly it is quite remarkable.

Much is heard these days of "racial solidarity". The political seers of the time extol its merits and dolefully proclaim that without the capture of this elusive thing there can be no advancement for the Negro. "Racial Solidarity" — it is tooted in the periodicals, at meetings, in the speeches of politicians — everywhere. All bow down and worship the god — "racial solidarity".

But, upon serious investigation, it is perceived that this mythical utopian state has never existed, does not exist in the world today, nor is it likely that in the future it shall raise itself. In fact, the further one probes the less desirable is this great thing, for it is soon found that "racial solidarity" is simply a fancy term for mental stagnation. When, in all humanity's long history, have men thought the same? When, throughout the long annals of races and nations, has one group held to itself ONE goal.

And in those rare instances when such a state has been ap-

Armstrong Back; Says Louis Will Kayo Schmeling

Enthusiasm Runs High On Champ's Arrival

By J. Cullen Fentress

Henry Armstrong came home yesterday.

Although there was no elaborate reception tendered the conqueror of Barney Ross, the small crowd of admirers and well-wishers literally mobbed the champion of the featherweight and welterweight boxing divisions as "The Chief" rolled to a stop at 11:50 a. m. in the yards of the Santa Fe station.

Clad in a green-striped suit, with a brown felt pulled down over one eye, Armstrong was the center of a gathering of fight fans and sports writers. The gathering pumped questions at "Hustlin' Hank" almost as fast as he throws punches.

Having trained at the Pompton Lakes, New Jersey, camp now being used by Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, Armstrong was asked to give his opinion of the outcome of the Louis-Max Schmeling tiff next Wednesday night.

"I think it will go eight or nine rounds with Joe winning by a knockout," Armstrong said. "It will be a tough fight though and Louis won't win if he fights Schmeling like he did the first time they met. Joe is in fine condition."

Queried as to how he felt, now that for the first time in the history of the ring a boxer has held two titles in such separated divisions, the Mighty Mite, as expected, modestly replied, "No different". He praised the vanquished welterweight king, Ross, highly, judging him one of the gamest men he has faced in a ring.

As his next opponent, Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers, is in the city now, we asked Armstrong about their date on July 26 and did he expect to win as easily as some of the writers have said he would after viewing Ambers in his only local showing.

HENRY ARMSTRONG

"I expect to have more trouble with Ambers than I did with Ross. Barney is a stand-up fighter and easy to hit. Ambers hits and moves about quickly."

That was Hank's answer as to how he felt about the fight which may or may not make him the holder of three world titles.

Here for a couple of weeks, the wearer of two crowns appeared none the worse for his 15-round joust with Ross. In the Armstrong party, coming in from St. Louis where the champion visited friends, were Harry Armstrong, brother and trainer, and Jimmy Liddell, stablemate of Armstrong, who had three fights in New York. He won the first by a knockout and was held to draws in the others.

Liddell, the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Liddell, thinks as Armstrong does—that Louis will stop Schmeling. His idol, none other than "Hustlin' Hank" will kayo Ambers, Jimmy believes.

Armstrong will lead a champion softball team against a Warner Brothers' team Sunday night at 9:00 o'clock at Fiedler Sunset Field. Two girls' teams will play also.

Yes, Henry Armstrong came home yesterday, and although "Central Avenue", as they say in the papers, didn't turn out en masse, the wearer of two crowns received a sincere welcome.

Jesse Harvey jr. Loses Arm, Breaks Leg

Son of Prominent Contractor Caught in Monrovia Plant Machine

Jesse Harvey jr., 21-year old son of Jesse M. Harvey, well-known contractor, is in the California Lutheran hospital, it was learned by the EAGLE this week, suffering from a broken leg and the amputation of his right arm.

Young Harvey, a graduate of Los Angeles High school, is employed by his father at the Harvey Brothers' Sand and Gravel Contracting plant in Monrovia. Reports stated that a belt on one of the machines broke, catching the youth's right arm and tearing it just above the elbow. His body was caught in the machine and before he could be extricated his right leg had also been broken in two places.

Doctors reported that he was doing as well as could be expected.

'Insanity' to be Bonnie Adams' Plea to Banks' Murder Charge Today

AIDS YMCA DRIVE

CLAUDE HUDSON JR.

Plea is Same As That Used By George Farley

Her manner a decided contrast to the day almost three years ago when she upset the dignity of Judge Charles Fricke's courtroom by leaping from her wheelchair and "performing like a raving maniac", Bonnie Adams, 32-year old former insurance company nurse, will face trial this morning in the same courtroom for the murder of her sweetheart, Dr. Theodore Banks, Eastside dentist.

Her defense, a public defender, Richard Bird, will enter a double plea of "not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity", the same as used in the Farley case which closed three weeks ago.

The woman fired three bullets into the body of Banks on August 14, 1935, because he was contemplating marriage to another woman. After the shooting she called police and surrendered the death weapon to them, explaining that she had pulled the trigger, after Banks seemed indifferent to her, and that "the gun kept on shooting".

Miss Adams refused to talk to an EAGLE reporter who attempted to interview her in the County jail last Tuesday afternoon. The matron of the jail, however, said she showed every evidence of having returned to normalcy.

When she was first confined there in 1935, the matron said, she was extremely nervous and her condition grew steadily worse. When the trial opened on February 3, 1936, she was brought into court in a wheelchair. She leaped from the chair during the opening proceedings, shrieking and yelling. She was given a second sanity hearing, at a previous one, soon after the shooting she had been declared sane, and committed to the Mendicino State hospital at Talmadge. One month ago doctors in attendance there declared her sane and she was transferred to the County jail to await trial.

It is not expected that Deputy District Attorney E. O. Russell will ask the death penalty. Although women have been sentenced to death in the State of California, governors have customarily commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Dentist's Son Has Gas Station

Taking over the filling station on the South West corner of Central and 41st, young Claude Hudson, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. Claude Hudson, was launched in the business world this week.

The young man, a former Junior college student, took over from Mr. Beize, a familiar figure on the corner for years. Reports state that young Hudson and business—mother and child—are "doing fine".

Farley Leaves for San Quentin

George Farley, convicted killer of two deputy sheriffs who sought to evict him from his home on East 22nd street, will start on the journey to San Quentin tomorrow night where he must serve a sentence of from five to ten years on two counts.

Farley will go up with a carload of men from the Los Angeles County jail.

WOMAN REPORTS JEWEL THEFT

Mrs. Beatrice Bragg, housewife at 1386 E. 49th street, reported to Newton street police Monday afternoon the loss of jewelry valued at $280.00. She claimed that she kept the rings in a dresser drawer and that in her absence from home last June 7, a roomer, Lee Taylor moved. On June 9 she missed the jewelry.

NAACP Has Last Meet Until Fall

Honoring summer graduates of 1938 of the schools and universities, the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, held its last meeting until September, Sunday, in the Hamilton M. E. Church. Mrs. Hazel Whitaker, chairman of program, presented in a panel discussion speakers in the fields of education, science, music, literature, law and journalism in the persons of Prof. Charles Eason, Drs. W. E. Bailey, and Edna Griffin, Mrs. C. A. Bass, LeRoy Hart, Miss Verna Arvey, Samuel Brown. Each a specialist in his field, the speakers gave projected plans which indicate the illimitable possibilities awaiting youth, who with assiduity and zeal, pursue vocations in various branches of these professions.

An added touch to a program rich in intellectual and informative content, were a dramatic reading by Miss Lena Torrance, Jefferson high school graduate, and comments on the scholastic achievements of Negro university graduates by Miss Helen Dundee, a musician and instructor of a very high order.

At the National Convention of the NAACP to be held in Columbus, Ohio, June 28 to July 3, the branch will be represented by Revs. T. L. Griffith, J. L. Caston, E. E. Lightner and Mr. J. H. Shackelford, it was decided by a unanimous vote.

Police Drive to Oust Vagrants

Police this week atempted to clear lower Central Avenue of vagrants and loafers, who, they believe, are responsible for numerous assults on women and petty crimes in that vicinity.

Officers Conway and Smith of the Newton Street Police station arrested nine men Saturday night and Moday afteroon, who were unable to give satisfactory accounts of their activities and booked them at Newton street on suspicion of robbery. They will be held for show-up.

With but two exceptions all under 25 years of age: the men are: Harrison Butler, 23 of 1318 E. 48th Street; Alonzo Davis, 24, 845 South Central avenue; Sam Knight, 24, 1125 Central Avenue; Jack Johnson, 24 843 S. Central Avenue. Edward Haley, 23, 6423½ Yucca Sereet; Curtis Walls, 21, 553½ Central Avenue, Lewis Woods, 32, 619 Kohler Street; Theodore King, 34, 1129½ E. 24 street and William Nelson, 23, 525 Central Avenue.

TRAGIC DROWNING OF BOY, 10, 'ACCIDENTAL'

"Accidental drowning" was the verdict returned by Coroner Frank A. Nance in the tragic death of 10 year old newsboy, James King Newsome, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Newsome of 1237 East Twenty-eighth Street.

Young Newsome was swimming in the pool at the 28th street YMCA with an older brother, Lawrence and a group of chums, Wednesday afternoon of last week when he suddenly sank below the surface. A few minutes later his frantic companions drew his almost lifeless body from the water. Respiratory methods by the Newton Street Ambulance doctor and firemen from the East 34th street station, failed.

At first the report was given out that the lad had been seized by a heart attack while swimming. An autopsy discredited this, however.

The Y Pool is supervised by James Allen, physical director, who had stepped into an adjoining room just before the accident occurred. The Y has an excellent record in the community for care of the boys fequenting it. This is the first drowning there since the pool has been opened.

Funeral services held for young Newsome last Monday from the chapel of the Conner-Johnson Mortuary. A pupil at the Nevin street grammar school, James was well known and liked by his school mates. His class attended the services in a body, escorted by the teacher, Mrs. Portia Griffith.

Rev. Samuel M. Beane of Hamilton M. E. church, officiated. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery.

Patient Appeals for Visitors

From Wildwood Sanitarium at Newhall, California, this week came an appeal from Sam B. Pankey, one of the patients there since 1932, to all his old friends and any others who desire, to visit him at the Sanitarium.

Sam, who has put up a courageous fight for the past five years, according to the doctors at the Sanitarium, wishes to thank Jack Jones and Charles H. Whitaker, who "brought cheer" to him last week.

Southland Socialites Rally to Hosting Nolle Smith

Nolle Smith, scion of one of America's finest families, Secretary of the Hawaii Bureau of Governmental Research, Honolulu, and a member of the internationally famous Lions Club, is being hosted at a round of complimentary fetes by leading Southland socialites.

Mr. Smith who is visiting the J. L. Hills at 1190 West Thirty-sixth street was honored by them Monday evening with an informal buffet dinner. Mrs. Hill received her guests in a green crepe dinner dress interwoven with gold thread and contrasted with a corsage of fresh gardenias.

The guest roster included Messrs. Frank Harvey, Paul R. Williams, Charles Matthews, J. Rufus Portwig, Ralph Vaughn, Titus Alexander, Mrs. Irene Freeman, Dr. Clifford Gordon, and Dr. and Mrs. Fred Whiteman. Bridge followed the informal dinner.

Sunday night, Mr. Smith was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvey; Tuesday evening by Mrs. Helen Watkins in Laloma home; Wednesday evening by Bert Richie and the Mayor of San Diego. Tonight (Thursday) he will be complimented by Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Stovall. The largely feted visitor will leave Los Angeles Friday for the Middle west, but will return by July 24. He is engaged in research work while attending the University of Southern California.

'Night Out' Costs Man $87; Robbed

It will be many a moon before Ray Miller, white, hotel cook of 306 Clay Street, comes again to lower Central Avenue for a "good time". The last time Miller took a "night out" was Saturday June 11 and the evening cost him $87.00.

Miller reported to police at the Newton street station that he and a companion, Paul Clarkson, 148½ East 36th place, were held up at the point of a knife by two unidentified Negroes and robbed. Clarkson losing $2.87.

The two white men were allegedly accosted in a cafe at 8th and Central avenue by two men who were assertedly soliciting for prostitutes. Taken to a hotel at 848½ Central avenue to meet the women, Miller and Clarkson were relieved of their bankrolls, they complained.

They gave police a description of their assailants as follows:

Number one—5 feet, 8 inches tall, approximate weight 145 lbs, age 28; mustached, brown complexion, clothed in a grey suit, wearing a Panama hat.

Number two—5 feet 8 inches tall, approximate weight, 155, age 32; black complexion. Wearing blue polo shirt and blue pants.

Domestics' Checks Rival Rubber Ball

Latest development in the sensational Wilshire Apartment Service disclosure is that the check given domestic Alice George by Mrs. Luena Haswell, "Service" operator, last week rivals a rubber ball in bouncing-ability. It was also revealed that another victim of the Apartment Service had been "paid-off" in an identical manner--Mrs. Alma Butt, 1403 W. 35th street, assertedly given an elastic check for twenty dollars. Both women, it is believed, will take their cases to the Small Claims Court.

A check for a months back wages was given Mrs. George after the story of Mrs. Haswell's domestic "slave-racket" broke in the EAGLE two weeks ago. At this time, Mrs. George charged that her employer had refused payment of approximately a month's wages and that in addition she had been forced to work over eight and nine hours per day.

The case was taken immediately to the Division of Labor Statistics and Law enforcement where Mrs. Haswell, hailed before deputy L. A. Barnes, accused the domestic of theft of a seven dollar check and an attempt "to steal her route".

The "Wilshire Apartment Service" operates in the following manner: it employes domestic workers who are sent on 'routes' through swank Hollywood apartments. All money is paid by "clients" to the organization which in turn guarantees each worker seventy-per-cent of these earnings. A lengthy contract to this effect is signed by all employees.

In response to the charge of "stealing her route" and the check-theft, Mrs. George voiced a flat denial.

The case was refered to the Civil vourts by the Division Labor Law enforcement--an action fhich, in view o frecent developments, many question. It was for this step, however, Mrs. George was preparing when she received a call from her former employer.

With her husband, she went to the woman's office where she was supposedly "paid in full" with the the elastic check.

TO GRADUATE

Miss Sarah Rhoda Laws of Santa Catalina Island, who will graduate June 24 from Polytechnic High school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Laws of the Island.

Miss Laws has been staying in the city during her school term. She will return to her home for the summer.

Throws Lye in Man's Face; Held

A second degree assault charge, punishable by five to ten years imprisonment is staring Mrs. Mana Hutchins, 50, of 2414 S. Nevin street, in the face, unless Sam Jones, laborer of 1537 E. 24 street, changes his mind about prosecuting her.

Jones, just released from the County hospital, reported to police at the Newton Street station on Monday that on May 13th Mrs. Hutchins emptied a can of lye in his face causing him to be blind for two weeks and searing his left side of his face and neck.

He said the attack grew out of a quarrel.

Set Debate On FDR Term

Mrs. Beatrice Johnson, secretary of the 62nd Assembly District County Central Committee announced today that the Committee will sponsor on Thursday June 23 at Wesley Community Center, a debate between prominet political speakers on the pros and cons of the Roosevelt Administration.

"Resolved that the New Deal is a failure" is the affirmative subject, to be argued by Frederick M. Roberts, Republican and former assemblyman, and Lloyd C. Griffith, young attorney.

The negative will be advanced by Assemblyman from the 62nd District, Augustus Hawkins and Titus Alexander, both Democrats.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

So many times ARTISTS and celebrities have complained about the manner they are treated in so-called SOCIETY EVENTS; banquets to favored OFFICIALS or visiting guests, I felt that I should speak of it in the "WIDE OPEN". Few troups or individuals who are the sponsors of these "FREE AFFAIRS". I mean so far as the ARTIST or celebrity is concerned, value the appearance of these truly IMPORTANT people who help make their functions successful. Most of the grand and regular actors accept, when it is possible, these invitations, feeling it is for the CIVIC GOOD and when they arrive, NO ONE HAS BEEN appointed to see that they are received with the dignity of their station in life. It seems that the intellectual clubs and sororities are often guilty of this serious OVERSIGHT. However I have personally thought it was due to lack of experience, but recently I am told of one that "BROKE THE CAMEL'S BACK". A newspaper owner and editor is invited to one of these very "Swell" affairs and the door lady and two of the USHERS demanded her ticket and in her excitement she could not find the ticket in the purse quickly so she was asked to STAND ASIDE until such time, as she found it. Now friends take it from me it JUST IS NOT DONE that way among those who know and go PLACES I think that some of us cannot bring our minds to the fact that PEOPLE who are definite personalities with successes a mile long, news-paper owners and publishers, are to be HONORED at least with courtesy. And ACTORS make their livelihood because they have something in the way of "TALENT" to SELL for entertainment and when they give it to you, they are giving so many loaves of "BREAD" away. They should receive HOSPITALITY in return. I can't feel that one can get so much education, that he has lost the common touch of BROTHERHOOD. The newspaper editor I am speaking of, was HUMILIATED and hurt by INTELLIGENT people, so I feel that I should pass along this reminder, not a CRITICISM; it might bring more HONOR and RESPECT to our great and NEAR GREAT!

SIDEWALK--

proximated — as, for instance, during Napoleon's dictatorship, the dominations of Frederick the Great and Bismarck — it is done only through the most absolute despotism and restriction of liberty. Solidarity of one kind or another is achieved only through mob-hysteria and that thing which we have labeled in our day "fascism".

Differences within the race are but natural and healthy indications of active intellects. If our leaders preach at times adverse doctrines — it is only as it should be. Is it not a known fact that the greatest arguers and sustainers of the longest controversies are the professors and scientists and men of highest mental development. The idea of transforming a racial group into one stereotyped being — with common objectives and identical beliefs — is as insane as a national recovery plan through increased debt.

Of course, there are times when a certain degree of "solidarity" is necessary. For instance, some years ago the Negro people of California saw a place in the state JUDICIARY open which they deemed might be filled well by a member of the group. The Governor was petitioned to this end, and the proposition seemingly met with his approval. However, it soon developed that almost every leader and pseudo-leader of the race, every organization and semi-organization, had its own particular choice for the position. All threatened fitting revenge at the polls if our candidate was rejected — on this ground the executive sent word from Sacramento that, although willing to make an appointment, he could not since there was no single basis of selection.

Deplorable as they are, these are just the situations which politicians skillfully use in long-winded arguments for "racial solidarity". Officials proclaim that they know not what to do for the group since each part thereof has different ideas on the subject. On this hypothesis, officeholders then proceed to do nothing. Successfully duped, Negroes blame their own so-called lack of solidarity instead of the official—and yes—he is the one to blame! There is NO part or party of the nation which does not have its own pet projects and recommendations — hence the white official meets no greater problem of DIS-UNITY among Afro-Americans than any other portion of the populace! If he has not the power of discrimination between that which is good and bad in proposals—no matter their origin —he is not qualified as an office-holder. The bugaboo of "racial solidarity" is as hollow as the geometric center of a perfect vacuum.

STANLEY HIGH'S articles appearing in the Saturday Evening Post under the head "Black Omens" should be read carefully by all Americans. For the first time a white author has attempted to report the doings of Negro America accurately and without the literary stand-bys anent "the happy, ever-laughing Negro people" and loyal servant angle. Although there are numerous descrepancies, Mr. High has done a fine job--has even perceived that there has been some change in the group during the past twenty-five years. I quote from the article of May 21:

"One reason why the Negro is Navy services has gone forward quietly and steadily--the Fish Bill with one sweep would cast these gains aside--once and forever fix the Afro-American in a segregated branch of America's War machinery.

And why objections to this you ask. The answer is evident wherever racial division exist —in southern schools, Jim Crow Railroads, in all below-the-Mason-Dixon-line public places. That area, appropriation, for the use of Negroes exclusively has been, is, and always will be inferior. Are we so naive as to think a segregated Negro Division would be accorded the same rights, privileges, and duties given others? No. The Afro-American is safe only when his destiny is so in-out for a new place in the sun is found in the fact that, in the last twenty years, he has found a new place on the map. When George Washington became President, approximately one in five of the new nation's residents was a Negro and [illegible] ter of Negro population [illegible] in Virginia about 150 miles southwest of Mount Vernon. For 120 years thereafter the Negro moved with cotton, and the cotton trend was southwest. In 1910, therefore, although only a little more than one person in ten in the United States was a Negro, the Negro center of population was somewhere in Northeastern Alabama.

"In that year, however, the Negro began to cut loose from cotton, or, rather, cotton began to cut loose from him. The boll weevil had ravaged its way from Texas and was at the borders of Alabama. In the twenty years that followed, almost one fourth of the 12,000,000 Negroes in the United States, driven by hard times and lured by cash-money jobs, joined in a northward trek.

"Save, perhaps, in the matter of worldly wisdom, the typical Northern Negro, before 1910, was not very different from the typical Southern Negro. He probably worked in a white man's household, and the more exclusive Negro society was made up almost entirely of the butlers, the valets, the chauffeurs and the ladies' maids who had the more exclusive household positions.

"In 1910 there was no city in the entire country with a Negro population of more than 100,000. In 1930 there were seven.

These migrants moved in on the lowest economic level of the cities to which they came. In fact, broke, jobless and unprepared for anything but the roughest kind of unskilled labor, they knocked the bottom out of what had been the lowest economic level and dropped it to a point far below.

"The history of the migration, however, cannot be written entirely in terms of these dire consequences. There was another and, at the time, more hopeful side to the picture. Especially with America's entrance into the World War, it looked as though the floodgates of economic opportunity were at last to be opened to the Negro. Prior to this time, Negroes had worked, industrially, in a few Southern cities, notably Birmingham, Chattanooga, Atlanta and Richmond. They had entered with some success into the building trades in South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama. But this employment was on a closely restricted scale. With the war, and particularly in the North, it looked as the restrictions would be once and for all removed. Negro leaders described the period as The Second Emancipation.

"Just prior to the 1929 crash, therefore, the Negro's advance toward economic emancipation was at a peak. He was making his way industrially. There was steadily increasing employment for him, at improving wages, in steel, iron, coal and automobiles. Employers of labor appeared to have a growing confidence in his workmanship and dependability.

"In 1929, however, this brave new world came abruptly to an end. What has happened since is probably best summed up in the phrase that one hears wherever Negroes talk about their economic plight. "We're the last hired and the first fired," they say, and the experiences of the last nine years have provided ample and bitter proof for that expression.

"Thus, the gains which had been made toward the end of the migration period have been more than wiped out by the depression, and many leaders of the race contend that the present economic lot of the Negro is worse than at any time since the end of the Civil War.

GOLDEN STATE MUTUAL HIGHLY RECOMMENDED IN DUNNE REPORT

Dunne's is Largest Reporting Service in World, Claim

A recent report issued by Dunne's Insurance Report, reputed to be the largest policyholders' reporting service in the world, gave Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company an excellent rating, it was learned today.

The full statement of Dunne's Report, which was issued after a very thorough investigation and careful analysis of the Company's affairs and reports made by the State Insurance Examiners, follows:

1938 REPORT
Published by The Insurance Index Established 1870

In its annual financial statement as of December 31, 1937, Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company reported total admitted assets of $299.875, which represents a highly satisfactory gain of $63.749 over the previous year. All of these resources have been invested in securities of the highest quality which are exceptionally well diversified and which yield the Company a very satisfactory return.

Cash on hand and in banks totals $25.980 and the Company owned United States Government securities totaling $6.334, with the residue of its securities invested in County and Municipal, Railroad, Public Utilities, and Miscellaneous Industrials making a total for the entire bond account of $123.157. In choice stocks the Company owned $28.046.

Cash together with these highly liquid securities which are quickly convertible into cash aggregate $177,183, or more than 58 per cent of its entire net liabilities available at a moment's notice to meet any contingency which might arise, and to give its policyholders prompt and efficient service.

Prime first mortgage loans on real estate total $25.136 and all of these have been carefully selected by a competent committee of Company officials on an ultra-conservative valuation basis which gives the policyholder ample security for his funds. There are no collateral loans, which is commendable. Real estate owned by the Company totals $48.345 and we believe the rising trend in real estate values will result in handsome profits to the Company when these properties are disposed of.

Interest and rents due and accrued total $2.616 and we consider this an exceptionally small sum in comparison to the large amount of investments involved. This account expresses the care and judgment used in selecting and administering the investment account, and the managemet is to be commended for its achievement.

Golden State Mutual has accommodated its policyholders to the extent of $30.795 on the sole security of their policy contracts but in no case in excess of the cash surrender value thereof. Policy loans are attractive investments for the Company because of high interest yield and freedom from market fluctuations. Nevertheless, the management will gladly co-operate with all borrowing policyholders who desire to retire these loans and automatically increase insurance protection and at the same time eliminate interest cost. We would urge every such policyholder to take immediate advantage of this liberal offer as protection with the Company is too valuable to be encumbered with debt.

Miscellaneous assets total $9,799 and includes interest accrued on policy loans $457 and premiums in transit to the Home Office $277.

Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company has always maintained the practice of paying just claims promptly and as a result of this commendable practice it had only $395 due and unpaid as of the close of business December 31, 1937. For claims in process of adjustment and awaiting completed proofs the management has set aside a reserve fund of $1.135 which will be utilized for that purpose when the final proofs are completed. The foregoing is for the Life Department. For the Sick and Accident Department a reserve is established of $8.714.

Legal reserves maintained to mature its policy contracts as they become due are $195.034 and the reserve basis is very strong being on the American Experience 3½ per cent. and the Illinois Standard basis. The actuarial methods of the Company are sound and reliable.

Premiums paid in advance by policyholders total $2.032 and unemployment insurance and federal old age benefits are provided for with a reserve fund of $914. Estimated taxes payable in 1938 are set aside in the amount of $10.710.

Coupons and dividends left with the Company to accrue at interest total $2,760 and miscellaneous liabilities and reserves total $17.284.

Dividends declared payable to policyholders but not yet due total $1.146 and a reserve fund for that amount is established by the management.

In addition to these careful provisions for known liabilities the management has voluntarily set aside a contingency reserve fund of $12,185, and as we believe all liabilities are amply provided for we are treating this fund as a part of Surplus as to Policyholders. During this and previous years the management has established and accumulated unassigned surplus totaling $47,565 which together with the special contingency reserves total $59,751 Surplus as to Policyholders, and places the Company in a strong, substantial and financial condition to meet any contingencies. This surplus fund has been increased by $15.024 for the year.

The Company enjoyed a total income for the year of $342,495, which is almost $50,000 greater than that of the previous year. Most of this increase was in premium income. The total disbursements for the year were only $275,034 and included in these were $77,883 payments to policyholders or their beneficiaries. In spite of these liberal distributions to policyholders the management still had an excess of $67,461 income over disbursements which indicates sound operating practices in the interest of policyholders. Another indication of this efficiency is in the fact that it was not necessary to borrow any funds whatsoever during the year.

New insurance was written in the Life Department during the year totaling $1,788,269, and the Company closed the year with $4,044,711 insurance in force, which represents a remarkable gain of $881,820 insurance in force in the Life Department and indicates the popular acclaim accorded Golden State Mutual policies by the public.

Policies are on standard forms and contain many liberal and attractive features individual to the Company and beneficial to the policyholders. They may be written in amounts from $50 to $5,000 on any one life and the age limit is one year to sixty. These policies furnish the maximum amount of protection to the policyholders at a minimum cost.

Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company is a California institution at present confining itself to this State but is contemplating expansion. Its affairs are examined regularly by the State Insurance Department and the last examination was as of December 31, 1937. The report of the examiners was favorable to the Company.

Throughout the State the Company is represented by a carefully selected and exceptionally well qualified group of representatives for their prompt and efficient service to policyholders. They may be depended upon for any statements made in behalf of the Company.

The management is in the hands of a thoroughly trained and highly seasoned group of insurance executives who have at all times shown a keen interest in the advancement of the Company and in its policyholders. Their best recommendation is in the annals of this institution which has grown to be one of the most reliable and highly respected companies of its kind in the West. The officers are:

President, William Nickerson, Jr.; Vice-President, George A. Beavers, Jr., and S. P. Johnson; Secretary and Treasurer, Norman O. Houston; Actuaries, Coates and Herfurth.

FROM THE FOREGOING ANALYSIS OF GOLDEN STATE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, WE CONCLUDE IT IS ENTIRELY WORTHY OF THE HIGHEST CONFIDENCE, AND SO RECOMMEND IT TO THE PUBLIC.

Policyholders' rating January 1, 1938, A-plus (Excellent).

Presbyterians Act to Aid Persecuted

PHILADELPHIA, June 16—The Presbyterian Church of the USA pledging support for the victims of race hatred and "the persecuted of all the world" this week advocated Federal anti-lynching legislation and "ceaseless vigilance" to safeguard the civil liberties of "all people".

In the report of its standing committee on social education and action the denomination's 150th general assembly recorded itself as "deeply shocked at the continuance of persecutions based on race in Germany, Austria, Rumania and other nations," and waged of a "peril of the curse of anti-Semitism" in this country.

"We stand with the persecuted of all the world. We sympathise with our Jewish brethren in the United States, many of whose relatives are the innocent victims of fanatical hatred abroad. We commend the National Conference of Jews and Christians for all its labors to the end that race murders and race discriminations shall not happen here. We emphasize the importance of the observance of Brotherhood Sunday, February 19, 1939, and we urge our churches to join in this observance."

Notables at Val Verde Ceremonies

A new significance will attach itself to the ordinary celebration of June 19th as far as California is concerned when ground breaking exercises for the new $185.000 bath house and swimming pool at Val Verde Park are held next Sunday.

The new project, the first of several to be erected there at a cost of nearly a half million dollars is believed to be one of the finest pools in the State. The bath house will be 105 feet in length. It will contain 600 lockers with more than 100 feet of dressing space. The pool will be 50 feet by 150 feet, tile finished and electrically lighted under water.

Gordon L. McDonough, Supervisor of the Second District, will turn the first spadeful of earth, starting the actual work.

Frederick M. Roberts will be chairman of the day, while Norman O. Houston will act as master of ceremonies. Members of the County forestry department, city county and WPA officials will join with prominent citizens in making the exercises slated for the day, one of the most notable demonstration of public appreciation.

Mr. Hattie Baldwin, president of the Val Verde Improvement Association, announced a partial list of prominent citizens who would play an important part in the celebration, including Paul R. Williams, Dr. Albert Baumann, and George Beavers.

How to get there, drive north Road. Follow the San Fernando Spring street to San Fernando route to the Richfield Oil tower. Turn to the right onto the Ventura-Castaic highway, thence to Val Verde Park. Follow road to the place of celebration. Music, entertainment and games are provided for. Dining facilities to accomodate the throngs expected will make it unnecessary for hundreds to bring their lunches.

Second Baptist Deaconess Passes

Mrs. Bessie Stewart of W. 35th Place succumbed to a stroke Tuesday about 6 p. m. at her home. Mrs. Stewart was one among the first twelve Deaconesses appointed in the Second Baptist church and her deceased husband was a deacon of long standing. The funeral will be held at the Second Baptist church Thursday 1 p. m. with Conner-Johnson in charge.

It is a matter of interest to note that of the original twelve deaconesses seven remain. The original roster reads:

Deceased:—J. B. Saunders, M. M. Cotten, Bessie Stewart, B. Baylor, Eula Barber.

Serving:—W. W. Cox, S. W. Whittiker, A. H. Ladd, Molly Brown, Nancy Dennis, Maria Thomas.

YWCA Matron Suffers Relapse

Mrs. Inez Jackson, matron at the 12th Street YWCA, suffered a stroke Tuesday evening, and is now confined to the General Hospital. Mrs. Jackson is a member of Second Baptist Church.

Dining Union to Fight Wage Slash

The Dining Car Cooks and Waiters Union Local 582 has received from four railway companies with whom iit has contractural relations notice of the intent of these carriers to reduce all rates of compensation, arbitrary allowance, and other forms of money payments fifteen per cent, effective July 1, it was revealed today.

The Executive Board of Local 582 issued the following statement in connection with the proposed wage decrease:

"Local 582 is prepared to resist any raid on the paychecks of its members by exerting every remedy at its command and by exercising its economic force in the use of various federal agencies. The present wage crisis indicates that the railroad management is pursuing a slogan of MORE FOR US, LESS FOR THE WORKER. Dining Car Employees already receive too little for their work, and there is absolutely no justification for any consideration of reduction of wages of ttarese eZ.vdEYOUr wages of these workers. Local 582 takes the position that if a reduction is made at all, It Must Be in the Number of Hours These Employees Work Each Month; However, Without Any Reduction In the Rates of Pay."

SAN BERNARDINO, June 9—Colored students that are graduating this year from San Bernardino high school are Ursula Evans, Yvonne Bland, Vera Harris, Delochie McClellan, Carl Ingraham, Toussaint Patterson, Oscar Jones. A dinner-dance is to be given in honor of the graduates by the Girl Reserves.

FLORIDA TEACHER SUES FOR EQUAL SALARIES

TITUSVILLE, Fla., June 16.—John Gilbert, principal of the Cocoa Junior High school, has filed a petition with the circuit court, seeking to compel the Board of Public Instruction to establish equal salary schedules for white and colored teachers, it was learned this week through the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The petition was filed May 24 by the law firm of McGill and McGill of the firm is receiving the advice and assistance from the legal staff of the Association.

Gilbert's petition states that he holds a second grade certificate from the state department of education and is in his eleventh year of teaching. His salary is $50 a month for a nine-month term. Mr. Gilbert also receives an additional $228 a year as principal of the school, making a total of $738. White teachers with the same grade certificate and the same teaching experience receive $100 a month or $900 per year. White teaching principals are paid an additional amount above the $900.

Pointing out that the salary differential for teaching is 100 percent, the petition asserts that the said differential is based solely on race and color of the teacher.

At first the petition was filed in the supreme court of Florida which has concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit courts in mandamus actions. The supreme court, however, can refuse to take original jurisdiction and in this case it did so, referring the petitioner to the circuit court.

If the circuit court dismisses the petition for any reason, it will be taken then to the supreme court of the state.

Court attaches were frank in stating that no petition of this kind had ever been filed and the court would have to make research into the legal question involved. The petition is similar to those which have been filed by lawyers in several counties, the boards of education equalized salaries by an agreement out of court.

According to George R. Walters, principal, there will be a 40 piece band, a soloist and a quartette, furnished by courtesy of the Federal Music Project.

The public is asked to come out and help the students celebrate their vacation period.

LAJC Prexy to Visit Parrish

Announcement was made this week that Wendell Green, first Negro Associated Men's Student body president at the Los Angeles Junior College, has been invited by Dr. Parrish, city health officer, to visit him and discuss the possibility of having tests made for venereal diseases in the school.

Green advocated venereal tests for jaysee students in his election platform.

An implement has been invented to remove thorns from roses without injuring the stems.

Randolph Hits Propaganda Attacks On Brotherhood

NEW YORK, June 16—A story on the Brotherhood of Pullman Porters, sent out recently by the Associated Negro Press, was scored this week by A. Philip Randolph, International President of the union, as propaganda.

"The release sent out by the Associated Negro Press, with recognized 'company men' of the Pullman Porters and Maids' Protective Association, the continuation of the old discredited company union, the Plan of Employee Representation, as the spokesman, states that 2,500 porters have lost their jobs or been furloughed, and charges that the Brotherhood is responsible for this," Randolph stated.

"In the first place", he continued, "this is not true. In the second place, the several hundred porters who have been furloughed would have been furloughed if the Brotherhood was not in existence. The Pullman Company has been furloughing porters ever since there has been a Pullman Company, at the close of seasonal business, such as the winter and summer resort seasons. Some engineers, firemen, train and Pullman conductors and practically every class of railroad worker tied up with this seasonal business are furloughed."

"This is so simple and obvious to anyone in the railroad business that to raise it as criticism of the Brotherhood is nothing short of ridiculous. But it would not be raised, were it not for the fact that there are powerful financial and industrial intrests that will seize upon anything to play upon a gullible public and unthinking workers, through ignorant and corrupt agencies, to wean them away from the Brotherhood."

MOUND BAYOU TO GET $50,000 HOSPITAL

MOUND BAYOU, Miss., June 16. BOOK PUBLISHED ON NEGRO HEALTH WEEK

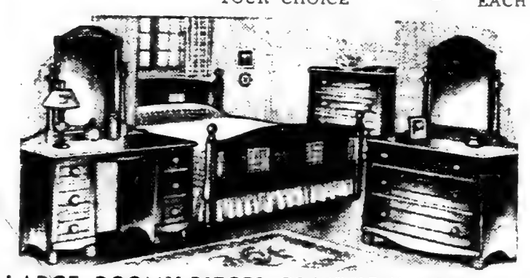
WASHINGTON, June 16. (C)—A thirty-four page book report of activities of National Negro Health Week, which was held on April 3-10, has just been issued by the United States Public Health Service, containing reports of speeches and a summary of activities throughout the nation during the week.

Jim Crow Move Seen in N. J. Beach Code

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 16—A movement to segregate Negroes on the municipally-owned beaches of this city was seen in the ordinance adopted by the city council June 7.

The ordinance does not mention color or race of citizens or use the words segregate or separate. On the surface, the ordinance does not appear to differentiate between citizens, but the wording is such that officials who administer it, may discriminate.



The action which has aroused colored people reads as follows:

"For the purpose of avoiding congestion on any of said beaches, and for a proper distribution of patrons, and for the better protection and safety of patrons on said beaches, the city clerk is authorized and directed to issue badges, checks, or other insignia of a distinctive design or color for the use of each of the respective beaches."

In a new game operated by electricity model boats are moved over a board that simulates a race course.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

Every Porter A Reporter

UPTON SAYS—

The Pullman Porters of Los Angeles have requested me to write a welcome home message this week to Los Angeles' own Henry Armstrong, the greatest little prize fighter who ever drew on a leather glove.

Henry arrives in the city via the Santa Fe as we go to press and the last man on the train he arrives on to bid him God speed and good luck will be a Pullman Porter . . . That Pullman Porter may not be able to get Henry in shape for his next great fistic encounter, but you can bet your last thin dime that he has gone out of his way all during Henry's long trip across the continent to give him the last word in Pullman service and if ever a man stepped off the crack Santa Fe Limited looking fit as a king to meet the public. It will be Henry Armstrong, the pride of the Negro race.

Therefore on behalf of the Pullman Porters of Los Angeles I am proud to be able as their chief official in this city to say, Henry Armstrong we welcome you with all our heart and true sportsmanship back home.

To make your dreams come true, wake up.

Birthday Greeting

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of June: McClinton Davis, M. N. Craddock, H. A. Ross and J. Bell, Sr. International Executive Committeeman of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. Congratulations.

Women's Economic Council Elect Officers

The Colored Women Economic Council of Los Angeles which will be organized into an international organization at the National Convention in Chicago in September met in regular session Monday night and elected the following officers to serve during the next term. Sister Chas. Fletcher, president, Sister Coston, vice-president, Sister R. J. Murray, secretary, Sister McWhorter, treasurer, Sister Trowell, recording secretary and Sister Ross Dean, chaplain. H. L. Armstrong, vice-president was elected supervisor of the council, an office formerly held by W. B. Holland, secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. Through a slight error Armstrong's name was turned in as a Mrs., but it's all a mistake, folks. He's a red blooded he man and popular with the ladies, free, single and disengaged. Mrs. James Goodwin who has been acting vice-president presided over the meeting and in her remarks pledged her continued support to the welfare of the organization but declined an office. The newly elected president, Mrs. Fletcher, has served the organization for several years as secretary with great credit, and is expected to do great things in the way of building up the Council during her term of office. Mrs. Fletcher is a relentless worker as well as are her elected coworkers and no doubt will give many social functions this year. The Council at one time had the reputation of being one of the strongest woman organizations in the west. It is only recently that a dull period struck it which served to create a lack of active interest among the Pullman Porters' wives. The writer presided over the election and all officers were elected by acclamation. Many newly interested persons were present. Among the visitors were Mrs. Lovice Howel an officer of the Union Pacific Dining Car Waiters' Auxiliary, Mrs. Lillian Jones and Miss McCann, past Secretary of the New York Council. An earnest appeal has been sent to all divisions of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters to assist the councils in every way possible. The appeal was sent out several weeks ago by A. Philip Randolph, International President.

CRACK S. P. LARK GOES UP FOR BID
Will Use Eight More Porters Crews Will Get One Night Layover Per Trip

Coming to the rescue of a badly stagnant extra board and disgruntled porters was the announcement this week of the posting up for bid of the "Lark", Southern Pacific's crack Coast Limited, operating between this city and San Francisco. The new line up will use at least 8 more porters and will serve greatly to relieve the uncertain condition of the Los Angeles' extra board. All crews will receive a night layover each trip as formerly instead of doubling out as at present.

WOMEN'S ECONOMIC COUNCIL TO BE HOSTS To New York Guests

According to the president of the Council preparations are being made by that organization to entertain Mrs. S. C. Mapp and Mrs. Mary Rutledge who are new members of the New York Council and will arrive here on the 20th, stopping at the Dunbar.

Mrs. McCann, Past Secretary of the New York Council is sojourning in sunny California in an earnest endeavor to acquire a Hollywood Tan. We wish her luck.

FORMER PULLMAN MAID ENTERS INSURANCE GAME Miss Hundley Advances In New World

It's an ill wind that blows nobody some good is the often repeated phrase and so it is with Miss Hundley, former Pullman Maid operating out of Los Angeles via the Union Pacific, which road discontinued their maids last year. Without a job on short notice, Miss Hundley entered the insurance field and has been unusually successful in writing policies among the railroad men. Had Miss Hundley reconciled herself to the give up spirit she probably would have a very dull outlook on life today. As it is, now she is preparing to make a pleasure trip to New Orleans. More power to her. She's a go-getter

MRS. W. A. PORTER TRAVELS EAST

Mrs. W. A. Porter of San Gabriel left last week for her home in Topeka, Kansas. After spending some time there she will visit Kansas City, Chicago, New York, Minneapolis, Salt Lake, Seattle, San Francisco and return home after Labor Day. Mrs. Porter sure has some trip ahead of her. She has the reputation of being the champion globe trotter. Mr. Porter has been connected with the Southern Pacific for many years. The Clatter wishes Mrs. Porter a pleasant trip.

Boy Scout News

By LOVELL ESTELL, JR.

Sam Armstrong informs us that Troop 180 went down in defeat before Troop 636 (white) in a baseball game held on the athletic field of Foshay Junior high school Sunday A. M. at 10 o'clock. The score was 17 to 5 in favor of 636. Our boys slugged it out to the finish but were unable to score against 636 who has challenged many teams this season and still ride the waves unbeaten.

Ossie White of Troop 617 (Eastside) is coming to the front fast. He has made 32 merit badge and now is in line to become an Eagle Scout. Nice work if you can get it, Ossie, and you can get it if you try.

Scoutmaster Chas. Hunter is planning to set aside a date for the parents to organize and help get behind their Troop 702. So parents watch for the date.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strange visited at Troop 180's regular meeting Friday night, June 3rd. The evening was largely spent in formation drilling. Scoutmaster Thomas Nelson emphasized the fact that we should review our merit badge work, and the troop is considering a plan where all the boys will be given help during the summer months to pass their merit badges.

There are 5 boys on the waiting list for Troop 180. We closed our meeting at 9 o'clock and taps were sounded by Raymond Isum, bugler.

Obituary

Funeral services of the late Sister Ida J. Williamson, 1473 E. 99th street were held Friday, June 3rd at 1 p. m. from Grant Chapel, Watts, Rev. Robt. House officiating, assisted by Dr. H. M. Collins of the First A. M. E. Rev. J. W. Price of Ward's Chapel.

Sister Williamson was the oldest child of the late Rev. James H. and Josephine Hubbard. Sister Williamson breathed her last at 3:20 a. m. Tuesday, May 31.

She departed singing songs and praises of redemption and joy, as she so often said the Angels were singing to her. As the soul went sweeping through the gates of that city bright and fair, to join the loved ones, gone before.

Sister Williamson knew Christ as an abiding, living force, and was kept daily close to his side. Sister Williamson truly loved God, she beheld Him in the birds, the flowers, the fruit of the garden, the fowls of the air, and all mankind of creatures. All that knew her, learned to love her.

Sister Williamson leaves a tender loving and devoted help mate, two loving sisters, one brother, two nieces, six nephews and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

MR. and MRS. JOHN BIVINS

HER FUNERAL HELD

The funeral of Mrs. Leitee Bivins was held at Wesley Methodist Episcopal church on Saturday, June 11, at 2 p. m.

The sorrowing congregation gave evidence of the high esteem and love in which the beloved friend was held by all who knew her. Mrs. Bivins was a native of Greensville, South Carolina, and had lived in Pittsburgh, Pr., and Chicago, Ill, up to 1911 when she became the wife of John Bivins, of 1314 E. 33rd street.

Mrs. Bivins was an active member of Wesley church, serving as stewardess for 23 years. She was also a unit supervisor and was ever busy on errands of mercy. Her many helpful services, her energy and capacity for work amazed all who knew her. She was a member of Pride of the West Circle No. 207 Companions of the Forest, and was past chief companion.

She and her devoted husband celebrated their silver wedding anniversary two years ago after 25 happy years of life together.

Last November the busy life of Mrs. Bivins was checked by illness, and for the last three months she had been confined to bed. Although suffering intense pain, she was patient and loving to those ministering to her.

There were sincere testimonials of appreciation for the helpful life of Mrs. Bivins from neighbors, church and lodge. Comforting remarks were made by the Reverends Lightner, Rodgers and Bishop Washington. The eulogy was delivered by her pastor, Rev. E. W. Raekstraw. There were telegraphic condolences from former pastors, Bishop A. P. Shaw and Rev. L. E. Jordan.

Mrs. Bivins is survived by her mother, husband and many relatives. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. She was laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Bivins and family wish to thank all who were so faithful and kind during the illness and at the time of Mrs. Bivins passing.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our deep gratitude to our many friends for the beautiful flowers and kind expressions of sympathy during the illness and demise of our beloved, Winifred Milton Curry.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Johnson
Mrs. Curry and son

Card of Thanks

We the family of Mrs. Ida J. Williamson, recently deceased, wish to extend to you, our heart felt thanks, and to all of those who extended such precious words of sympathy feeling and consolation, at the funeral, and during the long illness of our beloved darling, and also for the impressive words spoken by our pastor, Rev. Robert House, Rev. J. W. Price, and the poem read by Dr. Collins. The willing service by the choir, and pall bearers, can never be forgotten and the beautiful flowers that covered the casket.

With much appreciation to the Smith-Williams Funeral Co.

No Anti-Semitism Among Negroes, Says 'The Crisis'

NEW YORK, June 16—There is no wide-spread or deep-seated anti-Jewish feeling among Negroes, it is asserted editorially in the June issue of The Crisis magazine.

The editorial states that some Jewish leaders had become concerned over occasional speeches and actions which seem to indicate anti-semitism. The editorial stated:

"But that does not mean that Negroes have not been puzzled and disturbed at time over the actions of some Jewish individuals and groups.

"Certain Jewish philanthropists have made substantial contributions to the financing of programs for Negro advancement and improvement . . . But the Jewish middle class (upper and lower), the shopkeepers and merchants and the landlords, in many cases and in many localities, leave much to be desired. The story is still told in Harlem of the Jewish landlord who told his Negro tenants they ought to be glad to get an apartment with hardwood floors, tiled bathrooms and French doors--at any rental.

". . . Currently, the 165,000 Negro citizens of Baltimore, Md., are incensed over the flat refusal of department stores in that city to serve them--not ice cream sodas and luncheons, but clothing, furniture, and the thousands of other items sold by such establishments . . .

Christian Science Subject is Announced

This verse from the Psalms: "Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth," is the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The question, "Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject.

The Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from Jeremiah: "The LORD hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the LORD our God . . .He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heaven by his understanding." It includes also this verse from the Psalms: "Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King."

Among the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy, are the words: "The scientific fact that man and the universe are evolved from Spirit, and so are spiritual, is as fixed in divine Science as is the proof that mortals gain the sense of health only as they lose the sense of sin and disease.

FREE CLINIC AT TEMPLE INSTITUTE

Victor Nickerson, program chairman for the Outdoor Life and Health Association, announced this week that the usual third Sunday program will be observed in a joint health meeting of all auxiliary groups. The afternoon's activity is under the direction of the Community Health Group headed by Dr. Ruth Temple. The free clinic period is scheduled.

Baritone in Recital Tuesday Nite

Already numerous reservations have been made by enthusiastic music lovers anxious to hear Mr. Septimus Silas, noted baritone when he is presented in recital at Second Baptist Church, Corner 24th and Griffith Avenues, by the Booster club next Tuesday evening, June 21.

Included in selections to be rendered are "Le Captif", "Prologue" from the opera "Pagliacci", "Where ere Ye Walk", by Handel; Negro Spirituals with "Glory Road", by Jacques Wolfe in the group and several request numbers.

Mr. Silas shall be accompanied by Mrs Luvenia Harper Dones.

Mr. Curtis Mayo, accomplished Eastern organist, will render selections between vocal groups.

Plus achievement at the Clark University school of Music, Atlanta, Georgia, special training from the renowned Albert Ruff, and present instructions from the notable Gieuseppe Saccone, Mr. Silas possesses vast experiences.

He pioneered in radio vocal work at Miami, Florida. His intrepretation "Mighty Like a Rose" won from KHJ in 1935 second prize in a semi-amateur radio contest of combined literary and vocal works, first prize being awarded for a literary contribution. His latest piece of work, however, was his remarkable role as Mateo, inn keeper, in the opera "Fra Diavalo" where his singing lines were most commendable.

Annual Fellowship Fete of San Diego Church a Success

The fifth annual fellowship banquet of Logan chapel A. M. E. Zion church under the auspices of the Trustee board was declared one of the most successful ever sponsored both financially and socially. 150 persons attended the fete which began at 7:30 with the usher board as hostesses.

Ushers were the chairman, Mrs. Smart; Mmes. Alexander, R. Welton, R. Richardson, and Jenkins all beautifully attired in evening dress. Mrs. Anna White was assisted by Mrs. Rae Kelly as mistress of ceremonies in presenting the following participants on the program: Rev. L. W. McCoy, Ralph Walker, Rev. J. E. Blackmore, Mmes. Janie Simpson and Margaret Harper, and Miss Cleora Van Lowe.

Success of the banquet was largely due to work of the following: Mmes. Smart, Jenkins, Taylor, Belle Oakley, Kervin, Rosie Peters; Messrs. Raymond Welton Mollettee, Denton, T. R. Dunlap, R. Walker, F. Logan, L. Haynes, A. Turman, and Smart. Contributions were made by the following companies: Armour's packing company, Bay City market, Bueno's Central Park market, Greenbaums. Mrs. Ellen Story solicited advertisements. Other contributions of equipment were made by Bethel AME Church, Tate's Funeral Home, and the Democratic Club.

Trustees are Raymond Welton, chairman; S. Smart, assistant chairman; M. R. Logan, treasurer; J. Allen, secretary; M. Smith, assistant secretary; and W. Minifield, chaplain.

Pastor To Attend Congress

DR. T. L. GRIFFITH

Dr. T. L. Griffith, pastor of the Second Baptist church for nearly seventeen, years left Los Angeles this morning (Thursday) to attend the National Baptist Sunday School and BYPU Congress meeting in Tuskegee, Alabama. He will also attend the International Convention of Religious Educatio in Columbus and will serve as a delegate from the local branch of the N. A. A. C. P. to the national meeting of that body in Columbus. Before returning, Dr. Griffith expects to visit in New Orleans, Atlanta and Chicago.

A party of fifteen Angelenos will attend the Baptist meeting.

Rev. Susie Kinsey Thrills Audience

On June 5th, Women's Day at Hamilton M. E. church, the public was greatly pleased by the manner in which Rev. Susie R. Kinsey handled the morning sermon. She captivated her audience when she took Corinthians 5:17. Viz. "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature", and fashioned as her subject, "Christ and the new woman".

We were thrilled by her eloquence, and we are marvelling at her accomplishment in the theological relm, in such a short time. This to me is truly a sign of a great religious leader, and a brave follower of Jesus Christ, doing His will and spread the gospel to hungry souls.

Listen folks, at any time you see the name Rev. Susie Kinsey, and to know that she will be preaching at any church no matter where, you can go to hear her with the assurance that you will be set on fire to the roots of your soul, for she is very well qualified to represent not only her group, but any group, and don't worry, for her constant application to the spiritual will lead us up and up into crystal whiteness, the pure and undefiled state of purity.

MacBeth is Emancipation Celebration Speaker

MI. 5430 By E. B. Wesley 1721 Logan Ave.

The Bethel Baptist church, 29th and Clay, will be hosts to the San Diego Race Relations Society at their monthly meeting, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The occasion will be celebrating the Emancipation of the American Negro.

Hugh E. Macbeth, Liberian Consul of Los Angeles, and member of the California Race Relations Commission, will appear as principal speaker on this program. He will bring to San Diego important information dealing with the American Negro and his problems.

Headed by Hon. Percy J. Benbough, mayor of the city, practically all Municipal departments of San Diego will be represented on this program. Musical talent representing several races will compose the musical program of the evening. This program will be opened by Rev. Chas. H. Hampton in a welcome address, with the Bethel Baptist choir singing appropriate numbers. Dennis V. Allen, president of the society will preside. Refreshments will be served free and the public is invited to attend this meeting.

A party of high K. of P. officials were visitors in San Diego last week, combining business with pleasure. They were: J. Allen Reese, grand chancellor commander; Wilson Sellers, D. G. C. C., M. Lindsley, Grand Treasurer, T. B. Norman, Grand Lodge Endowment Secretary. All were from Santa Monica. M. Chapman of Los Angeles, past chancellor commander of one of the K. of P. lodges in that city, was also a member of the party.

W. L. Martin, chief executive of the International Order of 12, Knights and Daughters of Tabor, made his official visit to the local Temple No. 3 Friday night, June 10. Mr. Martin was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Freeman, 2827 Imperial avenue.

Elder Jas. A. Jackson, pastor of the Church of God in Christ, left last Friday for Los Angeles to attend the State convention of the Church of God in Christ now being held in that city.

Eugene Coleman, one of San has gone to Stockton for an in- Diego's sought after young men definite sojourn. Miss Emma Love and Mr. E. G. Collins spent the week-end in Los Angeles. Mrs. Lula Claridy is spending two weeks in Watts with her daughter, Mrs. Celia Blackburn.

The San Diego Senior High school gave us the following graduates: Martha Lei Bailey, Annie Wadell Brown, Agnes Olivia Green, Juanita Lorraine Henson, Alice Lou Picou, Charles Cheaves, Lucius Gentry, Bernard Andrew Gray, Jack Lyde, Carl Wayne Wiggins. Those from Memorial Junior High School were: Josephine Bowman, Gladys Brooks, Maxine Glover, Margaret Helton, Wyomia Logan, Alma McCoy, Lorraine McFadden, Erma Mohand, Carlene Peden, Alleen Posey, Lavenia Stensell, Bertha Williams, Rudolph Benton, John Cornell, Frank De Witty, Conrad Hartzog, Howard King, Lonnie Logan, Russell Miller, Robert Rapheal, John Ritchey, Floy Williams and Georgia Wilson.

ROBERT RAPHAEL MAKES FINE SHOWING

One of the five appearing on the Memorial Junior High school program at the commencement exercises on Thursday night was Robert Rapheal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Rapheal. Robert displayed much ability as a young orator in presenting his student address, under the theme "Personalities" on "George Washington Carver". In a clear and masterful manner he related most interestingly the great achievements of one of the most outstanding scientists of modern times. The overwhelming applause received by Robert at the close of his address easily put him in first place as the best speaker. Robert is an energetic boy and has won several prizes for his fine exhibit of livestock at the various county fairs.

THE SICK

The Sunshine Club reports the sick for the week at the General Hospital: Mrs. Mary Ankrum, Mrs. Adelina Malone, Mrs. Bernice McKinzie, Mrs. Constance Forrest, Mr. Luther Tarbet and Mr. John Smith; At Vauclain Homes: Mrs. Ruth McClelland, Mrs. Sadie Johnson, Mrs. Rosa Mae Armstrong, Miss Georgia Bell, Miss Thelma Gipson, Mr. Dan Gatlin; At home: Mrs. Mary White, Mrs. A. Ackers, Mrs. Frances Wilson, Mrs. Mary Warren, Mr. Louis McMillen.

SOCIETY

Under the canopy of Southern California skies 25 of San Diego's most charming Misses were entertained at a garden party at the home of Mrs. J. A. Freeman, 2827 Imperial Ave., Saturday evening. This unique social was given by Mrs. J. A. Freeman and Mrs. Aurelia Bowman, in honor of Misses Jo Willie Gaines, Annie Brown, Martha Bailey, and Alice Picco, recent graduates of San Diego High school.

Beautifully decorated tables dotted the Freeman art garden, recognized as one of the most beautiful in Southern California. Around these tables were seated charming Misses clothed in the season's latest fashions. In addition to dinner and delacicies served on tables, the canopy enlivened interest by making most of the weiners in the barbecue pit.

The Freeman art garden is recognized by landscape gardeners and art critics as one of the most artistic and beautiful home gardens of California. Flowers selected for beauty and fragrance for the four seasons, adorn this garden. Beyond the swing-chairs and settees are the green houses and the fish pond.

The young ladies enjoying the hospitality of Mesdames Freeman and Bowman, were: Annie Brown Martha Bailey, Jo Willie Gaines, and Alice Picco, honor guests; iels, and Misses Aljurie and Queen Esther Clark, Etta Gatewood, Mayme Allen, Dorothy and Cecil Daniels, Wyoline and Betty Booker, Doris Williams, Ruby Vorce, Nellie and Estherlyn Cheaves, Loraine McFadden, Mary Gorham, Erma Mohand, Betty Moore, Delice Long, Mary DeBois, June Dickens and Darlene Wallace. Assisting Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Bowman in this presentation, were Mesdames Rebecca Craft, Anna McClure, Sidney Skinner and Mrs. Alma Bell. The "Surprise Spelling Bee" was supervised by Rev. Francis McClure, presiding elder of Southern California A. M. E. churches. Among invited guests was Dennis V. Allen, Chairman of the California Race Relations Commission and president of the San Diego Race Relations Society.

On Friday evening, June 10, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Johnson, 3105 Franklin Ave., entertained a number of friends with a delightful dinner. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson was very artistically decorated with carnations and roses. Instrumental and vocal solos were furnished by some of the guests present. A very pleasant evening was spent and the Johnsons proved themselves charming hosts.

CHURCHES

At the morning services of the Bethel A. M. E. church of which the Rev. Louis H. Owens is pastor, the Rev. H. Francis McClure, P. E., preached an able sermon after which the Delta Sorority officials were introduced. The evening services were also in charge of the Rev. McClure, who was holding the third quarterly meeting of this conference year.

Men of the church are making preparations for observing Mens' Day on the last Sunday in this month.

Mt Zion Baptist Church
Rev. C. Johnson, Pastor

The morning service was very inspiring and uplifting to all Christians present; The Pastor preached a sermon from Luke 7: 5. Subject: "The increase of faith" We all really felt that we needed more faith.

Mrs. W. B. Pope, chairman of the Deaconess Board, had asked all sisters to bring a basket of food to the church, and we really all enjoyed a sumptous noon day meal. Tihs being children's day at 2:30 a well arranged program sponsored by Mrs. Winniefred McFarlin was enjoyed by every one present.

At the eight o'clock hour the Deacons filled their places, and with the Holy Spirit opened the service, with hallelujah praise to God. The pastor preached.

On last Thursday night the Rev. Blackmore, and his faithful congregation were the pleasant guests of the Mt. Zion Church, it being the first effort to put on by the Faithful Nehemiah Club of the church. Sister Alma Yancey, President. They rendered a most satisfying program after which the pastor, Rev. Blackmore preached.

Trinity Baptist Church
3146 Ocen View Blvd.
J. Harold Brown, Pastor

11 A. M. the pastor preached an excellent sermon from John 6:66. Subject "Many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him." The choir supplied the musci under the direction of Mrs. Valrams. There was one addition to the church.

Rev. Wilson to Attend San Diego Confab

Pastor Harold E. Wilson of Fountain AME Mission will leave June 19th, for San Diego to attend the Southern California District Conference; and from there to Los Angeles where he will spend a short vacation with his family. Under his administration Fountain Mission has made progressive strides and is in position to make a creditable report at the Annual Conference at Los Angeles in September. Every auxiliary and department of the Mission is in first-class condition; all because of the unusual cooperation of the appreciative congregation and friends. During pastor Wilson's absence the Mission will be under the supervision of Cleveland McCloud and the official board. Among parishoners who will depart for the summer are Mesdames W. Wright, Annie McCloud and Ida Roberson to parts in Texas. Mesdames Sadie Herron and Mrs. Adie Finney to Los Angeles. Others who will go out at different times during the summer will be Mesdames R. W. Bostic, S. Gillum, Mr. and Mrs. James Bunch, Julia Keever and several others. Miss Pearl Herron will be the news correspondent for the summer assisted by Miss Geraldine Bostic. Participation and visitors at Fountain Mission last Sunday which was the occasion of the Ladies Aid Society annual worship services were Rev. Edgar Banks? Mesdames P. H. Wofford, Jesse Moore, Agnes White, Lucille Levingston, Addie Finney, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Thompson, Misses Charleston and Virginia Thompson, Olga and Maymie Blake, Messrs Roy Knight, James Banks and Samuel Blake.

Say San Pedro for Hatfield for Governor

San Pedro

By EDWARD H. CUNEY
790 W. 1st Street

Political candidates were invited to meet the voting public at a tea at the home of Mrs. Will Stewart by the Frederick M Roberts Political and Social club last week. Prominent among them was a speaker for Lieut. Governor George J. Hatfield, who is running for Governor on the Republican ticket. Lieut. Governor Hatfield's case was very favorably received by those in attendance. This district is believed to be behind the Lieut. Governor for the post he is seeking.

Mrs. Bronson, district president of the League, was here from Santa Monica. Speaking at the Williams Chapel AME church she invited the church and its friends to Santa Monica on the fourth Sunday in June. J. H. Glover, father of Rev. J. L. Glover, pastor of Williams Chapel, left the city for Omaha, Nebr.

The Rev. H. Mansfield Collins was preacher at the morning services of Williams Chapel last Sunday. Rev. Collins is a candidate for the Bishopric and from all indications he has a good chance. Rev. Prince of El Centro and Rev. Harris of Los Angeles also spoke briefly.

Luke's Auto Laundry team won the softball championship of the Harbor District, defeating last year's champions by 4-1. One of the largest crowds this season was out to witness the game. Roberts, the pitcher for Luke's, was in complete control of the game and allowed only two hits and issued one free pass to base. After the game the players were given a surprise party at the home of Albert Luke, manager of the team.

Bakersfield

Local 'Cubs' Take Lead in Valley League

By JERRY FLEMING, JR.

The Bakersfield Cubs moved up to take the lead in the Valley League standing last Sunday. In trouncing the All-Stars 8-3, the Cubs ran their winning streak to four straight victories. The game proved to be one of the best witnessed here in some time although the score does not show it. The Cubs' superior playing stamps them as the team to beat for the Valley championship.

Alemery, pitching for the Cubs, let the All-Stars down with only four hits and struck out 12 batters, setting a new record for Recreation Park strike-outs. The cubs slammed the All-Stars for 13 hits. Incidentally the Cubs are the only colored team in the league. They play the All-Stars again on Sunday.

The Senior prom last week was really tops no foolin'! . . . It seems there was a little mix up and a change of couples in one case. I wonder if A. H. and S. S. were satisfied. I hope so, I was. I heard that a private society picnic last Sunday would have been tops except for two things crashing the party. I wonder who they were? They tell Arthur just went for the ride . . . John said he was through with girls, and I'm sure he will be for a while if he doesn't keep out of the public with some things . . . Susie wonders why she hasn't had any publicity, maybe no one knows of her frequent moonlight rides lately . . . Bill is being besieged with queries from the fems lately, maybe they are wondering why he writes down south and is neglecting the local parties. Our two distinguished visitors left this week. Miss Alwortha Hall and our own dear Sally Smith. I wonder how Murell Cooksey feel now.

I have found the reason why Johnny Soughart comes to town so often now . . . They tell me that a certain girl in town has stopped taking her frequent taxi cab drives now that Georga is back in town . . . I wonder if S. S. remembers the Senior Prom night and the night after? I know a certain party that will remember those nights.

Flashes:

George with his Chicago walk and talk . . . Snuffy and his walk . . . Gilbert and his popularity with the fems . . Cooksey and his dancing . . Ola Bell and her Caroline accent . . . Gene Gardener dancing with "ofay" Anna at a recent dance.

CHURCHES
By MRS. G. A. JACKSON

The fifth Sunday was women's day at the Brotherhood church which was an inspired meeting. Pastor Green of Mt. Zion, Pastor Handy of Cain Chapel, Pastor Freeman of Pleasant View were the guest speakers. Sunday services at Cain Chapel were very inspirational with a guest speaker, well known Brother H. C. Patterson, who delivered a deep moving sermon, subject "The Christian Life under change condition". Brother Patterson is soon to be ordained into the ministry. The June Club of Cain Chapel was duly organized. Mrs. H. Bickers is president. They are campaigning to raise $50 on the church debt.

Sunday services at Mt. Zion Sunday were up lifting. The pastor, Rev. H. A. Green preached on "Let Her Alone". Tuesday evening newly elected president Mrs. Ray of the Senior Missionary Circle outlined her program, which was accepted by the sisters. The Junior Mission Circle gave a lemon squeeze which was a success. The Men's Union was organized, with Brother Foster, president.

Last Sunday Miss Ethalena Upshaw and Sister T. B. Moore left for Kansas City as delegates for the Sunday School Congress. The Mt. Zion members went to the station in great numbers to bid these faithful co-worekrs goodbye.

Mrs. Hattie Camp, Miss Rethere Camp, Miss Ethel Mathis and Mrs. Ida Mae Chester motored to Los Angeles on Sunday. They spent a very enjoyable day with friends.

CLUBS AND LODGES

The annual banquet of the Modern Mothers club was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Cumby. This unique affair will be long remembered in the minds of our visiting friends. President Mrs. Sarah Little who is so faithful never cease until everything goes over in a big way. At a wee hour in the morning some 35 or more friends and members were leaving for home after such a wonderful evening.

Dtr. Violet Murray chairman of Neplus Temple Dtr. Elks did all she could to make the weiner bake a success on last Saturday evening.

El Centro

Organize Eastern Star Chapter in El Centro

By W. A. Payne

With twenty-eight Grand Lodge Officers and members from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach, San Diego, Riverside, and Santa Monica in attendance, a local chapter of the Order of Eastern Star was organized in this city last Friday evening. The delegation was headed by Dr. S. M. Beane and Mr. Thomas B. Norman. Full particulars of the organization and the officers selected will appear in the next issue of the Eagle. El Centro citizens served a sumptuous dinner to the visitors during Friday afternoon following it later with a water melon feast, serving Imperial Valley's finest at the residence of Mrs. Lottie Augustus. At the conclusion of the work of setting up the organization a banquet was served in the Elk's Lodge Rooms. Several of the guests remained to visit among relatives and friends.

Lieut. Littleton McDuff, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, Southern California, made an official visit to the local Elks Lodge last Thursday evening. He commended the fine work of the local organization, gave timely advice, and conducted the semi-annual election which resulted as follows: Felix Gray, E.R.; E. H. Cross, E. Ldg. K.; Arthur Cleveland, E. Lyl. K.; Lewis Foster, E. Lct. K.; J. P. Thomas, Esquire; Richard Bayloe, I. G.; Roy Van Austin, Tiler. Mr. Gray succeeds himself as Exalted Ruler. He has proved a wide-awake executive and the organization has made splendid progress under his direction. R. J. Burleigh was elected Grand Representative; and W. A. Payne and Mr. Gray were elected alternates.

Phyllis Wheatley Temple of Daughter Elks entertained their members and friends with a cocktail party last Thursday evening. The entertainment was sponsored by the Education Committee.

NEW PARENTS

Dr. Stork was quite busy during the past week leaving a fine boy with Mr. and Mrs. DuBois McGee. Mother and son are reported doing nicely at the La Solano hospital. He bears the monicker Robert Nathaniel. Old Doc continued his rounds and left a nine pound girl with Mr. and Mrs. George Venable, Sunday morning. DuBois has passed the cigars; we are looking for George.

There has been a general exodus of teachers, leaving for vacations of varied kinds. Reports to date are to the effect that they may be located as follows: Miss Gladys Gier, summer school U. C., Berkley; Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor, summer school both sessions, USC; L. J. Stewart, research and study, Los Angeles; W. A. Jackson, remodeling his new home here and travel later; Mrs. Jackson will attend the State Federation and will probably make an eastern tour later; Prof. A. E. Prince, summer session USC; Mrs. A. E. Prince, San Diego State College; Miss Emily Roberson, San Francisco State College; Miss G. N. Jones, San Francisco State College; Mr. James Robinson, Mrs. Lucille Culberson, USC; Mr. James Stocks, USC and probably eastern trip; Mr. and Mrs. George Venable, Los Angeles; Mrs. Zenobia J. Payne, Miss Swopes School, Long Beach; Mrs. Ruth Sims, Los Angeles, later summer school; Miss Lenore Cooper an extended tour South and East; Mrs. Margaret P. Owens, San Diego State College; Mrs. Ruth Johnson, USC and later a trip East.

Last Friday evening the Douglass High School Alumni gave a benefit dance for the Craig brothers whose home was recently destroyed by fire. The entertainment was well attended.

A greatly strengthened El Centro team defeated the Brawley ball team by a score of 12-7 last Wednesday evening. The next game will be with the Eagles team of the I. V. Circuit. Mr. James Robinson, tenor and Miss Lenore Cooper, pianist gave special musical numbers at the reception given the graduates of Central Junior College following their commencement program.

Relatives and friends are receiving announcements from Miss

By IRA

Talk about fire-works, wait for, and by all means, attend the political debate of the age! More thrilling than the Lincoln-Douglas battle of words, or the nationally renowned Kansas talk-fest in 1896 between Jerry Simpson and Chester I. Long! "Resolved that the New Deal is a Failure" will be discussed by Frederick M. Roberts and Lloyd Griffith, while those ardent Democrats, Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins and Titus Alexander, will defend the acts and efforts of the Roosevelt Deal.

The debate is sponsored by the 62nd Assembly District County Central committee, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, chairman; Mrs. Beatrice Johnson, secretary.

Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz of Los Angeles County, has officially announced his candidacy for renomination at the primaries August 30. Biscailuz is one of the best officials ever to serve in that capacity, sez Ira.

He is an upright, clean official and his record will stand to any criticism that might be offered. He has given our group recognition in his official family and that is to any man's credit in this world of prejudice, bias and broken promises.

State Treasurer Chas. G. Johnson seeks renomination on the Republican and Democratic tickets. Johnson said: "This office has always been non-partisan in administration and personnel, for which reason I am a candidate on both major party tickets".

Ellis E. Patterson, Demo assemblyman from Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties, feels like being lieutenant-governor and filed his nomination papers to that effect in Monterey Wednesday.

William Moseley Jones, Demo candidate for attorney general, has decided not to try and prevent his prime opponent, Earl Warren from running on as many tickets as he pleases.

From all sides we meet people with filling for the pie. Monday we bumped into this story and we'll repeat it as 'twas told to us.

Mrs. Beatrice Reeves conceived the idea of organizing a non-partisan club. Flanked by Lieutenants R. G. Lamar and Crooms, Mayor of Central avenue, the call was whispered into the ear of a favorite few. The hour dawned and the gavel fell on TWO WOMEN BESIDE THE CHAIRMAN AND HER AIDES, AND ONE LADY WHO WAS A CURIOSITY SEEKER.

If at first you don't succeed, try and try again.

From Watts comes a "beef" from that battle-scarred veteran, Hilton Phillips. He's out to purge his part of what he terms "sell-out Democrats". Hilt says he's going to blow the lid off.

Dr. Walter Scott Franklin, distinguished California physician, has filed his formal declaration of candidacy for lieutenant-governor. For many years, Dr. Franklin was a member of the University of California Medical School staff. He is running for office on both tickets.

James Rolph III, candidate for lieutenant-governor, and recent dinner guest of the 62nd Republican assembly district county central committee is also a popular candidate for this office.

Wendell L. Shay, 3100½ Brighton avenue, has announced his candidacy for the Asembly in the 63rd district. New York born and educated in the schools of his native state, plus Colorado and New Mexico, Shay has a fine background.

Speaking of Assembly candidates in the 62nd, an influential bunch had Walter Lawson in tow Saturday, trying to make him consent to toss his top-piece in the ring.

"Walt has the popularity," the gang says, "and has added to it by his radio broadcast."

In answer to this, Walter informed your scribe that he is a very busy man, but couldn't say what would happen after a careful study of the matter.

Dr. Eva Whiting Young still lingers behind the scenes. Who is the doctor for and where does she stand are questions causing much speculation. Some say the doctor has quit the great game of politics.

A. Hartley Jones, Spurgeon Jones, James Jones, James Alexander and Tommy Myles, Republicans, are battling for the Assembly nomination. Each feels that he is the man to beat. "Gus" Hawkins, the incumbent, sails along under the Democratic flag. Amos Black is said to be managing the Myles craft.

Atty. Leo Gallagher is well liked by Eastside voters. However he pulled a boner by filing against Judge Gates. Too bad, Mr. Gallagher.

In the 14th Congressional District race there seems to be Frederick M. Roberts, Wm. D. Campbell and Miss Fay Allen.

Delegates to Labor's non-Partisan League conclave in, San Francisco last week side-stepped indorsing any party or candidate. Seems that there are so many good men seeking office that the boys have adopted a hands-off policy. Dan R. Healy, county executive secretary said, "The League can work for closer unity in labor and liberal groups by refraining from making recommendations."

The close of last week found many tossing their headgear into the ring, seeking a chance to serve the dear people. Among them we found:

For Assembly, Michael F. O'Malley, 65th District, insurance man, Democrat, 1126 West 48th St.; T. Fenton Knight, 48th District, rancher, Republican, 4850 Oakwood avenue, La Canada; Ben Rosenthal, 52nd District, Assemblyman, Democrat, 1924 East Fourth street.

For Superior Court, Edward R. Brand, judge of Superior Court, Office No. 17; W. Turney Fox, judge of Superior Court, Office No. 13.

For County Central Committee, Wood Wilson, 62nd District, 1313 East 33rd St., Republican; Ben Feinstein, 44th District, 515 West First street, Democrat.

Sunday morning 75 Democrats gathered at breakfast in the Dunbar hotel where political bigwigs held a get-together for "Olsen for Governor". An address by Assemblyman Hawkins was the feature of the morning.

It seemed that everyone in the Donkey's Camp was there with the exception of Clarence Muse, John Fowler, Dick Abrams and Elias Hawkins.

WILLIAM H. POLLARD

BONDED SALESMAN

June the month of brides and graduates—has finally come into prominence. What could be a more appropriate gift to the June bride or deserving graduate than a brand new Ford V-8 or a Lincoln Zephyr? Or, if one of the latest model cars doesn't exactly fit into your budget, out of an assortment of reliable R and G (renewed and guaranteed) used cars, there is sure to be one that will meet with your approval in both style and price.

Mr. Pollard, well-known Race salesman and the only one in Los Angeles County that enjoys the distinction of being a bonded salesman, located at J. A. Nadeau, Ford dealer at Central Avenue and Slauson Boulevard, will be on hand to assure your purchasing a good, dependable car to fit your need no matter if your taste runs to the beautiful new Lincoln Zephyr with the improved V-type engine, either of the two bigger and better Ford V-8's, Standard V-8 and the luxurious V-8 Deluxe, both with either 60 or 85 horsepower engine—or a good buy in a practically new used car.

Among his many satisfied and regular customers there is constant praise and appreciation of his unfailing integrity, and courtesy in his business dealings. Having been at his present location for a period of two years and with a foundation of 8 years' experience as a salesman elsewhere, you may rest assured that Mr. Pollard is a well versed salesman with a comprehensive knowledge of values.

Call on your Bonded Salesman today at J. A. Nadeau, Central and Slauson Avenues, and inquire for him at the floor. If he is not in at the time leave a message for him and he will call at your home. Phone ADams 7141, residence REpublic 5077.

Spurgeon Jones Oustanding in Business World

One of the outstanding candidates for the Republican Assembly nomination in the 63rd District, Spurgeon C. Jones is best known in the business world where he has made a conspicuous success of the Eastern Outfitting Company's Eastside store.

It was recalled this week that the popular young business man began his career in the commercial world as a hand in a packing establishment. The boy's extreme initiative and ability to make friends soon removed him from the brackets of such labor, it is stated. In fact, as a member of the State Treasury office in Pittsburg, Pa., he was so aggressive that he was soon nicknamed "Promotional Jones".

Spurgeon's brother, Paul Ford Jones, is one of the race's outstanding politicians and a real power in Pennsylvania.

THOMAS MYLES, above, was announced this week as political representative of the California Eagle.

Myles, who was previously associated with the Eagle, is also a candidate for the Assembly from the 62nd district.

Young Voters Club Plans Youth Survey

Taking a cue from the talk of Norman O. Houston, prominent in political affairs of the state and secretary-treasurer of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, officers of the Young People's Voters Club Friday night plans to conduct a youth survey from a political standpoint.

Speaking of current trends in politics, Mr. Houston traced the part the Negro has played in party politics from the well-remembered crash of 1929 to the present time, advising the club to lend its energies towards a program of awakening the political consciousness of the youth of the city.

In line with the reorganization and re-declaration of principles of the Republican Uarty, the Young People's Voters Club, chartered and incorporated in February of 1936, plans to conduct a youth survey to determine just what the young voter desires in and from the party.

Officers of the non-partisan club, of which Vernon McCalla is president, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cullen Fentress, 4117½ Naomi avenue.

ANNUAL BANQUET DINNER

THE MORNING VIEW CHARITY CLUB will hold its Annual Banquet Dinner, Thursday, June 23rd, at the new home of Faithful Baptist Church, 41st Street and Paloma Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shelton Hostesses, 1223 E. 49th Street.

U. S. Booker, Pres.; Mr. Luck and Mrs. S. Williams, Reporter.

NAACP Hits Warren Appointment

NEW YORK, June 16—A protest has been sent by the NAACP to President Roosevelt upon the reported appointment of Congressman Lindsay Warren of North Carolina to be comptroller general of the United States.

The association based its protest upon the record of Congressman Warren as chairman of the House committee on accounts which has charge of the House restaurant. In 1934, Congressman Warren was quoted as stating "the House restaurant has been operated by the committee since 1921. It has never served colored employes or visitors nor will it so long as I have anything to do with the restaurant."

Although the House restaurant has catered to the public for years, under Congressman Warren's administration white outsiders were served but not Negro outsiders. The protest against the policy became so persistent that Congressman Warren instructed the restaurant managers to pretend to observe the rule that only members of the House would be served. The restaurant segregation provoked one of the famous speeches by Congressman DePriest on the floor of the House in which he engaged in sharp exchange with Congressman Tom Blanton of Texas.

It was in this speech that DePriest made his long remembered remark about some white people being so particular about the people they ate with and not so particular about the people they slept with.

School System is Topic of Covington Talk

Workings of the City School System which tend to frustrate the job aspirants of the Negro high school student were disclosed Sunday morning in a talk to members of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity by Floyd Covington, secretary of the local branch of the Urban League.

Through a graph, titled "The Vicious Circle" which pictured the progress of the student from the home to school to factory to trade school, Covington enlisted the support of the fraternity to further plans of research which will culminate, it is hoped, in elimination of so-called Negro jobs in the texts used by high school counselors.

The Urban League executive spoke to the Omegas on the occasion of the fraternity's regular monthly breakfast which is held in Esther Brown's Cooking School, 2814 Paloma Avenue. Welton Robinson is basileus of the local chapter.

FAY ALLEN TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

Announcement was made this week by Richard B. Robertson of the candidacy on both the Republican and Democratic ticket of Miss Fay Allen for Congress from the 14th district. Miss Allen ran for membership on the Board of Education in the last political campaign. She was defeated after polling 12,000 votes.

Daughter Elks in Annual Relief Tea

On last Sunday afternoon, the second floor of the Elks' building was transformed with beautiful cut flowers and decorated tables — each representing a month of the year—and ladies in afternoon dress presiding at the tables and in the receiving line.

The tea is an annual event, sponsored by the relief department of Hiawatha Temple No. 91, Daughters of Elks. Mrs. Ora Venerable was chairman of the committee. Proceeds of the tea are used to assist members of the temple in times of distress.

FREMONT COUNCIL HONORS PRESIDENT

A surprise luncheon and party was given at the home of Mrs. S. J. Pasela on Friday, June 10, for Mrs. Essie Walker, president of Fremont council. Mrs. Walker was presented a beautiful tablecloth and napkins in appreciation of her outstanding work.

Officers for the ensuing council year will be installed on Friday morning, June 17 by Mrs. W. R. Goddard in the South Park picnic grounds.

Fellowship Body Holds Election Sunday at YMCA

With its annual election of officers scheduled, the Los Angeles Fellowship League which meets Sunday morning at the 28th St., YMCA, will be host also to "Stymie" Beard and his sister, of "Our Gang" comedies.

The speaker of the day, according to an announcement made today by Dr. A. J. Booker, president of the body, will be F. C. Patton, who will discuss "The Evolution of Transportation". Music is in charge of Luvenia Harper Dones and the public is invited.

KIDDIES ENTERTAIN GUESTS OF EASTSIDE MOTHERS

Guests and members of the Eastside Mothers Club at a musicale-tea in the Masonic Auditorium were delightfully entertained Sunday, between 3 and 7, by Mrs. Alma Hytower's kiddies. The ease and precision of their musical and vocal renditions reflected unusual talent on the part of the performers and superb training on the part of the instructor.

One of the several events on behalf of the club's efforts to raise money for much needed expansion of the Eastside Shelter, an institution for housing and rehabilitating girls and women, this affair was remarkably successful.

The fine flavor of Julia Lee Wright's Bread did not "just happen." It was carefully planned and produced. Recipe after recipe, submitted by women of the West, was tested and retested. Various blends of flour, leavening materials, etc., were tried out in the kitchens of the Homemakers' Bureau in search of the perfect combination that resulted in Julia Lee Wright's Bread.

The valuable formula, thus perfected, was then turned over to Safeway's staff of experts in the bakery department. Here, with baking equipment of modern design, the fine loaf that was developed under woman's baking conditions, is produced in huge quantities, retaining all its delicious flavor and delicate texture.

Try a loaf today. If you don't agree that it tastes better, we'll return all your money.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL
Society Editor

Before I get on with this ado about what you do, a stooge's note of some weeks back must be attended to. Said very dependable stooge 'phoned that Peggy Brooks and ex-husband, Bob Dorsey, were among those who believed in the advice of the Scotchman of the spider story . . . 'Member Bruce and "try, try again" . . . All that to say that the duo decided to become one again. The Dorseys married the first time three years ago in Las Vegas, Nevada. I wish them happiness and hope that the stooge understands that the note got rammed into one of those places that pinch-hit for pigeon holes . . . Although there's quite a galaxy of them — far too many to enumerate — June will not carry all the brides to the altar . . . Walthea Simms, state social employe, and Marvin Jones; Grace Fisher, stylist, and Weldon C. Atkins, postal clerk, have chosen August as their vowing time. The former two on August 28 . . . the latter on the 14th!

NOT PROPHETIC!

Still it might be . . . Anyway, talk of babies after brides isn't so out of place — The Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health Association is sponsoring a better baby contest . . . Ages: Two years, down . . . Place of entry: I dunno . . . better call the "Y" or Miss Frances Henderson . . . Time: Coming up . . . when the publicity folks decide to tack the date onto their information. It is later . . . so maybe later's the time . . . There are already more than a dozen babies entered.

Among visitors to the "West's Best" since last press day are recorded Harold Mason, U. C. student and a member of the Association for the Study of American History, who is on a six months' tour which he styles as one "to help myself" and which will take him to the New England states and South. Last Sunday night he spoke in the Immanuel Presbyterian church on Wilshire. Mason is a friend of Andrew DeHeer, native of Africa's Gold Coast, whom a number of Angelenos met last summer.

Monday, Mrs. Mary Starr and granddaughter, Stephanie Marie . . . pretty 'Frisco Junior College student . . . come to see our plant. They are guests of Stephanie's mother, Mrs. Wilma Starr . . . and will leave our fair city today . . . with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Starr and daughter, Ramona, who've been guests of friends at 655 East Forty-second street.

WE WILL NOT FORGET:

The happiness radiated Sunday by Cecil Parks when he took unto himself petite Yvonne Aylor in Wesley Chapel M. E. church . . . the bride was given in grand fashion by Bill Robinson, himself . . . and Bill seemed quite proud to do it . . . before an overflow crowd of relatives and friends.

And guests will certainly remember a long time the graciousness and beauty pervading the palatial home of the J. L. Hills on West Thirty-sixth Sunday afternoon when the Nous Servons hosted their second annual June Rose Tea . . . Peeping from the kitchen between rounds of suds-busting (yes, that's my club) I got a glimpse of Bernice Eblong in a sharp black and green outfit that did marvels for her natural prettiness . . . and her mother was no less smart in a black semi-tailored ensemble . . . And Mrs. Chas. Matthews in print and a becoming black wide-brim hat . . . Happy to meet Mrs. Betty Vaughn . . . in soft beige. Mrs. J. L. Hill wore a nine-day old genuine Hawaiian leis . . . brought by her guest, Nolle Smith. By the by, the guest is being literally stampeded with invitations . . . and accepting them with grace becoming one of his station . . . Glimpses of him in golf togs and later in civil attire plus a few bantering remarks exchanged in the kitchen . . . doesn't leave any doubt that he'd be popular anywhere . . . all his accomplishments and affiliations!

Naida McCullough, pianist of acclaim, is home this week after a two weeks' stay in the Good Samaritan hospital . . . and receiving her friends . . . Mrs. Lucille Williams is better after a siege of the flu . . .

Mrs. Corrine Hicks and the Brownlees enjoyed a jaunt to Oakland . . . on club business . . . The F. C. Meauxs are being roundly entertained during their stay following daughter Edythe's graduation . . . For this Sunday's diversion . . . and if you are invited! . . . don't miss the Van Courtland barbecue and outdoor frolic . . . and if you have the cash, look in on the Doll League's cabaret dance in the Black and Tan cafe on Jefferson and Normandie . . . where Bob Parrish will be the main entertainment attraction.

SOCIAL POSTSCRIPTS: Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary Wednesday evening, June 8, in their home in East 55th street. More than one hundred guests joined in the celebration . . . Mrs. Daisy Mae Neaves of Fort Scott, Kansas, is visiting with her cousin, Mrs. Frances Jones, 1175 East Twenty-first street.

. . . Thanks so much to the kind friends who remembered the day Father Time added another year to my days on earth . . . the greetings . . . flowers and tokens . . . gave a lift that will last a long time . . . Thanks a million!

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

★Upon Closing One's College Memory Book.

★Wrote finis to my undergraduate daze over at the Garner Foundation Wednesday night where the Trojans carried on with their celebration dance to end all celebration dances, despite the rain and all. (Apologies to the Chamber of Commerce.)

Just to see that their city rivals did all right Ucla's Donald Derricks was there with . . . now if I said anyone but Charlotte Hartsfield you'd be surprised, wouldn't you? . . . Otis Bowdoin carried Gwen Jones out Pasadena way . . . Manila Smith strolled in a little later with George Evans who's here from Champaign, Ill., to look things over . . . Edith Jones and Jimmy LuValle trying to select a piece, were boasting that they were there to start the party off before any of the hosts.

Lois Evans dropped in with Leonard McClain but carried on a quite clever and unique bit of dancing, (which we would have liked to tried but dared not on account of fallen arches) with brother, Stanley Evans . . . Tilman Thomas doing the lone wolf act managed to have his usual good time . . . Earlene Chase with S. C.'s Townsend was having her last fling in L. A. before she left for Seattle . . . Cato Robinson with Betty Bratton was doing quite all right just to prove to himself that finals and everything were over . . . tried to see who Leon Coleman, who just blew in town for a couple of days, had for the evening but because he knew it was for publication he wouldn't talk.

Rushing in all out of breath and everything to impress their guests Chris Wright and Johnny Simmons with Carol Ivey made a somewhat belated entrance with the punch . . . Bill Faulkner with Mary Jane Mays danced nonchalantly on despite the mad rush for the punch bowl . . . and Sarah Collins and her brother Mansfield took advantage of the cleared floor to execute a few intricate steps . . . as did Mildred and Louis Shores while Bob Green, Bill Williams and Ouida White had plans to discuss for the Kappa shindig.

Netta and George Garner were holding forth with a sorta' open house in the studio upstairs with the Richards, Georgia Williams and Nolan Payton . . . Bill Beverly and Anna Rosa.

'BOJANGLES' HOME SCENE OF WEDDING

WESLEY PACKED AS YVONNE AYLOR BECOMES BRIDE OF CECIL M. PARKS

Reception Held in Bill Robinson Home

Hundreds packed the auditorium, Sunday School rooms, and foyer of the Wesley Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church at Eighth and San Julian streets, to witness the beautiful ceremony uniting Yvonne Aylor and Cecil Parks. The vows of the popular pair were taken at two o'clock with the Rev. E. W. Rakestraw officiating and were followed with a reception in the new and palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson on West 36th place.

The bride was preceded by six attendants attired in peasant styled pastel shades of net with corresponding satin sandals and modest peasant hats of organdy in off-face mode. Each carried a nosegay of roses surrounded by sweetpeas. They were Misses Margaret Moore in green net; Dollye Maddox, chartreuse green; Francis Bowdoin, yellow; Kathryn Catley, orchid; Carrie Parks, peach; and Ernestine Wilson, maid of honor, in blue net wearing a full length face veil and carrying a corsage of roses. Little Shirley Anne Lee, flower girl, wore blue net.

The bride, attired in sheerest white embroidered organdy with a flowing train and carrying a bouquet of roses and orchids tied with white satin ribbon was given in marriage by Bill Robinson. Her veil of white tulle caught with orange blossoms fell in soft folds at three-quarter lengths.

Ushers were John Seagraves, Joseph Cooper, Marvin Cooper, Raymond Porter, Theodore Mathews. Chester Parks, brother of the groom, was best man. They were in full dress with gamble striped trousers and black and white ties. Each usher wore a white carnation while the groom and Mr. Robinson wore white roses.

The altar was bedecked with large baskets of white stock and white roses and the improvised arch beneath which the betrothed stood was entwined with fern and white roses . . . from the apex of the arch a white be-ribboned bell swung and delicate branches decorated the balcony of the church.

Immediately preceding the ceremony, Misses Eddivies Flennory and Ella Mae Graves sang "Because" and "All for You" respectively. Miss Flennory wore yellow lace; Miss Graves blue taffeta. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Miss Ketherine Owens who wore blue crepe.

For her gown, the bride's mother chose peach chiffon with blue accessories; the groom's mother, Mrs. P. C. Parks, wore blue crepe; and the bride's grandmother was striking in black lace: Mrs. Lenora Green, sponsor of the wedding, wore yellow lace. All were adorned with corsages of gardenias.

At the reception, Miss Marion Brown was hostess assisted by Mmes. George W. Patterson, Artie Parks and members of the Brigadette Social club. Solos were rendered by Bob Parrish, Joseph Crawford and Miss Eddievies Flennory with Mrs. Alice Conway and Miss Katie Wilson at the piano. The wedding cake was cut by Mrs. Grace Robinson and Miss Eddye Cross.

The numerous and beautiful gifts of the bridal pair were displayed in the spacious Robinson playhouse.

Kohinoors Hold Luncheon for Mothers

The members of the Kohinoor Social Club were hostesses to their mothers at the club's Fifth Annual Mothers' Luncheon at the home of Emily Troy, Sunday, June 5.

TURBINE GENERATOR, PLANT NO. 3
LONG BEACH STEAM STATION

This turbine generator can generate electricity equal to the driving power of 133,000 horses. In the foreground is the auxiliary generator, then the main generator. Behind it is the turbine itself, whose blades, actuated by steam at high pressure, turn the generator and produce electricity. On each side of the turbine are the four condensers containing cold sea water which change the steam back to water and return it through feedwater heaters and powerful pumps to the boilers to be used over again.

Edison's Long Beach Steam Station is one of the country's largest fuel-electric plants.

'Holy City' at Second Bapt. Thrills

One of the most ambitious undertakings of the morning choir of the Eastside's Second Baptist church was presentation of Gaul's oratorio, The Holy City", given in the auditorium of the church to a large and appreciative audience recently.

Colorful costumes, special lighting, and an impressive interpretation of the "thorne" of God is believed to have created a reverently expectant attitude on the part of the audience which was met and fulfilled by the choir and soloists. As a prelude, "The Holy City" was played as a violin solo by Mrs. Juanita Durley, followed by the entrance of the costumed choir and soloists. Mrs. Luvenia Harper-Dones presided at the organ, and descriptive reading was done by narrator Charles Hubert.

One of the highlights of the occasion was the singing of the antiphonal choir of twenty voices whose first selection brought responsive applause. Joseph Crawford and Mrs. Naomi Pharr, tenor and contralto, respectively, charmed their hearers with their voices and interpretation, as did Septimus Silas. Mrs. Ernestine Wade, popular member of Second Baptist Church. Mrs. Anna Griffith-Morrow and E. G. Barnes were judged outstanding in their parts.

ZENDAH--the mystic

mystic to appear at tivoli

Zendah, the Mystic, will appear at the Tivoli one week beginning Sunday has achieved international fame through his unique demonstrations of "Psychic Phenomena." He is said to have driven cars throug heavy traffic while blindfolded, has been buried under six feet of earth and has been frozen in a cake of ice; all examples of the degree to which the mind may be trained to control the body.

Carter-Pierson Nuptials At Eighth and Towne

Miss Mattie Joan Carter became the bride of Henry Sylvester Pierson, Jr., Sunday, June 5, at half after five o'clock in the First A. M. E. Church at Eighth and Towne avenues with the Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, pastor of the historic church officiating.

Banks of flowers and candelabras contributed to the beauty of the church. The bride wore traditional white satin dress with a yoke of imported lace and a lace inset of the dress; her veil was of Juliet design of waist length; the ensemble was completed by white sandals. The bride's bouquet was of white roses, gardenias, and lillies of the valley with orchids in the center. She was given in marriage by her grandfather, E. W. McDaniels.

Miss Jessie Reed, maid of honor wore pale peach and carried large red roses tied with a peach ribbon. Other attendants of the bride were Misses Catherine Vick, Lorraine Morse, Edwina Carter, Gladys Cook, Ernestine Wilson and Carrie Parks who wore various pastel shades of organza and taffeta and carried peasant boquets. The flower girl, La Verne Fisher, wore white organza and carried a basket filled with pink and white sweet peas.

Jesse Pierson was best man and the following served as ushers: Thomas Mitchell, Charles De-Man, Arvie Henry, Charles McDaniels, Albert Chism and Robert Moore.

At the close of the ceremony Rev. Collins presented Mr. and Mrs. Pierson with a luck plant, a four leaf clover and a beautiful white bound book of the entire ceremony inclosed. Mrs. Elizabeth Bruce presided at the organ and Harold Kieth sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "O Promise Me".

Mrs. Mamie McDowell, aunt of the bride, wore Delphin Blue lace formal with blue satin shoes; Mrs. Belle Linton, another aunt, white crepe with gold accessories. Both wore corsages of white gardenias. Mmes. Lottie Frisco, Rose Milligan and Minnie Tucker, family friends, were also beautifully gowned.

The reception was held in Camille's Party Den where music was rendered by Mrs. Lottie Anderson.

Vierling Kersey Speaks to Women's Breakfast Club

Verling Kersey, superintendent of the Los Angeles Public Schools, spoke to an overflow crowd of women at the June meeting of the Women's Breakfast Club Sunday morning in the 28th Street Branch YMCA.

Choosing the economic and social status of the children and their parents of the city and county as his theme, Superintendent Kersey said that children need constructive and lasting adult influence . . . each boy and girl must tie up with some adult, one who is spiritually and morally capable of gulding a child along in the walk of life. He further said that youth today has so much energy to expel, that it is up to the adult to tell them how and where to spend it.

In conclusion, Mr. Kersey said that young people need to be tied to the fundamentals of American living: principally the home and the church, the latter to offer comfort to the mind and spirit. He commended the program of the breakfast club and praised the educational chairman, Mrs. Bessie Bruington Burke, for her work in the city school system.

CHILD CARE

Diet for Four Months to Five Months

"What does the bee do?
Bring home honey:
What does father do?
Bring home money:
What does mother do?
Lay out the money:
And what does baby do?
East up the honey!"
—A. C. Rossetti

Since it is a universal custom of babies to eat up the honey, let us be sure that the baby has the best possible diet. The following diet sheet is prepared by the Mead Johnson and Company:

6 a. m.—Breast or milk mixture.

8 or 9 a. m.—Orange juice, diluted at first with an equal amount of water and gradually increased to two or three ounces undiluted. Tomato juice, undiluted, may be substituted, if twice the amount prescribed for orange juice is used.

10 a. m.—One or two tablespoonfuls of a standard cereal. Breast milk or mixture.

2 p. m.—Breast milk or mixture.

6 p. m.—Cereal, if desired (same as 10 a. m.)

10 p. m.—Breast or milk mixture.

Note.—When any food is introduced into your baby's diet, it should be given in small amounts at the beginning, and gradually increased until the prescribed amount is taken. If food appears to disagree with the baby, your physician should be notified.

Yours for better babies,
JOCELYN WATKINS

STYLE NOTES

Since we're considered styles from head to feet on this series, how about making the 14th one that necessary last touch? You know the final jerk or pull . . . or snap or pin that decides your evening as far as dress is concerned. Recollections of boarding school days recall a favorite last touch of co-eds . . . it was a dab of powder thrown carelessly on the tip of the nose. It stayed there after galoshes were buckled and gloves pulled on . . . after the moment the date was announced . . . until one was just outside the parlor door, then quicker than the eye, a powder puff would surreptitously smooth that dab into an evenness that hours before the mirror had not brought . . .

But we're not so particularly concerned with facial make-up. Not even just with general last touches . . . like being sure the clip at your throat gives just the effect you want; like the faint waft of perfume on the tip of your chin and ears; like remembering to consign your gum to the waste basket; . . . or pinning up a stray lock . . . and finally like looking into your date's eyes for the test--not that he's always right, but he's pretty dependable as a mirror . . .

All these are exterior touches . . . the meaningful ones come from the inside. Cheerfulness lack of pretense or ostentatiousness give more to any smart outfit than two hours of make-up . . . It's that inner spring that'll put the spring you need in your step . . . and confidence gives the proud, yet unobtrusive, tilt to your chin; it's how you've taken the days before that puts a light in your eyes and a soft laugh in your throat . . . it's being just yourself that puts more style to you than any Parisian modiste.

A new spring catch enables window sash to be locked in any position when left open for ventilation and prevent entrance of intruders.

Lorenza J. Cole Returns

After another successful teaching Lorenza Jordan Cole returns Year Lorenza Jordan Cole returns to her California home. For 2-years Miss Cole has headed the Institute and has exercised the attributes accumulated by her broad experience and extended training, at home and abroad.

The highlight of the year was centered at Steinway Hall in December of the past year where Miss Cole was presented in her first New York performance since her return from London. Her outstanding technique and art was enjoyed by a most appreciative audience demanding many encores. The critics were impressed by a flawlessness in execution and intense feeling which was expressed through her poise and brilliance in performance newspaper reports stated.

Lorenza Cole Entertains Daughter with Party

Miss Yvonne Cole was the charming recipient of a most delightful birthday party given at the beautiful Blodgett home by her parents Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cole, last Saturday afternoon. Thirty hilarious youngsters enjoyed the afternoon dancing and greeting Yvonne. One of the most outstanding features of the afternoon was the lighting of the candles upon the lovely cake baked by Mrs. Estella Turner. Yvonne was successful in blowing out all of the candles at one time. Many happy returns are expressed to Miss Cole.

HOW TO HAVE HAIR THAT WOMEN ENVY, MEN ADMIRE

Larieuse Gives Results Instantly—brings sheen and color to Drab, Lifeless or Gray-Streaked Hair.

DOESN'T it make your heart skip a few beats and sort of take your breath away, when a wonderful new man is attracted to you . . . when he can't take his eyes off you . . . when somehow you know that you're the new queen of his heart?

Maybe this hasn't happened to you lately. If not—did you ever wonder why? Maybe it's because your hair has prematurely lost its color . . . is dull, lifeless, peppered with gray . . . makes you look unromantic. If that is what's holding you back, you can easily correct it. Just do this . . .

Color your hair with Larieuse. Then look in your mirror—and rejoice. What you'll see is a more youthful edition of yourself. Your hair will again be soft, fluffy, uniformly colorful, with that vibrant and sparkling lustre so much admired by everyone. Color? Your choice of 18, including jet-black, black and brown. If you are not satisfied with the results, your dealer will refund your money.

Larieuse Shampoo . . . produces a remarkably cleansing shampoo which leaves the hair light and fluffy.

Larieuse Stain Remover . . . removes hair dye stains from hands, forehead and scalp. Will not affect color of hair.

They May Not Speak Well Enough for Some People, But They Speak Their Language Very Well

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

THE ABOVE column caption has to do with two men. Both of them are considered "tops" in their respective fields of endeavor. They are unlike in most respects but, in one instance, according to the words of Those-Who-Pay-Attention-to-Such-Things, they are as alike as "peas in a pod".

Tis likeness or similarity in the two men, they say, is due to their disregard to what the rest of us call "the King's English". We thought at the time that "the King's English", at best, is a pretty badly handled fellow. Yes, there are times when all of us, from the President down, have been taken to task by defenders of the honor of "the King's English" for little slips of wordage, spoken or written.

One of the two men to whom we refer, at present, occupies the topmost place in the realm of fistiana, world-wide in scope. He has reigned and is reigning well, as a king by all means should.

The other one is generally recognized as without a peer in the art of "pickin' 'em up and layin' 'em down." His subjects include all of the business of tap dancing. They all look up to him and hail him as a master.

We like to think that the only reason they haven't learned to master what is commonly dubbed the "King's English" is because they have spent so much time perfecting their own art that they have had little time for such things, as important as Those-Who-Pay-Attention-to Such-Things say it is.

Now, as we see it, if these two men were mediocre or just average in mastery of their arts, we could see how Those-Who - Pay - Attention - To-Such-Things would be justified in calling them on the carpet of "The King's English", subsequently relegating them to the no-speaka-da - English heap. But sinse they are not mediocre and far, far above the average, it seems to us that Those-Who-Pay-Attention-to - Such-Things should overlook their small acquaintance with "The King's English".

Radio, according to Those-Who-Pay-Attention-to - Such Things, was first to show them up to the masses. Of course, that's one thing about radio, it makes no concessions and is a hard task-master. If a person is at odds with "The King's English" radio doesn't waste much time in divulging those "odds" and setting the whole thing to the satisfaction of the listening public. In other words in speaker-radio differences, radio is the perfect judge, a judge that makes no mistakes.

As a reminder, however, to Those-Who-Pay-Attention - to Such-Things, we would like to say that both of these men speak their OWN language very well. One speaks the language of leather-encased fists, the other the language of the tapped heel-and-toe. As evidence of how WELL they speak their OWN language, look where they are now, at the very TOP of the heap. And, as far as we are concerned, that's good enough for us!

Predictions: We like Ceferino Garcia, the bolo-punching Filipino over Frankie Blair out in the open air at Gilmore Stadium tomorrow night . . . Lou Ambers, the lightweight titleholder, should have little trouble with Billy Barnes at the Olympic next Tuesday night . . . And finally, without any doubts whatsoever, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis will gain revenge Wednesday night when he Kayos Max Schmeling, the German challenger. The knockout drop will be administered somewhere between the first and eighth cantos. Our small-sized penny says so!

Gold's Service Appreciated

Expressions of appreciation for the invocation in service to the Eastside were heard on all sides this week for the Gold Furniture company's development fund. The fund which will approximate $500.00 monthly will be distributed on the basis of worth and need of constructive projects. Checks based on the percent of the purchase and made payable to a charitable organization each time an individual makes a purchse.

association has been cited as one

The Outdoor Life and Health of the organizations which will probably be benefitted.

Beats, Cuts Wife; to Face Judge

John Rosemond, 866 E. 52nd street, will face charges of assault with a deadly weapon in an arraignment next week. Rosemond was arrested last Moday on complaint of his wife of the same address, that he beat her and cut her about the face and neck with a sharp instrument because she asked him to take her and their young son for a drive to the beach Sunday evening.

Mrs. Rosemond was treated at the Georgia Street Receiving Hospital for the painful cuts. Rosemond told police that they were both drunk and his wife fell through a glass door and cut herself.

2 Theft Suspects Held By Police

Police recovered two bolts of suit material stolen on Friday night from J. O. Dudley, tailor of 5103 Central Avenue, last Saturday.

Suspicious of two fellows who attempted to sell him the material Saturday evening, Frank Tibbs, a tailor at 5285 S. Central, called police. Officers arrested the salesmen, Ernest Lewis of 982 E. 52nd street and Solomon Lee of 1356 E. 57th street. The youths said they had bought the material from William Hobbs of 1428 E. 54th street and in turn were trying to dispose of it. They were booked on suspicion of robbery at Newton street station.

Miss Guinn will discuss Y. W. C. A. activities and what it means to the community. On the following Sunday, the annual election of officers wil be held. J. V. Pitts is program chairman.

Arrest Bootblack On Gun Charge

Carl Meredith, 29 year old shoe shine boy, is one fellow who doesn't believe in beating about the bush. Arrested by police officers from the Newton Street police station Monday evening for possession of a gun without a permit and despite the factthat he is an ex-convict and on parole, Meridth told the coppers, naively:

"The gun doesn't belong to me but I am carrying it to kill a man who cut me a few days ago".

The weapon in question was an automatic and was loaded with seven shells. Meredith was booked on the above charge, plus suspected rape. He gave his address as 1157 E. 20th street.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS OFFICIAL, HERE FOR CONFAB, "REGULAR"

By LEROY S. HART

CONGENIAL, warmly affable, and an interesting conversationalist, Nollie R. Smith, secretary of the Hawaii Bureau of Governmental Research, representing the Islands at the tenth annual Institute of overnment which opened a five-day session at the University of Southern California last Monday, wears his honors and signal achievements easily, giving one the impression of just a "regular fellow".

His trim athletic figure, bronze sincere face and compelling eyes, reflect that pioneer spirit, that fearlessness of daring the unbeaten paths, in which he so ardently believes.

But an unassumed modesty, braced with a sangfroid of genuine good fellowship, causes him to shunt away from any talk of himself, unless compelled to answer a pointed question. Rather he prefers to talk about old friends, the inspiration and information received at the Institute's sessions; the studies he will make of Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain cities for Hawaii; the great appreciation he has for the numerous ways in which he has been feted by Angelenos since his arrival here last Friday.

MILITARY AMBITIONS

When asked how he happened to go to Honolulu after graduating in engineering from the University of Nebraska in 1911, reluctantly he told how his ambition to become an officer in the United States Army caused him to take a competitive examination, made the highest average, thus qualifying for appointment to West Point.

Passing the entrance mental tests with high marks, after studying under Col. Chas. C. Young, he laughs jovially as he recalls that his only physical disqualification, according to the examining board was "flat feet."

Then came an appointment as assistant county assessor in Denver, Colorado. Next, he had to decide between an offer to teach engineering and mathematics at Talladega College or a chance to go to Honolulu. He accepted the latter, and was named assistant city engineer for Honolulu in the Department of Public Works.

Holding this position for two years, Mr. Smith next went into the contracting business for himself, built most of the larger building in the city worked on many of the highways of the Islands.

MEMBER HAWAII LEGISLATURE

Elected to the Hawaiian legislature in 1927, he served four sessions until 1932. Because of his knowledge and interest in the development of the Islands, he was invited to become secretary of the Hawaii Bureau of Governmental Research. He accepted and has held the position continuously ever since.

Mr. Smith was selected as one of the first members of the Famous Lions Club because of his unselfish interest in the progress of his adopted city, "service to the community" being the prime motivation of Lionism. His work in that organization won for him the highest honor his fellow Lions could bestow--District Governor, which makes him the highest ranking officer of the Club in the Hawaiian Islands.

But the distinguished visitor does not mind telling you how deep is his concern for the welfare of his four children--three daughters and a son. He wants them to have every opportunity, but not to be unmindful of their racial identity. To let them see the "other side", he is having one daughter do graduate work at Columbia University next year, and another at Howard Univeristy.

Asked if the opportunities for Negroes on the Islands were as good as in Los Angeles, Mr. Smith emphatically said they were better--provided the Negro is courageous enough to make new roads and travel on them. Of the few colored families over there who have dared to do this, success in every way has rewarded their efforts.

At the home of J. L. Hill, manager of the Angelus Funeral Home, where the noted Islander is a house guest, many friends of former years have called to pay their respects, all of which, Mr. Smith says, is making his stay in Los Angeles most refreshing and enjoyable.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By Miriam Matthews

THE MANY readers who enjoyed Louis Adamic's semi-autobiographical volume, "Laughing In the Jungle", will be delighted with his new volume, "My America", in which he continues this story of himself and his relationship with America from 1928-1938. In his first book America appeared to him as a vast socio-economic jungle, and his life in it "an adventure in understanding, punctuated with bursts of laughter". The laughter was, to some extent, a device to keep this immigrant from Carniola, a country profoundly unlike the United States, from being scared while exploring the fascinating jungle. Today, Mr Adamic confesses: "I am no longer 'scared' of the 'jungle', and so I do not need to laugh as much as I used to. As a result of my explorations in recent years, I know my way around a bit more, geographically and spiritually. Since 1931 I have traveled perhaps one hundred thousand miles in America, pausing here and there to look and listen, to ask questions, to get the feel of things; and I ly steady feeling about this vast place."

"This book is an attempt to draw a partial picture of my America between the twenty-ninth and thirty-ninth years of my life, the period during which I became an American writer," explains Mr. Adamic in his introduction. "It is made up, mosaic-like, around a central theme of people and things, chiefly people, within my experience and observation during these last ten years that seem interesting or significant to me personally as an individual and as an American, and lend themselves to telling at this time".

Including a wealth of material on prominent people, places, movements and events from sit-down strikes to Mickey Mouse and Hollywood, "My America" will serve to interest a wide group of readers in a wide group of subjects.

Youthful Minds Find Solace In Poetry

MY EVENING PRAYER

At night before I go to bed
I kneel right down and bow my head,
I fold my arms and close my eyes,
And say my evening prayers.

I thank the Lord for all He's done,
To bless us each and every one;
I ask the Lord if His will be
To keep us all throughout the night.

I ask the Lord to make us good
And kind and loving as He would,
To help us serve Him every day,
Whether at home, at school or play.

—Jane Johnson, age 11

BIRDS

When the birds come back for spring,
When the birds come back to sing;
I love to hear them sing all day,
I love to watch them at their play.

I often see them make a nest,
I guess each thinks his own is best:
They often make the nest in trees,
And sometimes make the nest of leaves.

—Yvonne Hamilton, age 12.

OH! MR. ARMSTRONG

Oh, Mr. Armstrong, you've won the throne.
You got your man, and you did no wrong:
You jabbed with the left and you jabbed with the right,
Now Ross' face is an awful sight.
Oh, Mr. Armstrong, will you come home?
Your fans in the west sing this song. . .
We're for you one million strong
Oh, Mr. Armstrong, will you come home?
Oh, Mr. Armstrong, will you come home?
We're going to greet you with a mighty throng.
You've fought in the East—you've fought in the West,
But you know where the sun shines the best.

The LAUNDRYMAN

HOWDY, folks. I am somewhat down in the dumps today, largely on account of a confession which I feel impelled to make. You know for a long long time, I have deplored the lack of Money-Consciousness in our group as compared to that evinced by our white brothers. But after reading the tragic account of the kidnapping and murder of the little "Cash" boy in Florida, and about the murder of another child in Texas by his adopted parents who deliberately shoved him off a steep cliff in order to collect a $2000.00 insurance policy, I have reached the conclusion that our group should be indeed thankful that we have NOT attained unto that degree of Money-Consciousness: and I pray to God that we never will.

To thoughtful minds such crimes are a terrible indictment upon American civilization, as they furnish irrefutable evidence of the terrific Emphasis which it places upon the acquisition of Money.

The fiends who commit such dastardly crimes should be punished to the fullest extent of the law, in the final analysis they are not directly responsible. It is the System which is really responsible, and which, in the minds of sober thinkers, is really on trial.

To my way of thinking, tremendous pressure is required to eradicate from any normal human being the maternal instinct, the urge to minister unto the helpless young. A lost puppy can find a protector and a home with a very little trouble; a baby bird that has fallen from a nest evokes instant pity; animals have been known to suckle whelps of a different species than their own. In short, Nature seems to have planted the maternal instinct within the breast of everything that lives and moves.

Among the so-called less civilized races it is a rare occurrence for a helpless child to be murdered in cold blood. And any civilization whose pressure is strong enough to stifle the most powerful instinct bestowed by Mother Nature, is a civilization whose objectives are subject to serious question.

Time, however, changes social customs, social standards and view-points. That which is accounted heresy today, may be hailed as the Gospel of tomorrow. And it is not impossible that the day may arrive when future historians will refer to the great Russian experiment in Communism as "The 2nd Renaissance"; and the period of Capitalism immediately preceding it, as "The Dark Age". Who knows?

SAGACIOUS SAYINGS . . .

"To most of this year's graduates, however, the future is a dismal picture--too many trained people for two few jobs; picket lines copiously supplied with persons who have substituted their caps and gowns for protest signs. They should, however, be comforted by the fact that for the non-graduate the future seems 160 times more dismal." Chicago Bee.

Youth Makes Art History

By RUTH PRINCE

Feature Writer, Crusader News Agency

HAVING no desk and room of his own did not hinder Robert Blackburn, 17-year-old New York high school lad, from winning three first prizes in the National Scholastic art contest, which closed recently. His achievement, in three different branches of the graphic arts, made history in the nationwide competition.

Robert lives with his mother in a one-room Harlem flat. A thick board propped against the homemade bookcase serves as desk. In the narrow room there is barely space between the bookcase and the bureau for the only chair.

French books lie unopened on the floor and there is the thought that his mother is finding it hard to sleep as he works under the light until one or two in the morning. Perhaps he dims the light a bit; his eyes peer at you from behind thick shell-framed glasses.

Robert's prizes were won for a pen-and-ink sketch of a river front, a pencil drawing of a borroom scene in the spirit of the Gay Nineties, and a lithograph of a scene in upstate New York. He does his lithographing at the WPA Harlem Art Center. The other genres he can carry on at home without the expense and concentration needed for painting.

He modestly explains his versatility.

"The graphic arts are a means to an end. The artist should know every medium. The canvas involves the greatest battle. The problems of mass and composition in pencil drawing, of line relationships in pen and ink, of light and shadow in lithographs, all are imposed by the test of painting on canvas."

Pictures are to Robert the easiest way to tell people things. He wants art to be everywhere people are, instead of packed away in art dealers' establishments.

Only a calendar advertising a hand laundry hangs on the shiny yellow light-reflecting walls of Robert's home. Everywhere about the room are papers with his work against the wall, on the bureau, on the clothes closet. His mother half waves, half wrings her hands to dramatize the situation.

"Papers, papers, papers," she says helplessly.

Robert himself wants to tell the people how a lack of opportunities is thwarting the possibilities of his people.

"The Negro is shaped by his environment," he reasons. "Here in Harlem, living in close quarters, they flock to the dance halls for relief. In slavery, they sang spirituals. A heritage of generations of minstrelsy, buck and wing dancing makes the Negro a good actor.

Builders of America

"But the Negro is not just a minstrel player or dancer or athlete or a sensuous being. Crispus Attucks, Frederick Douglass and Booker T. Washington belong in the history texts with George Washington as builders of America. The cheapness of slave labor made possible the building of the South and the expansion to the West. Such recognition in the educational system would correct the popular attitude toward the Negro people."

In the current play, Haiti, Robert recalled, Napoleon's sister misses "the frills and frivolities of the French court" in the wilderness. The aristocrat orders an atomizer to relieve the atmosphere of the "black swine".

"And yet some of those black men were superior to her because of her weakness of character."

A gold-plated front tooth shows through the boy's smile. His teeth have broken easily since the rickets he suffered in his childhood, when he went undernourished because his family could not afford to buy the necessary foods.

He wears a light suede zipper jacket and tan tweed trousers-prize money clothes-with the consciousness of being well-dressed. Matching the trousers, which have a second-hand looseness, is his cap.

Robert's work is influenced by the satiric power of the Spanish Goya and El Greco, by the Dutch Rembrandt, the Mexican Oreszco (whom he prefers to Diego De Riviera), and by George Grosz.

By JOHN KINLOCH

Picture: "The Duke is Tops"
Place: Lincoln
Players: Ralph Cooper and Lena Horne

The film presents a galaxy of expert performers and the final night club sequence may be matched favorably with efforts of several of the major concerns. Among the top-ranking entertainers who appeared were Willy Covan, the Basin Street Boys, the Katz and the Fiddle . . .who are making a sensational rise in the theatre world . . .and several others. Covan's tap-dancing was exceptional despite the loss through inadequate record. . . .although the improvement in sound over former Million Dollar Productions is unlimited. Except for over-loudness the sound-strip may be hardly distinguished from recording in the biggies. Several top-notch English films now in circulation do not boast nearly so fine a piece of work in this department.

The new M. D. "find" . . .Lena Horne . . is highly successful. She is the first woman to appear to advantage in colored-produced films. She has a pretty face, a pleasing personality, and beautiful voice. Her acting . . well, it's not actually bad. With improvements here and there, we have no doubt the lady Horne might become a first rate attraction. Suggested personal reforms: off twenty lbs; lessons in posture, walking, hand-movements, etc. Retain, please, that smile, those eyes, and the voice.

Portraying a small-circuit backwoods "speeler", Ralph Cooper does a fine job of the more loquacious episodes, although the dramatic ones suffer. This, of course, cannot be laid at the feet of actor Cooper . . .most of the objectionable filmspots were definitely "director scenes". For instance, wherein Mr. Cooper, after nobly releasing Miss Horne so that she might aspire to high things on Broadway, stands alone in the small rural theatre and calls "Ethel! Ethel!" Now, the play of goose-pimples right in here is the only reaction such an outmoded and hammy piece of business could bring forth. Director Nolte should have realized the unreality of the scene. On the other hand, when Cooper is debating whether or not he should persuade Miss Horne to take the great opportunity which the northern talent-scout has offered (thus ending both the spiritual and commercial partnership of the two), and the scout's voice is heard extolling what the north holds. . . ."gayety" . . .glamour. . . Can you offer her these things?" a tense and dramatic moment is really achieved.

The night club scene, which occupies an unusual footage, is the film's natural high-spot. The dancing sequence, in which a weird African dance is performed in the semi-darkness against a background of beating tom-toms, is easily the most effective. Camera-work is particularly excellent here. The subsequent wild orchestrations of the band, however, should have been toned down.

Chief trouble with the picture is its complete lack of originality insofar as plot in concerned. It's all about a small-time producer who nobly gives up his prize protege (and sweet pur-tooty) in order that she might migrate to the north and her Big Chance. When this falls through and both are too, too miserable without one another returns the white-haired boy to change defeat into victory, jeers into cheers, tears into laughter. Million Dollar, along with most other studios, deem the plot of a musical film of so little importance that no pains, whatsoever should be taken with it. Witness, however, the tremendous success of the Twentieth-Century-Fox shows—"Sing Baby Sing", "Wake Up And Live", etc. . . all of which featured something new and cheery in the line of plot.

We suppose though, that it is unkind to measure the embryonic efforts of M. D. P. by so rigid a standard. After all, the technical advancement of the picture o'er its predecessors is near heartwarming and the music, Vernon McCalla, Lawrence Criner and Edw. Thompson fully compensate for any discrepancies in the story department.

Picture: "FOUR MEN AND A PRAYER"
Players: Loretta Young, David Greene

"Four Men and a Prayer" has been accused of being episodic and confused somewhere between melodrama and anti-war propoganda. Neither accusation, to our mind, is correct. As neatly-done and coherent a Who-dun-it has seldom rolled forth from the cutting rooms of Twentieth Century Fox. The anti-War episodes supply an undercurrent of real conviction without which the film might have seemed a pretty old story and very shallow.

"F. M. and a P." concerns the efforts of four sons of an English Colonel to vindicate his name and the honor of the household. It seems that the Colonel has been framed by a band of no-good munitions manufacturers out in India, court-marshalled, and finally murdered. The trail which his four sons, David Greene, George Sanders, David Niven, and William Henry follow in pursuit of the murderer take them to four continents finally, however, they are crowned with success and have an interview with the King to top it off.

Loretta Young is the girl-friend of brother Greene and donates unwanted aid in tracking down the villains.

The picture is supported by a series of brief, but brilliat, characterizations. C. Aubrey Smith, as the English Colonel (who is murdered), Barry Fitzgerald, a cockey soldier of the Kipling type (who is murdered), Reginald Denny, a charming villain (who is murdered), J. Edward Blomberg, a South-American revolutionist (who is executed), Alan Hale and Burton Churchill, munitions manufacturers (who live through it).

The film's most powerful scene is the massacre of revolutionists in a small South-American republic which has been thrown into turmoil through the machinations of "Atlas Arms Company", which procedes to sell weapons to both sides.

The expert direction of John Ford ("The Informer") keeps the film from sagging, which it might have done easily in less competent hands.

David Niven steals most of his scenes as the amorous brother, while David Greene, new T. C.-F. British importation, is handsome but positively refuses to be charming and smile so that all the chamber-maids in the last row may see his pretty white teeth.

Loretta Young is adequate with limited opportunity and lots of clothes.

Picture: "YOU AND ME"
Players: George Raft, Sylvia Sydney

As the latest effort of the great Austrian director, Fritz Lang, "You and Me" may take its place beside the master's other works "Fury", the bombardment of lynching, and "You Only Live Once".

Although lacking the power of both former productions, the new Lang film presents something entirely different in film entertainment. Many of the scenes are absolutely impressionistic--something which the mighty moguls of Hollywood said movie audiences would never stand for. As the picture starts, a voice is heard singing "You've got to buy, you can't steal--anyone who thinks he can is a chump!" Across the screen flash shots of expensive cars, a table laden with shining silver and tasty viands--all desirable things. Meanwhile the voice repeats its ringing injunction, becomes more and more powerful . . . "You've got to show the color of your money!" Shots of neatly stacked piles of greenbacks; quick flashes of money changing hands, the staccato ring of cash-registers . . . —you can't steal-- anyone who thinks he can is a chump!" Then a hand is seen as it slips a satin waist off a department-store counter, and the story begins.

Again, ten ex-convicts sit around a table in a cheap bare remembering their terms in prison. One taps out on the table a code of prison - grapevine; another takes it up . . . tap . . tap--fading in over the ex-con's faces comes a shot of the prison's long cold corridor, of men tap, tapping out the prison code; whispered bits of jai-bird gossip.

"They've got the Big Shot" . . "The Big Shot's comin'" Then; "Somebody's trying' to escape!" . . . down the long iron corridors, tap, tap . . . "It's the Big Shot trying to get out!" . . . a siren's scream rips the air and lights play confusedly down the iron halls . . . tap, tap . . . faster, now . . . "The Big Shot's out!" . . . "He made it! He—" . . . a machine-gun's blasting chatter . . . dead silence . . . tap, tap . . . "They got the Big Shot!" Once again ten ex-convicts around a table--remembering.

The whole sequence is accomplished with such deft and compelling movement that only afterwards does one realize that Fritz Lang has performed the impossible: impressionism in the movies.

Returning to the more conventional, plot concerns ex-convicts George Raft and Sylvia Sidney who are employed in the Department store operated by Harey Carey, who believes that those who have lived outside the law should be given an opportunity to redeem themselves. Throughout his establishment are some fifty ex-cons, known from other employees only by himself, whom Carey has taken on the recommendation of parole boards.

Raft, unaware that Miss Sydney is also a former prison inmate, falls in love with and marries her. When he discovers her past he is immediately embittered and planned to rob the department store. Along with other ex-cons, Raft plans this project and is about to make a haul when wife Sydney discovers the conspiracy and reports to Mr. Carey. The would-be thieves are met then by their benefactor as they prepare to rob him, and are told to "get home and be at work on time tomorrow morning". Here Miss Sydney, by sound arithmetic, (and operating on a blackboard in the "Baby Department") proves not only the moral but monetary loss the robbery would have been. Soon, of course, the lovers are reunited and everything is jake.

Under Lang's direction, all performances measure up, with the character folk, headed by Harey Carey, taking top honors. Unusual photography and rare music contribute toward making "You and Me" the finished product that it is.

WIN "HIGHEST HONORS" IN PIANO TEST

NEW YORK, June 16, (C)—Bernice and Dolores Calvin, 13 and 10-year old pianist-composers, were again given "superior" rating and "highest honors" at the National Piano Playing Tournament, held at the Hotel Biltmore, 42nd street and Madison avenue, Saturday. The sisters each played twenty pieces from classical and romantic composers, as well as their own compositions, and were among four outstanding players mentioned by name in the New York Times Sunday. More than 500 pupils competed. The judges, prominent white pianists and music teachers, were concealed during the hour and a half of the audition.

carver's story screens at loew's state

Stranger than fiction--and one of the most enthralling stories in the history of the development of the colored race is the true story of Dr. George Washington Carver, the former Negro child slave who grew to be the greatest scientist of the south.

With all its dramatic qualities and intelligently treated, the gripping and amazingly vital story of Dr. Carver--who saved the south its cotton crops and created 350 by-products and a 60 million dollars a year peanut industry--may be seen on the screen this week at Loew's State Theatre. The sensational and important production, which should be seen by all persons who are proud of their colored heritage, will continue at Loew's State until Tuesday.

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the fascinating story of one of the colored race's most outstanding personalities was filmed by Pete Smith under the title, "The Story of Dr. Carver" as one of his regular series of specialty productions.

The brilliant film starts its story with the year 1896; when the South faced starvation because of the condition of its soil. It follows the growth of Dr. Carver, as a six months old child to his youth and college days and finally it takes the observer into Dr. Carver's intricate laboratory where more than 350 by-products of the peanut crop have been developed.

Also on the program with the all-important Dr. Carver subject at Loew's State Theatre are Don Ameche, Simone Simon, and Robert Young in "Josette" and the gripping, exciting "Gangs of New York."

'beyond the bayou' airs

Racial prejudices of the old south form the basis of Bob Herrick's half hour "Popular Theatre" play Saturday night. "Beyond the Bayou," picturesque drama of southern pride and hatred of the north, will reach KFWB and California Radio System listeners at 8 p. m. Saturday evening as a Federal Theatre of the Air presentation.

"Beyond the Bayou" is the story of Uncle Jim, an old and faithful Negro servant arrested for stealing food to provide for three girls who have been left alone on an old plantation. An unexpected ending is furished ad the half hour playlet is packed with suspense, romance and occasional comedy.

All-Sennett Pupils in Recital

The Wilkins Piano Academy takes pleasure in announcing a musical program to be presented by one of its teachers, Miss Mildred Sennett, at 8:15 p. m., Sunday, June 26, 1938, at Trinity Baptist Church, 36th Street and Normandie avenue, this city. The pastor is Rev. Caston.

The program is being sponsored by the Usher Board of the Church of which Mrs. Elleen Jones is president and Mrs. Sarah Moore is secretary.

Miss Sennett is one of the Wilkins Academy's able and efficient teachers and, according to Professor Wilkins, shows great ability--one who, with the help of encouragement, will accomplish much in the world of music.

Mrs. Kathleen Davis Jackson, who, as Kathleen Davis, the child artist, in 1931-32-33, thrilled audiences of music lovers by her marvelous performances in mastering Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata and many other selections from the great masters, will make her first public appearance since 1933. All who remember little Kathleen Davis when her tiny hands could scarcely span the width of four piano keys, will surely come to hear her play again.

Miss Sennett is also presenting several other students of unusual ability--the youngest being four years of age.

Music lovers and those interested in encouraging the efforts of our young people should not fail to attend this recital. Their presence will inspire and lend a helping hand to this young teacher and her pupils.

The public is cordially invited.

ted lewis co. opens at paramount

Fanchon and Marco famed personalities of the theatrical world anounced today that the the return of stageshows to the Paramount Theatre in Los Angeles, California, would be inaugurated by the master showman Ted Lewis.

Ted Lewis will open his week's engagement at the Paramount on Thursday, June 16. The celebrated showman brings with him his own Rhythm Revue with a cast of more than thirty singers, dancers and musicians.

For more than fifteen years Lewis has been one of the top ranking favorites of the show world and recent check-ups reveal that today he is more popular than ever before. The two things which have served him as trademarks are his old battered top hat and the expression "Is Everybody Happy."

On the screen during the Ted Lewis engagement will be the full length feature comedy hit "Swiss Miss" with Laurel and Hardy in the top roles.

Consistently over a period of years the Paramount Theatre has been noted for its outstanding stage and screen attractions, and in bringing back the stageshows Fachon and Marco say that they have lined-up for the theatre the greatest array of big shows that the theatre has ever had.

The Fanchonettes who are internationally known will return under the personal supervision of Miss Fanchon with many new and spectacular dance routines.

Scheduled for the theatre in the near future is the personal appearance of the sensational star Sally Rand with her thrilling eye-filling dances.

HARRIS TRIUMPHS

THERESA HARRIS was named by studio press correspondents (published in Variety) as the outstanding incidental actress, with Alma Kruger, in "Toy Wife", starring Luise Rainer.

AT ITS PRESS preview in Westwood Hills theatre, this southern opus drew wholesale pans from type pounders. It is, after "Jezebel", the most poorly directed, inauthentic screen version of southern life one could expect. Three-time Academy-winner Rainer is none of herself in the role of a European-educated down south lassie. While one could scarcely accuse Rainer of over-acting, and remain on the safe side of public opinion, certainly is it not amiss to draw attention to many scenes of hers that smacked too, too pointedly of the triteness of emotional expression where she raves and rants in the best manner of pre-sound films. Metro needs only to pass around the beer steins to run a fair competition with "The Drunkard" and its ilk in the production, "Toy Wife".

WINS BY TECHNICAL DECISION

I HATED THE resounding slap on the face she gave to the worshipful, faithful slave girl who had attached herself to the Dixie spitfire and stuck to her through trials that ended in tragedy. That this scene was overdone to no artistic advantage may strike other previewers likewise. Anyway, a southern LADY of a family that was as "good" to its slaves as Rainer's, never would have resorted to k. o. fisticuffs, or my southern manners fail me. Deliberate oversight turned the camera AWAY from the stricken slave girl who was turning in a dramatic scene that might have helped to lift "Toy Wife" somewhat out of the depths of monotony.

THORNE!

AS WE PREDICTED long before the picture was finished. Director Thorne was out of his sphere in handling Rainer or a story of this delicate nature. Merriam C. Cooper, producer, knows better and has turned out too many fine productions, to flop so utterly without underlying causes. What they are, the audience cannot discern.

CLARENCE MUSE shared half an inch of camera, spoke one or two words. Libby Taylor displayed flashy white dentistry. Clinton Rosemond did a creditable portrayal of the aged, trusted servant, as did also Jesse Graves. Scores of colored extras were noted in plantation scenes.

KRUGER SCORES

ALMA KRUGER, as the lovable old tyrant, by all means, saved much of the day for "Toy Wife", while Theresa Harris, forced to exercise all the tricks known to the theatre, in the face of constant odds, was superb and some day, when Hollywood wakes up to itself and its waning box office, she may emerge Number One in a feature that shows her work to greater advantage.

Choir's Theme for Closing Concert is Announced

"The Advent of Summer" will be the theme of the closing concert of the Senior Choir of People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, Sunday afternoon, June 26th, at 4 o'clock, the director, Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew stated this week.

Among the artists to appear will be the "Melody Bird Whistlers", who will give their first Eastside performance; Professor William T. Wilkins, head of the Wilkins Piano Academy, will direct one of his original compositions; and Lillian Dinkins, a favorite with Los Angeles music lovers.

"The Little Things in Life" will be an entertaining and inspiring sketch presented by Mrs. Bilbrew and William Gillespie, director of the Gospel Choir and featured soloist on the regular broadcast every Sunday morning over KFOX at 10:15.

SIZABLE CAST FOR "HEAD OVER HEELS"

PATRIC KNOWLES IN POWELL FILM

Patric Knowles has been assigned an important part in 'Head Over Heels' Dick Powell picture now in production at Warner Bros.

Young Pianist Pleases Music Lovers at Musart

John F. Brown, Jr., 13-year-old pianist, surprised his hearers last Sunday at the Gray Musart, with a program that would have been a credit to a great artist. This young lad, who is just entering his teens, displayed great musical insight, according to critics, of such compositions as the Ballad in G minor, the E flat minor Etude, Fantasie Impromptu and Polonaise in A major of Chopin. From his opening Bach numbers to the closing Etude in D flat of Liszt, his fleet fingers, warm tone and musical feeling proved beyond a doubt that he possessed rare gifts. He is a pupil of John A. Gray.

Alma and Almita Johnson, violinists, assisted with several selections. They were accompanied at the piano by their teacher, Miss Victoria Rice.

An overflow audience greeted these young musicians and warmly commended the work being done by the Conservatory.

m.d. premiere draws many 'first-niters'

Before the heaviest "first-night" crowd ever seen on Central Avenue, "The Duke is Tops" world-premiered Friday night at at the Lincoln Theatre.

With stars, past, present, and future everywhere in evidence, the post-picture proceedings on stage even rivalled the excellent screen-fare. Bill Robinson, Ernest Whitman, Hatty Noles (of Eddie Cantor radio-show fame), Bob Parish, The Basin Street Boys, Willie Covan, Miller and Mantan, The Katz and the Fiddle, and many others not only appeared but performed to huge delight of audience-folk.

Under the expert emcee hand of Ralph Cooper, Million Dollar star and "the first race matinee idol", who was kept at a snappy pace and how the fun flew!

Bill Robinson entertained with reminances of days on the old Keith circuit, while veteran Ernest Whitman came through with a powerful rendition of "Old Man River". Hattie Noles sang an original ditty which nearly brought the house down, and Bob Parish thrilled with "Please Be Kind". Miller and Mantan (Miller penned such Broadway hits as "Shuffle Along" and "Runnin' Wild") struck an hilarity high in one of their famous skits. Those who appeared in "The Duke is Tops"--The Basin Street Boys, Willie Covan, The Katz and the Fiddle" topped off an evening of what was termed "perfect entertainment".

Not of the theatrical world but also introduced by Emcee Cooper were Norman O. Houston, of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Mrs. C. A. Bass, editor of the EAGLE.

The crowd, a cross-section of the city's Negro population, was bejeweled and begowned in true Hollywood fashion. "The Duke is Tops" has been launched mid all the fan-fare, glamour, and Klieg lights which are attributed to Major Studio works alone. It was said that the world-premiere of "The Duke is Tops" was tops.

CLAUDE RAINS ON VACATION

Claude Rains leaves Hollywood June 10 for his home in Pennsylvania, after completing his role in "Sister Act" at Warner Bros.

'a capella in bronze' on tonite

Striking choral effects will again feature this week's "A Capella In Bronze", presentation, coming to KMPC listeners at 9:30 this evening.

Federal Thearte of the Air's all Negro quarter hour program for tonight is titled "Freedom", and the popular vocal orchestra will offer "Go Down Moses", "Po' Mourner" and several other old favorites.

Amos Reese, author of "Freedom," also acts as narrator and Negro favorites on the program include Jack West and Lester Wilkins.

If It Ain't White It Ain't Right

Ever so often there come to the sports desk letters concerning youngsters who are performing commendably on the athletic teams of schools located in California's remote hamlets, anywhere and everywhere between the southernmost and the northernmost tips of the State.

The writers inquire, and often indignantly, why we don't give publicity to said athletes, whose ability is doubtless equal to that of many of the local boys, whose doings we chronicle from time to time.

People don't seem to realize the difficulty Negro newspapers have in getting the news outside their immediate vicinity. Added to the lack of proper facilities, wire service, teletype, etc., there is a lack of cooperation between the Negro Press and publicity bureaus of the colleges and universities.

Every junior college, college and university has a press bureau which sends out weekly releases and photographs of its athletes. Very few of the bureaus include Negro papers on their mailing lists, and those that do, manage to omit mention of the colored athletes, dispite their demonstrated ability.

THE FINGER OF SCORN

Most flagrant practitioner of such bias is the publicity department of the Catholic university, Loyola, the Notre Dame of the west coast. During the last football season we received releases of the most detailed sort twice weekly, pre-writes of the week-end's game and statistics on the game, after it had been played.

But there was a rub. Young Walter McCowan and George Sims were playing on the Lion Varsity at the time. That is, they played whenever Coach Tom Lieb could overcome his scruples to permitting colored boys to go in and get their pompadours all mussed up by those brutal white boys.

Whenever George and Walt did get in, they were good for more yardage than the entire team gathered in the preceeding minutes of play, if one or the other didn't score a touchdown. The daily papers would sing their praises the next day with a lack of restraint that must have been appalling to the popish regents of the school, and possible run a picture showing Sims galloping over the pay-off line or Walt in position to throw the pass that gave the Lion's Lair its only point of the game.

A BIT BLOWN UP

The foregoing might be ballyhooed a bit, of course, since it isn't proven by any specific instance, which I am to lazy to look up in the files, however not exagerated were the accounts of Messrs. Sims and McCowan's gridiron gyrations in the next day's press releases.

Invariably the gentleman grinding out the copy forgot to mention the name or feats of George or Walter. Sick, Me—if we hadn't gone to the game or read of it in the dailies, we would not have known the fellows played.

Incidentally, Mr. Sims could not stand the gaff. A sophomore student, he has left the priestly walls of Loyola and is looking for a school that will appreciate his talents at least enough to record his name in the line-up when he has run sixty yards for a touchdown. McCowan, we imagine, would have taken similar action, were it not for the fact that he is a senior.

SOURCE OF INSPIRATION

The preceeding mess of verbiage was inspired by a letter from James Stront, sport writer on the Spartan Daily of San Jose State Teachers college. James wants to know howcome we haven't informed the public of the existence of Donald Prestley and Bill Jones on the San Jose State track, baseball, and football teams.

Well, Jimmie, we had mentioned Don's shot putting on one occasion, but as to Bill, we didn't know he was there. Suppose you appoint yourself as an unbiased publicity bureau from the San Jose State college and keep us informed of the movements of the two young men and any others.

Although you weren't very specific thanks for telling us that:

Bill come from Santa Ana, is a sophomore and a good student; is one of the best baseball player to enter the school, a pitcher with lots of ability. He pitched this past season two or three two hit games . . .that Don hails from Monrovia; is one of the best shot putters in the State, placed fourth in the Fresno relays; is one of the fastest men in the college and "plays that game of football to perfection"; went to the Hawaiian Islands last year and will be on the team that makes that trip again this year.

That in addition to their ability, the boys are "Great Lovers". Bill holding top place with the wimmen "with his smoothness to talk and act".

Again—thank you, James.

John Woodruff Out to Burn Up NC2A Track

(Special to the EAGLE)

MINNEAPOLIS, June 16.—A lot of people, who said a lot of things about what Louis Zamperini of the University of Southern California, will do to John Woodruff of Pittsburgh, in the 880-yard run, and what Malott of Stanford, will do to that same dark boy in the quartermile, are going to have to eat a lot of crow after the running of those two races tomorrow and Saturday in the National Collegiate meet here.

That is--if you take the word of big John, who says he isn't worried a bit--that the newspaper predictions have served only to make him "evil" enough to get at the top of his form and burn to run those boys from West of the Rockies off the track.

At any rate the quarter and half mile duels between the East and West will provide plenty of thrills and maybe a new record for spectators at the two day collegiate affair.

S. C. CEDED TEAM HONORS

U. S. C., with a larger team, than any of the schools entered, is expected to take the team championship. But it is predicted that not many first places will go to the Trojan palefaces.

Their sprinters will bow to a rejuvenated and revengeful Ben Johnson, sepia streak from Columbia, a hale and hearty Mack Robinson of Oregon State, not to mention several white stars from below the Mason and Dixon line, who calculate to take the measure of the Yankees.

S. C.'s quartermilers will be shaded by Woodruff, Malott, and the up and coming Tom Berkeley of UCLA. Berkeley has been East since the I. C. 4-A meet and unless the Atlantic Coast debs have taken his measure, should be in tiptop shape.

El Trojan will have things all his way in the pole-vault, but there his monopoly will begin and end, for Mr. I-do-not-choose-to-run Zamperini is doomed to bite the dust of a lot of people in the distance events.

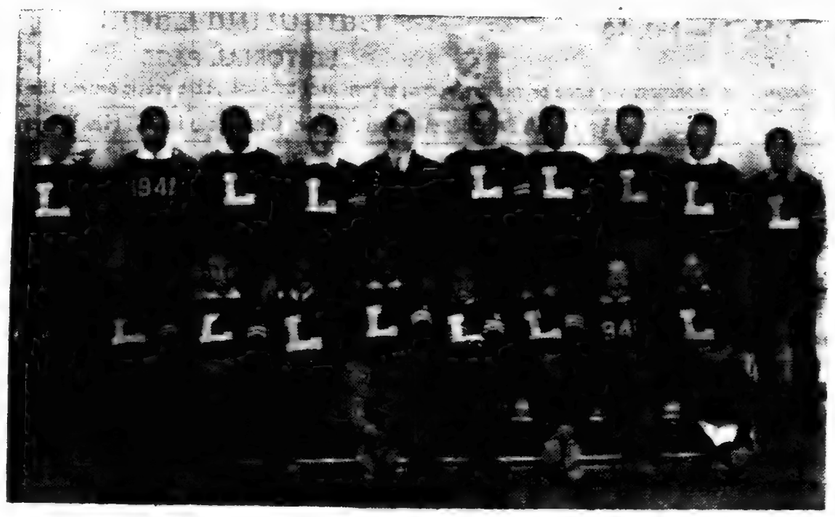
WEIGHT DUEL

The races won't have a corner on thrills and anticipation for the long awaited meeting between the pride and joy of the West Coast, Woodrow Strode of UCLA, and the super-man of the East, Bill Watson of Michigan State, will take place. Watson is acknowledged head man in the discus and shot put here in the East, and Strode is the same on the Coast.

Watson, who is in his second year of competition has turned in better marks than the Los Angeles sophomore in both events, but Strode is strictly a competitive athlete and is given an even chance to strip the Michigan State one man track team of some of his glory. If W. W. W. doesn't win, at least his marvelous physique will provide many thrills for the Eastern girls who just dote on big, strong men.

HIGH JUMP

The high jump will bring together a fair field. Gil Cruter of Colorado State, Dave Albritton and the young Walker boy of Marquette, are still in. But the erge has somehow gone off the jump since Mel Walker and Corny Johnson deserted the ranks of the college boys. In no meet this season has anyone, other than a 'prep school lad from Beverly Hills, California, gone above 6 feet, 7½ inches.



There's going to be a hot time had in the broadjump. Bill Lacefield of UCLA will meet his first big time competition and there'll be plenty of it, in Johnson of Columbia, Robinson of Oregon and his Coast nemesis to date, Nutting of California.

Speaking of a hot time, if the weather man does his bit and makes the day as hot as a tropical heat wave, there may be some records broken--'cause the dusky skinned lads, mentioned above, extend themselves in the heat.

TO STUDY HERE

Expected to arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow by motor is Ralph Metcalfe, twice Olympic champion, and the athlete who put Michigan's Marquette University ou the map.

Ralph, now a coach at Xavier University, New Orleans, La., will spend the summer in Los Angles, studying at the University of Southern California.

LINCOLN U. HOLDERS OF VARSITY 'L'

Stocks, Gwen Roberson Top Western Tennis Rankings

Compiled from results of the Pacific Coast tournament held last September at Oakland, official ranking of players in the Western Federation of Tennis clubs was released exclusively to the Eagle this week by Eugene W. Anderson, tournament chairman.

James Stocks, Pacific Coast men's singles and doubles champion, and co-holder of the national doubles title, retained his number 1 ranking in the men's division. Gwen Roberson, who won the Pacific Coast title from Carrie Belle Deane tops the women.

With Stocks in the number 1 position in men's doubles was listed Paul Ford, formerly of Pasadena, now living in San Francisco. Ford with Mrs. Roberson was seeded number one in the mixed doubles.

Mrs. Mamie Stewart, San Francisco player and Miss Deane of Los Angeles outranked Mrs. Roberson and Otis V. Wiggins for women's doubles division. Young Leonard Fuller of Los Angeles retained his top position in the boys division.

Complete ranking with the local players in black face type follows.

Jefferson High Spikesters Win City Title Third Time

Establishing a record for invincibility in prepdom equal to that maintained by U. S. C. in collegiate circles, Jefferson High school's almost sepia-to-a-man track team won its third city title in four years last Saturday afternoon at the Coliseum.

Four firsts including the relay, three seconds, a third and several fourth and fifth places, gave the Green and Gold 36 points. Belmont, led by its star pole vaulter and three colored boys in the sprints, hurdles and broadjump, was second with 22 digits. Manual Arts, San Fernando, Fremont, Los Angeles, Fairfax, Venice and Jordan finished in the order named, among 26 participating schools.

Color was all over the Coliseum. Every event, except the pole vault, had one sepia starting and it was even betting that at least one of them would finish in the upper brackets.

Sam Lankford of Jeff shaded San Fernando's Walt Smith, white, for high point honors by an eighth, winning the 100 and 220 yard dashes and running a leg on the winning eight man mile relay team. There are two Lankfords, twins, and all season they have alternated in winning the dashes. On this occasion Brother Saul was second in both events, nosing out Belmont's Hugh Wilson in the first event and Bob Pickert of Fairfax, white, in the hurdling. Times were 9.8 and 21.5.

PREP FINALE

Hefty Tom Direaux's shove of the shot proved a fitting finale to his high school career. Although he did not break the world interscholastic record, as had been hoped, his heave of 58ft., 5¼in., was a new city meet record. The world mark is 58.10.

Henry Duvall, little brotner of the great Al Duvall of Loyola football fame, finished fifth with a toss of 49ft., 2½ in.

Not even U. S. C. can run a relay like Jeff. The eight youths the fastest sprinters in the city, breezed the four lap course in 2m., 58.4s. way in front of Fairfax, Manual, Belmont, and Venice.

Young Don Bowdoin of Los Angeles was a surprise second place winner in the 180 low hurdles. Smith, the winner, set a new city meet record of 19.6 and Don was right on his heels. Belmont's Ormonde Wilson was fourth and Jeff's Pollard was fifth.

BRIEFS

Although Al Ranford, white, upset the dope in winning the mile from Cezares of Garfield, also white, Jefferson's Floyd wasn't troubled. Maintaining his consistent pace, he passed the finish line in his usual third place . . . The showing of Jordan High school, dark horse institution in Watts, was refreshing . . .Jordan's Shoaff, white, was among those in the five way tie for second in the high jump as was Jeff's Pollard at 6ft., 2½in., and Starks of Jordan won the broadjump with a leap of 23ft., 4in., . . .O'Neal, one of Belmont's colored contingents placed third at 22ft., 10½in., . .San Pedro High school had a colored youth on its relay team. Timothy Goolsby, a senior . . . Young Roundtree's performance in the Class B century and furlong were better than any thing that has come out of Poly since Tom Bradley. . . Jordan's Mackey showed up mighty poor in the century running fourth behind 10.1 time . . . however he redeemed himself in the broadjump which he took at 22ft., 4¾in.

Bruin Stars Leave City

Broadjumper Bill Lacefield, Weightman, Woodrow Wilson Strode, and Distance man Paul Van Alstine, white, part of the U. C. L. A. track team, left Los Angeles Sunday night over the Union Pacific's crack "Challenger" train, bound for Minneapolis and after that Chicago, for two weeks of track competition.

The youths were met in Minneapolis Tuesday by Quartermiler-Hurdler, Tom Berkeley and weightman Clark Shaughnesy, a white boy who has been visiting with his father, who is Coach at Chicago University.

The team will leave Minneapolis on the 18th to arrive in Chicago on Monday, June 20, to allow time for workouts for the Big Ten-Coast Conference dual meet. Harry Trotter, Bruin coach did not accompany the youths. At the station to bid them good-bye, he said he might fly East in time for the latter meet.

AAU Winners to Tour Europe

NEW YORK, June 15.—First and second place winners in all events except the walk at the AAU meet in Buffalo July 1 and 2 will be chosen for the 40-man track and field squad to represent the United States in almost two score meets in ten foreign countries this summer.

The team will be chosen by the A.A.U. Meets have been arranged in England, Sweden, Germany, Greece, Italy, Hungary, Finland, Norway, Denmark, and Switzerland.

Omit Women's Events in Pasadena Meet

Women's doubles and mixed doubles are omitted from the list of matches to be played in the annual Southern California Tennis Tournament to be held in Pasadena on July 3 and 4, it became known today with announcement of the events to be played.

Because of a shortage of women players, feminine activity will be limited to women's and girl's singles with Pacific Coast Champion Gwen Roberson and Southern California Titleholder Carrie Belle Deane attempting to retain their laurels.

West Coast Champion James Stocks will defend his title from the onslaught of young darkhorses. Leonard Fuller's title in the junior boys' division will also be on the block.

The Crown City Athletic club, of which Vernon Chambers is president, will be hosts to the tournament, the place of which is to be announced later.

Interested Southern California racquet wielders are invited to participate in the matches, and may obtain full particulars by writing to Clarence Mills, president of the Southern section of the Western Federation of Tennis clubs or Mrs. Josephine Brown, Pacific Coast field secretary, it was stated.

The above decisions were reached at a meeting last June 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hardy, members of the Suburban Tennis club. Representatives of previously mentioned clubs, plus the Junior Eagle and the Ross Snyder club were present.

Ambers to Be Tough, Says Armstrong

NEW YORK, June 16—Obviously unmoved by world acclaim, Henry Armstrong admitted last week in a talk with newspaper reporters that he expects the hardest fight of his sensational career when he attempts to wrest the lightweight title from Lou Ambers on July 26 and become the first triple champion in the world.

While the press ballyhooed Ambers for his showing against Baby Arizmendi in Los Angeles last Tuesday evening, in which the decision was a draw, Armstrong said:

"Ambers is the most underrated fighter in the ring today. I've studied boxing styles for more than six years and I know that his jumping jack tactics will cause me more trouble than any fighter I ever met. I figured Ross was easy but Ambers is a different proposition."

Hurricane Henry said he could train more diligently to meet Lawruping Lou than he did for Ross.

DON'T SEVER FRIENDSHIP OVER POLITICS

As we enter upon another congressional, state and county campaign to select men and women to fill the various offices in our scheme of government, let's all be mindful that hate, bitterness and severance of friendships injures no one but the individual who allows the green-eyed monster to overcome judgment and reason. After all, no matter what party or individual is elected or defeated, all must submit to the will of the majority and join hands with victors and work with might and main to make the administration of the victor successful from every angle. The failure of any part of our government flies back upon us. We are the sufferers and must pay in dollars and cents for all laxities of government.

True, we all have individuals of a party that we prefer to carry out the functions of government, but so far as the EAGLE is concerned, we'd rather see our favorite go down in defeat than lose the friendship and goodwill of the humblest individual on earth.

That time has arrived when political battle lines will be formed in a gigantic struggle for political power and the spoils of office. In this little contest we want to see those of our group who play the game of politics, let it be politics free from passion or ill feeling toward anybody.

After all, they are white and care not a tinker whether you sink or swim once swept into office. The black individual who stubbornly opposed can and will receive as much and in many cases more consideration than he who has sacrificed a life-long friendship in furtherance of the cause.

Have you ever known of white men and women severing friendships over some black man's political aspirations? We don't, but we do know that first, last and all the time they are white and will not cast aside friendship for any Negro ever born. They'll support colored candidates wholeheartedly, but not to the extent of destroying friendship whish is absolutely the correct way to deport one's self in politics.

Let's get next to ourselves and go into this contest friends and emerge the same way. After all, if one goes up or down all go the same way!

The California Eagle believes that the salvation of the nation lies in the return to power of the Republican Party. However, we are not hidebound to the extent that we believe the name will do the trick, as many wear the badge of Republicanism for revenue only.

Speaking of Republicanism, we mean the kind of government advocated and put in force by Lincoln, McKinley, Theo. Roosevelt and Mark Hanna.

No one has any mortgage on our political belief or action, and if a Republican is adverse to our group we're a Negro first of all and will give the last drop of blood in our body to kick him out.

DAD HAS HIS DAY!

He probably won't know it until he reads these lines, but Sunday, June 19, is set aside in his honor.

The occasion, the festivities, the gifts, are all for him.

A dinner may be tendered in his honor, and if it is, you may find him out in the kitchen helping shell the peas, or tinkering helpfully with the oven regulator, so the dinner will be ready on time.

PAYMENT ON PEACE

Is $250,000,000 a reasonable price to pay for peace?

That is the down payment America is in the process of making to keep herself out of the murderous slugfest in the Orient today.

That sum represents the total amount of our investments in China, of which $155,000,000 is directly invested in business enterprises.

Little doubt exists now about Japan's intentions toward them. Her army has been nozzling up American property—schools, shops, buildings, missionary headquarters, seminaries — like a vacuum cleaner. Americans have been bluntly denied permission to re-possess them.

This was precisely the occasion of Secretary Hull's tart note to the Japanese warrior kingdom a few days ago. His protests against the all too evident absorption of American interests will doubtless receive, as usual, a bland reply, compounded of regret, surprise, and slight irritation.

Such polite evasion of the issue is only partially due to Japanese temperament. It is also the traditional procedure for carrying on any imperial conquest. European powers are old hands at it. If Japan ousts American business and American missionaries it is because she wants to install her own business and spread her own message. We don't like that one bit — so we protest. But it becomes increasingly evident we can't have our cake and eat it, too. We cannot have peace and keep a hammerlock on all of our one quarter billion dollars' worth of investments in China.

Yet we are fortunate in this: a rich and powerful nation like ours can afford, if need be, to pay that much for peace. Japan cannot afford it at any price. Haunted by nightmarish dreams of conquest, and insatiably proud, she must fight on, goaded — not by the promise of victory — but by the terrifying spectre of impending disaster.

BUT IS IT MUSIC?

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast!" says the poet, but—the fortunate man who penned those lines has been dead these two hundred years!

Little did he dream of the year when America would be turned on its ear by the wild syncopated blaring of that movement, that sound, that thing, called "swing".

Far from soothing the savage breast, its hi-de-ho trumpetings and the squealing pyrotechnics of its clarinets last week drove a 35-year old Chicagoan to shoot and kill his landlord's 16-year old daughter when she refused to change a program of radio swing music. After slaying her, this desperate anti-swingster sent a bullet through his own head, removing himself definitely from music's charms. But is it music?

The only certain thing is that "swing" has stirred up a hornets' nest of controversy as loud and fierce as some of the sounds emitted by killer-diller Benny Goodman himself who is charged with instigating — with no malice aforethought — the mayhem on melody, the battery on bassoons, that have been pounding into America's ears out of America's radio sets, 33 million strong. To its devotees it has become a cult and an obsession as enslaving as the "dancing fever" epidemic which swept Europe in the Middle Ages. It has given birth to a special vocabulary, and its worshipers are divided into an hierarchy which classifies

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By Robert Patterson

DRAFTING MONEY

The U. S. Senate Military Affairs Committee took a new tack last week in attempting to swing America into channels of permanent peace. It approved a report which would compel everyone having a net wealth of $1000 or more to lend money to the Government in war-time. The War, Navy, and Treasury departments oppose it, but the sponsors assert the best way to keep America out of the next war is "to draft money as well as man power". This their measure would do. However, the odds indicate this cash-drafting proposal will not be enacted — there are too many people who have more than $1000. It very probably would not work, anyway. The assumption that wars are caused by profitmakers' propaganda, like all simple answers to complex problems, is only a partial truth. Private munitions makers in Germany are tightly pinned under their government's inflexible thumb, but war propaganda rides, high, wide, and fiercely in that thoroughly militarized nation.

WHY MEN FIGHT

And in Japan, munitions makers have been battered groggily by tax burdens and the stupendous costs of the campaign in China, but that isn't stopping the war. France has proceeded to take the profits out of the next war by nationalizing her munitions industry, yet she is re-arming feverishly against an oncoming storm of violence. Removing the profits from war to safeguard people against munitions makers' propaganda is by no means enough to insure peace. The best piece of propaganda turned out by the World War, as far as whipping up American hostility toward Germany, was the sinking of the Lusitania, and not any poster placards. Certainly the American soldier received little personal profit from the World War, but he fought anyway. Taking the cash profit out of war may prove helpful, but operating on an infected toe never cured heart disease. Let the U. S. Senate Military Affairs Committee next try to find out what it is that makes men want to fight. The answer to that would give us a better antidote to cure war-making!

NOTE TO BUSINESSMEN

Up in Vancouver, B. C., the unemployed have been burdening city officials with a severe headache. On May 20, 700 of them pitched camp in the post-office and civic art gallery, determined to sit out their demands via the sit-down route. Last we heard they were still there. Now a sit-down carries a message straight to businessmen, merchants, and enterprisers. A few of them — and it's this minority we have in mind in writing this—may be surprised to learn that we have sit-downs right here in this community. A customer, entering one of our local stores the other day, observed a clerk contentedly slumped over the counter. "Is this a sit-down?" the worried customer asked. "No," answered the clerk, slowly rising from her comfortable position, "the boss merely forgot to advertise." Sit-downs aren't only in the news from Vancouver. They are potential, and actual, threats everywhere when merchants forget that a good way of making business sit up — instead of sitting down — is to tell the world about their bargains!

Negro Farm Demonstration Agents

Among the public servants who are rendering constructive service to the colored citizens of the tri-state area, Negro farm demonstration agents rank high. Unattended by brass bands and public demonstrations of what they intend to do, these men are getting down with the "dirt farmer" and proving by concrete examples the value of improved and diversified farming. They are teaching how to build eroded land, as well as how to lengthen the life of already fertile land. They are teaching the value, in cash dollars of buying and breeding horses, cows, hogs and chickens that tests and experience have found to produce the largest returns for the amount of labor and money invested.

The home garden, under the direction and teaching of these demonstration agents, is proving a great asset to farmers in keeping down their expenses while cultivating and harvesting the farm, and at the same time, furnishing the variety of food so necessary to sound bodies. the "year-round" garden is becoming quite general among farmers who, in the past underestimated the garden as a profit making department of his former "one crop" program.

Another fundamental feature on the program of parish and country farm demonstration agents is ORGANIZATION. The Farmers' Institute, New Farmers of America, 4-H Boys and Girls Club, that vie with each other in quality and quantity production, have done wonders in creating pride among farmers and spurring them on to greater accomplishment. Flower garden, home and kitchen contests, have, in many cases, almost revolutionized the appearance of homes, of communities.

Although many people try to ignore it, the fact remains ever present: the Negro's chances for survival today, as never before, lay along the line of agriculture and the manual arts. The professions will take care of only a small fraction of the 14,000,000 colored citizens of America, and this field is now at the saturation point. The Negro is without capital and should and must, choose those fields in which security in employment may be found. Farming, on modern methods, offers the greatest opportunity at the present time.

Salaries paid farm demonstration agents by the federal, state and parish governments yield large dividends. The program that produces the largest and lasting results is the program that helps people to help themselves. Farm demonstration agents do just that--they help people to find and help themselves by teaching them to work and farm to advantage, to be proud of themselves and their homes and community, to dignify farming and make it produce food for the family, feed for the stock and cash to pay for the farm and deposit in the bank for the proverbial rainy day.

Negroes in the professions and all kinds of business enterprises are, and will continue to be handicapped so long as the Negro farmer remains poor and dependent. The "top" depends upon the "bottom" for support and a chance to rise higher. If the masses are gainfully employed regularly and are producing something above what it takes to keep "body and soul" together, there is a chance for the professional and business groups to reap learger returns for their services and investments and extend their services to larger numbers.

In listing the factors that are helping the Negro farmer, and as a consequence the whole Race, up the rugged road leading to economic security and independence, our Farm Demonstration Agents come in for a large amount of merited praise.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WITH DUE APOLOGIES

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter at the request of my friends.

Las Thursday there appeared in the California Eagle an article concerning Wendell Green and his nomination to Associated Men Students' presidency at Los Angeles Junior College.

But, my withdrawal (Robert Cushnie) was not due to scholastic deficiences, as I have made only one "C" since I entered LAJC. I withdrew because I had only 40 units while the required number is 45 for that special office.

A correction of that statment in the next edition would be greatly appreciated and a distinct favor.

Before closing, please let me say that in Wendell Green we are getting not just another A. M. S. President but a gentleman and a scholar who knows the "real" problems of the college and he is certain to be a success.

Sincerely,
Robert Cushnie

SUGGESTED EDITORIAL

Dear Editor:

May we suggest an Editorial from you on the following subject:

The young Negro deserves a better chance than his parents and the present administration are giving him.

Today as has happened before, Los Angeles daily newspapers carry a story alleging that three young Negroes attacked a young white couple, robbing the young man, and attacking the young girl.

Such things lead or will lead to racial difficulties in California if the Negro press is silent and the Negro parents do not cooperate and will multiply racial problems for various organizations.

The account of the attacks mentioned in Los Angeles papers point to government C. C. C. Camps where hundreds of young boys are confined for weeks out on a mountain top or on a desert without the society of young women and in groups where they are at liberty to plan cooperative mischief when on leave of absence without money to spend and dressed in old worn out uniforms, soiled and shapeless, and particularly abhorent to young women when these young men are in their courting and marrying ages. Is this the fault of youth or is it the fault of their parents? Their elders or the government? We believe it is the fault of parents, their elders and the government.

These boys have a right to a chance during their marrying and courting ages. A better chance than they are getting.

Parents for the sake of the allotment are penning these spirited youthful men out and away from civilization and womanhood to work for nothing to themselves and denial of the natural development of sex life. Such must be corrected or disciplined before we have trouble in California unwittingly made by these youths.

What is the cure for these alleged attacks made by youthful men either black or white?

1. A Grand Jury investigation into the conditions of these camps.

A. First as to the appearance of the clothing of these young men for courtship and society with womanhood.

B. Second as to the amount of money each youngster has to spend at the time of his leave of absence.

C. As to where the young men spend their leave of abscence.

This investigation should lead to the following recommendations.

A. That the Government furnish better looking clothing for the youths. Clothing suitable for courtship as sailors or soldiers have.

B. That each youth has enough money left for courtship while on leave of absence.

C. That each youth is inspecited by an officer as to his appearance for social visits just as is done in the army so that his suit be well appearing, his shoes shined and his hair and beard trimmed before leave of absence is granted.

D. That while on leave of absence these young men are chapefoned such as sailors are chaperoned by S. P. officers.

We believe that it is only in this manner that the colored citizens of Los Angeles are going to be protected from the outraged of sex mad white and colored men detained in camps miles away from civilization for weeks.

Signed:
A colored reader.
Former U. S. Army Officer.

REDLANDS GRADS

Dear Editor:

At the termination of the schol year at the University of Redlands, two brilliant Negro students were graduated, Miss Juanita Blakely, of Colton and William Dickerson of Pasadena. Both of these students made splendid records. Mr. Dickerson, one of the University's star tennis players, graduated with honors in the field of philosophy. He anticipates entering the University of California Law School this year.

The University of Redlands, fully accredited by both the Northwest Association of Secondary and High Schools, and by the Association of American Universities is one of the finest educational institutions in the country that Negro students can attend.

The student body of the University of Redlands is quite cosmopolitan in its constituency. A good number of various races are represented, and race segregation, discrimination if they exist at all, are so negligible that it is hardly worth mentioning.

This feeling of friendship, of congeniality, and of oneness is kept alive by various organizations where association and contact is enjoyed. The University Cosmopolitan club, whose forty-six members represent a large number of raorganization of this kind.

We are fully persuaded that one of the primary reasons for the harmonious interrelations is due to the fine Christian spirit that prevails. Many of our students are sincere Christians who come from Christian homes to a school where Christ-like principles are exemplified in the lives of capable and imperial teachers.

No individual need hesitate to enroll at the University of Redlands for fear of mistreatment. Each person regardless of race, color or creed can feel assured of himself, and live in complete self-respect with his head up.

HAROLD L. SCOTT
President, University Cosmopolitan Club

Dear Editor:

Several years have elapsed since I have been connected with your growing paper as a columnist and advertisement soicitor; however, I have continued to read and enjoy it as a source of news information, regarding our group's activities.

Quite naturally I have a motive in writing to you. That motive has to do with the success and growth of your organ.

The newspaper field, as in other avenues of business, is confronted with much competition, both fair and unfair.

I, from time to time, have had the opportunity of criticising the Eagle, tho I have never knowingly struck it a foul blow.

I have been here now 26 years and during that time have seen and, in a small measure, assisted the Eagle in its growth from a two by four sheet, so to speak, to its present size.

There are a number of things in my mind, particularly as regards news beats by the eastern weeklies of western news items. However, the thing most prevalent in my mind is of recent date and has to do with your sport sheet and the Henry Armstrong victory.

At one time the Eagle sport sheet was all to be expected. Today I notice it's a thing in the abstract, missing, gone with the wind. It's an important factor in any paper's make-up. Read the Examiner, the Times, the Courier, the Chicago Defender or any black or white journal and you find a large newsie sport section.

May I ask, does not the Eagle aspire, if not claim, to be ranked as the leading Negro journal in the West and one of the Nation's best.

Here at a time when Negro athletes are sweeping the country, professionally and otherwise, the Eagle permits itself to be run over and trampled under in this section.

With the Defender, Courier, Call and the other papers of our group appearing with glamorous headlines and cuts of such a great character as Armstrong and Los Angeles claims him with white and black honoring him, and the local Chamber of Commerce preparing to pay him tribute, surely should not the Eagle lead the way instead of treating it as a small unimportant piece of news not hardly worth nothing. I bid you compare this week's sheet with others and you may or may not agree with me.

Personally I do not aspire to become editor of your sport sheet nor do I have anyone in mind. I simply feel that along with other efforts, the Eagle is making to stay in front, it should not neglect its sport section. Get out that old "Eagle Sports" head you used to have let's have more first class news and cuts of Joe Louis, Henry Lewis, Henry Armstrong, Strode, Berkeley, Ken, Washington and the others. If the advertising doesn't pay, the sales at newsstands will and the where withal will help you build an A. B. C. national circulation rating, that rating which is so vital if you are ambitious to secure national advertising.

I only write this because of the comments I have heard, people disappointed at this issue because you failed to capitalize on the news of the day.

Sincerely yours,
E. L. DORSEY

Bonnie Adams Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 59—NO. 11 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1938 PRICE FIVE CENTS

Here's Joe in 'Tame' Mood - He was Like a Tiger Last Night!

MR. AND MRS.

Here is the way Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis appeared on a recent visit to Los Angeles. With him is his charming and attractive wife, the former Marva Trotter. The bout last night ended just about as Louis predicted, experts pointed out. Louis, during training, often said he would stop Schmeling in two rounds.

Joe Gets Revenge in Overwhelming Win Over Max

F-L-A-S-H ! !

Police had to halt traffic in the vicinity of Vernon and Central avenues last night, and warned white persons to keep out of the vicinity as enthusiasm over Joe Louis' victory reached a high pitch.

"Central Avenue" was deliriously happy late yesterday afternoon (still is, for that matter) when results of Joe Louis scintillating knockout of Max Schmeling came booming out of radios here.

Meeting in Yankee Stadium, New York City, the German challenger sought to duplicate his 12-round kayo of Louis two years ago. Before a million-dollar gathering in a million-dollar house, Heavyweight Champion Louis knocked Schmeling kicking approximately one and a-half minutes after the bell for the first round. The quickness of the knockout stunned Joe's most rabid supporters.

SCHMELING FUNERAL

Shortly after the fight results came over the air, an impromptu parade was staged up Central avenue featured by a Schmeling "funeral" procession. A casket was placed atop an auto, the "funeral" dirge being the incessant tooting of all type horns.

The populace celebrated the stunning victory 'way past midnight. Firemen and policemen were kept busy by a noisy but law-abiding citizenry.

Ala. Court Says Scottsboro Boy To Die

Order Clarence Norris to Die in Chair August 19

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 23. (ANP)—In a surprise decision that brought one of the famous Scottsboro Boys one step nearer the electric chair, the Alabama Supreme Court last Thursday affirmed the death sentence imposed on Clarence Norris in the 1931 Scottsboro attack cases and ordered him to die in the electric chair August 19.

Three of the other youths have been sentenced to long prison terms--Andy Wright, 99 years; Charlie Weems, 75 years and Heywood Patterson, 75 years--and it was generally thought the State high court would set aside Norris' death sentence in favor of a long prison term.

But the court refused the plea of Norris' attorneys for a new trial, holding that "the record discloses no reversible errors and the judgment of the trial court must be affirmed." Norris and the three other youths were convicted in Morgan county circuit court in July, 1937, on charges that they attacked two white girls--Ruby Bates and Victoria Price--aboard a moving freight train near Scottsboro in 1931.

AID FROM GOVERNOR

The sentences of Wright and Weems were upheld last week by the State Supreme court and that of Patterson by the same court last October. Thursday's decision against Norris will send him to the electric chair unless he is granted a commutation by Governor Bibb Graves. The International Labor Defense, with Samuel Leibowitz as chief counsel, has defended the nine innocent defendants. Their defense was strengthened when one of the girls, repudiated her first testimony and declared the boys were being "framed".

As a result of the mass pressure and three adverse decisions by the United States Supreme court, the prosecution last July freed four of the boys--Roy Wright, Eugene Williams, Olen Montgomery and Willie Roberson. The last youth--Ozie Powell, was also freed on the rape charge, but pleaded guilty to assaulting a deputy sheriff, (who assertedly shot him), and was given a sentence of 20 years. Only the weight of public opinion and a mass appeal to Governor Graves for commutation, can save Norris, the only one of the nine original defendants now facing the electric chair.

105-YEAR-OLD EX-SLAVE ARRIVES IN CITY

One hundred and five-year-old ex-slave, Mrs. Hatty Bridgeforth in Los Angeles this week. Mrs. Bridgeforth is the owner of $17,000 oil well in Corpus Christie, Texas, and 160 acres of ranch land in Alameeta County, Texas. The aged woman, thrice sold in slavery, arrived via motor accompanied by her grandson, David, and his wife. Mrs. Bridgeforth's historic appearance on the EAGLE broadcast Sunday night (KGFJ, 8:15) caused a sensation. (For other pictures, see Theatre Page; for story, see "On the Sidewalk".)

Dr. Banks' Slayer Gets One-to-10 Year Prison Term

By ALMENA DAVIS

A jury of four women and eight men returned a verdict of manslaughter in the case of the people versus Bonnie Adams, dragged to a close yesterday afternoon in Judge Charles Fricke's courtroom.

The verdict culminated a trial of four days, selection of the jury included. Fate of the slayer of Dr. Theodore Banks, Eastside dentist, was given into the hands of the jury yesterday at 10:30 a. m. after Defense Attorney Richard Bird and Prosecutor Charles Russell had finished their pleas late Tuesday evening.

The convicted woman will be sentenced Monday morning. Probable stipulation will be one to ten years in prison, although the three years since the murder that she has spent in the insane asylum may be subtracted. She will be transferred to the Women's Prison at Tehachapi in a week or so.

Clad shabbily, but neatly, in a white blouse, black skirt, black shoes, grey stockings and wearing a black hat, Miss Adams heard the foreman read the verdict without a change of expression and when the court was adjourned, she followed the matron's beckoning finger out of the room and into the elevator without a word.

COMPLETELY ALONE

But then she could hardly have changed her expression to a sorrier one. A more completely alone figure, has seldom been seen in a courtroom.

For the four days of the trial she had sat a silently tearful, unobtrusive figure, her back turned to the audience, her shoulders hunched as if to ward off the stares of the curious, her handkerchief in hand, futilely dabbing at tears that fell continuously.

The stares of the curious were easily satisfied, if the curious remained through the dull proceedings at all. One got none of the morbid thrill of looking at a perpetrator of a crime against society, in watching this one glide silently into the courtroom and sit while the attorneys haggled mildly over the position of objects in the room on East Vernon avenue where she shot Dr. Banks on the afternoon of August 14, 1935.

Even when Miss Adams talked on the witness stand, with the exception of the time her desperately-clung-to-composure slipped her grasp and she cried out, your glance kept straying from her. She was the most inconsequential person at her own trial. Probably the most definite thing Bonnie Adams did in the 32 years of her life was to fire six bullets into the body of the man she loved, the man who didn't love her.

Spectators were never quite sure just what penalty the prosecution was asking, even though he contended that the tall, willowy woman shot and killed the handsome young dentist, "maliciously and with intent to murder", and the public defender asked no especial leniency on any of the evidence, urging only that the jury remain aware that the responsibility for the woman's fate rested with them "and with you alone".

The insanity plea, which was

ONE HUNDRED and five years ago a slave child was born in Sour Lake, Louisiana.

At that time, Andrew Jackson was President of the United States, the political "spoils" system was in its hey-day, and the battle of state sovereignty, destined to climax in the Civil War, was fought in great verbal conflicts between Daniel Webster and John C. Calhoun. The first locomotive in the State of New York had made its initial journey but three years previously; steamboats were fast replacing old-fashioned sail vessels, while iron ships had not yet been dreamed of.

America was still a small, unimportant step-child among the family of nations, and John Quincy Adams, defeated in a presidential reelection campaign but returned to Congress as a representative to the House, told how he had been denied entrance to the City of Moscow by a sentry who had never heard of the United States, much less an ambassador from it.

Rampant in the South and popular in the North, slavery was undoubted master of the nation's economic system. Mighty Virginia was the queen state of the country — the empress of a great southland — an area basking in the glory of King Cotton and existing on the forced servitude of thousands of blacks. The great mansions which now lay in decay — replaced by mills and factories — held undoubted sway over immense plantations. Colonial times had but recently drawn to a close, and the dark apparel which has adorned man for the last hundred years just came into vogue. In many places, the silk pantaloons and many-colored satin waists remained height of fashion for the village dandies.

Yes, a long time, one hundred and five years ago.

The slave of whom we speak, born in Sour Lake, was property of the White family, which later sold her to the Le Blancs. When hard times hit the South, they, in turn, bartered the woman to pay off a mortgage debt.

Removed to Corpus Christie, Texas, by the new owners, the slave was married to a man by the name of Phillips. Five children, all of whom now are dead, came to the union. The husband died, and when liberation came Mrs. Phillips remarried—became Mrs. Bridgeforth. The new couple purchased an acre of land in Corpus Christie where they lived for thirteen years. After this, Mr. and Mrs. Bridgeforth bought an entire section of ranch property, 360 acres, in Alameta county; remained there a decade and a half, until a great drought swept over the land — nullifying years of labor and patient building. Discouraged and tired, the aging couple took up residence in the town of Larado, 150 miles south of San Antonio. Soon Mr. Bridgeforth passed away.

Today, his wife remains in the same little town, surrounded by her brood of five grandchildren and two great-grands. Without the knowledge or consent of his spouse, before his death, Bridgeforth allegedly mortgaged one-half the ranch property to Roterez Gutterize, a Mexican. For years, Mrs. Bridgeforth, unaware, paid taxes on what she thought was the entire ranch, but in reality, only one-half. When she discovered that someone else was operating one-half her property, in 1937, she immediately took the case to Gordon Gibson, attorney in Larado. The defendant held that the mortgage papers in his possession had been signed by both Mr.

SEWILLA L. ALAMEDA FILES DAMAGE SUIT

Asking $75.000 damages and costs, Mrs. Sewilla LaMar Alameda, prominent club woman filed suit this week against her former husband, Robert LaMar, his white attorney, and Mrs. Ruth Castron, charging malicious prosecution.

Mrs. Alameda claimed that her divorced spouse, aided by Mrs. Castron and the lawyer, attempted to have her imprisoned in June 1937 on a "trumped up" insanity charge after she assertedly had "kidnapped" her son, Robert LaMar, 9 year old grammar school student, and engaged in scuffle over the child with Mrs. Castron, 1456 E. 57th street, who was custodian of the child.

She said she avoided the disgrace of arrest only by fleeing the city.

LaMar is the son of R. G. LaMarf, well known in political circles of this city, and is employed by Civil Service.

Arraign Ellis Black Today

Apparently indifferent to his fate, Ellis Black, 52 year old laborer, who killed his prominent church worker wife, Mrs. Alberta Black, 43, in their Watts home on May 24, will be represented by a public defender when he is arraigned in Dept 41 of the Superior Court this morning (Thursday) at 9:30 a. m.

Black was arraigned Monday morning but when the Court found he had obtained no counsel, a Public Defender was appointed and the hearing rescheduled for this morning.

LAJC 'Prof.' Threats are Protested

Election of Wendell Green Favored By Instructors Under Fire

Reports of threatened reprisals against Los Angeles Junior College instructors who favored the election of Wendell Green, young colored student, as president of the Associated Men Students at that institution, have reached the Eastside and have drawn protests from local leaders who branded reprisals or threats of reprisals as "undemocratic and unjustified."

Instructors, reportedly menaced by their stand in the Green election, were J. Richard Bietry, H. G. Harrison and S. E. Urnder, the latter two of whom are in the mathematics department and the first of the speech department.

Urner's home, it was reported, has been "rotten egged". Berry it was asserted may face a dismissal move some time during the summer while school is not in session. The ostensible grounds for his dismissal may be predicated on the assertion that he has violated some technical rule of the administration.

Green when asked for a statement by this newspaper, was non committal, simply declaring that he had been elected as president of the Associated Men Students and that he expected to serve

Domestic is Refused Pay

"I won't pay you anything!" said Mrs. Luena Haswell, operator of the Wilshire Aparment Service, to Mrs. Grace Spriggs, employe of 6393 East 37th Street over the phone yesterday morning.

Mrs. Springgs is only the latest in a long line of victimized by the Apartment Service. The woman, it is stated, is due a month's salary, but because she was ill Saturday and unable to report of a job at Alhambra (of which her employer assertedly was informed), Mrs. Haswell voiced the above refusal.

Previous cases of alleged fraudulent practices of the Service, which supplies domestics to swank Hollywood hotels and apartments, include that Mrs. Alice George and Alma Butts, 1493 W. 35th street, "paid off" with rubber checks, Mrs. Cathrine Bowie 1624½ East 42nd street, due $45.00 in back wages, and Mrs. Elmer Mitchell 1274 East 48 street, with a similar complaint.

Mrs. Spriggs, mother of a small child, had informed all creditors that she would have their money yesterday; Mrs. Haswell's refusal to pay came like a thunderbolt.

With the new instances of irregularity in operations of the Service occuring weekly, it is believed the failure of Deputy A. L. Barnes of the Division of Labor Law Enforcement to take action in an identical previous case, that to Mrs. Alice George, will be challenged.

Also notable in the sensational new developements of the alleged "salve racket", story of which first broke in the EAGLE a month ago, was the inclusion of a new section in the lengthy legal document all Wilshire Service domestics must sign. The new section reads: "It is further agreed that the first ten dollars ($10.00) earned shall be forfieted provided I, the party of the first part (employee) leave the employ of my own accord before three months." Champions of the Apartment Service workers have denounced "the necessity, logic, justice" of the additional stipulation.

Laxity of law-enforcing agencies to act in the women-workers' cases has been commented upon. The District Attorney's office, the Division of Labor Law Enforcement, and the Bunco Dept. of the Police organization all have been appealed to. In one instance the Court of Small Claims returned a verdict favorable to Mrs. Haswell.

It is believed that the multiplicity of legal documents, statements, etc., which employees must sign keeps the organization within the letter of the law. It is also noted that operator Haswell's husband is an attorney.

A suit against the CALIFORNIA EAGLE for printing the stories in this case assertedly is being considered by Mrs. Haswell.

Titus Alexanders Vacation in Northwest

Mr. and Mrs. Titus Alexander together with Mmes. Minnie Boring, Edith Hudnell and Minnie Hough are enjoying a vacation in the great Northwest. Among the places visited are Bryce Canyon and the Great Salt Lake in Utah. At present, the party will visit Victoria, B. C., Seattle, Portland, Redwoods, and Yosemite before returning to Los Angeles.

4 NABBED AS KIDNAP, ATTACK SUSPECTS

In four colored men, arrested in the wee hours of Wednesday morning, police at Newton street station believe they have the perpetrators of a series of kidnapings, rapes and attacks by which Los Angeles has been terrorized in the past few months.

Within an hour of each, Detective Lieutenants L. M. Vaughn and E. C. Young of the Newton Street Police station arrested the four, William Brown, 27, and Lonnie McGilver, 36, of 1629 E. Santa Barbara avenue; Irving Jordan, 27, of 1043 E. 41st street, and George Bolden, 24, of 1638 E. Adams Blvd. They were booked at Newton street on suspicion of robbery, criminal assault and suspicion of kidnaping.

Although daily papers, pouncing on the story as soon as the arrest reports were filed and printing "extra" mastheads on the front pages Wednesday morning, claimed that the men confessed participation in at least seven of the crimes, the records, inspected by an EAGLE reporter Wednesday afternoon, showed that the men have denied all the accusations.

McGilver and Brown were arrested at the Santa Barbara address when officers went there, searching for Brown whom they had heard was carrying a gun and molesting women in the vicinity of Los Angeles. He is an ex-convict. They found a loaded weapon under a pillow, a sam brown belt, which was reported used in a recent rape, and a pair of handcuffs. Brown also was in possession of a private detective's badge.

Bolden and Jordan were arrested first, at 12:10 a. m., when the police officers cruising about 33rd and Morgan avenue, saw a parked car, a Chevrolet coupe, which they recognized as a stolen auto. Bolden, who was in the car, jumped out and ran when the officers approached. He was later apprehended, hiding behind a tree some distance away.

Jordan dropped a pistol on the ground when the officers approached. He had been peering under the auto's hood. He gave his occupation as a painter and Bolden said he was a moulder.

'BLUE STEEL' GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

James Holland, alias "Blue Steel", whose too forceful wielding of a kitchen chair caused the death of Miss Hortense Mickens, 925 E. 25th street, last April 1, was found guilty of manslaughter Monday morning and was sentenced to a maximum of ten years in San Quentin.

Evidence was presented the Court by Deputy District Attorney Louckes that Holland and some friends went to the dead woman's home on Sunday night, April 1 and during their visit got drunk. An argument ensued and Holland became angered. Snatching up the nearest object, which happened to be a chair, he struck Miss Mickens over the head. The chair broke, crushing her skull.

The case was heard before Judge Frank Smith with H. E. Gleason, white attorney, representing Holland. Detective Lieutenants Charles S. Broady and E. C. McGruder of the Newton Division were the investigating officers.

EAGLE 'ED' ATTENDS ALPHA BOWLING CLUB

The Alpha Bowling club, an organization of some 30 men of Los Angeles, invited Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE, to their meeting in the Masonic Temple. The club, a promulgator of civic and social goodwill, pledged their support to the EAGLE and promised to bring some new and unusual things to the forefront.

Lawrence Johnson pleaded guilty in Dept. 42 of the Superior Court on Monday to an assault with a deadly weapon charge. He was sentenced to one year in jail.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Hollywood attracts more people annually who are movie struck or glamour minded than California did in the days of the GOLD RUSH, young men and women, children and EVEN OLD PEOPLE who are easy prey to all of the sharks, chislers, blackmailers and promoters. You will find special "CONTACT MEN", or a grand fellow who is a "FIXER" that can set you in right for a big part "coming up", if you have some dollars. Most of these people are wise enough to come this way with a few dollars and are quite willing to put on the "DOG" for a while and wait until their inside man gets EVERYTHING FIXED UP. These fellows will take their cars, diamond rings and everything that is not nailed down. Disguested, at the END OF THE ROPE, these people go back home with a rotten tongue for Hollywood. NOTHING can be done about it. These fellows operate with licenses and stay WITHIN THE LAW. People will continue to come to Hollywood because it is the glamour city of the world. But there is another side among this great mass of people coming this way seeking opportunity, there is a small percentage that have great talent and something to really offer the industry of making pictures. We are at loss for real show cases for actors as there is no more stock companies and the Little Theatre movements are so handicapped by finance that they are seldom in the position to give a real showing even if there is an honest effort, like the Lew Peyton School of Acting. So the only hope of developing our future actors and the only recognized medium is in FEDERAL THEATRES. They have the finance to PRODUCE properly and many times the BEST LATENT material. The Negro unit here today HAS THE FINEST opportunity ever to give great PRODUCTIONS and develope YOUNG ARTISTS. In the field of MUSIC thru CARLYLE SCOTT, they have discovered voices that would have been lost in the "WHITE FOLKS' KITCHEN" or the "WASH RACK" of a garage. The legitimate minds of the picture business are fast becoming conscious of this fact, and seek THESE ARTISTS, when they want REAL MATERIAL. Watch out for SHARKS and RASCALS! —(Copywrited by Clarence Muse, 1938.)

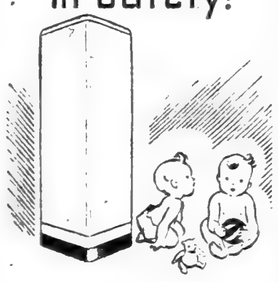
and Mrs. Bridgeforth — a manifest impossibility since the lady in question can neither read nor write. Yet, the decision returned by the Texas court was in favor of Gutterize, since, however, deceased.

But the most sensational development in Mrs. Bridgeforth's recent history was the discovery of oil on her one acre in Corpus Christie. The well, first operated by the Texaco company in 1936, but now in the hands of Amsco Refining, is valued at 17,000 dollars; reaps a monthly profit of 468 dollars. Of this, Mrs. Brdigeforth receives the handsome sum of fifty-eight dollars! The remainder, explains Texas Justice, must go to lessee, driller, refining company, and taxes.



But the aged ex-slave knows little of the intricacies of law and remained until a few months ago in the town of Larado. Here with grandsons David and Sherman Bridgeforth she lives, an American citizen — enslaved in youth, swindled in age.

In spite of the fact that Mrs. Bridgeforth is an hundred and five years old, she can still thread a needle without the aid of glasses — is keenly alive to what is going on about her, has a good appetite, sleeps well, and has a fine sense of humor.

June sixteenth at the culmination of an automobile trip with her grandson David and his young wife at the wheel, Mrs. Bridgeforth landed in Los Angeles.

Many are the stories she tells of slavery horrors, of backwood farms where blacks were bred as cattle, of cruelty and of punishment. But even worse, in view of what we term "modern justice", is the meagre 58 dollar monthly check sent the undoubted owner of a 17,000 dollar oil well!

Daughter of Bishop and Mrs. Wright jr., Weds

PHILADELPHIA, June (By Evelyn P. Sutton for ANP)—Miss Grace Lydia Wright, daughter of Bishop and Mrs. R. R. Wright jr., and the Rev. Dwight Vincent Kyle of Boston, son of Dr. and Mrs. Duncan H. Kyle of Clarksburg, W. Va., were married Tuesday at the home of the bride's grandfather, Major R. R. Wright sr., in Philadelphia. The rites were performed by the bride's father, assisted by Bishop David H. Sims of the A. M. E. Church.

The bride who was given in marriage by her grandfather wore a gown of white moussaline de soie, with a yoke of pearl beads and a short train. Her veil was hip length and caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses and lillies of the valley.

The maid of honor was Dessie Winfrey of Lorraine, O., who wore yellow organza. Mrs. Alberta Harris, sister of the bride, wearing pink chiffon, and Mrs. Gertrude Thomas of Clarksburg, a sister of the groom, garbed in pink moussaline de soie, were the other attendants. Gwendolyn Wright, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl, and wore blue print d' Esprit. The best man was Paige Kyle of Raleigh, N. C. the brother of the groom. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Florida Williams and Ira Harris sang during the ceremony.

The out of town guests included: R. R. Wright, of Columbus, O., brother of the bride, Dr. Whittier Wright, of Gettysburg, Pa., an uncle of the bride; Mrs. Ruth Hayre of Washington, D. C., a sister of the bride; Frank Deal of Boston, Dr. and Mrs. Granville Woodson of Washington.

Frederick Weaver of Washington, Ilewlyn Berry and Richard Berry of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Hunt and Mercedes Hunt of Chester, Pa., Mrs. Nancy Barnes and George Barnes of Camden, N. J., Charles Deddett of Washington, the Rev. and Mrs. P. C. Williams of Harrisburg; Paris V. Sterrett, M. Wind and Alvin Andrews of Boston; the Rev. and Mrs. Clark of Bristol; Miss Anna Terry, Mrs. Doris Valentine and Mrs. Howard Daniels of Wilberforce.

Following a trip south, the couple will live in York, Pa.

STYLE NOTES

With receptions and teas holding the social spotlight, how about turning our style notes into a little chat on polite do's and don'ts for the guests:

In attending a reception, recognition of persons in the receiving line is enough and one should only shake hands when it is a small and select gathering, when renewing an acquaintance or meeting someone who has heard of you through mutual friends . . the offering of the hand should come from those in the line.

Should the honoree be an artist or person of acclaim, however, it is all right to offer your hand in congratulations. One should never gush over or hug anyone in a receiving line . . . even if it is an ex-classmate . . . it is embarrassing to the recipient of the bear strangle and trying on the person behind you. Save your personal chats until you have time to visit with your old friend.

Teas, perhaps, are scenes of more breaches of good form than any other gathering . . . especially when they are charity or silver offering functions. You probably number among your friends the person who always asks for a second cup of tea . . . or another one of "those delicious cookies" . . . and one who wants to see someone in the kitchen or who will stay from three to seven just because the invitation gives those hours . . . and who may even condescend to hang around later to tell the committee just how the flowers on the piano could have been more effectively arranged.

We hope you are not guilty of any of these evidences of thoughtlessness . . . Check your tea ettiquette, keep your hat on . . . and don't ask for a second helping of anything, but if it's offered and you feel that way, go ahead without calling anybody's attention to it. When it's a buffet affair, use discretion . . . consider the sumptousness of the board and keep the other fellow in mind.

Negro Golfer Barred in Open Meet

ST. LOUIS, June 23. (ANP)—Sanders S. Mason, former holder of the Southern Open Golf championship, made an unsuccessful attempt to blast away the racial barriers in competitive golf here last week when he filed his entry to the Western Open Golf championship held at the exclusive Westwood Country club.

Although Mason's entry, sent in June 3, no word had been received of its arrival by Mason, nor was he notified through the mails of any action that might have been instigated to bar his entry. However, last Saturday in the Post Dispatch, local daily paper, there appeared an article which read, "Although Negroes are leading the field in track, boxing, etc., the doors of other sports such as golf, tennis and professional baseball are still closed to them."

"DON'T CAUSE ANY TROUBLE"

Last Monday afternoon, exactly one day before the tournament got underway, Mason motored out to Westwood club to inquire as to his entry. He was introduced to Clarence Wolff, district golf association secretary, who stated, "Please don't cause any trouble. We're mighty sorry that we cannot acept your entry. The Westwood club officials recently wrote in their constitution a clause barring any race other than the Caucasians from entering any golf matches on their course."

Mason is a member of the local Paramount golf club and has participated in practically every Negro golf tournament in the country.

rain is no damper to guild party

NEW YORK, June 23. (Special)—Driving rain proved no deterrent to festivities of some 400 members and guests of the Negro Actors Guild of America, June 7 as they turned out for the first of a series of social "get-to gethers." The affair, a preliminary to the Guild's moonlight sail scheduled for next month, attracted social and theatrical satellites to the luxuriously chromiumed Mimo Club, Harlem's most recent contribution to swanky night life.

Prominent among the celebrants were Noble Sissle, guild president, and Ethel Waters, first vice-president, who set the tempo of the informal gathering by temporarily forsaking the glamour of the footlights for the soft glow of indirect illumination.

Photographers, Billy Rowe and Hamtree Harrington, a guild executive board member who recently deserted the stage for a professional photography studio, found themselves in a veritable lensmen's paradise. As their bulbs flashed at almost every table, they recorded the pleasure hours of such well-knows as Louis Armstrong, pilot of the high C's; E. Simms Campbell, Esquire's artistic genius; dynamic Fredi Washington, guild executive director, dashing about to insure the party's unqualified success; California's buxom Peters Sisters; Chick Webb, Eddie Mallory, Teddy Hill; Charles Buchanan, Savoy ballroom major domo; Cinemactress Laura Bowman; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Carter; Rex Ingram, J. Rosemond Johnson, W. C. Handy, Edna Thomas.

FINGERPRINT ALL TO NAB ATTACK SUSPECT

GREENSBORO, N. C., June 23. (ANP)—In an effort to cooperate with local authorities, 75 colored residents here last Monday offered to have their finger prints checked with those of an assailant who Saturday night struck Mrs. Alex Waller, white, over the head with a pistol.

Mrs. Waller, it was reported, was struck by "an unidentified Negro" in the dining room of her home as she went there to investigate noises. The intruder allegedly left finger prints on chinaware. A posse, using bloodhounds, trailed the man but failed to find him.

expected was lost when psychiatrists, appointed to examine the defendant in 1935, testified on Friday that she was sane at the time of the shooting although she later lost her mind.

MOTHER PRESENT

Only avid listener to the proceedings was the mother of the dead man, Mrs. F. A. Banks. A little, stooped, old lady clad in black, she sat between two friends on the front row. If she felt any antagonism toward the woman who had terminated the career of her youngest son almost before it had begun, she did not show it.

Present also were the two brothers of the deceased, O. L. Banks, husband of Dr. Ruth Temple, and Fritz Banks. There is a fourth brother, residing somewhere in the South.

Prominent names entered the trial, and one of them, Dr. Chas. Traylor was one of the star witnesses for the prosecution. Having occupied the suite of offices at the Vernon avenue address jointly with Dr. Banks, Dr. Traylor's testimony was valuable to the prosecution in establishing the contention that relationship between the two people was only casual.

The prosecution made much of the fact that no one in Dr. Banks' circle knew of the engagement allegedly existing between Miss Adams and Banks. He also laid great stress on the fact that the defendant possessed no receipts for the $1800 she claimed to have given the dentist from time to time during their two-year relationship.

Chief contention of Public Defender Bird was that Miss Adams shot Dr. Banks in self defense, that Banks had thrown some instrument at her in the course of the argument over his waning affections, cutting her arm. She is then alleged to have seized the gun, belonging to Banks, from a cabinet and pulled the trigger. She said, "I pulled the trigger once and the gun kept on shooting."

Boom Marion as Olympic Prospect

MINNEAPOLIS, June 23. — (Special to the Eagle)—John Marion, former Los Angeles prep school athlete, now mainstay of the Prarie View Teachers college track and field team, looms as one of the best Olympic half-mile prospects, in the opinion of George T. Bresnahan, Iowa University's track coach and one of the nation's leading experts on the sport.

Bresnahan made the statement upon his arrival here Thursday for the National Collegiate track meet held last week-end at the Memorial Stadium. His remark about Marion was entirely spontaneous and not prompted by anything reporters had said about the youth who gave such a fine demonstration against Johnny Woodruff, Pittsburgh star in Saturday's race.

"While Woodruff is much talked of in the hilf-mile, one of his most dangerous opponents is an athlete from little Prairie View college in Texas" Bresnahan explained.

"Little has been said about him, but he is one of the best Olympic prospects. He's a Negro named Marion".

Prairie View was one of the three colored schools sending athletes to compete in the collegiate classic.

Bresnahan said that America's Olympic prospects include Woodruff in the distance races and William Watson of Michigan in the decathlon. He said that Japan and Finland will be more formidable than in previous years in track and field and that division of the Games would be no walkaway as in previous years unless the "ravages of war reduce the ranks of our opponents."

Using the name of their theme song, the Deep River Boys perform spirituals and folk songs over the WABC-Columbia network. They sing a cappella and point out that they don't want to ruin the atmosphere of beauty around spirituals and folk songs meant to be sung just as they are passed down from generation to generation. The Deep River Boys, who took their name at the suggestion of their friend, Rex Ingram, also broadcast swing programs over the WABC- Columbia network, for which their theme song is "I Can't Forget the Southland," written by their arranger-pianist, Charles Ford. Left to right they are Harry Douglas, first bass; Vernon Gardner, first tenor; George Lawson, second tenor, and Edward Ware, second bass.

L. A. MATRON VISITS IN JACKSONVILLE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 23.—Mrs. Jeanie Robinson of Los Angeles is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Long, at Edward Waters College here. Mrs. Robinson is the house guest of Mrs. Mary Low Ward of 1511 Myrtle avenue, who visited Los Angeles last summer and was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Robinson and friends.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Long and Mrs. Ward are joining in making their mother and friend happy during her visit in Florida.

POLITICAL POT-PIE
By IRA

Filing time for those who seek to serve the dear old people in the various county and state positions closed this week and the big scramble is now on. Newspapers, radio, and buttonhole dispensers of political info will run rampant till August 30.

You will be told in glowing language of the fine qualities of Mr. A. and Mr. B.; of sacrifice and love for your group and kindred hog-wash. Be ye not deceived by the siren songs of these birds . . study well all candidates and measure before deciding for the best of 'em don't give a d--- for you or yours truly only at campaign time.

xxx

Congressman Steven McGroarty, foe of the Anti-Lynching Bill, has returned to his "green hills" in San Gabriel and rumor books him as a candidate for secretary of state in the California government. Hope it's true, so we can show the state's poet laureat that he's in the wrong territory. Alabama is the spot for Mr. McGroarty. They'd send the gent to the Senate.

xxx

Just now it looks as if Sheriff Biscailuz will "coast" in at the primaries. No organized opposition has yet appeared and the same is true of the candidacy of William G. Bonelli for member of the State Board of Equalization. Bonelli's former president of the Los Angeles City Council, is well-known and made many lasting friendships while serving in that body.

xxx

According to leaders of the Hatfield forces, Governor Merriam's entanglements with oil leases and other things to be investigated has added materially to the Lieutenant Governor's fight to occupy the gubernatorial seat. Hatfield is well liked by our group and above all things, never goes back on a promise. Wish we could say as much for the Long Beach political juggler.

xxx

Tallant Tubbs, one time Republican candidate for United States Senator, "Sends support" to Governor Merriam from Europe according to a local weekly. Don't know whether it was just mere words or in coin of the realm.

Tubbs is several times a millionaire and his sack would work wonders should he loosen up on his purse strings. Glad he's in Europe or someone would be injured in the grand rush to his office.

xxx

In sizing up what we need more than anything else in California, Frank E. Dalin, many years secretary of the State Senate, hit the nail flush on the head when he declared our need just now is "for some great dominant character to go up and down California, preaching Republican loyalty, respect for Republican institutions, and respect for men and women who for years have been recognized as Republican leaders in California."

xxx

Dr. Walter Scott Franklin of Santa Barbara, bridged party lines and filed for Lieutenant governor on the Republican, Democratic and Progressive tickets. He is a rancher as well as a physician and for many years was a member of the U. C. medical staff. Dr. Franklin is a registered Republican.

xxx

Roy L. Riley, member State Railroad Commission, is staging a telling campaign for U. S. Senator. At present he's on an extended speaking tour of Southern California.

Five Los Angeles Democrats filed papers for governor on the eve of going to press. All are powerful in the ranks of the party and the campaign will be one of the most spectacular ever staged in these parts. In the ring we see the headgear of Congressman F. Dockweiler, Supervisor Herbert C. Legg, Senator Culbert L. Olson, Col. William H. Neblett, and J. F. T. O'connor.

xxx

John R. Quinn, recently appointed to fill out the unexpired term of the late Ed Hawkins, County Assessor, seems to be meeting with popular favor and promises to aid materially in his fight to be elected to the post.

xxx

Republican candidates for the assembly in the 62nd District are numerous. Each feels that he's the man to retire the Democratic incumbent Gus Hawkins, and Hawkins is equally confident that he can defeat any or all of the combination. Be that as it may, it's so seldom we have opportunity to discuss race men runnig for public office, it would be unjust to parade a few of their virtues, since the other fellow is too busy with his own to even give honorable mention. We have: Tommy Miles who made a great race some six years to the windward. Miles gained national notice when he went East during the late presidential campaign and piloted a third party campaign in an effort to drive his race fro mthe two major parties. Carl Johnson is well known and played leading roles in the G. O. P. headquarters at different times. Spurgeon Jones, aggressive youngster, is connected with the Eastern Outfitting Company and has sold goods to hundreds of people who are among his friends. He says oldsters boast of desiring to give youth an opportunity, now he wants 'em to prove it.

James Alexander is, perhaps, the best known politician among the group. Jim, a former federal employee, doesn't give a d----- whether he wins or not, he always runs. For recent news paper crusaders, he was rewarded by a few shots being fired into his home, after which experience he decided it was more congenial to health to run for office than to edit a newspaper. A. Hartley Jones, the man who made the Liberty Building Loan organization a big success and leader in Elkdom, and in civic movements, is one of the most popular men in Los Angeles. All classes know Hartley and like him.

A Mr. Austin is also running, but at this time, we have no data on his activities . . . Here they are, look 'em over. We believe our brief glance is true, so make your choice.

xxx

Many Republican tears will fall in torrents. The why of it all is because Amos Black has changed his registration to the Democratic party. The fields look greener.

xxx

That old bunk that a rift was threatened in Republican ranks because the committee endorsed William D. Campbell for Congress in the Fourteenth District instead of the Hon. Fred M. Roberts is Democratic hooey. A majority amount over a stubborn fighter for Roberts by Wood Wilson and others . . . and that ended the whole thing. They conceded Fred to be Congressional timber, but decided with many of his closest friends that the time was not ripe for Roberts. Fred's not kicking.

Loren Miller, attorney with offices at 1105 East Vernon, announced this week that he has filed his declaration of candidacy for a member of the Democratic County Central Committee from the sixty-second assembly district.

Phyllis Kelson Recital Warmly Applauded

Phyllis Kelson, pianist, was greeted by an overflow audience last Sunday at the Gray Musart. Her program included works by Scarlatti, Handel, Liszt, Chopin and Still. The Schubert Impromptu in A flat, the Scherzo in C sharp minor of Chopin and the Second Hungarian Rhapsody of Liszt were among the outstanding numbers rendered.

Evedyn Leonard, violinist, pupil of Victoria Rice, was the assisting artist. She was warmly applauded for her brilliant technique and artistic conception of the pieces she offered. Her teacher, Miss Rice, accompanied at the piano.

The Gray Conservatory of Music trains and presents these young players in an effort, not only to develop their talents, but also to build appreciative audiences, it was stated by John Grey, head of the institution.

BONDED SALESMAN

June the month of brides and graduates—has finally come into prominence. What could be a more appropriate gift to the June bride or deserving graduate than a brand new Ford V-8 or a Lincoln Zephyr? Or, if one of the latest model cars doesn't exactly fit into your budget, out of an assortment of reliable R and G (renewed and guaranteed) used cars, there is sure to be one that will meet with your approval in both style and price.

Mr. Pollard, well-known Race salesman and the only one in Los Angeles County that enjoys the distinction of being a bonded salesman, located at J. A. Nadeau, Ford dealer at Central Avenue and Slauson Boulevard, will be on hand to assure your purchasing a good, dependable car to fit your need no matter if your taste runs to the beautiful new Lincoln Zephyr with the improved V-type engine, either of the two bigger and better Ford V-8's, Standard V-8 and the luxurious V-8 Deluxe, both with either 60 or 85 horsepower engine—or a good buy in a practically new used car.

Among his many satisfied and regular customers there is constant praise and appreciation of his unfailing integrity and courtesy in his business dealings. Having been at his present location for a period of two years and with a foundation of 8 years' experience as a salesman elsewhere, you may rest assured that Mr. Pollard is a well versed salesman with a comprehensive knowledge of values.

Call on your Bonded Salesman today at J. A. Nadeau, Central and Slauson Avenues, and inquire for him at the floor. If he is not in at the time leave a message for him and he will call at your home. Phone ADams 7141, residence REpublic 5077.

Chicago Judge Upholds Residential Segregation

CHICAGO, June 23. (ANP)—Restrictive covenants between white property-holders to keep Negroes out of given residential districts received official approval Friday when Judge Bristow upheld the ban against C. A. Hansberry, former NAACP branch secretary, who moved into the Washington Park subdivision on the edge of the colored district.

Because Judge Bristow had upheld all the points raised by attorneys representing the Hansberry group, the court's ruling came as a shock. It was announced immediately afterward that an appeal will be taken.

Trouble began a year ago when Hansberry, President Harry H. Pace of the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Co., and others bought and moved into a white section on the edge of the overcrowded Southside colored district. The Woodlawn Property Owners association immediately protested, pointing to a written covenant barring the sale of property in that section to Negroes. An injunction was obtained ordering the newcomers to move out and rent the premises to whites. The case has hung fire since then.

At the hearing Friday, Judge Bristow based his ruling on that handed down in a similar case in which the court upheld that the proceedings seemed to be dummy in character and fradulent in nature but nevertheless were binding.

Mother of Newsman Takes Trip

Mrs. Mary J. Hall, 1411 East 21st street, mother of Samuel H. Smith, left Los Angeles Sunday evening on an extended vacation via the Union Pacific Challenger. Her itinerary wil include Chicago, Ill., Wilberforce and Columbus, Ohio and Philadelphia where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Susie M. Parekr, 1803 Master Street. Mrs. Hall was the recipient of many courtesies before entraining.

Art Student to Open Studio

Miss Lena Edwards, recent arrival from San Francisco where she attended the California School of Fine Arts, announced this week that she will soon have a formal opening of her studio. The talented young woman has taken space at 1413 Central ave., where she already has several art studies on display.

Miss Edwards' plans call for equipping and maintaining a suitable studio where deserving artists might keep their creative work continously on display and eventually pave the way for sales.

NEW FORD TRUCK DESIGN UNUSUAL

New to the Ford Line, the V-8 cab-over-engine truck which was announced recently is now on display at any Ford dealerships in southern California. Pictured here is the front end of this new unit as it is being inspected by dealers and truck men. J. A. Nadeaus, local Ford dealer, claims that the new cab-over-engine has greater load space, shorter turning radius, requires less parking space, and has many other features important to present-day trasportation.

TUDOR FEATURE

Those who prefer a tudor sedan, especially those who ride in the back seat of a tudor sedan, will appreciate the advantages of the interesting front seat hinges in new two-door Ford V-8s. This innovation was designed to give passengers easier access to the rear seat.

This model car has been very popular for the family with small children because there are no rear doors for little hands to tamper with while daddy drives. It has been popular with the salesman, too . . . he has to lock only two doors instead of four when he parks his car. Local Ford dealers claim that the Ford tudor model has been considerably more popular since the new seat hinge feature pictured above was introduced.

Triggs - Spates Wedding Today

Mrs. Lucille Triggs has announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Fanny Triggs to Autoro Spates, son of Harry Spates, prominent local business and civic leader. Coming as a distinct surprise to their friends, the Triggs-Spates nuptials will be solemnized on Thursday evening, June 23, in the home of the bride-elect's mother, 4307 Compton Avenue.

Both Miss Triggs and Mr. Spates are popular in civic and club life. The former is a graduate of Jefferson high school and the Los Angeles Junior College; the latter is a graduate of Compton and Jeeffrson schols respectively.

Passes Real Estate Exam

Daniel L. D. Funchess, Jr passed the real estate broker's examination taken on May 28 it was learned this week. Mr. Funchess is now eligible to enter the real estate busines sand to be licensed as a bona fide dealer according to J. Mortimer Clark, Commissioner. He plans to begin work in that field soon.

LESTER GRANGER TAKES NEW JOB

The National Urban League in New York announced this week the transfer of Lester B. Granger from the league's workers' bureau, where he has served as secretary for four years, to the staff of the welfare council of New York City. Granger is a former executive secretary of the local branch of the Urban League.

Dr. Franklin Applauded at G. O. P. Meet

"I not only believe that Negroes should have proportional representation in the governmental affairs of the state, but because they are so much in the minority, they should have more than that."

Questioned directly by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the EAGLE, on his attitude regarding Negro representation in state affairs, Dr. Walter Scott Franklin, candidate for lieutenant-governor, answered and won applause from his listeners gathered at a dinner meeting in the dining room of the Dunbar hotel last Thursday evening.

With Mrs. Bass as hostess, Dr. Franklin, a wealthy San Bernardino ranch owner and medico, was introduced to a cross-section of Eastside voters numbering 35. The dinner was sponsored by Dr. Franklin's campaign committee with Mrs. Andre Olsen, headquarters manager, in charge.

This is the doctor's first venture into politics, he told the group in the main address of the evening. He waived claim to being a politician, however, and with the exception of the answer to Mrs. Bass' questions, made no promises and expressed no particular policy or platform.

He told his listeners that his only desire was to bring government back into the hands of the people, wresting it from the grasp of professional politicians.

Prior to his address Dr. H. Claude Hudson, former president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, spoke and lauded the idea of a doctor running for public office, stating that the services performed by medical men are similar to those of which the "sick" government" is in need.

Other speakers included Frederick M. Roberts, former assemblyman from the 62nd district, and candidate now for Congress from the 14th district; Carl Johnson and Spurgeon Jones, candidates for the Assembly.

Dr. Franklin stated that although he is a Republican, he will run for lieutenant-governor on both tickets.

Delegates to YW Confab Make Report

Mesdames Louise R. Kenner and Isabel Clifton reported to an enthusiastic group of members and friends with their presentation of the proceedings of the National Convention of the Young Women's Christian Association held recently in Columbus, O on Wednesday evening, June 15. The services of worship, the music, glimpses of setting personalities of the Convention were made vivid by the delegates. They were assited by Mrs. Marjorie Drisdom Lewis, pianist, and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

Every Porter A Reporter

UPTON SAYS—

Apparently the American people have had the wool pulled over their eyes in the latest Nazi Spy exposure Adolph Hitler's agents have been working under a Communist smoke screen from present indications. He was wise enough to line the American papers all up with a Red scare program headed by Wm. Randolph Hearst. He got the American people all worked up over the Communist overthrowing the American overnment. Then while the Nation's eyes were glued on the activities of the Communist party, his German Spies were ransacking the munition plants, navy yards and arsenals carrying away our plans for defense in case of war. In Alabama they had had no time to look for German spies because they were to busy trying to kill the Scottsboro Boys. The A. F. L. was blind because it was busy fighting the C. I. O. So summing the whole thing up and putting it together, the Communist Party seems to be the only thing in America who sounded the alarm. It has been shouting both night and day that the Nazi faction were spreading over our country like a spider web.

But with the Red Scare program going at full blast, nobody paid any attention to them. Maybe it would be better to let the Red Scare drop awhile and sound the Nazi scare. After all it's just like Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says. "The conditions of our Country will be the factor in acceptance or our rejection of the Communist UParty Policies.

Run from trouble and it catches you: face it and it runs away.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Many happy returns to the following who celebrate their birthdays during the month of June: G. W. Bethea, E. Woods, and Kathrine Henderson. Congratulations.

MILWAUKEE TRAIN WRECK WORST DISASTER IN YEARS
Porter Displays Heroism, Many Killed

Estimated as the worst train wreck in America since the year 1918, wrecking crews of the Milwaukee Railroad are still endeavoring to dig out bodies of those passangers who perished in the disaster.

No doubt my readers have long since read of this horrible wreck in the daily papers but a general slant on it from the writer's viewpoint might nevertheless prove interesting. In the first place it happens that the writer has operated on the same train and passed over the point where the wreck occured as many times as he has fingers and toes and then some so naturally he is in a position to write what he knows authoritatively. The writer operated on both the Olympian and the Columbian all during the World War and arrived in Spokane, Washington with a car load of sailors the night the Armistice was signed. The Olympian, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul's Crack Limited air conditioned train bound for Seattle and Tacoma, Washington piled up in the creek while most of the passangers were asleep. According to reports five cars remained on the track, but the other six plunged into the creek with a rending crash that left a mass of twisted wreckage. The bottom of one car was ripped completly away and two of its seats were left suspended in midair. The cause o fthe wreck was a cloudburst wit hits center about 50 miles upstream, the water weakened the center span and the tressle broke under the strain of the heavy train loaded with passangers. Because of the curve it was impossible for the engine crew to see the flooded condition of the stream until they were right on it. The entire engine crew was killed along with a number of passangers.

PORTERS HEROES

Scenes of indescribable confusion followed. Pullman Porters displayed the stuff they have the reputation to be made of in time of danger when they kept cool calm and collected under the worst conditions in a disaster of this kind since 1918. They smashed windows of the submerged or partly submerged cars in heroic rescue attemnpts, freeing many of the trapped passangers, others including a six year old child, drowned before they could be rescued. The late Charley White who passed away a few weeks ago here in Los Angeles operated on this crack train along with the writer.

EMPLOYEES INJURED

A dining car waiter by the name of Albert Dobbins was seriously injured others among whom were Pullman Porters slightly injured were Louis Williams: 521 E. 44 Place; Elenzie Woodson, 4615 Forestville Ave., Harry Buckley, 3362 Prarie Ave. These were all colored employees of Chicago. Every Pullman Porter injured, as well as those who made the heroic attempts were found to be members of the Brotherhood of the Sleeping Car Porters which speaks well for the discipline and training that is acquired by those affiliated with the organization.

MRS. R. J. MURRAY INJURED

Mrs. R. J. Murray, Sec'y of the Los Angeles Colored Women's Council, was injured last week. Her leg was severly cut while she was working in her garden necessitating several stitches. We wish her a speedy recovery.

MRS. MAPP AND MRS. RUTLEDGE ARRIVE
At Dunbar

Mrs. Mapp, member of the New York Women's Economic Council and Mrs. Rutledge, whose husband is in the service of Mr. Sinclair, wealthy oil man, arrived in the city Monday morning via the Southern Pacific from San Francisco. They will spend several weeks here and will be entertained by the Los Angeles Women's Economic Council of which Mrs. C. Fletcher is president.

TOURING WITH THE ROTARIANS

In town last week, toring with the Rotarians were: Ernest Daniels of P. T., J. Richardson of Washington, D. C.. The boys had a special request for their services for the entire trip by the Rotarians and will be out with their parties until today.

MRS. AMBROSE GIVES PENNY POUND TEA
For Sojurner Truth Home

All Railroad men are reminded that on Sunday a Garden Tea Party will be given at the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ambrose, 1119 E. Adams Blvd., from 3 p. m. to 7 p. m. It would be a mighty fine thing for members of the Brotherhood to demonstrate their loyalty to their co-worker Bro. Ambrose by attending this tea Sunday afternoon. The tea is for a worthy cause, the rebuilding fund of the Sojourner Truth rebuilding fund. all porters who attend will have their names published next week. We'll see who's who.

Boy Scout News

By Lovell Estell, Jr.

Drill Number 2 was conducted by senior patrol leader Francis Robinson of troop 180. We hope to be in condtiion for the American Legion convention. William Johnson assisted with the drill. Bill is an Eagle scout and our junior assistant scoutmaster. He is graduating from Manuel Arts High School this June.

Scoutmaster Nelson says that the strength of any troop lies in the work of each patrol. Regular attendance to the patrol meetings makes the whole troop run smoothly. The Cobra patrol was conducted by Wilbur Hall last Tuesday. All the boys were out.

Mrs. Peterson was a visitor of the troop June 13th. Mr. Nelson was unable to attend until late, so the meeting was carried on by his assistants.

Ronald Williams, 2nd class scout, wrote an article for the June '38 annual of Foshay High School. Ronald is graduating this June. George Houston of the Cobra patrol is also graduating, and Ernest Blue, of the Fox patrol will enroll in High this fall.

This year troop 180 will become a ten year veteran troop.

Girls of scout troop 148 are getting along fine in their work. They say the boys are anxious to teach the girls to tie knots. In fact some of the boys have called on the girls and are willing to give full instructions on knotting and tieing.

Vance Jones of troop 702 says their troop is progressing rapidly. There are 48 boys in the troop now.

Sam Armstrong pep yourself up and give me your news.

Likewise 617, 402 of Watts, and 702, and girls of 148.

Pioneer Resident Passes; Rites Held Saturday

Mrs. Julia Franklin Vance, pioneer resident of Los Angeles, died Monday, June 20, at 1:35 p. m. in the home of her daughter Mrs. Ida M. Robertson, 4433 Lima St. Mrs. Robertson is grand associate matron of the grand chapter of O. E. S.

The funeral will be held Saturday at two o'clock in the Second Baptist church with Conner-Johnson in charge of arrangements. She came to Los Angeles in 1903 from Austin, Texas, was a member of the Second Bauptist, Pride of Peace Tabernacle of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor, and an American Gold Star Mother. Mrs. Vance is survived by three daughters? Mmes; Robertson, Lorie Mapp of San Francisco, and Hattie Willard, also, of San Francisco; a son, Johnnie Franklin, and a sister, Mrs. Esther Stewart of Austin, Texas.

Louis Faces 2 Sessions in Chi Courts

CHICAGO, June 23.—Champion Joe Louis, with the Schmeling bout behind him, is facing several sparring sessions with the courts.

Louis and his managers were named defendants in a $250,000 damage suit filed late Saturday by Sheridan A. Bruseaux, New York private detective.

This is an old trouble between the private copper and the heavyweight champion, growing out of the first bout between Louis and the German. The first case was believed to have been settled out of court.

Bruseaux charged that Louis, Julian Black and John Roxborough made malicious and libelous statements about him in a newspaper story, allegedly signed by Louis, which accused Bruscaux of soliciting money for suppression of alleged evidence regarding the ourported doping of Louis before his fight with Schmeling in 1936.

Louis, on the other hand, has entered suit against a Chicago company for using his name, without authorization, in selling novelty jewelry and "good luck" charms.

An attorney for the champion filed suit in Superior court yesterday, seeking $25,000 damages.

Post News--

By TED THOMAS

The Benjamin J. Bowie Post No. 228 of the American Legion held their regular meeting last Monday night. After the regular business was conducted, including preparations for their picnic in Val Verde, July 3 and 4, the distinguests guests were introduced. Comrade City Council Ed. Thrasher of 14th District made a very interesting talk on Community Betterment, that was greatly appreciated by the Post.

BOY'S STATE

Preparation was completed for a week's course in good citizenship under Legion Auspices at Sacramento with everything ready for the opening of the Second Annual California Boy's State June 26. The Benj. J. Bowie Post No. 228 are sponsoring two boys in this enterprise, Alvin McDowell, 4624 Central avenue, and Morgan Molten, 1013½ East 28th street, both of Los Angeles. This city will be the concentration point for all books of Southern California who will leave here Saturday evening at 7:45 P. M.

Come out comrades and friends and give these Boys a send off.

The order of the day was called and nomination of officers was in order. George Johnson was nominated for commander without any competition whatsoever, with John Williams, First Vice Commander.

Bilbrew Twins Graduate From McKinley Jr. Hi

McKinley Junior high school will lose two of its most popular and talented young musicians when the Bilbrew twins, Kitty Jean and Maudie Jeanette, receive their diplomas this week at the closing exercises of the school.

The well known little misses, daughters of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, of 835½ East 32nd Street, director of the senior choir of People's Independent Church of Christ, have been very active in the musical life of the institution, and the teachers are reluctant to have them leave. Kitty Jean has been pianist for both glee club and orchestra, while Maudie Jeanette was the featured soloist on all programs.

The young people will leave Saturday for La Jolla where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall on a trip to Palm Springs, Nevada, and up the coast.

Lieut. Oxley Studies Negro Unemployed

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 23—In an effort to fucus the attention of public officials on the problem of Negro unemployment and stimulate constructive action to meet this acute problem, Lieutenant Lawrence A. Oxley, Field Representative, United States Employment Service, left Washington today for an extended three months trip to the states of Michigan, Illinois, Minnesota, California, Texas, Colorado, Nebraska, Washington, and Oregon. Conferences will be held in each of the States with the administrative personnel of the U. S. Employment Service. While in Seattle, Lieutenant Oxley will attend the National Conference of Social Work., and the Puget Sound Conference on Problems of the Negro Worker in the Northwest.

This field is concerned primarily with completing a nation-wide survey of the availability of services of the Negro applicant by State affiliates of the U. S. Employment Service. In this nation-wide survey the major Negro population centers have been visited and studied. As a direct result of conferences held thusfar in 32 States the U. S. Employment Service has been able to bring an awareness of the plight of the Negro unemployed worker and stimulated the appointment of over 385 qualified Negroes to professional and clerical positions on Employment Service staffs since July 1, 1937.

Faithful Central Baptist Church is Scene of Convention

The fourth quarterly session of the Los Angeles District Association of the Western Baptist State Convention of California will open in the Faithful Central Baptist church at 40th place and Paloma street, on June 29 and continue through July 2. A pre-convention program will be held on the evening of the 29th featuring specially arranged music and greetings. Rev. G. A. Miller is moderator and A. C. Capers, recording secretary.

Two leading pastors of Los Angeles Churches, Dr. J. D. Gordon of Tabernavye and Rev. Frank James of Mt. Olive Baptist will occupy the pulpit at Second Baptist Sunday.

With Rev. H. A. Foster in charge in the absence of Dr. Griffith at Tuskegee, Dr. E. W. Moore of Pasadena, veteran preacher brought two powerful sermons Sunday. "What should be the controlling motives of our lives, our thought, or the leading of the Holy Spirit" in the morning to a large and appreciative audience, and in the evening "Pull out the Plug." Matt. 7:3 Rev. J. W. Clay, master of ceremonies in the evening, next Sunday Rev. W. A. Venerable will speak.

The Seventh Day Adventist Church conducts services every night under the BIG SQUARE TENT at 49th and Central Ave., beginning Sunday, June 26th and continuing until Sept., 11th. The first sermon will be presented by Pastor Evangelist Rodgers, "The End of the World Dictators" and scores of the most marvelous screen pictures will be used to illustrate the topic. A great choir of 50 voices will lead in the singing and during the week thrilling subjects will be woven into unforgetable sermons. No expense has bee spared to make this TENT the most beautiful and comfortable ever used on the east-side of this city and services of the character conducted each night will attract hundreds of Truth searchers.

The St. Paul Senior Quartette will render a program at the Triangular Church of Truth, 958 E. 52nd street, on Sunday, June 26, at 3:30 p. m. There will be musical numbers rendered by other outstanding artists of the city.

Last Sunday was 'Loyalty Day' at Wesley Chapel M. E. where the Rev. E. W. Rakestraw pastor, preached at the morning and evening hours respectively from the subjects, "God's Recovery Act" and "Are You for Christ". Sunday morning, he will speak on "Perfecting the Imperfect", and in the evening, the congregation of Wesley will worship with the California Annual Conference of the M. E. Church at 8th and Hope Streets.

The nineteenth year of the pastorate of the Rev. S. M. Beane at Hamilton M. E. church closed last Sunday evening. At the last quarterly conference the congregation asked for his return following the annual conference now in session at the First M. E. church at 8th and Hope streets.

Financially, the church records a very successful year showing a total of six thousand dollars being raised for all purposes. The new conference year will begin on the first Sunday in July. On the second Sunday, Bishop A. Preston Shaw, New Orleans, will speak. This Sunday, the Rev. F. P. Samuels, pastor of one of Philadelphia's leading churches will preach.

The third quarterly conference meeting of the Second A. M. E. Zion church, 1201 East 43rd St. was held Sunday, June 19, at 3 o'clock under the auspices of Evangelist Emma Hamilton. The meeting was conducted by Rev. J. B. Holmes, presiding elder with the quarterly sermon by the Rev. E. Judge Riley.

Vesper Octet to Entertain Grads

The Vesper Octet of the Second Baptist church will entertain all graduates of the church from junior and senior high school, junior college and the universities at a semi-formal reception in the social hall Monday evening, June 27, from eight to ten o'clock. Special musical numbers will be rendered by Ernestine Wade, Helena Smith, Phillip Waites, Luvenia H. Dones, Geneva M. Bass and Gilbert Allen's radio choir. The address of the evening will be given by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass and the response for the clas of 1938 by Crispus Wright. Following the program, a receiving line of the graduates will be formed to receive congratulations. The affair is open to the public.

EPISCOPAL EVENTIDE SERVICES IMPRESSIVE

The Willing Workers of the St. Phillip's Episcopal church sponsored a beautiful and impressive eventide service Sunday, June 19, at seven o'clock.

Soloists presented included Violet Aldridge who rendered a prayer song; Lillian Bremond, "Open the Gates", and Jewel Smith, "Remember Me."

Helpful remarks were made by Father Moore, the rector, and assisted by the St. Philip's choir. Each member of the sponsoring organization wore gardenias. Mrs. Viola Pollock is president.

ZION TEMPLE CHURCH
1315 E. Vernon Ave.,
Bishop Sarah Butler,
Pastor

The Friendship Services at the Temple on last Sunday were well attended. Quite a few visitors from Long Beach, Inglewood and Wilmington were present, also Rev. Pearl C. Woods, of the Triangular Church of Truth, her loyal congregation and sweet singing choir.

Bishop Butler plans to have a program equally as interesting for this coming Sunday, and will speak at morning services on the absorbing topic, "CAN YOU TAKE IT?"

At six o'clock a class in TRUTH meets, taught by Mrs. Lillian Fleming. Open Forum from 7 to8, for discussion of various topics of interest.

So many people are testifying to the Healings they have received at the Temple, that the Bish op has planned to have a special Dedication Healing Service on Sunday night. She will speak rom the text, "GO IN PEACE AND SIN NO MORE." You are cordially invited to worship with us, and bring some one whom you know is in need of Healing Prayers.

Independent Senior Choir Gives Concert

Under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, the senior choir of People's Independent Church, 18th and Paloma, will present its closing concert for the season next Sunday afternon at 4:00 o'clock.

Appearing on the program, entitled "The Advent of Summer", will be: Melody Bird Whistlers, Lylian Lucky Dinkins, soloist; Joseph Crawford and Eddivie Flennoury, character number; Leroy Kelley and Albert McNeil, piano and violin; A. C. Bilbrew and William Gillespie, original sketch, "The Little Things in Life"; Emma Smock, violin.

The choir will feature the Bridal Chorus 'The Rose Maiden', "Italian Salad", and "Goodnight, Beloved".

Faith Confab to Close Tonight

With Rev. W. R. Carter, D. D. as master of ceremonies, the 6th Annual Unity of Christian Faith Conference, Rev. H. A. Foster, founder and chairman, will come to a close at First A. M. E. Zion church, Pico and Paloma Streets tonight (Thursday). It has been an inspiring session. How can one have Victory Through Faith is the discussion topic of young people led by Miss Thomas at 7:30. Dr. J. D. Gordon expounding the Bible Robot and answering Bible questions at 8 p. m. with Mr. Geo. Young a Chinese also speaking.

Avalon Organizes Community Youth Group

A community youth group, as yet unnamed, has been organized by the Avalon Christian church and will hold its first public meeting in the church auditorium at 43rd and Avalon Sunday, June 26, at 5:30 p. m.

Officers will be installed and the Rev. Baxter C. Duke, minister, will address the group. Officers are Lelan Whitney, president; Beulah Terry, vice-president; Charlotte Woodruff, secretary; George Winchester, treas.; Percy Williams, parliamentarian; and Marjorie Gordon, reporter.

The organization, planned to be city-wide in scope, has for its purpose the fostering of ideals in Christian living and consideration of problems of Christianity confronting the youth of today.

INTER-CHURCH CHOIR CHORALE

An inter-church choir chorale will be presented by the vesper octet of the Second Baptist church on Sunday afternoon, July 10 at four o'clock in the church auditorium. Six of the leading choirs will bring anthems, spirituals, hymns, and gospel songs.

TO RETURN BEFORE AUGUST

BISHOP C. P. JONES, senior Bishop of the Christ's Temple churches of America, will return to Los Angeles before August to complete plans for the denomination's convention to meet here in August. The 73-year-old prelate who is now on a speaking tour will be presented in Chicago Sunday. Other cities to be visited include St. Louis and Little Rock, Arkansas. Bishop Jones has been preaching for fifty years.

Chorus of 100 to Sing at Independent Girls' Day

Determined to win the honors for the best program, the girls of People's Independent Church of Christ under the leadership of Ruth Fowler are offering as one of their largest attractions a girls' chorus of one hundred voices, directed by Gladys Dent at the morning hour of annual Girls' Day Sunday, June 26, the leader announced this week.

Also will be heard such talented young women as Lena Torrence, the Arnold Sisters of Pasadena, with Rev. Anita L. Edmond as speaker for the morning hour.

An original playlet, "The Modern Girl and Her Religion", will feature the evening program, with the crowning of the "mystery queen" as a unique addition. Pauline Wilkerson and Emma Smock will be among the outstanding musical presentations to be heard.

Ordain Two Sons of Episcopal Priest as Deacons

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. — (ANP)—When John Richard Logan, Jr. and Thomas Stearly Logan, sons of the Rev. John R. Logan, D. D., rector of the church of St. Simon the Cyrenian, were ordained as deacons in the sacred ministry of the Protestant Episcopal church, it was the first time in the history of the American Protestant Episcopal church that two sons of a priest were ordained at the same time.

The services were held at the church of the Holy Apostles, 21st and Christian streets, Monday morning, and were conducted by the Rt. Rev. Francis M. Taitt, D. D., Bishop of the Pensylvania Diocese, assisted by the Rev. George H. Toop, rector of the church of the Holy Apostles, and the Rev. Richard J. Morris. A special choir for the occasion consisted of clergymen.

Hall Johnson San Bernardino Class Renders Concert

The Hall Johnson choral class of San Bernardmo was presented in a concert at St. Paul Methodist church on Thursday evening, June 16, with Hall Johnson directing. The following professionals from Los Angeles choir assisted the group: Charles Hoiland, tenor; Mrs. Lillie Mays, contralto; Miss Allie Ball, contralto and dramatic reader; Clarence Hargraves, dramatic reader.

Mrs. Beulah Hill is president of the class, Mrs. Flora Moten, vice-president, and Marion Gordon, secretary. Mrs. Hill hosted Mr. Johnson and members of the Los Angeles aggregation in a party at her home following the concert. There were twenty-five guests. Among them were Mi-Rosa Spears, Mrs. Frank Hutchinson, Mrs. Marie Woodring, Misses Pauline and Mattie Hamilton, Mrs. Dovine Turner of San Bernardino and Mrs. Mayme Davis of Indianapolis.

The Hill home was beautfiully decorated with fresh garden flowers. Games and music were diversions of the evening.

Annual Meet of 1st Church of Christ, Scientist, is Held

BOSTON, Mass., June 23—A warning to nations whose governments have been conceived largely in selfish ambition and brought forth by human force" was issued here June 6 at the Annual meeting of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, The Mother Church, by the Christian Science Board of Directors who declared the lessons of history show such governing bodies to be "of few days and full of trouble."

Reports disclosed continued growth of the Christian Science movement, increasingly higher standards for authorized periodicals, and a larger number of requests from groups of non-Scientists to address them.

Election of Ralph Hastings Knapp, C. S., of Needham, Mass., as President of the Mother Church was annuonced. He succeeds Judge Clifford P. Smith of Newton, Mass. Edward L. Ripley of Brookline and Ezra W. Palmer of Marshfield were re-elected Treasurer and Clerk of the Church respectively. The President is elected by the Christian Science Board of Directors to serve for one year. His duty is to be presiding officer at the Annual Meeting.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Mr. Palmer, reading the statements from the Directors, reported that The Mother Church has grown substantially in numbers during the past year; is united, harmonious, and without debt. Then continuing on the theme of world relations he read in part:

"More important than all, however, is the marked success with which the healing ministry of Christian Science is being practiced through the world. It also indicates that the day is approaching when responsible heads of governments will see that undue reliance upon material means and methods to accomplish their ends results in failure and defeat. They will then realize that no nation is stronger than the moral fiber of its people, and that a nation can become truly great and permanently endure only to the extent that spiritual qualities are cultivated in the thoughts of its citizens and permitted freely to operate in the government of their lives."

The Directors further called the attention of Christian Scientists to the responsibility they have in respects to upholding such fundamental issues of life as cultivation of good will and preservation of, a system of government protecting the civil rights of its people and ensuring to them freedom of speech, of the press, and of religious worship.

"While we should not magnify error become unduly alarmed by the present-day suggestions of war and disaster aggressively presented through many channels," it was declared, "we must be keenly alert not to allow a false sense of security to lull us to sleep and make us indifferent to situations of national and international character which, unless corrected, are destined to affect our interests as directly as if the scene of their action were within the bounds of our own community."

Mr. Palmer, delivering his own report as clerk, cited prayer as the practical means of stilling the tulmult of the world. "The members of The Mother Church need to pray much", he said. "Prayer sanctifies thought and lifts one in conscious harmony with God."

Mr. Knapp as incoming President expressed the need of spiritualization consciousness. "The way of accomplishments," he said, "is through renewed consecration; a greater purification of sense and self; more love for God and humanity."

INCIDENTS IN HEALING

Judge Smith, retiring President related several incidents of healing in which Mrs. Eddy's work as a practitioner of Christian Science was demonstrated. In one instance he said, "about 1872 when Mrs Eddy lived in Lynn, she heard that an aquaintnace named Mrs. Edgecomb was in great trouble, and went to see her. The trouble was her little boy was extremely ill from what a physician diagnosed as a chronic disease of the bowels. Ar. Mrs. Edgecomb afterward related, Mrs. Eddy took the child from his crib, held him in her arms for a while, kissed him, laid him down again, and went out. His symptoms changed at once. In less than an hour, he called for his playthings, got up, and appeared quite well. And he proved to be completely cured."

Judge Smith further disclosed that one of the most notable facts concerning the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science is the assurance which she constantly had that its teachings came to her through inspiration and revalation. "In fact he told the meeting, "she studied her writing regularly to learn from them. Speaking of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," she said "I have been learning the higher meaning of this book since writing it" (Miscellany, p. 114)."

The Trustees Under the Will of May Baker Eddy reported assisting many branches of The Mother Church in acquiring their own church buildings. They also aided in placing Mrs. Eddy's works in a number of public libraries in towns where there are no Christian Science organizations and in supplying literature in Braille.

Roland R. Harrison, Manager of The Christian Science Publishing Society, stated that the Trustees seek every opportunity to emphasize the fact that true progress in our publishing activities is spiritual unfoldment rather than material gain.

MEDICAL REGIMENTATION

The Hon. G. Augustus Norwood Manager of Committees on Publication, expressed the stand Christian Scientists should take on the question of medical regimentation.

"Medical regimentation," he declared, "appears well entrenched, from the League of Nations down through national, state, county, and local health departments and the public in general was never more apathetic with regard to it.

"This does not mean that the dominant school of medicine and Christian Science are lined up against each other for many medical men and more ready than ever before to recognize the religion of Christian Science and its healing ministry.

"Our position is a strong one. We never interfere with the rights of others to enjoy whatever method of healing they prefer; we ask simply that our right to rely on spiritual means for healing be not interfered with."

William W. Davis, Executive Supervisor of the Charitable Institutions, expressed gratitude for the many demonstrations of healing at the Christian Science Sanatoriums.

"The nursing staff at each of our Sanatoriums", he informed the meeting, "includes well-trained, experienced executives. The nurses in training are supervised and taught to render valuable service both at the Sanatorium and later in the Field.

The report of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, read by Richard J. Davis, Chairman, told of 3211 lectures delivered during the past year.

The Lecture held at Baguio, in the Philippine Islands, was unique, he said, for in the audience there were about 60 native Igorts, one of whom introduced the lecturer. In Tasmania a lecture was broadcast for the first time.

Science Lesson-Sermon Given

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from Mark: "And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them. But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God. Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein."

The Lesson-Sermon presents also these words from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Children should be taught the truth-cure, Christian Science, among their first lessons, and kept from discussing or entertaining theories or thoughts about sickness. To prevent the experience of error and its sufferings, keep out of the minds of your children either sinful or diseased thoughts. The latter should be excluded on the same principle as the former."

REV. F. H. JAMES IS UNION SPEAKER

Rev. F. H. James was the speaker for the regular weekly meeting of the Baptist Ministers Union Tuesday, June 28. He was presented by Rev. W. Walker. Dr. A. C. Capers presented the Sunday School lesson.

Current events will be reviewed by Dr. E. W. Moore, and the Rev. P. P. Samuels, of Philadelphia, will bring the order of the day. Business of importance will be taken up at the session to which the public is invited.

Travelers Check Sales Shade Under '37 Levels

Indicating that local residents are travelling less this year than last but considerably more than in 1936, a report just released by J. G. Maulhardt, vice-president and head of the Market and Produce office of California Bank, at 6th and Central Avenue, shows sales of travelers checks by the bank during the first five months of 1938 were a shade under 1937 sales for the period but stood 17 per cent ahead of the sales total reached in the initial five months of 1936.

An analysis of individual purchases made during May at a representative office of the bank revealed that the average sale amounted to $210. Five years ago the average was $150.

Youths Pass Health Tests

Not one of the 88 youths examined this week at the 28th Street Branch of the YMCA by U. S. doctors of the Citizens Military Training Camp could be rejected on account of physical defects, it was stated today by Baxter S. Scruggs, executive secretary of the branch. Army officers said this was a "remarkable record."

The examinations were given applicants for the C. M. T. C. camp to be held at Fort MacArthur in San Pedro from August 9 to September 7. The camp is sponsored by the Benjamin J. Bowie Post of the American Legion through the Americanism and Community Betterment Commission of which Mr. Scruggs is chairman.

Mr. Scruggs said the boys had been examined previously by reserve medical officers Dr. A. J. Booker and Dr. F. D. Harris, which contributed greatly to the final results.

Jeff Evening High Prexy's Address

The Adult Student Body Organization of this evening school has honored me for three consecutive semesters by electing me president. It is in this capacity that I am addressing you this evening, and I wish to extend to you a three fold welcome to this gathering.

On behalf of the spring class of '38, I want to say that it gives me a great deal of personal pleasure to be present at these graduation exercises, and to commend the graduates who have been so faithful in their attendance to this school.

The greater number of adult evening school students is part of a large group of people, now estimated to be one-fourth of our entire population. They are 34 years of age and over. The present movement for promotion and perpetuation of Adult Education is concerned with the continuous education of this group of people.

As you probably know, I am an enthusiastic supporter of Adult Education. I believe it is without question, the most progressive step forward that the United States of America has taken in our present generation. The value of life long learning cannot be over-estimated. Every adult, regardless of his age, station in life, or race, should make a determined effort to take advantage of the many fine courses now established in the evening schools of this city.

The graduates, now assembled here to receive their diplomas from Mr. Stanley Foote, Jefferson Adult Evening High School, past principal, are to be heartily congratulated upon their efforts.

These graduates have, indeed, achieved a worthwhile goal. They have devoted precious time and persistent effort to finish a good work started, and this cannot be done without great personal sacrifice. May the same spirit of persistency and courage carry them through to still higher goals in life. Remember the man or the woman who moves forward, keeps in tune with the changing times, is the one who wins, not only for himself, but for all who come in contact with him. Adult Education is the answer to most of our problems.

LEGION POST HONORS LAFAYETTE JR. HI SCHOOL STUDENTS

Last Friday the Eighth Post of the American Legion sponsored an assembly at the Lafayette Junior High School for the awarding of medals and certificates in recognition of outstanding leadership and scholarship of the students of the school.

The American Legion medal and certificates for "exceptional leadership, scholarship and valor" was presented to Lamlin Harris. Young Harris, during his two an half semesters at Lafayette has served as room chairman, member of the safety and service committees and has been outstanding in athletics and scholarship. The choice of Lamlin for this award was popular with students and faculty.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Harris of 1206 E. 25th St.

Spanish Consul Gives Reception for Salaria Kee

CHICAGO, June 23. (ANP)—Last Friday evening at the Spanish consulate here, 300 guests responded to the invitation of Luis Perez Begaga, Chancellor of the Consulate of Spain, to meet Salaria Kee, 23-year old colored nurse returning from 13 months' war service in Loyalist Spain. This was perhaps the first time that a representative of a foreign government had, in this country, so signally honored a colored person.

Miss Kee has been furloughed home to recuperate from an illness, but is now on tour in behalf of an ambulance fund for the Loyalists. Speaking of her experiences, she said:

"When we (the second medical unit from the U. S. A.) arrived at Port Bou in Spain, little children ran up to us saying, 'We're glad you've come! But if you had come yesterday just after the big bombardment, perhaps you might have saved my mother. She bled to death from wounds. There was no doctor to help. Perhaps now you can save my friend's father.'"

TURBINE GENERATOR, PLANT NO. 3
LONG BEACH STEAM STATION

This turbine generator can generate electricity equal to the driving power of 133,000 horses. In the foreground is the auxiliary generator, then the main generator. Behind it is the turbine itself, whose blades, actuated by steam at high pressure, turn the generator and produce electricity. On each side of the turbine are the four condensers containing cold sea water which change the steam back to water and return it through feedwater heaters and powerful pumps to the boilers to be used over again.

Edison's Long Beach Steam Station is one of the country's largest fuel-electric plants.

Jefferson Evening High School Graduates 14

By GRACE FISHER

The Eastside community extended sincere congratulations to the fourteen graduates of the Jefferson High Evening School who were presented with diplomas last Tuesday evening by the principal, Cleon Kersey, in commencement exercises.

Rev. Clayton D. Russell pointed out during his address on the "Endless Quest for Knowledge" the value of knowledge. "Understanding is based upon knowledge. We cannot understand that which we do not know. It is a matter of the people learning to 'know', if we are to remain free from war and blood shed," he said.

For two years Joseph Taylor, president of the student body, has labored to promote a consciousness among the students of the evening school for appreciation of the opportunity to learn trades, languages, sciences and the many subjects offered by the evening school. As president of the student body council Mr. Taylor has represented the school in the Associated Student Councils of the city.

Stanley S. Foote, past principal of the evening school, now principal of Belvedere Junior High Schol, presented the diplomas to the graduating class, many who began their study under his leadership.

Teachers whose subjects are necessary for elementary graduation are Miss Knowles, preparatory; Mrs. Calkins, intermediate, Miss Loinaz, intermediate; and Mrs. Dedonato, advanced.

SUMMER SESSION

For ten weeks beginning June 27, the Jefferson Evening School offers the summer session. Already several hundred students have enrolled in the various courses. Arthur Long, school counselor, is intensly busy giving advice to eager students. Few realize how important the activities of the counselor are. Many students have problems which affect their lives in many respects. It is the responsibility of Mr. Long to assist the individual in finding himself. The personal problems of the community rely in part upon the school counselor.

Among the many visiting teachers is Miss Dorothy Brown who is to teach Costume Design each Tuesday and Thursday evening. Styles are to be considered from the standpoint of design, line and proportion.

See Church Fight Back of Elder's Attack

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 23. (ANP)—A factional fight between friends supporting Dr. A. O. Wilson in his candidacy for the AME bishopric and those backing Dr. J. H. Clayborn, editor of the Southern Christian Recorder, in his candidacy for the same position, was seen last week as the probable cause of the shooting and robbery of the Rev. O. Sherman, 44, presiding elder of the Camden district, at his home a week ago Tuesday. Two ministers have been arrested and quizzed as his assailants.

Rev. Sherman had attended a meeting of the finance committee of the board of trustees of Shorter College, an A. M. E. institution, and was given a satchel containing $2,319 raised for the college to take home and keep over night. Two men followed him in their car and as he drove in his driveway, one shot Rev. Camden through the mouth and snatched the money bag. He chased them in his machine until he collapsed from loss of blood and shock.

It has since been pointed out that turning the funds over to Rev. Sherman was "irregular" inasmuch as Dr. Clayborn is treasurer of Shorter, and that the presiding elder's assailants were thoroughly aware of the circumstances surrounding the committee meeting.

Rev. Sherman has identified one of his assailants to police as the Rev. Harold Nelson, an Oklahoma pastor whose father is one of Arkansas' leading ministers. Rev. Nelson, about 27, is a former student at Shorter. He was arrested and is being held without bond in Pulaski county jail.

The weight of the earth has been estimated by a United States Bureau of Standards scientist at 6,578,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons.

Negro War Vets Seek 100,000 New Members

BOSTON, June 23. (ANP)—An organization meeting of the National Colored War Veterans of America was held last week to draft a public statement on Veteran affairs as they affect colored veterans of the nation. A new plan of organization was adopted in order to secure a membership of 100,000 by October 1 to be known as a "Colored Veterans Join-Up". The vets will hold a two-day session here July 31-August 1.

Explaining the organization's program, Monroe Mason, temporary organizer, said, "100,000 Colored War Veterans being unemployed, a serious study must be made to find jobs for them and their dependents, who are employables.

"20,00 totally disabled Colored War veterans because of pre-war laborer status have been denied the privilege of total disability compensation. An estimate of $30,000,000 retrocative payments is the sum that the Veterans' Administration has unjustly withheld from these ex-soldiers."

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

I pick up the home-town paper . . . and get an awful let-down . . . a blow to the ego and the proverbial urge to give myself one of those medals for being this season's ace loser: For . . . the home-town heartbeat has gone and done it! . . . Boo hoo! Eloped with a bridesmaid . . . Oh, well, there are more fish in the sea . . . and the City of Angels isn't that far from the sea . . . huh? Please don't misinterpret the use of fish . . . it is used only because whoever originated the expression used that word and since I'm lifting it bodily, there's no point to be gained in changing the word . . . I might say pebbles on the beach . . . but what can a pebble do . . . so let's stick to fish! . . . Ugh, but it'll have to do.

With that alone, I have reason enough to be "put out" . . . but I'm not really, so what follows is not because I have any "mad" to work off with you, dear readers, but a little heart-to-head talk . . . that you will hardly find amiss . . . and if you do . . . just forget you ever read it.

In the first place, by choice and with personal full consent, your scribbler is ambitious to be a servant of the public . . . and happy doing so . . . but not in being your vassal . . . A thousand times, never! Therefore . . . when you get in a huff because your party was moved from the garden "that gave guests the feeling that it must have looked that way when Christ rose on Easter morn" — that's an actual sentence — into a plain garden, and call me names over the phone (I could bring suit for that, smile) please expect no apologies for taking the Easter atmosphere from your party.

In the second place, mine peepers aren't any better than yours . . . so when you scratch something on the paper you brought last night's steak in and slip it in the mail or under the door . . . be ye not surprised that it makes not its appearance. It so happens that all institutions have rules . . . you work by them, how about giving us a break with a few that will help all the way around? Lady, write it in ink on one side of the paper or type it . . . get it in on our deadline . . . and I'll bet you your guest's new dental plates that you'll be satisfied. Better still, stop by sometime and get some of our hostess' report blanks . . . that you can fill in between cocktails.

ANOTHER HORSE:

You have to skip the next two paragraphs to get any news — while I'm riding there comes to mind an incident that occurred some weeks ago at a "cream of the crop" affair . . . and it also happens that I still think the group one of the very fine ones, which is all the more reason why such a breach of good form should not have happened. One of the speakers came late for the affair . . . (speakers and reporters always are late) and was duly conducted to his place . . . having reserved one for himself and guest — of course, there was a place for the gentleman . . . but the lady could not be seated! Could not for no other reason than she just COULD NOT sit there . . . Now whoever heard of a lady being left high and dry and watch her escort get attention . . . Nobody. Kin of Zora Williams En Route to L. A.

Mesdames Zora Williams and Gerald Moore are in a flurry of anticipation over the arrival of their nieces, Miss Ethel Meyers and Mrs. Addie Myers-Spurlock which is scheduled for Monday, June 27, at 8:30 a. m.

In the evening of that day, the visitors will be presented to Los Angeles and Pasadena society at a dancing and card party in the Elks' ball room. The young ladies are sisters and well-known in Denver, where they have always lived. Miss Ethel Meyers is an active A. K. A. and a stenographer in the home office of the American Woodman where she is associated with Benjamin H. Graham who enjoys a wide acquaintance in this city. Mrs. Spurlock, a bride of one year, is formerly an exclusive cosmetologist; her husband, Grandee Spurlock is the nephew of Mrs. Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Garnes of Pasadena.

While in Los Angeles, the young women will be the guests of their aunts, Mmes. Moore and ora Williams. The latter is owner-manager of the Zora Williams General Electric Appliance shop at 4020 Central Avenue which ranks among the finest business enterprises of the city.

By EDYTHE MEAUX

When finals are over . . . textbooks, which haven't been sold, are stored away . . . eds and co-eds return from college to join in the hometown festivities and to increase the weight by a few of those good old home cooked meals . . . when Bruins and Trojans have more time than they know how to use . . . then you may be sure that schol is out for the season and summer is really here.

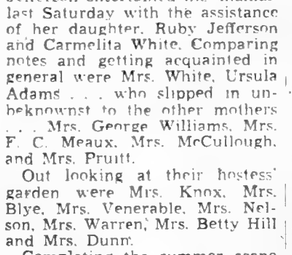
In search of something in the way of amousement a few Uclans and S. C.ites got together the other night and journeyed down to Venice. Unaccustomed as I am to public splashing, and especially at night, we managed to put some life into Toonerville town on the pier. A little scared but refusing to admit it Johnny Simmons led Carol Ivey through the intricacies of the haunted house . . . Johnny Brewer in the barrel of fun was getting all mixed up with Georgia Williams and Nolan Payton who had to have the barrel stopped so that they could get out.

The week end held but little in the way of fun for the college crowd so the A. K. A. mothers took over and provided some pastime for themselves and a few of their daughters.

Host to the Las Madrinas Mrs. Jefferson entertained the 'mamas' last Saturday with the assistance of her daughter, Ruby Jefferson and Carmelita White. Comparing notes and getting acquainted in general were Mrs. White, Ursula Adams . . . who slipped in unbeknownst to the other mothers . . . Mrs. George Williams, Mrs. F. C. Meaux, Mrs. McCullough, and Mrs. Pruitt.

Out looking at their hostess' garden were Mrs. Knox, Mrs. Blye, Mrs. Venerable, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Betty Hill and Mrs. Dunn.

Completing the summer scene Porter Mann, Rylva Easter, Grady Bryant, and Vivian Billups blew in from Wilberforce to renew old acquaintances, take a squint at the home folks, and proceed to paint the town red.



Returned: One Alpha, by name Jimmie Robinson, back from his wanderings in the east, north, west and south. Judging from the smile and sly glints he wears these days and times he must have had one swell time . . . We bet.

Sunshine At Last for Domesticity!

With the long-awaited information that at last the great body of domestic workers are to receive government aid for adequate training in their respective fields to the tune of $35,000,000 comes equally welcome news that Pasadena is to have the own center wherein the work of training domestics will be carried on.

To quote the eminent Nannie Burroughs in her recent article: "New Day Dawns for Domestic Workers". . . . The government and philanthropists give generously for the education of white collar workers. It is just as necessary to train white apron and white cap workers for the various and vital services in the American home, unless they are trained. Then, too, the very close and constant relations, and the trust necessary in personal service and general domestic work require definite development of fundamental qualities of character which training and training alone can effect . . . untrained able-bodied workers who fail to take advantage of this new opportunity for personal advancement by learning how to keep or make a home, are undeserving of relief or sympathy of any kind. . . The new educational grant will also give qualified domestic science teachers an opportunity as administrators, instructors and supervisors. The thing that is actually needed is schools adequate in size and well equipped to give the project a place of permanency and appreciation in the field of applied arts. Make-shift training centers will not do."

Of interest to Southlanders will be the fact that during the recent visit of Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune to the Southwest she became vitally interested in the establishment of projects for the training of workers.

Accordingly, shortly before her departure for San Francisco two projects were set up in the Garner Community Center, 470 Blake Street--one to adequately train prospective landscape gardeners and another--of tremendous importance--the department of household economics to adequately train persons for highly specialized service in the home. Of even greater importance in so far as the latter project is concerned is the fact that the training is to be offered to members of all races!

Thus the definite illustration of no desire to segregate or set up a "colored project" will be easily perceived by those short-sighted persons who would perhaps object to the idea of receiving training in domesticity, a fact existing in a social order wherein it is impossible for all persons to be doctors, lawyers, professors, engineers, designers, draftsmen, architects, etc., such an opportunity cannot be overestimated in its importance.

No more graphic illustration of this idea--training oneself for the position which gives more promise of gainful activity when that training is completed--have I found than the one recently brought to my notice. I refer to a young Pasadenan, recent graduate of the John Muir Technical High School--Van Wade by name—who informed me of his intention to continue his training as chief-dietetician and of his recently procured summer employment at the camp in Big Bear. More fortunately than in most cases, young Wade's further training in the art of cooking and serving will be financed by a wealthy friend who is interested in his progress in the field he has chosen.

". . . . it is impossible to visualize how satisfying to the employer and remunerative to the employe this type of service can be made. A new day for the domestic worker will be ushered in, if and when those who are concerned about the welfare of the most neglected labor group in the world, will accept this educational opportunity as a definite challenge and cooperate in making our economic and social ideals for them real. We must not stop until domestic arts and household management are put on a level with other vocations and professions. Education will do it!"

Frankly intrigued by an invitation cleverly worded . . . went I . . . to witness Sunday afternoon last . . . the All-Nations Benefit Tea that the ladies of the Cosmopolitan Club sponsored in the lovely gardens of Mrs. J. B. Short . . . cheese and crackers from a little Dutch maid . . . Mrs. "Gretel" Coleman by name . . . and going further I found poor, persecuted "Rachel" (Ollie Anne) Robinson, the "wandering Jew" dispensing her viands of seasoned sausages et. al . . . and Mrs. Douglas ("Fatima") Copeland, properly attired in the costume of her "country" served both Egyptian and American coffee . . . Mrs. Daily Barrett served the wine of old England . . . and "Senoras" Mozelle Moore and Luvenia Parrish, seated around a roaring and popular "fuego" served a spicy, concoction from the cookbooks of "viejo Mejico" . . . quite a number of our Pasadena and Los Angeles tea and reception-goers were there to lend their support.

THE WIDOW OR KITTY

The one who becomes the declarer may leave the (65th) card in the center of the table until there has been a lead, he may then play it to the lead card or place it in either the dummy or the closed hand oddly enough this is one of the important features of Five-suit bridge, and is a tremendious advantage to the declarer.

NOTE: There was a error in last week's scoring of five-suit bridge. Spades and Hearts are 25, not 26.

No-Trump contracts are rarely beneficial to the declarer, because of the value of the Kitty at suit contracts. At suit contracts its value is from one and one half to three actual tricks, while at no-trumps its value diminishes to almost zero.

There will be more about five-suit bridge next week, now let us see how good we are with contract.

The Colored Chauffeurs of California, Inc., met on June 13 at the home of the President, Roy Shelby, 1420 E. 25th street. Oscar Poscha saw to it that the notification cards were sent out, informing the members that very important business was to be discussed. A record attendance was witnessed. This was social night. The President noted on these occasions a large attendance was always assured, wisely decided that hereafter the organization would meet at the homes of its members, alphabetically; instead of meeting at headquarters, the 28th St. Y. It was evident that the members enjoy this type of meeting. After business was transacted a fine repast was served by the host. The meeting was adjourned to meet at the home of Robert Daniels, 1559½ W. 36th Pl.

The Association accepted the application of Osa Gresham, 1436 W. 35th Place as a new member.

WOMEN who are ACTIVE and CHEERFUL every day of the month

MANY women are active and cheerful every day of the month—cheerful the whole month through.

For others, there may be two or three days when they just can't be cheerful. Theirs may be a condition which Cardui would benefit, or it may be that their physician should advise treatment to free them from unnecessary suffering.

If you have monthly pains due to a run-down condition from mal-nutrition (a condition in which you simply do not get enough energy and strength from the food you eat), Cardui may do you lots of good. It is a bitter tonic (to give you more benefit from eating) and a medicine to ease functional pains of menstruation.

Since so many have found it helps to relieve the nervous tension and ease much of the discomfort at menstrual times, Cardui is widely and favorably known. Mothers tell their daughters about it; women tell neighbor women how it has helped them or some one in their families.

Remember that Cardui has been found to help in a two-fold manner: (1) to ease functional pains of menstruation and (2) aid in building up the whole system through its assistance as a vegetable bitter tonic.

Fountain Mission Church Closes Successful Drive

CALEXICO, June 23—Through the cooperative leadership of Mesdames Sadie B. Gillum, Willie Wright, James Bunch, Julia Keever, Mr. Cleveland McCloud and others, one of the most successful financial drives held for Fountain Mission church of this city in recent years, was completed last Friday. The drive was conducted in the form of a mock conference presided over by Rev. Q. Maples of El Centro who acted as Bishop, ably assisted by Pastor Harold E. Wilson, Mrs. Edward James and Mr. R. W. Bostic.

As result of this effort, Fountain Mission was able to raise all of its regular annual conference assessments in advance of the session to be held in Los Angeles in September. Likewise sufficient funds were raised to leave all of the Mission Departmental treasuries in very good condition as well as reduce the current indebtedness greatly. Rev. Harold Wilson, formerly of Los Angeles is the pastor. The Mission only has a membership of sixteen people, but through personal contributions, augmented by gifts from citizen friends and out-of-towners, the drive developed to a very profitable victory. Among out of the city friends who have contributed to date are Rev. and Mrs. X. X. Runyon of San Francisco, Rev. and Mrs. C. N. Austin of Santa Ana. Mesdames Eliza Warner and Mamie James, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Eason and Mr James A. Bell of Los Angeles, and Miss Emily Roberson of El Centro.

As a token of appreciation for the fine work accomplished for Fountain Mission through the pastorate of Rev. Wilson, this conference year, the official board granted him a short vacation for a part of the summer, and during the past week he was feted respectively in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. James Bunch, Mr. Otis Roberson and sister, Miss LaVada Roberson, the Holtville ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Herron, and a bon-voyage party bid him a safe journey and return trip as he left last Sunday for Los Angeles, going by way of San Diego to attend the A. M. E. District Conference.

Bay Cities' Spring Social Season Hits Full Stride

By ANNA FOSTER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17—Judging by the numerous events reported, the Bay Cities spring social "swirl" is in full stride. There are already numerous early season visitors and with the Elks' convention opening here next week, the city will be thronged by out-of-towners. Mrs. Madge Kelley of Los Angeles is visiting her sister, Mrs. Willa Evans in 24th avenue. Mrs. Evans and Stanley Evans have recently returned from the Angel City where they spent their vacation.

Mrs. Willie Lewis recently returned from Los Angeles where she visited at the bedside of Frank Gagnet, her son-in-law, who is reported very ill at this writing. Mrs. Anita Thrasher is spending her vacation in Seattle with relatives. Rev. and Mrs. Runyon and Presiding Elder A. M. Ward motored to Half Moon Bay where they were guests of Mrs. T. Pickett.

Persons of means who entertain lavishly and need certain duties performed should remember the countless boys and girls of our own who need work.

Mrs. Fife Williams was hostess at breakfast, honoring the bride-elect, Miss Jane Williamson. Guest present were Misses Marcita Clark, Anita Washington, Jonnye Beverly, Helen Powell, Ruth Williams and Eleanor De-Claybrooke; Messrs. George and Earl Clark, Paul Jackson, Stanley Evans and Rodger Jackson plus the prospective groom, Sorin Lewis.

Mrs. Helen Wright was hostess to the choir of the First AME Church at her home in Palo Alto. Mrs. I. E. Presley entertained at a buffet luncheon at her home in Broderick street. A delightful tea was given by the Chinese group of the Ever Loyal Club No. 1 of the Third Baptist church at the St. Cyprian's Mission in Sutter street. All members were daintily attired and the tables beautifully decorated. Mrs. Flaggett and Mrs. Thompson were among the hostesses.

Among San Franciscans who were presented at the recent recital of the pupils of Mrs. Lora Tombs Scott at the Chapel of the Chimes were Misses Patricia Finis and Jane Chambers.

San Bernardino

By MADELYN COOKE

Living up to her reputation of being the perfect hostess, Miss Mary Lou Philips entertained club members, the Brigadetts, friends and out-of-town guests with a dessert bridge party. It was a charming affair. Contract bridge was played in the living room which was adorned with beautiful sweet peas. Four changes of contract bridge was the chief diversion of the evening.

Guests of Miss Philips were Mrs. A. S. Pride of Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo., and Miss Frankie Mae Bond of Boston, Mass., who has been residing in the city with Mrs. R. Savage. Also present as guests were Mrs. Maybelle Nolan and Mrs. Netty Avies.

The Anna B. Garner Political Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Saville with her daughter Lucille acting hostess. The meeting was quite lively as a discussion of economic conditions present among the Negroes also much intrest was shown in the coming election. Mrs. Marie Muckelroy is president of the group.

The choral class of the famed Mr. Hall Johnson was presented in concert in a program of Negro music and touches of Negro life Thursday, June 16th. A large attendance enjoyed this occasion.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. and Mrs. Rowena Savage were Mrs. Ossie F. Bond, Miss Frankie Mae Bond of Boston, Mass., Mrs. William New of New York City and Mrs. A. S. Pride of Jefferson City, Mo.

Pasadena Educator Says Crown City Haven of Rest

PASADENA, June 23, Pasadena's Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People met at the Parish House last Thursday. By the hour of adjournment at 10:10 p. m., much ground had been covered. Cooperation with the program of the national office of the NAACP was pledged.

Especially of note were the remarks by the Rev. Dr. Brown of the 1st AME Church, Mrs. Eva C. Burton of the Chicago Club, Rev. Mr. Hughes, builder of the Metropolitan Baptist Church and Messrs. Thomas Walker and William Brock. Brock told of the visit made to the Pasadena School Board by a committee of young people who protested the published memorandum of Superintendent of Schools John A. Sexson several weeks ago when the Bethune Unit of Woman's Political Club was assailed for taking issue with the school authorities with regard to the staging of the puppet show "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and cases of reported spankings at one of the Junior High Schools.

Mr. Brock spoke of the indignation of the Board when the nature of the petition presented by the committee was disclosed. The president of the board, Dr. Tyler Parker, is alleged to have said, "Pasadena is known as a haven of rest for Negroes".

Another matter was the report of the conference committee on educational projects, made by Mrs. Corine A. Hicks. A committee had interviewed the administrators of the WPA-educational program and the NYA-Program and the Pasadena school Superintendent and had assertedly found contradictions of policy involving the creation and continuance of projects and teachers. An unhealthy situation obtains in Pasadena, due to the rather reluctant cooperation given to the Federal program, it was stated. Of the hundreds who it is believed qualify as to need, less than 200 students are receiving NYA-assistance and not more than ten of these are Colored. Of the many projects which could be available for eligible students between 18-25 years of age, only one work project is now being planned: a domestic science training project at George R. Garner's Foundation Center adult education division of the Pasadena School staff, T. V. Truman, director, to furnish opportunity for training for cooks, butlers, and maids. It was reported that restoration had been requested for the sewing class and music class projects. New projects desired included, photography, and practical nursing classes and a nursery school for the westside community.

The report was discussed at length with a motion that the reports be received and the committee continue its work of securing information, making recommendations for study and reporting findings. The spirit of the meeting indicated that Pasadenans needed to wake up and functioning through the NAACP to secure the equal fairness of administration which the crown city of culture boasts. The third Thursday night in each month was designated as regular meeting night, and the July meeting the 21st, at 8 p. m.

SOUTH L. A.

By BILLIE

Things are booming here in our small (but fair) town. Out here in these "pawts" we do have some news. Though some of my upper town friends seem to think otherwise. And so . .

Our own Rev. T. F. Jones, pastor of the People's United Church of Christ, has opened a little real estate office, located at 10419 Wilmington Avenue. We so wish Rev. Jones much success. And that depends on you, and by all means you.

Mr. Jack Simms, president of the Industrial Council, which meets once a week at our 111th Street School, grows younger every day. I like the way the straw tips over the right "orb" Mr. Jack.

Arthur Gilmore of Oakland gave us a mighty fine thrill by dropping in on us the other Sunday. Those lovely friends of yours, Ruth, Pancho, the African Princess, the caviar at the little castle, and all were 'tops'. Lights, cameras, action! I'm not a falsifiar.

Congratulations to Estelle (lovely) and Georgia (sweet) on their graduation from C. J. C.

Vacation is here, and for the trying (past) days at the Educational Institution, four of our own boys of the C. J. C. track team have something to show for their athletic ability. Clem Hooks has added to his many honors a winged trophy and sweater. Miller, Bledsoe and Lawson received trophies and letters. A big hand for you lads.

Dootsie Williams, former band leader, now playing in Bakersfield, with that great man, Flennoy and his aggregation, has written a tune (destined to go places) the title, "It's Fun To Be Living In The Crazy House". Isn't that just like Dootsie to let us in on his private and personal affairs?

Our deepest sympathy to the widow and bereaved family of the late Julian Robinson, who left us so unexpectedly and tragically.

Questions of the Week . . .

What glamorous, young lady came home last evening and found boy-friend and rival having a "colossalorous" fight. My how the fists were flying. At random we thought it to be the Louis and Schmeling bout doing a slip up beforehand. After having a brick sideswipe our precious "conks", we thought it best to "truck on down, away". Course all the kids and "doggies" know who the two were, having that jam session, and the "glee-amorous" damself involved, BUT DO YOU?

For all your news Wattsnites and friends elsewhere. Call LA. 0062 or write 1692 East 109th St.

Hanford
KATHERINE TODD ETED AT PARTY, TEA

Among the many social affairs given in honor of Kathrine Todd, who was graduated from Hanford High school last week was a Commencement party on Friday night at the home of Mrs. N. Welcher and a tea in the garden of the A. M. E. Zion church Sunday afternoon. The latter event was given by the Sunday School.

Miss Olga Lewis of San Jose spent the week-end visiting her mother, Mrs. M. Lewis and grandmother, Mrs. S. Moore.

Mrs. Ella Ishour spent the week-end in Fresno, combining business with pleasure. Lloyd Welcher, Jr., has gone to Imperial for an indefinte stay.

Miss Anita Kinnard was quietly married to I. Patterson at the home of Rev. Scott last Wednesday evening with a very few immediate friends and relatives to witness the ceremony. The couple is at home to friends in their home located two miles West of Aroma.

Sunday services at Zion were presided over by Elder J. B. Holmes as this was the third quarter of the Conference year.

Santa Monica

By WILLIE L. GILMORE

A very successful business meeting of the National Negro Congress was held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Craddock, 1508 19th street. Following were appointed to serve as officers until final selection of same in July: A. U. Cook, executive chairman; Alden Prudhomme, Vice-Chairman; Mrs. F. W. Craddock, Executive Secretary; Herbert Ward, Corresponding Secretary. Next business meeting of the N. N. C. is scheduled for the first Friday in July at above address at 8 p. m. All officers and members of the various religious, civic, social, etc., organizations are urged to be present.

On June 13th the Cosmopolitan club of the City was feted by its Vice-President, Ralph Tucker at 417½ Bay Street, Ocean Park. The social committee headed by Mrs. Laura Mae Manuel served as hosts and hostesses. A delicious luncheon was served, followed by dancing, bridge and interesting games.

On last Sunday evening Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, Mrs. Clyde Howell and Miss Lillian Jones were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Persil Lewis celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary at their home, 1228½ 17th street Friday evening with a few friends dropping in to wish them many more years together. The first couple to arrive was Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Clay, thus having the honor to drink a champagne toast to the honorees. Mr. and Mrs. Silas Tippins and Mrs. McReynolds also arrived in time to partake of a sip of the sparkling beverage. Others joining later in the evening to share the merriment were: Messrs and Mesdames James Holloway, Homer Woodrow, Isadore McReynolds, and Mr. Walter Lewis Mrs. Lewis received many lovely gifts of wood, which is appropriate for fifth anniversaries. A delightful time was had by all present who wished Mr. and Mrs. Lewis many happy returns.

Bee Square club was entertained last Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Cook at their home, 1735 19th street. The fore part of the evening was devoted to unfinished business. Latter part was spent in conversing and diseussing the lovely spring formal dance recently enjoyed. Future plans were also outlined as the club has such a promising membership. Next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Cook, 1825 Michigan avenue. Mrs. Aileen Lewis is the reporter.

The Royal Twelve club met last at the home of James Holloway. A splendid talk on the progress of the club was rendered by A. U. Cook, adviser. After which the annual election of officers took place. The new officers are as follows: L. Payne, president; Elmer Mitchel, vice-pres.; Robert Brown, secretary; Fred Parks, corresponding secretary; James Holloway, treasurer; Silas Tippins, business manager; James Ware, sgt.-at-arms.

Ivory Johnson is the reporter

The Top Hatters again are about to take the lime light in Santa Monica social activities.

Elaborate plans are well on the way for a tea to be held the evening of June 26 at the home of Mrs. Craddock. This tea will climax spring festivities of this club.

Although primarily a social instigator, this group of young men also takes vital interest in local and national affairs. Sunday afternoon in representing the good will of his fellow members, John Moore, president of the Top Hatters, appeared on the National Negro Congress program as guest artist. His baritone solo, "Asleep in the Deep" won vigorous applause. James Ware and Levert Payne also, were present and brought back to their members first hand, accurate and valuable information. Joel Johnson is the reporter.

Valley Towns Celebrate Emancipation Day

By W. A. PAYNE

EL CENTRO, June 23—Celebration of the issuing of the Emancipation Proclamation was general throughout the Imperial Valley with the major entertainments being given in Brawley and El Centro. Picnics with the serving of the traditional barbecue, games and balls made up the round of festivities.

In El Centro, Salton Sea Lodge of Elks and Phyllis Wheatley Temple of Daughter Elks directed the carnival. In the East El Centro Park and on the lawn of the Elks Building, programs were presented. The Emancipation Ball during the evening Saturday closed a day of merrymaking.

Funeral services for Walter Cleveland who died last Wednesday from the effects of a gun shot wound, took place in Lemon's Chapel last Sunday afternoon. Rev. Hayes Hayter preached the funeral sermon. A host of relatives and friends mourn the passing of Mr. Cleveland who had become well known during his stay here the past 11 years. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery.

At high noon Wednesday, June 8 Miss Emily Roberson and Jose Besana were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Deming of the First Christian Church, Yuma. Mrs. Besana is one of the teachers of Washington School, having served the district during the past 12 years. She is held in high esteem and has the well wishes of the host of friends who know her so favorably. The newly weds left last Thursday for San Francisco. Miss Roberson's home. She will attend the summer sessions of the San Francisco State College, returning in September to begin her work.

Miss Rose Morgan of Calexico and Frazier Laskey of this city were quietly married last week. Both of the young people are well known and popular among the younger set.

The East El Centro Townsend Club served dinner at the Community Club House last Thursday. The proceeds went to defray the expenses of delegates to the convention in Los Angeles.

A barbershop has been opened in the Elks Temple Building.

Pride of Imperial Valley Lodge No. 29 Knights of Pythias held its semi-annual election last Thursday evening. The following selection of officers was made: C. C., Joseph Wedlaw; V. C., R. W. Bostick; Prelate, Rev. I. N. Whitten; M. of E., J. R. Allen; M. of F., A. E. Prince; K. of R. and S., W. A. Payne; M. W. Aquilla Hall; M. A., U. G. Burton; Trustee 18 months, Samuel Blake. Grand Representatives, Joseph Wedlaw, DuBois McGee; Alternates, Aquilla Hall and A. E. Prince. Recommended for Past Chancellor's Degree, Augustus W. Humbles.

The reports show a steady growth of the Lodge. Definite plans were made for a large delegation to attend the Grand Lodge session in San Diego.

Second Baptist church conducted two very helpful services last Sunday. At the morning worship, Dr. William R. Carter was the speaker and brought a most inspiring message. He also assisted the local church Saturday and Sunday in its rally and in its plans for the erection of the new building.

Sunday evening with W. A. Payne acting as master of ceremonies, an Emancipation Proclamation program was presented. Mrs. Janet Perue directed the music of the service. With LeRoy Nathan accompanying, the entire musical program was one of Negro composers, the spirituals predominating. Mr. Payne presented in the Panel discussion, the theme "75 Years of Negro Progress". The progress in Religion was discussed by E. P. Perue; in business, A. E. Washington; in Politics, DuBois McGee. District Attorney Heald presented State Senator Ed. Law who brought an interesting summarization of the discusion. County Superintendent of Schools closed the series of addresses.

Miss Helen Keeling who has been attending Spelman College, Atlanta, returned home last Thursday and will spend the vacation with her parents.

Miss Jewel Talbert who is attending Wiley University, will not spend the vacation at home but instead will attend the summer session of the University.

The Prof. A. E. Prince family left for San Diego last Monday. Mrs. Prince will enroll in the State College there.

Among former citizens of El Centro who have returned and sojourning for awhile are: J. B. Hardy and son, Robert of Los Angeles; Ernest Day of Fresno; Mr. and Mrs. William Moore of Los Angeles; Mr. William Galloway, Los Angeles.

The Brawley baseball team with a new line-up, defeated the El Centro boys last Friday night by the very close score of 7 to 5. The teams are well balanced and the victory is usual the team that gets and acecpts the breaks. What everyone would like to see—pick team from the two teams playing El Centro's All-Stars.

The following persons were installed as officers of Phyllis Wheatley Temple for the next term. Mesdames Irma K. Laurence, Dtr Ruler, Addie Thomas, Vice-Dtr. Ruler; Grace Price, Assistant Dtr. Ruler; Luvenia Gibson, Chaplain; Florence Lyles, Escort; Daisy Lucas, Doorkeeper; Pearl Pigford, Gatekeeper. The other officers of the Temple are: Mesdames Izora Yoakum, Recording Secretary; Jewel Talbert, Financial Secretary; Cordella Baker, Treasurer; Anna J. Jackson, Martha Chism, Hallie Gray are the trustees.

Members who will attend the State Temple meeting in Oakland June 26-29 are Dtr. Lottie Augustus, State President; Daughters Daisy Lucas, Irma Laurence, Martha Chism, and Luvenia Gibson.

FRESNO NEWS

Enroute to Fresno Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Brown in company with Mrs. Artie Sistes and daughter, Norman Jean and Mrs. Mary Prevost met with an automobile accident just four miles outside of the city. Mrs. Prevost was detained at the hospital. The others were able to complete their journey. The car however, is a complete wreck.

Mrs. Lolita Carlton died June 16 after a brief illness.

MONROVIA NEWS

Second Baptist Church
Maple and Shamrock Aves.
Rev. John A. Davis, Pastor

Last Sunday we had a full day in Second Baptist Church, beginning with Sunday school, a very large attendance. School opened on time with Cornelius Presley in charge. This being Men's Day, the Men's choir was on hand and did a fine job. Commander Hollinsworth and his Legionairres were on hand to help on Men's Day. The following program was rendered during the morning hour. Aside from the regular order of service with Rev. B. T. Mayfield as Master of Ceremonies, Cornelius Presley addressed the men on the subject "The advantages of a college education." A Ukalele solo was rendered by Mr. Freeman and a solo by Mr. J. T. Wilson. Solo by Mr. Tobia Cuoton. The pastor brought a very inspiring message from the Text: 1 Cor. 7th chapter: 31st verse. Subject: Man's growing personality amid the passing fashions of the world. Among the many things he said was that man in spite of the passing fashions of the world, man's personality is still growing. That there were certain things in which will always abide in spite of the passing fashions of the world. 1st: That God abides forever. 2nd: Honesty and integrity will abide, and 3rd: The things of the Spirit abide. There were a number of visitors present from Pasadena and Los Angeles.

At 3 p. m. another splendid service was enjoyed by all present. An address was delivered by Mr. J. R. Jackson. This address was filled with logic, and reason, and many things of which he spoke of having been done by him, being a retired business man. An address by Mr. F. O. Richardson, was full of information and gave much inspiration to all in the house. Solo by Mr. S. Goodwin. The address by Mr. C. D. Jolly, Manager of the Pasadena-Monrovia Branch of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co., was one well remembered. Mr. Russell of Los Angeles was a visitor at this meeting. Mrs. Knox of Watts, business woman and Christian worker, house guest of Mrs. F. Gladney was present at both morning and evening services. She rendered very effective in the morning at the piano assisting in the Men's Day program.

At 8 p. m. the Land Mark Lodge F&A M. held its annual sermon at the church The choir of the church rendered the music for the occasion. Welcome address by the pastor. Response by Mr. Ross. Paper by Mr. F. F. Carter, P. W. M. Fraternal greetings, P. W. M. J. J. Jenkins; Paper, H. M. S. Goodwin; Scripture, Pastor; Prayer by Bro. W. Watkins, Chaplain. Setrmon, Rev. J. E. Buchanan. A very enjoyable day was spent by all. Next Sunday, June 26th is Women's Day. The women are expecting to have a great day. They are going to serve dinner, so that no one will have to go home for dinner. In the morning they have as their speaker, Mrs. Charlotte A. Bass, editor-publisher of the California Eagle. A great personality and a dynamic speaker. At 3 p. m. they will have Mrs. Viola Brazil, another wonderful speaker. At 8 p. m. they will give a play, under the direction of Mrs. S. W. Brister, Mrs. G. Presley is the chairman of women's day.

Present Santa Monica Hi Students in Pageant

SANTA MONICA—A program of unusual splendor and talent was presented at the Miles Memorial Playhouse, June 9, when a patriotic pageant and contest by groups of Santa Monica and Venice high school students, under the direction of Mrs. Itasca McCall drew from an enthusiastic audience much praise and applause. A large chorus, girls' octette and boys' quartette directed by Mrs. Geraldine Lewis, was equally as appreciated. Beautiful solos were rendered by Misses Earline Celastan, Ida Duncan and young Mister Billie Brazington, who has a sweet tenor voice; Miss Celestan bids fair to be one of the best sopranos among the juniors of Southern California.

Next came a piano solo by Alma Brazington and instrumental trio--violin, trumetp and piano by Allymae, Roberta and Corinne Rhodes.

William Shaw, as master of ceremonies, introduced Chief of Police Charles L. Dice who brought greetings from the Mayor and presented a large American Flag to Marvin Wharton who responded with an appropriate speech; just here allegiance was pledged to the flag by the entire gathering. Mr. Ira Miller of the N. Y. A. also presented the group with a beautiful flag. Prayer by Rev. Alfred K. Quinn followed.

The speakers and their subjects included the following: Joel Johnson, whose subject was "My Stars and Stripes are your dreams and labors", this subject and delivery won the first prize of the senior group; Marlene Davis spoke on "A Song for our Flag". Presentation of the Christian Flag, Rev. F. K. Leath. Vanita Tarver, "The Message of the Christian Flag"; Alfred Quinn, "America come back to God"; Evelyn Wilder, "Conscience and Future Judgement". A two act drama, "Where did the Drunkard begin", an argument in poetry was presented by Margaret Ducksworth, Clarence Driver, and Dorothy Johnson, and decidedly in favor of prohibition. Roberta Rhodes almost brought the audience to tears reading "Do you love your kind old mother", after which the audience was given another thrill by recitations and song of a humorous trend Arlene Celesta won first place with "How to win and hold a husband"; Joe Spaulding, "Champion Joe Louis'", Marshall Warren, "Put your shoulder to the wheel"; Joe Duncan, "Father". The tiny tots came in for a goodly share of praise also with a solo by little Peaches Colman, a reading by five-year-old Mona Reid, "If I were you", Gracie Carter, "Trust to America"; a piano solo by Florence Gilmore and a peppy vacation song by Vivian Lawrence, Vivian Wilder, Martha Lou and Theresa Warren, Willamae and James McCaully. This unique program was sponsored by the Bay Women's Business Club as a part of their effort to encourage more interest in civic and welfare and for the benefit of their program of philanthropy. The beautiful Christian Flag used in the pageant was made by Mrs. Anita Mixon, secretary of the club. The prizes were contributed by local Santa Monica merchants.

Mrs. Mildred Reese, business chairman, expressed appreciation for the cooperation of all who helped to make the program a grand success; for the benefit of parents and friends, the pageant will be repeated at an early date with new features added.

See Effort to Curb Extension Work Among Negroes

WASHINGTON, June 23. (ANP)—Recent developments indicate that Negro county extension agents throughout the nation face demotion or a curtailment of their activities, it was learned here last week. Extension leaders throughout the nation are viewing with alarm what they consider an attempt to discredit Negro leadership.

To further complicate matters, Dr. J. B. Watson, president of Arkansas State college, has recently written a letter to Dr. C. W. Warburton, of the United States Department of Agriculture, criticising the work in general of district, state and county agents, among them J. B. Pierce, one of the two colored supervisors in the 15 Southern states. This letter is expected to hasten the change in status of extension agents, and already a white man has been named supervisor of Negro extension work in Arkansas, replacing H. C. Ray.

T. M. Campbell of Tuskegee is the only other Negro district supervisor beside Pierce in the entire Southern region. The set-up currently calls for Negro state and county leaders. But there is a movement, protested by colored groups, to put Negro extension work in counties under the white county agent to the extent that the Negro agent would be responsible to the white agent.

Dean Pickens to Straighten Out S. C. Housing Wrangle

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jun 23. (ANP)—William Pickens, director of branches, NAACP, and Federal Forum leader who has been delivering lectures in Columbia and vicinity for more than nine weeks, is cooperating with local residents in an effort to rectify alleged inequalities and inferior accomodations given Negroes at University Terrace, WPA low-cost housing project.

In University Terrace, houses for whites and Negroes are arranged on the same square but face different streets. Negro tenants complain that they are required to pay rent and furnish heat, while the rent paid by whites includes steam heat, and refrigeration.

In a letter to the U. S. Housing Authority, Dean Pickens suggested a solution to the present difficulty and a guard against similar problems in the future.

"Seeing that you are planning to finance new housing projects for the two races in Columbia, I want to call certain things to your attention . . .

"1. That since the Negro project is to be always separate from the white, the management be also distinct; and that the Negro project be managed by a Negro, through their own project office.

"2. That you build the same type of housing with the same equipment and for the same rental, for colored as for white. Your University Terrace has a serious illusion: that the Negroes are being charged a cheaper housing cost--whereas they are paying as much or more than the whites, for inferior accomodations to the conveniences of the whites."

Bakersfield Cubs Lose to All-Stars

BAKERSFIELD, June 23. (By Jerry Fleming)—The Bakersfield Cubs' winning streak was snapped last Sunday by the All-Stars 8 to 4. It was a seven inning game, shortened because of a bad dust storm.

The Stars took the lead in the first inning and scored three more in the third. Held scoreless until the fifth inning, the Cubs then started a rally that gained them four runs and brought them within a single tally of the All-Stars. The Stars final three runs came in the seventh frame.

Brilliant individual play was turned in by Ragsdale of the Cubs and Clark Moses and Mosconi of the Stars. Ragsdale hit three for three, a triple, double and single. Mosconi made a spectacular catch, coming almost from the center field to the infield. The last game of the series will be played Sunday.

BRIEFS . . .

The Society boys club seems to have gone "L" Street lately . . . Johnnie certainly has a certain appeal, there were so many boys around and in her car that her mother even had to struggle to gain entrance . . . B. S. sure writes a swell hand, writing take it from me, she is tops otherwise also . . . It sems that the two new girls here from L. A. are attracting much attention. However they seem to discuss a certain chap called "cushion" for short . . . Names? . . . Oh, yes. —Beatrice and Clarice. I heard that certain couple drove from the Wasco Juneteenth festival in a open roadster in the wee hours of the morn. . . . therefore the girl received a jolt at home and companion nearly died from exposure . . . such people . . . The new night club 'The Swing Club' opening up this week is really going to be tops.

I heard that one of our Jasper co-ed graduates married R. C. Gardenhouse last Sunday . . . congratulations Corrine Ellis . . . Now R. C. can stop his perpetual worrying . . . Why didn't Burp Bussey go up to Fresno? Reliable sources says his girl up there wrote him to stay down here as she won't be able to slum tonight . . . Maybe Bill won't wear that amused grin when he hears the latest. Why doesn't Ola Bell go over to Hollywood anymore? Everyone seems to know but me and maybe Jack . . . Anyway they tell me Harold has been worrying plenty lately; but they say that money goes a long way. I think its a little too soon now anyway . . . Chops seems to be quite a politician . . . Two certain couples here never seem to grow up.

Methodists Start Fund to Fight Unification

ATLANTA.— (ANP) —Formation of a subcommittee of 33 to solicit funds in four Southern states to finance the fight against unification was announced Saturday by the executive committee of the Laymen's Organization for Preservation of the Southern Methodist church.

Milton S. Bell of Milledgeville, Ga., was named treasurer. The organization is opposed to the church's stand for unification mainly because of the fear that Negro members will be placed on a basis of equality with Southern whites.

RECEIVES MASTER'S DEGREE IN SOCIOLOGY

MISS ALMA EARL with the thesis "Racial Attitudes of 100 Negro College Students" was awarded the Masters of Arts degree in Sociology by Atlanta University at the June commencement exercises. Miss Earl received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Knoxville College in 1935 and taught French two years at the Southern Normal and Industrial School at Brewton, Ala. She is at present secretary to Prof. Reid of Atlanta University. She plans to teach this year and then resume her studies at Columbia University where she will take work towards her doctors degree in sociology.

DIES TALKING TO BISHOP TOOKES IN HUSBAND'S BEHALF

Trustees Meeting in North Little Rock Ends in Uproar

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 23. (ANP)—"If they are not rewarded here, they will be rewarded in heaven," were the dying words of Mrs. W. T. Pope, wife of Dr. W. T. Pope, superintendent of the Forest City district of the A. M. E. church, in defending her husband who was an absentee at the Shorter college Trustee board meeting here last Tuesday.

The trustee meeting, which was presided over by Bishop H. Y. Tookes, was slightly disrupted when the prelate roared, "I am going to take J. D. Dennis, the presiding elder of the Monticello district; Dr. J. W. Stinson, presiding elder of the Magnolia district, and Dr. W. T. Pope, presiding elder of the Forrest City district, down."

Mrs. Pope, Little Rock society matron, was asked to say something in defense of her husband. She rose amidst the silence of the audience representing all parts of Arkansas and Oklahoma, saying:

"Bishop, please don't forget that these old men are the ones who marched African Methodism from its earliest existence in this state. They made it possible for the young men to enjoy this grand and glorious heritage. My poor husband paid the first $100 on Connor hall in 1917; he paid the first $100 on the Annie Turner Coley home in 1918. The same is true with Dr. Dennis and Stinson. If they are not rewarded here, they will be rewarded in heaven."

She collapsed at this point, gaping with her head thrown back on the bench on which she sat. Churchmen thronged about her, but she died of heart failure before Bishop Tookes could finish singing the doxology. Women fainted, children went into spasms, and churchmen lost their mental equilibrium as the corpse was carried out of the church.

Chicago Relief Client Leads Sit-Down Strike in State Legislature

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 23. (ANP)—Declaring that "We might as well starve here as anywhere else," Clifford Laws, a relief client of Chicago, last week made a stirring appeal for aid for the unemployed and passage of the O'Neall bill, from the gallery of the State legislature. Later, when the legislative body adjourned, Laws and Miss Glenna Clark, also of Chicago, led the Negro contingent of 50 among the 150 relief clients who staged a sit-down strike in a section of the gallery and declared they would not leave until better provision had been made for destitute citizens of the state. The strike was short-lived, however, as state police soon persuaded them that discretion was the better part of valor and that they were breaking the law by remaining in the building when the legislature was not in session.

Ethiopian Runs Amuck in Rome; Four Slashed

ROME, Italy, June 23. (ANP)—Four persons, an army officer, a butcher's boy and two militiamen, were wounded here last Wednesday when an Ethiopian ran amuck with a sword, slashing at all who came within striking distance.

The incident occurred before the monument commemorating the Italian soldiers who were slaughtered by Ethiopians at Dogali in 1887. A gilded lion of Judah, taken in Addis, Ababa during the recent Ethiopian campaign, is at the base of the monument. The Ethiopian was observed praying aloud before the lion of Judah when an army captain stepped up. The kneeling man suddenly sprang to his feet, pulled forth the scimitar and wounded the captain severely.

A butcher's delivery boy, nearby, hurled his bicycle at the Ethiopiah, was in turn slashed by the man. Two militiamen were also cut, but in the melee one of them fired four shots which felled the sword wielder.

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 59—NO. 11 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1938

The LAUNDRYMAN

HELLO, EVERYBODY! I took a long walk the other night (no, the finance company hasn't taken my car yet) but I just felt like I needed some exercise. And while I was out, I made a startling discovery. What was it? Only that Central Avenue is as dead as a dried herring.

Everywhere I went, the stores and places of amusement seemed to be partially deserted. There were quite a few people on the sidewalks however, standing in small groups and talking in whispers, and looking sad and everything, so I commenced to try to figure out what it was all about. I walked from 12th street up to 43rd and Central, and found the same state of affairs prevailing all over.

I'm not much of a hand at asking questions as a rule, and since my curiosity had been aroused, I began to try to ferret out the cause of this general sadness. My first thought was that mebbe one of our militant newspaper editors had "kicked the bucket" and the Avenoo was in mourning for him. But in the next few minutes I seen him roll by in an auto so I knew I was off on that count. Then I began to wonder if something had happened to the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks, but pretty soon I seen him come out of Gene's place. Finally, I give up trying to figure what it was all about and walked over to a guy who was standing near the edge of the curb in front of the hotel.

"What's the matter with Broadway, buddy?" I says.

He looked at me real hard as if he thought I was crazy, or had just got out of the psychopathic ward. "Where you been for the last two or three days?" he asked. "Don't you know that the "heat" is on. This Avenoo is closed up tighter than Dick's hat-band."

"Is that why all these folks are looking so sad?" I says.

"Nothing different!" he murmured disconsolately. "And the devil of it is that nobody knows when things will open up again."

I thanked him for his information and went on my way, wondering to myself about how unstable the economic foundation of our group must be, if the closing of games of chance can so visibly affect our business district.

Brilliant Scholar Gets Master's Degree at 18

LAWRENCE, Kan., June 23.—(ANP)—Starting his school career at the age of three, Dunbar McLaurin, at 18, last week made educational history here when he was awarded the Master of Arts degree by the University of Kansas, the youngest person in the history of that institution to be so honored.

The scholar is the son of Prof. and Mrs. G. W. McLaurin of Langston, Okla., his father a faculty member at Langston university. Young McLaurin, with a major in economics and business administration, maintained one of the highest scholastic averages in this year's graduate school. His thesis, "The Development of Chain Store Taxations in the United States", is already being used as the basis of a study by a research foundation.

Scientists have perfected a device to enable a person to warm his feet by blowing into a set of tubes extending downward through his clothing.

In Which We Lose "One Of Our Best Friends"; Or the Demise of Troublesome "Major Molar"

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

WE HAVE a cousin who plans to study dentistry. When he is through studying theories and experimenting in the laboratory and begins to practice, we'll bet he makes many friends. Even so-called enemies will become friends, steadfast pals. And when he gets the knack of playing nursemaid to a bad and troublesome tooth down pat, he will find among his patients many boosters. Because, you see, to play nursemaid to a toothie, or toothies that have been acting-up, and patch them up and make them good little toothies (or eliminate them altogether) is a job that doesn't fail to elicit words of gratitude from the harassed man or woman who possesses them.

For instance, we had a "Major Molar" which we prized very highly. It had a swell gold crown on it. It was really dressed up. That may have been the reason it became spoiled, thinking it was better than all of its companions.

We admit, it did look good FROM THE OUTSIDE. We readily understood why it thought it had so much reason to show off.

But what it didn't think about was the way it looked FROM THE INSIDE, and unfortunately, it had us fooled on that score. We didn't notice anything at first, but then once in a while little things that this show-off did would hurt our pride and our FEELINGS. We didn't pay much attention to these little troubles that this "Major Molar" was stirring up.

And then, one day, all of the other toothies began to complain about this bragging piece of ivory, saying that it was causing them a certain amount of anguish too. Of course, when they ALL started to complain we had to get busy and take this little pest in hand. It was abusing the privileges we gave it, privileges of grinding away a couple of times a day and working overtime occasionally, between meals.

So we did. We took the bad little fellow to the "barn", which in this case was the office of the dentist. We told the "Doc" that the little fellow had been acting every other way but the way a good toothie should and he had better do something about it pretty quick.

The "Doc" was stern with the little fellow at first. He wanted to be sure what made it act-up so. Instead of applying the "pinchers" as we thought he would, he made his X-ray machine ready and photographed the cocky little rascal. We'll bet the upstart was crowing to all of the other toothies about how "I got my pitcher took!" The fellow was just that nervy!

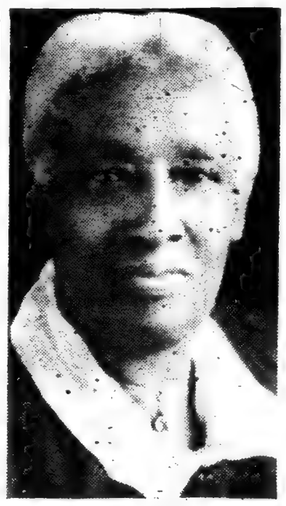
At any rate, "Doc" went away and developed the plate, came back and shook his head. "It's pretty bad," were his words and then he showed us what the cutey had been up to. The "Doc" decided right then and there, without conferring with us as to the advisability or practicability of the act he contemplated, to court martial the troublesome toothie for "unbecoming conduct".

"Doc" then began to make ready for the ceremony. It was a most embarrassing situation for the little fellow we imagine. There in front of all his companions during all these years, he was to be humiliated and shorn of his authority as a "Major Molar". The "Doc", however, decided to make it as painless as possible for the little fellow and us too, for that matter, because we did hate to see it go out that way. The throbbing nerves of "Major Molar" were deadened, thereby lessening the effect of the ceremony on the little fellow, making it much easier for him to take.

And then, like a flash, all was tense. The "Doc" applied a strangle-hold on "Major Molar" and he went out, without a whimper. We'll give him credit, though, he was dead game to the end. His place will be hard to fill. Cocky and dressed-up as he was he stood on the chewing-line like a good toothie. Its demise, humiliating as it must have been, will undoubtedly serve to shake up its companions. We're pretty certain they wouldn't like to come to that kind of an end, an end which leaves us relieved, of course, and so glad we won't be bothered any more by a dressed-up little toothie who was more troublesome than it was worth! And so, that's the story of the gold-topped "Major Molar" that became a cutey and shorn of his crown and title!

Predictions: We like Young Peter Jackson over Kenny LaSalle out at Gilmore stadium tomorrow night . . . Pete has again hit his stride.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES



MIRIAM MATTHEWS

June being the month of commencements and the beginning of summer vacations, we feel that it is an opportune time to introduce young graduates, and others, to two interesting stories of college life.

The first is Margaret Culkin Banning's "You Haven't Changed Yet", a book every college woman will want to read whether she is one year or a dozen years out of college. In spite of woman's so called emancipation, there is still some doubt in the author's mind as to her ability to successfully combine a career with marriage. Mrs. Banning feels that every college woman is called upon to make a choice between the two view with four women who return to college for class reunions at commencement time. One is the smart, sophisticated mother of twins who gave up a career to marry a wealthy socialite and has wondered ever since if she should not have done more with her mind. Another is a college instructor who deferred marriage with an Oxford don to further her intellectual ambitions only to discover she was hurt when he announced his marriage to another. A third is the comfortable, dowdy mother of three children who has never regretted her twelve years as the hard-working wife of a country doctor. The experiences of these three exercise a profound influence on a younger graduate who tries to make up her mind during home-coming week whether she will marry her fiance or return to college for a higher degree. This reunion story is smoothly and pleasantly told and the reader will enjoy the author's discerning analysis of the four main characters.

Margaret Matthews who writes under the pseudonym of Susan Goodyear, has produced an entirely different type of story in "College Square". It deals with life in a small English college town and is chiefly concerned with a conflict between the college president and the dean. The dean, having been humiliated by the appointment of a young president from the outside when he had expected the post, tries in many subtle ways to force the younger man to resign. The plot is complex with two pleasant stories of young love woven into the main plot. The whole sequence is very competently handled by the author who writes with a warm humor and a graceful gift of irony. "College Square" is notable for its minor characters and its fine observation of an interesting development in academic life.

AUNT KATE

"Aunt Kate" Wright is dead but her memory will live on in the hearts of the citizens of Monrovia, California, and her spirit like a ministering angel, will continue to exert its influence for good upon the entire community just as she did in life, for the story of "Aunt Kate" will become a legend woven into the very fabric of the sturdy mountain town.

Sister Seeks Brother

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of one Frank D. Dodson, last seen in Fort Worth, Texas in the vicinity of that city's 17th street, please notify Mrs. Rosie Dodson Bryson, 1828 W. 36th St., the gentleman's sister.

Mrs. Bryson reported to Eagle reporters that it is imperative that she contact her brother as soon as possible.

STORY OF 'AUNT KATE' WHO SOUGHT A GOOD PLACE TO DIE...

MANY years ago, "Aunt Kate", as she was lovingly called came to the pretty little town of Monrovia with its high altitude and sunny skies, "seeking a good place to die", as she had put it. She walked the streets of the little village, coughing her life away. Every mouthful of food and every night's lodging came to her through charity—charity at a distance too, because of her dread disease, tuberculosis.

One night she eased down on her wobbly knees and prayed fervently: "Oh, God, you are the only one that can help me know. Give me back my lungs that I may do for other folks what I need done for me."

And God marvelously answered her prayer.

Three busy years had sped by since I lasted visited Aunt Kate.

Now when I knocked once again upon the door of her rambling bungalow under the live oak trees, a silvery voice called out, "Come in please."

I walked through the living room into the small dining room where I found her eating a belated breakfast with an open Bible beside her plate.

"You found me busy as usual, daughter," she greeted.

"The Lord has laid many things before us in these last days," she smiled as she motioned me to a nearby chair.

"I see you have your precious Bible right before you Aunt Kate," I commented.

"Yes indeed, Marion," she replied radiantly. "I cannot see to read very much any more, but I know His Word almost by heart and as his promises lay revealed before me, they seem to make the food taste better.

"Do you still take in sick folks Aunt Kate?" I inquired as I glanced through the open window into the flower bedecked garden to see if any of the convalescents I had known, were still basking in the healing rays of the sun.

"No, Marion," she replied "I had to give up my beloved work about a year ago when my eyes began giving me so much trouble. Seems almost like breaking faith with the Lord," she sighed, "but He understands," she smiled as the look of concern faded from her expressive face.

"But how do you manage now, Aunt Kate?" I asked puzzled by her words.

"I don't the Lord does it. You remember how it started many years ago, Marion. When God heard my prayer, I didn't start going to church just to enjoy myself. I got this cabin—three rooms it had then—and went about doing days work to pay for it. All the time I was hunting folks and bringing them in, Jesus wouldn't run away from a person just because he coughed, would he? They didn't need a second invitation. They had no place to go, poor things," she went on reflectively. "I shared all I had day by day. Sometimes it was mighty little and the Lord gave my neighbors' curiosity to come in and see what I was doing and they brought vegetables and fruit.

"Then when the Lord cured that Mexican woman of tuberculosis, the white folks heard about it and they began giving me work and donating too. The Lord sent those poor sick folks to me for help and I treated them as if they were my own children. I prayed for them massaged their weak bodies. I gave them good milk—the Lord sent a dairyman to give me a gallon of milk a day! And fruit and eggs and home comforts too. But daughter," she continued, "those poor folks didn't come for prayers alone, but for food and care as well. But there was a Bible by every bed just the same. When they heard me pray, Lord give this poor soul another chance to love and serve Thee, they just naturally prayed too."

"But how do you get along now, Aunt Kate?" I persisted.

"I depend altogether upon the Lord", she reiterated, astonished at my stupidity. "Didn't I tell you He sends help. Why at Christmas time the Elks put a new floor in the living room when the old one rotted out. Yes, and the Masons put on a new roof. The Lord sends good friends like you too, she added. "Children don't worry about the future, they let their parents do that. So why not live as children of God", she finished reverently.

As I rose to go, Aunt Kate stood up too. Her slender form was still erect. Her fine intellectual face had aged but little. Her dark skin enhanced by snow-white hair, she looked a saint indeed.

"Just a word of prayer, daughter, before you leave", she reminded as I turned to go.

With one hand placed upon mine, she offered up one of the most beautiful spiritual prayers I have ever heard. Her classic use of the English language amazed me. It was no doubt gleaned from constant reading of the Bible, which is a storehouse of superior diction.

I have listened to many eminent ministers of the gospel but never one who could excel Aunt Kate in an appeal for Divine guidance and help.

"You'll have to excuse me for not acompanying you to the door, daughter," she apologized, "but I cannot see very well now you know."

"I'm so sorry Aunt Kate," I said sympathetically.

"It's all right, Marion", she responded cheerfully, "these things come to keep us humble and thankful for the many other blessings we have. You can go to those mountains for gold," she added, nodding her white head in the direction of the Sierra's, "but think of the many things it must go through before it is refined and made ready for use."

It was dusk when I bade Aunt Kate goodbye and stepped into my car and headed for Los Angeles.

I truly felt as though a benediction had fallen upon me, and as the little town of Monrovia slipped farther and farther behind me in the shadows of the mountains, I regretted that I was unable to make the trip more often.

"Yes, Aunt Kate is gone now. Born in slavery in Lexington, Kentucky, she died, self educated, loved, remembered and mourned by an entire city who today, paid her homage.

BEN AND Emory stand before you. Give them the best courses you have in the subjects checked. I am enclosing tuition check in amount of $200.00 and a series of ten checks for each of the boys, nine for five dollars and one for fifteen dollars. Will you be so kind as to issue these once a week from your office?" We hope the interest created by their coming to your Institute will start a new crop of students from this neighborhood. They have stirred up a lot of comment."

With this letter of introduction from their chief, Manager Joe N. Clemons, of the famous Grandma's Kitchen, Miami, Florida, to A. L. Turner, registrar, Ben Biggers and Emory James, chief and second cook, respectively, of the popular downtown Florida cafeteria, feeding 2,700 guests daily, spent Friday, June 10, signing up for classes in the third annual summer short course in commercial dietetics at Tuskegee Institute, Ala.

Manager Clemons, one of the outstanding restaurant men in the country, is not only proud of the work record of his two popular employes, but a firm believer in the practice of keeping abreast of the times. Nothing but the best will suit this veteran food establishment executive who has made cuisine history in Miami. He took Chef Biggers with him to Chicago and the World's Fair where he operated "Grandma's Kitchen" for the benefit of the patrons attending that great event.

Both Chef Biggers and Second Cook James were highly enthusiastic when they looked over the Tuskegee Institute Cafeteria set-up prior to starting classes and were given a hearty welcome by Manager Edward W. Ramsey, Juanita C. Dobbs, salad expert and instructor, and Guest Chef Robert Spicely, of Philadelphia, who is giving special instruction to the in-service short course students as well as to the regular commercial dietetics students this summer.

Chef Biggers will take a special course in food control while Second Cook James is specializing in meats and vegetables in addition to the regular courses offered during the short course. The two men will also take some special work during the second term which opens on July 15.

Second Cook Emory James, a native of Ft. Gaines, Georgia, has been employed at Grandma's Kitchen for the past six years. During the past summer he worked at the Maselynn hotel, H. H. Mase, manager, in Stamford, New York.

"You must work hard, keep up with what is going on, and then work harder if you want to make good," Cook James said. "I find that you never know so much that you can't learn more, and I'm here to learn," he remarked.

Chef Biggers, who claims Columbus, Georgia, as his home, has been in Miami and at Grandma's Kitchen since 1925. Prior to that time he was employed in Macon, Georgia, at the Macon Cafeteria, serving as cook at the latter establishment. For the past few summers he has worked at the Atglen Hotel, Ocean City, New York, keeping occupied during the stretch between late April and early November when Grandma's Kitchen is closed.

The course in Commerical Dietetics at Tuskegee Institute was launched by Dr. F. D. Patterson, president, upon the suggestion of southern hotel executives who have given much support to the program. The course has been given the approval of the American Hotel association, President Thomas D. Green, head of the American Hotel association and a group of leaders of the Southern Hotel association on a recent visit to the Tuskegee campus, following the All-Southern Exposition in Atlanta, paid lavish tributes to the progress being made in the course and pointed out the importance of having more trained workers in hotels and restaurants.

Student Writes Editorial On Court Decision

Reprinted in a special graduation issue of the Junior Collegian, student publication of the Los Angeles Junior college, was an editorial on the decision of the Missouri State Supreme Court, denying Lloyd Gaines, 25 year old Negro the right to enter the University of Missouri. The editorial was adjudged one of the best written during the school year and was the product of Elmer Layne, a student in the journalism course at the junior college.

The editorial follows:

MISSOURI SUPREME COURT DENIES NEGRO ENTRANCE TO STATE UNIVERSITY

Buried deep on an inside page of a local paper recently was a small paragraph. It told a story—an important story. It was a big story even if it didn't have a screaming headline over it. It was a big story because it told in eight lines of man's inhumanity to man. Because it showed that man has yet to learn tolerance. Because it showed that man has not yet escaped bigotry and prejudice. Because it told so plainly that man is not yet civilized.

The story minced no words. It stated in terse newspaper style that the State Supreme Court of Missouri had upheld a decision of the Circuit court of Boone county denying Lloyd Gaines, 25-year-old Negro, the right to enter the University of Missouri.

There is really nothing more to say. One could go on for columns, but that would merely be the rehashing of hash. The fact remains that man is not yet civilized.

ELECTION TO BE HELD AT FORUM SUNDAY

Annual election of officers of the Los Angeles Forum will be held Sunday afternoon during the regular meeting at the Forum headquarters, 12th and Central avenue, it was announced today by William McAlpin, retiring prexy.

Oil Horns and Wipers

Motor-driven horns and windshield wipers should have the terminal brushes and commutator cleaned and oiled occasionally, according to the emergency service department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. All terminals should be made tight and bearing surfaces lubricated by applying a few drops of oil.

see phenomenal development in 'negro motion picture industry'; most incredible

The past several months has seen the most phenomenal development in the "Negro Motion Picture Industry" since the inception of flickers. Many times prior to this there have been sudden spouts of colored cinematic effort, but in always they have met with both moral and financial failure.

At one time, Father Michaux, evangelist, entered the business and succeeded in distributing two "gangster" pictures with all-Native Harlem casts; again Clarence Brooks produced a "war-epic" on the West Coast. These works, however, reflected none too much glory upon their producers and were destined to remain lone monuments to an unrealized dream.

The present activity, on the other hand, has every ear-mark of permanency. Associated Features, considered financially the weakest of the Negro-producing outfits, has a schedule which near effervesces with future hoss-operas. Globe Pictures, strongest, (having possessed the wherewith-all to hire Champ Louis for one week at 25 grand figure) is paradoxically enough quiet; while Million Dollar Productions are zooming along with plans listing five new operi.

The enigma of this sudden production-boom is the more incredible when it is taken into consideration that the movie-houses of the nation are suffering at present a twenty-percent fall off in attendance —the most fearful shift since the depresion.

Undoubted Messiah of the new artistic flop, this film must have era is the "Randol-Cooper" pic, "Dark Manhattan". Certainly an proved something in the financial field, for, immediately after its release the present Million Dollar organization, backed by Harry Popkin, came into being. M. D. P. has come forward with "Bargain With Bullets", Life oes On", and "The Duke is Tops".

Associated Features, alias Maceo Sheffield, have presented "Harlem on the Prarie" and "Two Gun Man from Harlem". Globe Pictures, evidently a step-child of Universal, produced the Joe Louis epic, "Spirit of Youth".

One feature of the present boom differs from the "colored" movie efforts of yore—today the companies are owned by whites. This condition has brought considerable criticism from some quarters. It has been said that Negro employees of the companies are "stooges" and that the race is being duped into the belief that the films are actually race-produced.

Quick to answer this stinging denunciation was Harry Levette, chief publicity man at Million Dollar. He pointed out that hundreds os employed Negro artists and craftsmen have been given work through the companies, that a yearning for artistic self-expression has been given the race, and further held that Negroes should feel indebted to those white business men who risked funds at so crucial a time and for so untried a cause.

In addition much comment concerning the films themselves have circulated. Many state that the pictures are unreal in subject matter,—in fact, represent a ridiculous effort to paint the world black. In all cases, they hold, Judge, Jury, policeman, passer-by and street-car conductor are colored. Such an untrue picture of American life, they believe, is not healthy entertainment for the Negro and can but convince whites that Afro-Americans crave a purely segregated position in the nation's set-up. For instance, the review of "Harlem on the Prarie" in Liberty magazine remarked to the effect that no "excuse for so much pigmentation on the plains" was offered. This critics state, is a fair rebuke and that the really glorious history of Negro cowboys could have been shown by way of a more or less historical film.

The studios reply that it is their policy to employ at present only Negro actors, and that they may not produce "racial" films anyway.

This answer only brings further dissent among unbelievers. Instantly they contend that the only dramatic possibilities in Negro drar tween races, that the ostrich, head-in-the-ground p ducing only "white" films with colored cast soon will prove too shallow and false to maintain the race's box-office interest. They point to the "racial films" of major studios— "The House of Rothschild", "They Won't Forget", the ancient "Birth of a Nation", the yet to be released flicker extolling Haym Salomon, Jew whose money saved the United States during the Revolution. With the entire cinematically-unexplored world of Negro literature and history, critics exclaim "colored companies" possess an absolutely immense fund of live material,—then caustically add that the new M. D. P. pic is destined to be a "G-man" story.

Million Dollar would answer that the cacklings of the idealists are all very well, but would become suicidal at the box-office.

To cinch the argument, they point to the box-office flop, as compared with "Bargain With Bullets" of the highly intelligent "Life Goes On".

What the future holds is unpredictable. Although continued hoss-operas from Associated Features are reasonably certain, M. D. P. represents an unknown quality, what with secret whisperings of a big-budget "epic" somewhere off in the dim future.

CLARENCE MUSE, of the Globe Productions, signs Joe Louis for the "Spirit of Youth".

Stage Benefit for Unity Center at Savoy Saturday

Two performances, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, will be given of the benefit show to be staged for the Building Fund of the Unity Truth Center on Saturday at the Savoy Theatre, it was announced today by Miss B. June Cobb, leader of the Center.

At the 1:30 p. m. matinee Malcom Nash, dance teacher will present a "Kiddie Revue". In the evening, Paul White, juvenile star, Hattie McDaniels, Troy Brown, Mae Muse, Janet Collins, ballet dancer, Ben Carter and his Plantation Boys, the Cats and the Fiddle, and others will perform. War Perkins will be master of ceremonies and there will be no advance in prices.

Donated by an Eastside furniture store, a floor lamp will be given to the person, selling the largest number of tickets.

UCLA Gridders Employed at Warner Brothers'

Members of the UCLA football squad are employed on the stage service crew at Warner Brothers' studio during the summer vacation, it was learned by the EAGLE this week.

Dressed in natty uniforms, white coats, black trousers and visored caps, the youths administer to the wants of movie stars and run errands between stage sets and production offices. The jobs keep them under the watchful eye of authorities who see that they keep reasonably in condition for the Fall football season.

Kenny Washington, star Westwood halfback, went on duty this week with his teammates. Woodrow Strode, 60-minute Bruin end, will commence "work" next month upon his return from track competition in the East.

'the birth of a baby' screens at paramount theatre today

Starting Thursday the Paramount Theatre is privileged to present "The Birth Of A Baby" a feature picture different from any ever shown on a public screen.

Acclaimed across the country as the most unusual and valuable film of the years "The Birth Of A Baby" was produced under the highest possible sponsorship and the film reveals for the first time on a public screen the mightiest of all life's dramas, the actual birth of a baby before your very eyes together with the eventful months leading up to this overwhelming climax.

Undoubtably the most widely discussed and commented upon picture ever shown "The Birth Of A Baby" comes to the screen under the sponsorship of such outstanding groups as the American Medical Association, section on Obstetrics and Gynecology, U. S. Public Health Service, American Hospital Asociation. The California Medical Association has also approved the picture.

The film first came to national prominence a few months ago when life magazine pictorially featured the story told in "Birth Of A Baby".

Rigid restrictions are placed on the showing of the film and children under sixteen will not be admitted unless acompanied by an adult. The picture will be shown on a single feature policy with only appropriate selected short subjects rounding out the program.

air show will present 'the life of biddie mason'

When the California Caravan goes on the air Friday night, June 24th, at 8 P. M., a full half-hour show of Eastside talent will be put on the network, bringing to all of Southern California a rare treat, starring local talent.

Not only will your friends and neighbors stand in front of the microphone to tell the world what they have been doing in the fight to bring about inter-racial understanding but talented artists, such as Coney Woodman and his Harlem Swingsters, Lauretta Butler and some of her "Kiddies" and a strong supporting cast of local names will also appear.

Of historiacl interest to Old Timers, who have seen Los Angeles grow from a dust-bitten pueblo, to the present generation who would like to know how it all came about, will be the dramatic playlet built around the life of Biddie Mason, one of Los Angeles' best beloved citizens.

Call up your friends and tell them to listen to the California Caravan, Friday night at 8:00 o'clock, on station K. H. J.

french film portrays queen of ethiopia

"Pearls' of the Crown", French cineminportation at the Esquire Theatre, traces the history of the four Pearls in the royal Crown of England. In recounting the gems' long and picturesque history, which covers four continents and twice as many centuries, the seduction of the Queen of Ethiopia by a European adventurer is shown.

Produced, written, directed and starred by the brilliant Parisian, Sacha Guitry, the film has been hailed internationally as a masterpiece. The Queen of Ethiopia is portrayed by Mrs. Guitry, and since she was definitely unacquainted with the Amharic spoken in the African nation, the lady substituted the equivalent of French-pidgin-English.

No remarks upon the interracial seduction scene has yet been heard from the American press Many state however, that had the picture been American-made, there would have been an immense protest.

martha's mouth so large nobody looked at legs!

The famed shapeliness of Martha Raye's nether extremities—legs to you—were at last recognized by the movies today.

For Martha's new Paramount musical comedy, "Give Me a Sailor," Producer Jeff Lazarus had a scene written into the script whereby Martha wins a contest for the world's most beautiful legs.

lena horne won't attend premiere

Charges that Lena Horne, beauteous, plump star of the latest all-colored movie, "The Duke is Tops", has gone Hollywood one better, were made in last week's issue of the Pittsburgh Courier.

In an unsigned story on the theatrical page, the Courier claimed that Miss Horne refused to attend the premiere of the picture held at Pittsburgh's Granada theatre on June 11, going to a downtown movie that night instead.

Miss Horne allegedly explained her unprecedented behavior in a letter to Manager Harry Hendel which answered his invitation to be a guest at the premiere.

"Professional appearances should be made on a professional basis only," Miss Horne is said to have written.

This was taken by Hendel to mean that the star wanted to be paid for her appearance. It was pointed out in the story that it is customary for stars to attend premieres without compensation.

Commenting further on the picture, the Courier story said that "'The Duke is Tops' proves beyond all reasonable doubt that somebody should write a story dealing with Negroes as they hope and want to be."

The unknown writer of the story claimed that the picture showed lack of expert direction and carelessness about details. The writer closed with the remark that, "Maybe Lena didn't want to see herself in pictures".

A DESERVING EXTRA

Is charming and petite Alberta Gary, pictured above of 750½ E. Jefferson Blvd. Miss Gary has served as an extra in major Hollywood studios, and is hopeful of securing work with one of the all Negro companies or in the Federal Theatre. She's a dependable and versatile little trooper and a number of leading Angelenos are "going to the bat" for her in the home that she'll get the opportunity she deserves. At present, Miss Gary is out of work and being called only now and then.

ON EAGLE BROADCAST!

One hundred and five-year-old ex-slave Mrs. Hatty Bridgeforth, of Larado, Texas, whose sensational appearance on the California Eagle radio program, KGFJ, 8:15, made history in the ether-wave industry. With Mrs. Bridgeforth are her grandson, David, and his charming wife. The aged woman is the owner of 160 acres of ranch and and a $17,000 oil well in Corpus Christie, Texas.

'fra diavolo' opens next week at greek theatre

Unprecedented in the annals of operatic history is Federal Music Project's different treatment of "Fra Diavolo" which opens Wednesday, June 29 at the Greek Theatre for four performances, closing July 2.

An all-Negro cast, starring Bernice Randolph, Jewel Smith and James Miller, gives the delightful comic opera refreshing new life. The story deals with the adventures of a daring brigand chief whose talent for obtaining other people's wordly goods is only equalled by his success as a charming Casanova. Replete with tuneful melodies and broad humor, "Fra Diavolo" promises to repeat its popularity with Southern California theater goers.

Dr. Alois Reiser, well known light opera conductor will direct the production, which includes a 50 piece orchestra and a cast of 55 people.

Due to the increasingly large audiences in attendance at Federal Music Project's new summer theatre, the public is urged to come early for desirable seats. The performance begins promptly at 8:30. Adjacent to the theatre, parking space for 5000 cars is available.

lloyd picture to peer into future

Pictorial predictions of American life 50 years from now were made today on a Hollywood film set, where Harold Lloyd is shooting scenes for his current comedy, "Professor, Beware!"

The comedian, almost unrecognizable in old age makeup representing him to be about 75 years old, is working on a "tag" ending which is supposed to take place in the year 1990. Phyllis Welch, the new Lloyd leading woman, is also aged by the clever application of hollow cheeks numerous wrinkles and lines and a white wig.

Lloyd used only those ideas which he felt stood a good chance of coming true. So "Professor, Beware!" will depict television, logical changes in dress, furniture, art, and architecture.

A convertible seat for automobiles having a back that can be lowered to any angle desired to form a lounge has been patented.

DR. GEORGE W. CARVER, Tuskegee scientist, poses after signing the contract which permitted M-G-M to make the story of his life.

her scorpion dance a wow!

Tanya

Weird, fantastic gyrations by the little young body of a brown gal are causing paded East coast theatre-goers to sit on the edges of their seats.

In Miller's famous "Brownskin Models", Tanya, known as the boneless brown beauty rejoined the revue for a limited engagement.

Tanya's sensational contribution to the Models' reportoire is known as the "dance of the Enchanted Scorpion." Her audiences have agreed to a man that her amazing dance carries a sting as devastating as that of the scorpion itself.

BERBIE JEFFRIES, singing star of "Harlem On the Prairie", embraces his leading lady.

'a capella in bronze' on tonite

Stirring heme music and special crescendo effects will highlight tonight's "A Capella In Bronze" presentation, reaching KMPC listeners at 9:30 with Federal Theatre of the Air's all Negro cast and vocal orchestra.

"Lucy's Backsliding" is the amusing title of tonight's quarter hour musical session, to be enhanced by beloved spirituals including "Down By The Riverside" and "Certainly Lord."

Smith, Jones Kin Here for Summer

Mr. and Mrs. James West of Luther, Okla. are spending the summer in Los Angeles as guests of Mrs. West's sisters, Mrs. C. S. Smith and Mrs. Winsor Jones. With them are their two sons Dale and Richard, age twelve and seven years respectively. Mr. West, an instructor in the Consolidated High Schol of Luther will attend the summer session of the University of Southern California during the stay here.

DOWN IN FRONT

By ALMENA DAVIS

Bill Henry, sport editor of the Times, remarked last week that the continued supremacy of U. S. C. in track and field on the West Coast, is responsible for the slump of spectator interest in the sport out here.

Something, at any rate, is causing a decided slump. With the exception of the West Coast Relays and the Compton Invitational meet, there hasn't been a fair-sized audience at a track and field affair on the Coast this year. The Compton meet could even be excepted, because if it hadn't been for the promised dual between Indiana's Don Lash and Louis Zamperini, about half the audience that packed the Jaysee stadium would have stayed home, out of the dank and foggy humidity that prevails below Watts.

I know of one remedy for the anemia suffered by the Pacific Coast colleges in track and field, and it would provide the needed elixir for the box office too. It's a perfectly logical remedy and yet about as obvious to the graduate managers of the various universities as the face on Jimmy Durante's nose.

Why don't UCLA, California, Occidental, Loyola, for examples, latch on to the colored athletes who yearly dissipate their talents at the junior colleges? Someone really should put that question directly to the schools. It has been bandied about among the sport writers and athletes so long that no one is quite sure just how the "Board of Trustees" itself feels, feel.

At any rate, a record breaking crew of colored comets of the cinderpath will be handed their sheepskins tonight and tomorrow will be looking for an Alma Mater. With few exceptions they are headed for some junior college, and yet, I could count at least fifteen who, among themselves, are a track team that, all things equal, training, experience, etc., could run the pants off the Trojans. At this point of their careers they are capable of a 9.8 century, a 21.5 furlong, a 22 or 23 foot broadjump, a 6ft. 6½ inches high jump, and of coming within five inches of the world's interscholastic shot put record. Yet Harry Trotter at UCLA, Cromwell of the Trojans, Templeton of Stanford or Brutus Hamilton of California wouldn't touch them with a ten foot pole.

There are rumors that the boys are being run out of Loyola, that UCLA, with five sepia stars within their gates, are putting on the night latch, and of course it's no scoop that USC and Stanford wouldn't take them for Christmas gifts.

It's darn bad business acumen, I calls it. Look what the presence of Mack Robinson on the Oregon State team has done for that school. UCLA was a nonentity until the coming of Lacefield, Strode and Berkeley. Fresno State has but one sprinter who knows what it is to finish near the front and he is a brown, bespectacled boy from Pasadena, Tommy Nelson, by name. If the white boys can't run, they should be shoved aside for the brown boys who most certainly can—optimistic thought.

It's obvious that the dissenting factors are the school administrations. If you've attended any of the meets this season and witnessed the ovation given the colored stars, you would be sure that the American public is not as much to blame for the nefarious practices of jim crow as the officials, who sit so insecurely on the thrones of the mighty that they vent their spleen on the helpless.

Of all the athletes at the Fresno meet, Woodrow Strode of UCLA was the only one mobbed for autographs. When Wilbur Miller won the quarter-mile from Howard Cagle of Oklahoma Baptist, the crowd roared and when he passed in front of the bleachers on his way to the locker room, that portion of the crowd stood and cheered him. All of that must prove something and disprove a lot of other things, namely that the public wants to see the field topped by the fair-haired boys from the right side of the track. There's still an element of sportsmanship left in America and something should be done before those in high places entirely dilute it.

Here is Schedule for Grunions' Run

It's that time again!

The East has its ground-hog day, San Juan Capistrano annually celebrates the return of the swallows, but all of Southern California laying in an extra supply of weiners for it seems to be an old Spanish custom that every member of the family from grandmother down to the toddling youngster his himself away for a beach barbecue to await the looks forward to the summer appearance of grunion.

Prognosticators of the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California have gazed into a crystal ball and have come up with the prediction that the silvery fish will appear on the opening day of the season, July 1.

Meat market proprietors are grunion run.

The following table lists the expected 1938 summer appearances.

July 1, Midnight to 1 a. m.
July 2, 12:30 to 1:30 a. m.
July 13, 9:30 to 10:30 p. m.
July 14, 10:00 to 11:00 p. m.
July 15, 10:30 to 11:30 p. m.
July 16, 11:00 p. m. to midnight
July 28, 10:00 to 11:00 p. m.
July 29, 10:45 to 11:45 p. m.
July 30, 11:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.
July 31, Midnight to 1:00 a. m.
Aug. 11, 9 to 10 p. m.
Aug. 12, 9:45 to 10:45 p. m.
Aug. 13, 10:15 to 11:15 p. m.
Aug. 14, 10:45 to 11:45 p. m.

Grunion runs are heaviest from Topanga beach on the north to San Clemente on the south. The law specifies that the fish must be caught only with bare hands, warns the automobile club.

Ambers Wins Over Vaughn

Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers made his second appearance at Olympic auditorium Tuesday night. His opponent was Jimmy Vaughn of Cleveland.

And for the second time, the champion made no great hit with the crowd. He punched out an unimpressive victory to win the 10-round decision. Abe Roth was the referee.

Among those introduced before the main event was Featherweight and Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong who is Ambers' foe July 26 when the lightweight king risks his title.

In the six-round semi-windup Carl Dell, stablemate of Ambers, eked out a close win over Carlos Miranda. The four-round preliminaries saw (1) Jimmy McDaniels continue his winning ways with a comparatively easy technical kayo over Henry Oana in the third heat; (2) Young Joe Lewis was no match for Jimmy Casino, who was adjudged the best preliminary boxer on the card and awarded a gold watch; (3) Al rayson and Al Hagar boxed to a draw; and (4) Ray Robleto nodded Frankie Frontino in the opener.

Say Arizmendi Spoiled Ambers-Armstrong Bout

Manager of Lou Ambers pulled a terrible blunder in matching the light-weight champion with Baby. Arizmendi, tough Mexican fighter, Mike Jacobs, Madison Square Garden promoter told them in a telephone conversation last Saturday night, the L. A. Times reported Monday.

Jacobs said that Ambers' unimpressive showing against the Mexican, who held him to a draw hurt the build-up for Larruping Lou's meeting with Henry Armstrong July 26. Arizmendi has twice beaten Armstrong, twice been beaten by him, but both of the latter times was on his feet and swinging when the battle was over.

Promoters contend that if Ambers could not stow away the Mexican, he would have little chance against Armstrong and the bout would therefore have little chance of attracting a gate.

Wardens Check Fishing Licenses

Wardens of the Fish and Game commission are active this year in enforcing the law requiring a fishing license for the taking of game fish in ocean waters, reports the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Numerous anglers have been cited and fined for illegal fishing in local waters during the past few years. A license is required for all persons over 18 years of

Armstrong Softballers Play Arizmendi's Team Sunday

HENRY ARMSTRONG VS. BABE ARIZMENDI? AT WHITE SOX PARK! Wow, what a news scoop! But just a moment, not in the roped arena with boxing gloves with the world's featherweight and welterweight champion face his rival and leading contender, but on the ball diamond at the head of softball teams.

Armstrong's Champion colored Dynamiters will play Arizmendi's Mexican All-Stars next Sunday June 26, with the game called at 2:30 p. m. With interest almost as rife as if it were a prize fight a large crowd is planning to come and see the "Tan Cobra" play against the "Mexican Matador" at the head of two of the best teams in the softball world.

As a special added feature the far famed blond softball pitcher, Lois Terry has accepted the challange of Webb's Night Hawks the crack, speedy team of colored girls that won the pennant over seven other teams in the Central League in 1936. Terry's team has been leaders in the league at Foedlers Field to rthe past two years but the Night Hawks were meanwhile piling up honors at Pasadena, Santa Ana, Alhambra, Belvedere, Moore Park, Fiedler Field, and theih home grounds will be going across the pond for the first time, also.

SPORT ? BOX

Q. Being among the younger sport fans, I seem to remember once reading that Langford and Jack Johnson did meet in the ring. My uncle who is a rabid fan on all sport topics, claims that I am wrong. Will you kindly settle this?

A. This question I have answered many times. They did fight (Chelsea, Mass.,-1906) 15 rounds; Johnson licked Langford, handily,-the weights were Langford 155. . . Johnson, 196 . . . Langford was on the floor at least twice. Johnson never again met Langford throughout their long careers covering more than a quarter of a century each.

White Sox Park.

Armstrong's Dynamiters include some of the best players in the country so aside from the opportunity to see their famous leaders in bitter rivalry, the game will be worth going miles to see. Besides this it will be the first appearance of the double-champion on the eastside and probably his last before heading east to take his third title, the lightweight crown.

Jacobs, Mead at Odds Over Site

NEW YORK, June 23—Not having anything else to do, now that the battle of the Century is over, Promoter Mike Jacobs and Eddie Meade, manager of Henry Armstrong, started a fight this week over the site of the Armstrong-Lou Ambers, lightweight title bout, scheduled for July 26, tentatively in the Yankee Stadium.

Mr. Jacobs contends that the bout should be moved the Madison Square arden where Armstrong won the welter title from Barney Ross last month.

Meade says that he won't ask Armstrong to fight twice in a row in the Bowl.

Effective for three years is the contract filed June 14 for Sunny Jim McVey, Oakland boxer, with the State Athletic Commission, it was learned this week.

Hail Archie Williams

PRINCETON, June 23—The victory of Archie Williams, former University of California quartermiler and holder of the Olympic and world's record in that event, loomed as the most significan event, outside of the Glen Cunningham 4m. 7.2s. mile of the Princeton Invitation meet last Saturday.

Williams, who made a comeback attempt at the Compton Invitational meet in Los Angeles last month and failed, then tried again in Oakland last week, winning the 100 yard dash, a new event for him, beat Oklahoma Baptists's Howard Cagle, and Fordham's Wallace to the tape in a 47.5 440 Saturday afternoon.

Williams was the only West Coast winner of the day and the only colored athlete, of the few entered, to take first.

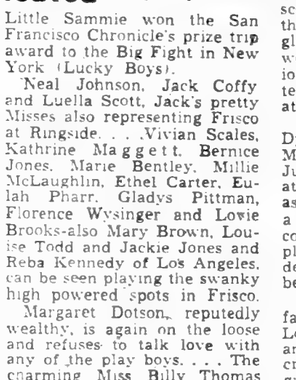
7 Negro Track Stars Earn Berths On AAU Squad

MINNEAPOLIS, June 23—Seven on the A. A. U. team, which will be Europe bound next month, by their performance in the National Collegiate 2A meet held here last Friday and Saturday at the Memorial Coliseum.

At the same time there were four athletes who suffered bad luck and who will be left behind unless the Amatuer Association makes a special ruling. The lucky ones are Mack Robinson, representing Oregon State, Mozelle Ellerby of Tuskegee Institute, David Albritton of Ohio State, Gil Cruter of Colorado, Bill Lacefield of U. C. L. A., William Watson of Michigan State and John Woodruff of Pittsburgh U.

The bad luck boys are Ben Johnson, Columbia U. sprint flash Jim Herbert New York U. quartermiler, Jimmy Smith, Indiana State miler and Woodrow Strode UCLA weightman.



ELIMINATION MEET

The N. C. 2A. meet which, with the exception of the Big-Ten-Coast Conference duel at Chicago this week-end closes the collegiate track reason, acted as an elimination meet for selection of the A. A. U. team. First and second place winners were chosen to represent the United States in two dozen meets to be held in ten foriegn countries during July and August.

Of the youths left off, Strode is believed to be the only one who is not particularly disappointed. A football player, the big youth told reporters previous to the meet that he didn't care for the trip this year as he anticipated a tough year on the gridiron and wanted to relax before again entering training.

It is not believed that David Albritton will take the trip. Slated to be married next month, Dave wouldn't think much of a honeymoon on which he couldn't take a bride, it is said. He graduated from Ohio State in this June's class. This European jaunt will be the first on which a representative of a colored college will be included if Ellerbee accepts the invitation. Lacefield

OUTS VS. THE INS

Since the time of Adam a gigantic struggle has been waged by the Outs to dislodge the Ins.

An excellent example of this dogged, sanguinary battle among men for gold and power, is shown in the war waged against the Mayor, Frank L. Shaw. When the polls closed on his first election, the Outs swung into action and launched a relentless campaign to embarrass his administration regardless of who was slandered or injured thereby.

Today, what was once a smouldering fire has been fanned into a sizeable blaze.

Far be it from The California Eagle to knowingly condone crime and dishonesty in any place, be it high or low. This statement is backed by 50 years of clean, honest, conscientious public service.

The present management has sailed this craft 25 of the 59 years it has been in existence without paddling in the pool of vice and crime and the sun is too high at this late date to stray from the course.

The EAGLE has followed Mayor Shaw in his political ascent and supported him in all his campaigns for Councilman, Supervisor, and Mayor. We have always found in him a clean, honorable, dignified gentleman . . . a man whose promise is as good as gold.

When Jack Bean was supervisor of this district, proof was furnished showing where written contracts were made on construction work that Negroes be not employed. Frank L. Shaw entered the race and promised, if elected, barring of Negroes on labor projects would stop. We assisted in his election and he not only kept his word, but opened up new avenues for Negro workers.

We supported Shaw thru two successful campaigns for Mayor. The eligible list for firemen, police sergeants, detectives, patrolmen, stenographers and other white collar jobs was filled with Negroes, while mayors came and went, this group was carefully sidestepped. Upon the election of Shaw, when his attention was called to this gross injustice, we not only received the recognition earned and asked for but were happily surprised by receiving appointments heretofore never dreamed of.

We know nothing of the present campaign of abuse now waged against the Mayor, but we do know that were he guilty District Attorney Fitts would lose no time in bringing him before the bar of justice as he should.

The Mayor pointed out in a statement to the public that out of 18,000 city employes, two police officers had been guilty of crime, and because of this the remainder are criminals, including the Chief Executive. It would be just as logical to condemn and destroy a car-load of apples because of the presence of two bad ones. Kynette and his aides have been proven guilty of a terrible crime after a fair and impartial trial before a jury of their peers and they should be given the full penalty of the law and we'd say the same thing about the Mayor were he proven guilty of an unlawful act, but will never condemn him because of the crimes of others.

Mayor Shaw's future in politics is too bright for him to drift into the criminal channels and nothing could be gained thereby.

No matter how the winds blow, guilty or innocent, we shall always feel a kindly heart-beat for Mayor Shaw, for it's to his unprejudiced action that the Negro race in Los Angeles has been given a break in the conduct of the city government, and we are grateful.

NEGRO BUILDING AT 'FRISCO EXPOSITION

California Negroes should go to work at once for a building at the San Francisco Exposition in 1939. Such a step would mean much in our struggle for uplift and advancement along all lines.

We have many skilled artisans in all of the crafts and arts and a display of same would redound to the glory of the Exposition and establish our place in the march of progress.

Let's have a building and show the western world that we have talents other than song and music. Race folk throughout the nation would send exhibits aside from our own and by so doing, the Negro exhibit at San Francisco would mark a new page in world history.

We owe it to ourselves and the State of California put forward such a program of progress and redeem ourselves from the stigma cast upon ourselves at a hurriedly executed attempt at San Diego.

A meeting should be called with representatives from every city and hamlet in the state, form plans and start work immediately.

IS HEARST REPENTING?

William Randolph Hearst, 75-year-old newspaper magnate, seems to be undergoing a change of heart and seeks forgiveness for the many wrongs he has caused to be heaped upon unfortunate humanity.

Hearst, owner of more newspapers than any other man in the world, has caused untold suffering among minority groups, especially the Negro. His poisonous sheets have fanned the flames of mob-murder, racial hate, religious intolerance, and fought down that which would bring peace on earth among mankind.

When a man passes the seventy-fifth milestone in life, it's high time to take inventory of past acts and begin to make ready for the final check-up that is scheduled for only a few brief days at the most.

Shortly, Mr. Hearst called all of his executives together and arranged his business affairs for the final count. His art treasures, etc., were placed upon the market or otherwise disposed of.

In his chamber of meditation and thought, seems that the old gentleman's mind carried him back to some lynching caused by his yellow journals. Conscience-stricken, he seized his pen Sunday a week ago, wrote:

"Keep America Free", and included in the list of things that will keep America out of war, this passing character of yesteryear included in his list of "keeps" that will stave off war:

"KEEP IT FREE FROM RACIAL PREJUDICE AND RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE."

CARRY LANGSTON CLARK

In New York a few days ago they laid to rest one of God's noble women, Carry Langston Clark, mother of the renowned world traveler, poet, novelist and playwright, Langston Hughes.

Mrs. Clark, Kansan by birth and education, played an important role in race affairs of the Sunflower State. She was connected with the early-day newspapers of her state, her last assignment being political editor on the staff of The Topeka Plaindealer under the late Nick Chiles.

A resident of Lawrence, Kansas, where young Langston first visioned the light of day, Mrs. Clark took part in many civic and political campaigns and boasted a personal acquaintance with the leaders of all creeds and "isms".

SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

NEED OF THE HOUR

With Congress humming a refrain of "Home, Sweet Home," the nation presses forward to a more businesslike solution of the problem of Recovery. On the Pacific Coast as in the industrial East, public and private concern seeks the answer to "How can we speedily return business to normalcy?" In California a nationally felt need finds apt expression in the words of the well-known farmer and businessman, Dr. Walter Scott Franklin: "We must be vigilantly alert AT ALL TIMES to prevent the penalizing of businessmen, large and small, through ever-increasing taxes and endless laws that retard the prosperity of our citizens!" Perhaps we would achieve a sounder solution to our economic dilemmas if more public-spirited businessmen in other states, like Franklin in California, boldly entered politics to seek a lieutenant governorship. Their experience and counsel, at the hub of political action, could go far in tempering purely political remedies with a much-needed businesslike approach to business problems — the need of the hour!

RETURN OF AN EXILE

The grievances people bear usually die with them, but the world seems to learn little from that fact. Thirteen years ago Elisha Waterman, son of a multi-millionaire, was disinherited by his father. For thirteen years he lived in penniless "exile". Last month, unyielding to the last, his father died — cutting him off with $100. But the fates, who seem to have a very ironic sense of humor about such matters, planned it otherwise. The death of his father made the disinherited son beneficiary of a $5 million trust fund left by his great-uncle. That fund gave the outcast son controlling stock in the family fountain-pen business. The Board of Directors at once proceeded to act accordingly. Last week they made the outcast son vice-president of the company. The disinherited at last came into his own, and a grievance went to the grave with the man who fostered it.

LION INTO BIRD

The fearsome British lion, whose mighty jaws were once accustomed to biting off large chunks of territory in every quarter of the globe, has apparently lost his voice. Perhaps he has merely become more docile by reason of his old age. Suffice it to say, the stern, imperial spirit of the days of Clive and Disraeli lives no longer. Last week the fifth British ship to be hit by Spain's insurgent bombers within two weeks, went to the bottom of the Mediterranean. This brought to 41 the number of ships flying the Union Jack who have been bombed since the Civil War broke out, with a loss of 43 lives to men aboard ship. The British lion muttered mild protests, but even to a staunch patriot like Lloyd George, they sounded last week "like the twittering little protests of a frightened bird".

. . . SO THEY TOOK THE 29 CENTS

How red is red tape? Red enough, judging from what happened in Pueblo, Colo., the other day, to give us the best living definition of the phrase that has come our way in some time. Two officials, E. A. Morse and Earl Dunlap, captured a fleeing suspect. Their pleasure at having performed an able job was to be further heightened. They learned the Federal government had posted a $50 reward for the capture of their man. Then they found certain papers had to be filled out before they were eligible to receive the reward. The cost for stenographic work to fill out these forms reached the sum of $49.71, leaving the officers 29 cents to divide between them. They were last heard muttering something about man's reward being certain only in heaven, where there is no red tape — they hope!

Public Careers, the Public — And the Graduate

An after thought of graduation finds one pondering over the future of those thousands of young people leaving the college lecture rooms with their sheepskins and hopeful faces turned toward the great sea of life.

In our group, naturally the young graduates have their minds fixed on public careers. As a rule they feel that through certain specialized accomplishments they are qualified for leadership and the public owes them a place at the public trough. In that many of them are looking to begin with the higher places and things in life. If they cannot realize these, some will become discouraged.

The public of our time is a hard front. There was a time when college graduates were few and far between. They were in great demand for teachers and leaders. The public waited for them and gave them the uppermost place in its sanction. That is not so today.

Interchanging as everything else, the public has a different demand, a varied appraisal of values and in some cases is skeptical.

Be it remembered there has always been the non college or what he styles himself, the practical man. This man has sought fixation on the premise of his ability to do things in a common sense practical way. In self defense he has contended that college training was not so necessary. He held that in the big school house of experience and through wide travel and contacts, he has gained more than the fellow sitting over books, theorizing and dreaming about things. In a field of competition he has sought to point to his superior achievements, his bank account, his business and his ability to hire any number of college men to work forhim.

The college graduate of today will encounter this man more than ever. Hard times, the tendency to look upon artistic and literary creations and contributions as luxuries have worked to depreciate cultural values. The all absorbing question now is the getting of bread for today.

The hard present is demanding so much attention to this end, there is little attention left for concrete building for the future. People want something now and must have it. The men who would strive hard for the making of a permanent name for generations to come are found down on life's bleaching levee struggling to make ends meet TODAY.

The young graduate has had much advice. He has listened recently to many fine commencement orations. Fnding that many of his brethren who finished last year are still unplaced, the world looks distorted and barren to him. He is thrust out of the school dormitory with his degrees and the old folks back home who have sacrificed and looked forward to the graduation day, are expecting him to at least paddle his own canoe.

So there stands the graduate in a changing and friendless world. He is faced with the trying problems of getting bread with few or no dignified places open to him whereby he can keep his shirt dry and his collar clean. Hence he faces the broad temptation of immediately going on relief to avert self starvation.

Thusly the graduate realizes that graduating is just one of the cycles in life. That in graduating he has simply done himself and society a favor in acquiring that culture so essential to self satisfaction and social prestige. That even after graduation, he must get down and dig as other men and that is as it should be.

The young people will therefore fall in ranks — forgetting that they are graduates to whom the public owes a living and fight for their places as worthy people and not mendicants.

The young people will find a hearty welcome in our social and professional circles. They will face those expectations common to all men and will be acorded the high places in life as they fit themselves and prove the wothiness of their stewardship.

A NEGRO FIGHTER . . . (From N. Y. Herald Tribune)

It is perhaps too early to try to fit Henry Armstrong into his proper perspective in the sometimes sordid but almost always fascinating history of pugilism. Some of the experts say he is "one of the greatest fighters of all time", and others, slightly more cautious, content themselves with the observation that he is the best fighter of his weight to achieve prominence in the last generation. In the fight Tuesday evening in which he won the welterweight championship from Barney Ross he was up against a man who outweighed him by almost nine pounds and who was recognized as an unusually skillful boxer with a good sense of what is called "ring generalship." The weight alone, in a contest between the lighter men, ordinarily would prove crushing. Not so with the little Negro, Armstrong. He made it a pathetically one-sided fight by being constantly aggressive. Thus he is the first fighter in history to hold the featherweight and welterweight titles at the same time.

There appear to be many misconceptions about Negro fighters. One widely held theory is that they possess reflexes and powers of coordination which have been dulled in the white man. But even the most casual examination of the records would show that this is not necessarily true at all. Another popular notion is that a Negro's skull is much thicker than the white man's and that even his maxillary bones are stronger, thus rendering him less susceptible to punishment. And yet the heavyweight champion, Joe Louis, is notoriously sensitive to blows about the head, as Max Schmeling demonstrated. Another theory, held by believers in racial superiority, is that the white man always has a "psychological edge" on a Negro; and yet there have been many great Negro fighters who apparently were never affected in the slightest by any supposed feeling of inferiority, and who were always dead game.

The Negro Armstrong, to be sure, has been endowed by nature with unusual gifts—powerful arms and shoulders, relatively small but strong legs, a good sense of timing, tremendous speed and a really remarkable stamina which enables him to keep fighting at a terrific pace without tiring. How long he can keep this up is another matter. But to argue that a Negro, because of special abilities, is either better or worse than a white fighter is sheer nonsense. It is probable that neither race, color nor previous condition of servitude is an important quality in the ring. Which is as it should be.

SAGACIOUS SAYINGS . . .

"Now if I were a white girl, only money could make me so important in so many different places. But money does not determine my status in life. My color does." (selected verse from poem "My Status in America" by B. B.

"She entertains us with a piece woven about the race question and so help me, she does it without wringing in a flood of blood and tears and agonized bewailing!"

"Public statements that the President will make speeches in states where he is interested in the outcome of primaries is strictly a party matter. If he goes-a-speechmaking, it will be taken for granted that his interference will have results". (selected editorial from Kansas City Call).

"I do not believe that the masses of the race are opposed to genuine cooperation. Rather, I accept the belief that our leadership is not making the necessary pschological approach to the problems facing the race." (anonymous letter to the editor in the Chicago Defender.)

"The indictment against lynching is not only that it nullifies the processes of justice on which orderly society depends for its safety but that the mob in its satistic frenzy is incapable of determining whether its chosen victim is guilty or innocent." (selected editorial St. Louis Post Dispatch.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

JOY RIDERS

Dear Editor:

Here is 24 cents in stamps to aid you in trying to keep the Baptists from going to Atlanta with that joy-ride convention. As it may be, all black delegates will be jim-crowed in the church or hall where the meetings are held. They have wondered in some cities about the place for the black delegates. As we are making some progress in better race feeling in the church, if they must go, let them go in 1950.

I notice the yearly joy rides are on, (called conventions) and the poor blacks are asked to give some relief money for the dear pastor's new suit. What, if any, good do these joy rides do? To meet once in every 5 or 10 years would be about right and let the brothers, that get more money monthly than the Mrs. and I do, save for the trip. That's what we do.

Yours for success,
L. M. NELSON

Dear Editor:

The Graduates' section of last week's Eagle furnished valuable information and will prove an inspiration to the entire group-old as well as young. We are greatly indebted for this timely thoughtfulness.

Permit me to call your attention to the June Commencement number of the Rafu Shimpo, The Los Angeles Japanese Daily News, Sunday, June 12. This paper was shown me by one of our Japanese Druggists. On reading it I though of your recent edition of the EAGLE and mentioned it to him and his iompanions.

Let us hope that another year may find it ronvenient to make a state-wide survey. It will prove a profitable contribution.

Very truly yours,
W. Payne

NEED A BUILDING

Dear Editor:

I think the race in America should be represented at both the New York and San Francisco World's Fairs, not by "Negro Day" but by a modest building, housing our inventions and exhibiting the many other evidences of advancement we have made since our emancipation.

We should let people see something else other than police characters, divekeepers and denizens of the underworld.

San Francisco is already beginning to fill up with this class of Race people waiting for the Fair. Such people cannot do the Race any good. A movement should be started now by our leaders and thinkers, headed by the Negro Press, to have such a building in these two cities in 1939.

If the movement is headed by responsible people, and they are the only ones who can be of any benefit to the movement, funds in a nationwide drive could very easily be secured to put up and equip a building. A building would mean so much to our standing among the other peoples of the world.

The money realized from admission to the building after paying the necessary cost of operating could be given to aid education and social uplift work in our large urban cities.

Very sincerely yours,
SAMUEL BARRETT

Chauffeurs Hit Proposed Merger

Negro chauffeurs, members of the Colored Chauffeurs Association, are not in favor of the proposed merger with the Beverly Hills club, a mixed organization with a predominance of white members, it was learned by the California Eagle today.

A proposal to combinge was assertedly made to the colored group by the leaders of the mixed club some time ago. According to J. Shelby, president of the race organization, said proposal has met with an unfavorable reaction.

The Colored Chauffeurs Association was organized four and a half years ago for the purpose of placing competent drivers in the better paying driving jobs of Beverly Hills and Hollywood. The Beverly Hills club is a recently formed organization.

HERE IN Los Angeles the Negro domestic worker is becoming one of the most brazenly exploited group of laboring groups. The plight of those, cooks, waitresses, and general house-work employees who have been forced to accept starvation wages from individual employers has long been known and lamented. But today a new, more fearful form of exploitation has come into being—the organized "Housework Service" bureau. This institution farms out working girls to so-called "clients", detracting twenty percent of the money earned by each employe. That is, if the businesses were operating as legitimate employment agencies they would be receiving the usurious sum of twenty percent on every dime earned throughout the years by those whom they had placed in positions. For finding the job, Housework Services receive a continual monthly one-fifth of earning.

One such concern in particular has shown itself to be opposed to any sort of fair-play with regards to its employees. This is the Wilshire Apartment Service, the story concerning which first broke in The California Eagle a month ago. Since that time further instances of unjust dealing by the organization has been brought to the attention of the public by the EAGLE. Several workers have reported "rubber checks", blanket refusals to pay, and defamation of character by the Service.

One whose case was brought up before Deputy A. L. Barnes of the Division of Labor Enforcement, was accused of theft of a check, which the woman held to be an absolute fabrication. Many have noted with surprise the failure of Deputy Barnes to take action in the case, though new appeals are scheduled.

During the hearing of this case one of the Service operators, in response to a charge of deliberate exploitation of Race workers, declared that he "loves colored people". It was pointed out — and we believe it worth repeating — that the Negro worker is in search of neither love, pity, nor patronage, only just remuneration for honest labor.

Not less than a dozen cases of refusal to pay by the Wilshire Service have been reported to The California Eagle within the last three weeks. In some cases, girls state that the Service has telephoned clients and painted false and repulsive pictures of them in order to persuade these customers to switch to new maids.

After months of inactivity, the hopeful news has come that employees allegedly defrauded by the Service will take steps toward obtaining their money through suits before the Small Claims and other Courts, first of which is scheduled to be heard tomorrow morning in the Small Claims Court.

Information to the effect that The California Eagle is threatened with a law suit for having dared print the expose stories has reached us. The lawyer-husband of the proprietor of the Wilshire Apartment Service, according to employees, says that he will teach this Negro editor a lesson.

If this is a challenge, the EAGLE wishes to state that according to its policy over 58 years in the State of California, it will continue on the firing line of justice and fair-play and will neither apologize nor backtrack.

JOHNSON KILLED IN TRAIN-AUTO CRASH

James Weldon Johnson, famous author, composer and poet, was killed in an automobile accident in Wicasset, Maine last Sunday evening, it was reported here this week.

His wife Mrs. Bertha Johnson, suffered a skull fracture when their automobile, which, it is believed, Johnson was driving, collided with a fast-moving train at a railroad grade crossing.

The distinguished author was killed instantly. His remains were shipped to New York, his home, where funeral services will be held at noon today (Thursday) at the Salem M. E. church. Mrs. Johnson's condition was reported fair by doctors at the Damatiscotta, Maine hospital where she was removed.

Johnson ranked with the greatest Negroes of all timees. 76 at the time of his death, he came along with Booker T. Washington, George Carver, and William B. DuBois, the latter two of whom are living.

Born of a colored mother and a white slave-owning father, his intellectual and artistic contribution to the Race, is said to be immeasurable. His brother is J. Rosamond Johnson, musician, with whom he wrote the "National Negro Anthem", adopted as such in 1924.

A lecturer of note, the famed scholar had just finished a lecture series at New York University. He was recognized as an authority on things pertaining to the Negro, cultural, economic, etc. As an author he first gained fame with his book "Autobiography of an Ex-Colored Man", Subsequent books were "Along This Way", ry" and "Negro Americans What "Book of American Negro Poet--ow."

For distinguished service as United States consul in Venezuela and Nicaragua he was awarded the sixth Spingarn medal at the 16th Annual Conference of the National Asso. for the Advancement of Colored People of which association he was formerly secretary.

Murder Suspect's Hearing Today

Howard Jones Green, 18 year old youth brought back from Chicago two weeks ago to face trial for participation in the brickbat murder of a middle aged white woman and her 12-year old daughter, Marguerite, in April, 1937, will come up for preliminary hearing today in Dept. 4 of the Superior Court.

Chicago police arrested Green and another youth, Robert Nixon several weeks ago for similar murders committed there. A Los Angeles detective brought Green back and said he had admitted killing the young girl. Nixon is said to have admitted the murder of Mrs. Worden but is being held for trial in Chicago.

Domestic Gets Judgment In Wilshire Suit

Chief Evidence In Suit is "Rubber" Check Signed by Operator

First of the cases taken to Small Claims Court in the sensational Wilshire Apartment Service controvecy was won by Mrs. Alma Britt, 1403 W. 35th St., who received a full judgement; while at the same time her fellow-worker, Helen Harris, was being refused wages at the Service headquarters on Wilshire avenue. Other suits will come before the court July 12; those of Mrs. Christine Bowie, 1624½ E. 42nd St., and Edna Gilmore, 738 E. 24th St.

The Apartment Service case first broke into the headlines when, more than a month ago, it was reported to the California Eagle that the concern, which supplies domestics to swank Hollywood Apartments, had refused to pay Mrs. Alice George a month's wages. The alleged fraud at that time was taken before Deputy Barnes of the Division of Labor Law Enforcement, who failed to take action, referring the case to the Civil Courts.

Mrs. Britt's chief evidence in her second suit against Mrs. Luent Haswell, "Service" operator, was a check (rubber) signed by the woman. Mrs. Haswell's asserted reason for not paying Mrs. Harris, who had completed her wage period, was that the girl had "broken her contract". The lengthy document which Service employees must sign includes some half-dozen stipulations, paramount among which is the "Thy Shall Not Steal Thy Route" clause (each girl serves several families who pay directly to the Service.) It is this clause the girl is said to have broken.

With the new instances of irregularity in operations of the Service occuring weekly, it is believed the failure of Deputy A. L. Barnes of the Division of Labor Law Enforcement to take action in the George case will be challenged

Laxity of other law-enforcing agencies to act in the women-workers' cases has been commented upon also. The District Attorney's office and the Bunco Dept. of the Police organization have been appealed to. In one previous instance the Small Claims Court returned the verdict favorable to Mrs. Haswell.

It is believed that the multiplicity of legal documents, statements, etc., which employees must sign keeps the organization within the letter of the law. It is also noted that operator Haswell's husband is an attorney.

A suit against the California Eagle for printing the stories in this case assertedly is being considered by Mrs. Haswell.

FLASH—

(from yesterday's edition of the Los Angeles Times.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28, (AP)—Employees of the Wilshire Apartment Service of Los Angeles are employees of that service and are subject to provisions of the State minimum wage law, it was ruled today by the office of Atty. Gen. Webb.

An opinion written at the request of Mrs. Mabel E. Kinney, chairman of the Industriay Welfare Commission, admitted the matter was not entirely free from doubt but said that the employees who do housework on assignment are not independent contractors.

SET ELLIS BLACK TRIAL FOR JULY 20

Trial of Ellis Black, charged with the murder of his wife, will open July 20 in Department 45 of the Superior Court. Although he is alleged to have signed a full confession within three hours after he shot his wife on May 24 he has entered a plea of "Not Guilty". He will be represented by W. B. Neeley of the Public Defender's office.

GRANT BONNIE ADAMS STAY OF EXECUTION

A stay of execution until July 21 was granted Bonnie Adams, convicted slayer of Dr. Theodore Banks, by Judge Fricke when the murderess appeared for sentence last Monday morning.

Convicted last week of manslaughter, Miss Adams faces a one to ten year incarceration in the Women's Prison at Tehachapi.

Governor Names Editor to Park Commission

Signally honoring the California Eagle editor, Mrs. Charlotta A Bass, came an appointment this week, signed by the Governor, which places Mrs. Bass on the state committee to SURVEY PARKS, Parkways, and Recreational Facilities.

The committee is considered one of the most important functioning today. The aggravated condition of recreational facilities in many local areas, particularly in Negro neighborhoods, opens great fields for constructive work by the militant editor-publisher.

Floyd Ray Back at Elks July 14

That great Swingster Floyd Ray with his torrid swing rythms and his fourteen piece orchestra that made such a hit in the East will be back to California again for an engagement at the Elks' Hall Thursday night, July 14th under the auspices of the Modern Misses Club aided by Gordon and Reid. Ray and his band should be remembered as the group that outplayed Jimmy Dorsey last July at the Bohemian Gardens. The orchestra is presently in Dallas,Texas completing an engagement after starring and playing to capacity crowds in the East and South.

CLARENCE NORRIS TO GO TO CHAIR AUG. 19

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 30, —Unless Governor Bibbs Graves intervenes Clarence Norris, one of the Scottsboro boys, will go to the electric chair on August 19.

Dr. Franklin to Run for Office

DR. WALTER SCOTT FRANKLIN, well known medical specialist who is taking his first dip in politics. A successful surgeon and one of the Southland's successful citrus growers, Dr. Franklin will run on all three tickets.

A native of San Francisco and graduate of Stanford Medical school, Dr. Franklin studied in New York, Berlin and Vienna. For years he served on the faculty of the California Medical School until he resigned to be honored with the title of Emeritus Professor and went to Santa Barabar county to develop his ranch at Goleta, which produces lemons, avocados, and oranges.

Thre of five men arrested last week on suspicion of the kidnapping, robbery and rape of several Los Angeles women, many of them white were identified by their victims Tuehday night at the police show-up.

The men, William Brown, Irving Jordan and Lonnie McGilver, will be charged with kidnap, robbery, and rape today and will face arraignment next week.

Two other men, one of them arrested lae last week on a tip by the four already in custody, will doubtless be released unless further evidence, implicating them turns up. They are George Bolden, 24 of 1638 E. Adams and Bartley Thompson, who was named an associate.

Only Negro in Citrus Graduates

MISS TRESSIE GARDENHIRE, daughter of Mrs. Ille Murray Kimble of Monrovia is a June graduate of Citrus Junior College in Azusa-Glendora. The title of associate of arts was conferred on Miss Gardenhire who completed the liberal arts course majoring in languages. She was the only Negro student at Citrus and was an active member of the Y. W. C. A., the Cosmopolitan Club. Outstanding in musical activities, she was pianist for assemblies and employed to play for gymnasium activities. Miss Gardenhire will enter UCLA this fall to major in music and minor in sociology.

During her junior college career, she also attended the piano and choral classes of the late Mrs. Cora Carr Fisher and was the pianist for the Bethel A. M. E. church, Monrovia and the Spiritual Temple of Rev. Luella Beaver.

KNIFE BLADE TAKEN FROM 'CON'S' BRAIN

SANTA FE, (N. M.) June 30. —New Mexico State Penitentiary physicians removed a five-inch knife blade today from the brain of Columbus George, 32-year-old Negro convict.

His condition was reported satisfactory a few hours after the operation.

The knife entered the brain through the left eye in a brawl three months ago. It did not affect his speech, thought or movement.

NO MENTION OF LYNCH BILL

COLUMBUS, June 30 — Although President Roosevelt was very cordial in his greetings to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, meeting in its 29th annual conference here Tuesday night, he made no mention of the anti-lynching bill nor the courageous fight in its behalf waged by the National Association.

Walter White, executive secretary of the Association, read the President's message, which expressed "best wishes for the success of their efforts in advancing the interests of the Negro race and bringing about that co-operation and understanding beteween the races so essential to the maineenance of avital democracy".

The session will continue through Saturday.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION MEETS

With "In Yesteryear" as its theme and "Love conquers all" for a slogan, the annual program of the California Federation of Colored Women's club held Tues., in the Zion Hill Baptist Church was largely attended by civic and social leaders. The group headed by Mrs. Mabel Gray ended one of the most successful years in its long and eventful history.

Outstanding among the women this year is the work of Mrs. Ardelia Anglin who is responsible for the clearing of prominent debts of the organization and almost single handed retaining the group's dependability in the community.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

The day's program began with a meeting of the executive at nine o'clock followed by a devotional service at 10. Business and reports were launched at 10:30.

At two o'clock in the afternoon, Mrs. Beatrice Pope Johnson elucidated on the theme of the meeting in "In the Yesteryear, Educationally Speaking" in an address on progressive education. The assemblage was also addressed by Floyd C. Covington and by the president, Mrs. Gray.

PACIFIC STATES ELKS CLOSES

FLASH! W. A. Payne, of El Centro, and Lois Smalls, of Bakersfied, were elected to head the men and women, respectively, of the Pacific States Association of Elks.

OAKLAND, June 30.—Convention sessions of the Pacific States Association of Elks closed here Wednesday afternoon with a boat excursion to "Treasure Island" to get a preview of the World's Fair, to be held in San Francisco in 1939.

The convention reached its climax Tuesday night in the grand ball, held at Oakland's Sweet's ballroom.

Activities started on Sunday with the colorful parade, an estimated 12 blocks long. Marchers and gaily festooned automobiles serpentined to the music of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, the Elks' band, the Hiawatha Temple (of Los Angeles) Drum and Bugle drill team.

The Rev. Hill delivered the annual sermon at the AME church Sunday afternoon. Young Jacqueline Wright, Leslie Williams and Jesse Franklin won the oratorical contest, an annual event, which was held Monday night.

Virgil Rhetta Killed In Spain; Services Friday

Hamilton M. E. Church Scene of Last Rites; Rev. S. M. Beane to Preside

The Spanish civil war claimed its first local casualty some time last month when Virgil Rhetta, Loyalist volunteer, was killed during rebel General Franco's latest offensive, it was learned here this week.

Memorial services for the fallen fighter will be held tomorrow evening at 8:30 p. m. at Hamilton M. E. church, 18th street and Naomi avenue, of which he was a member. The Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor, will preside.

Rhetta, who volunteered for action last February, was a member of the famous International Brigade, a group of anti-fascists from all over the world who are aiding the Spanish people.

Details of Rhetta's death are still lacking, but unconfirmed reports had it that he was killed facing Italian troops fresh from devastating Ethiopia and forcibly sent to Spain by the Italian dictator.

BORN IN LONG BEACH

Born in Long Beach in 1909. Rhetta received his grade school education at Calhoun School in Alabama and at Nevins school. He was graduated from Jefferson High school in 1929 and from Los Angeles Junior College in 1932.

After graduation, Rhetta had numerous parts in motion pictures, including "Hearts in Dixie" and an Al Jolson film. Later he took part in the local production of "Stevedore", and because of a fine voice, was a member of several local musical aggregations. At one time he operated a small vegatable store here and once sought office as a member of the Board of Education.

Clarence R. Johnson will be chairman of Friday's memorial services, Lieut. William Powell will sing one of the musical numbers and Attorney Loren Miller will be one of the other speakers on the program.

Stressing the fact that Rhetta had been a tireless fighter against social and racial injustices for the past ten years, friends acclaimed him as a hero who had responded to the call of duty and asserted that his sacrifice had helped preserve democracy in a world threatened, through Hitler and Mussolini, with Fascism.

His mother, Mrs. Myra Rhetta, recalled that even as a young boy he had been quick to stand up for his rights and those of school and play mates, said that she was proud of him as a "fighter against oppression and fascism and a worthy descendant of a long line of fighters."

He is survived by his parents and numerous brothers and sisters who live in the city. His grandfather, Johnson Warren, was one of the earliest Negro settlers in California, having come to the state as a railroad surveyor in 1850 at the time the gold rush was at its height.

SCHUYLER'S GIRL, 6, WINS MUSIC PRIZE

NEW YORK CITY, June 30. (ANP)—Phillipa Schuyler, 6-year-old daughter of George S. Schuyler, widely known author and newsman and Mrs. Schuyler, who paints and writes under the pen name of Heba Jannath, last week was awarded first prize in the group of 6-to-9-year-old children in the City junior musical instrument contest.

Phillipa has composed 30 piano pieces, started taking lessons when she was 5. The child's prize, a gold medal, was awarded for her piano renditions of "Sonatina in C" by Clementi.

George Garner Thrills M. E.'s

George Garner, well known musician was the featured soloist at the Sunday morning services held in the mammoth Los Angeles Firth Methodist Episcopal Church, 8th and Hope Streets.

At least 4000 persons filled the main sanctuary, the radio rooms and all available standing room for the services—given as a part of the sessions of the 52nd Annual Conference of Southern California Methodists.

DRIVE TO ORGANIZE WOMEN VOTERS

A statewide drive to organize Negro voters to support Senator Culbert L. Olson for governor was announced this week by Mrs. Jessie Terry, vice Chairman in charge of Women's Activities of the Committee for Organization of Negro voters.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

COMING and going is the spirit of the TIMES. Many people are coming daily from THE EAST and SOUTH, and many of our GOOD CALIFORNIANS are using cargoes of GAS, OIL and WATER to go EAST and SOUTH. The restlessness of California seems to be one of its GREATEST CHARMS. People love to MOVE ABOUT out here and they have so much to SEE and ENJOY so they get into the HABIT of TRAVEL and learn the ART of ENJOYING LIFE. Summer has come at LAST and the Beaches, the mountains and all the Great Outdoors are seeing folks of all walks of life. Theatres especially, picture houses are still holding on to their business, because WHEN THE PICTURE is good they have time to LEAVE THE GREAT OUTDOORS to see it, and when the show has something out of the BEATEN PATH they get there.

CLARENCE MUSE

We have some fine things in store for the great summer crowd, the Elks are presenting their FIRST REAL MOVIE SCREEN ball at Warner Brothers Studios; The NEGRO UNIT of Federal Theatres, larger than at any time DURING ITS existence, with the GREATEST ARRAY of OUTSTANDING artists will present HALL JOHNSON'S famous Broadway Play "RUN LITTLE CHILLUN" at the MAYAN theatre, and from the general comments they will both be PACKED. Cool nights ALWAYS in CALIFORNIA. They are not going to miss the FUN and JOY of the BALL IN HOLLYWOOD, and lovers of great art, they ARE GOING TO RAVE about the advancement of COLORED actors at the MAYAN, and while I am here raving about my good California, news come to me that the International writer and newspaper woman, FAY JACKSON has been called elsewhere AND HER friend and MY FRIEND a GREAT THEATRICAL personality EARL DANCER, has taken the entire THEATRICAL PAGE of our paper THE EAGLE, and I am sure WE WILL KEEP our lead as the WEST'S greatest newspaper, with the BEST people to TURN out the BEST. GOOD LUCK, EARL, your experience in the THEATRE will mean much to the YOUNGER ARTISTS. I just can't wait for THE BALL in HOLLYWOOD, and of course being the DIRECTOR, I HOPE YOU come and love "RUN LITTLE CHILLUN". California Pioneers are still ROAMING at Station KFWB Tuesday nights, 8:30 p. m. Great Negroes, at their best, LISTEN!

Say Less Disorder After Louis Bout Than in Most Sections On New Year's, July 4

Claim Liquor Sale Greatest Since Prohibition

CHICAGO, June 30. (By Frank Marshall Davis for ANP)—Negro America, which seldom has cause for united cheering, went wild with a bang heard throughout the nation as Joe Louis — "our Joe" — belted out Germany's Max Schmeling in Yankee stadium Wednesday night of last week.

Although there were shouting, happy thousands in cities over all the land, comparatively little violence was reported. The lone real racial outbreak ocurred in Gary, Ind., where a white woman was shot and police were called assertedly to quell an angry mob hurling threats of lynching against a trio of Negro prisoners.

In Chicago, adopted home of the world's heavyweight champion, streets went suddenly still as the broadcast began at 10 p. m., New York time. Anxious listeners huddled around radios, their faces tense. Would Joe come through this time and knock Max into Herr Hitler's lap? Or would the German, exponent of Aryan supremacy, repeat his 1936 performance and prove to the world that the lone black mark against the Brown Bomber's record was no unexplainable acident?

COME OUT FIGHTING

Ears strained as Referee Arthur Donovan called both boxers to the middle of the ring and broadcast instructions heard 'round the world. As he finished with, "Go to your corners, men, and come out fightin'," fourteen million men, women and children cussed or prayed in fourteen million ways for Joe to come thru.

The bell rang--and with it came Clem McCarthy's sharp, low pitched words. Probably never before in American history were so many black voices silent as at this moment. And then, suddenly, Clem started telling how Joe had cut loose. There were gasps of awe--and as McCarthy described the challenger's first trip to the floor, laughter roared through the land like mighty Niagara breaking through a cardboard dike.

When the end came, with Donovan stopping the one-man massacre, shouts of joy rang out. From thousands of homes and taverns poured Duskymericans, their faces flushed. It was as if each had been in that ring himself, as if every man, woman and child of them had dealt destruction with his fists upon the face of Schmeling and the whole system he symbolized.

SOUTHSIDE AT SEA

It was a time for celebration, and for a night Aframerica drank the heady wine of glorious success. Chicago's Southside became a living ocean of smiling faces as crowds flowed out upon the streets.

On 47th street at South Parkway, traffic stalled. People danced on the sidewalks. Men drank on street corners, passing bottles about, hurling empties into the gutters. Occasional shots rang out. Impetuous youths jerked trolleys from tracks and one boy broke a window pane with his fist, hardly feeling the pain caused by the biting glass.

But the crowd was goodnatured, and daily paper reporters who toured the district wrote next day there was less disorder than ordinarily found in a white section on New Year's Eve or the Fourth of July. Tavern owners said there had not been so much business since repeal.

First Movie at 78 . . . The Star, Joe Louis; She's Pioneer Angeleno

Through the ages of cinematic discoveries, talking pictures, technicolor, animated cartoons, not to mention glamorous, beautiful and brilliant stars, Mrs. Patsy Booker, Los Angeles pioneer resident, never attended a movie.

Now 78-years old, the mother of eight children Mrs. Booker entered her first moving picture house last Saturday night . . . the star--Joe Louis in "The Fall of Max Schmeling".

FHA Village has Williams as Architect

Selection of Paul R. Williams as the architect for the F. H. A. demonstration village, to be erected in Southgate by the Eastern Outfitting company, was announced this week by the Company officials.

Floor plans and elevations for the homes, personally drawn by Mr. Williams, have already been accepted.

Mr. Williams, who is rated one of the outstanding architects in the United States, has offices on Wilshire Boulevard and has designed homes for the wealthy residents of Beverly Hills and the Hollywood movie stars.

According to a statement issued by officials at the Eastern Store, located at 9th and Broadway with a branch on 45th and Central Avenue, the plans depict a "billionaire's mansion in miniature", are homes with all the refinements, appointments, comfort and individuality enjoyed by the wealthy--on a smaller scale.

PLANS COMPLETE

The plans are said to be complete down to the smallest detail, leaving nothing to the choice of the tradesmen who will erect the structures. They include the various tints and tones of color to be used in each room, the finish of each piece of hardware, the color, the design and quality of linoleum and shades. They also call for the making of new dyes and knives to be used in the carving of details on lumber and sash.

In the homes Mr. Williams is carrying out his theory "the excellence of simplicity", store officials claimed. In executing his designs Mr. Williams said he had given thought to every line. "Anything that is superfluous or instituted by chance has no place in my scheme of architecture," he stated.

JOE'S FATHER HEARS FIGHT VIA RADIO

MOUNT VERNON, Ala., June 30. (ANP)—Monroe Barrow, father of Joe Louis and an inmate of the Alabama State asylum since just about a year after the heavyweight champion was born, listened to the Schmeling fight over the radio Wednesday night, a picture of his son in his hands.

Business Leaders of State Meet

Starting with the leaders of business in Southern California singing at the top of their voices: "California, here we come, Pledged to fight and put to run Recessions, depressions, That make business bum; we'll shake 'em, we'll take 'em; we're not making fun. Hear us sing it loud and clear. And tell the world we have no fear, 'Cause sales mean jobs and Jobs bring cheer. California, here we come." . . . four hundred business leaders met at the Ambassador Hotel to further an idea conceived by George W. Mason, President of Nash - Kelvinator -- the National Salesmen's Crusade. 22 metropolitan cities held like meetings simultaneously. The National Salesmen's Crusade has as its slogan "Sales Mean Jobs."

Statistics disclosed, that while many people are unemployed and have no buying power, there are millions working who with a little effort can be persuaded to make purchases. The plan is to encourage salesmen in all lines to endeavor to ask at least ten more people each day to buy their product than they customarily ask. And it suggests that the buying public get into the spirit of the campaign and purchase.

HOW SALES MEAN JOBS

Sales mean more jobs and every time a salesman sells a product he can be happy in the thought that he is helping to put one or more men back to work," said R. E. Cameron, Sales Executive of Nash-Kelvinator.

J. M. Sieroty, Vice-President of Eastern urged all citizens and salesmen to do their part. "If everyone puts forth his best efforts and if the people will buy the things they need at once, Old Man Recession will be whipped and there will be no unemployment," he stated.

"Sales Mean Jobs".

Wagner at NAACP Conference

COLUMBUS, O., June 30 — Delegates from twenty-seven states heard the opening keynote speech of Senator F. Wagner at the 29th annual conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here Tuesday night.

Senator Wagner, co-author of several federal anti-lynching bills, told of the fight for the passage of the Wagner-Van Nuys bill which occupied the floor of the Senate from January 6 to February 21, 1938.

Aubrey Williams, assistant to Harry L. Hopkins as administrator of the WPA, will address the conference Friday night, along with Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard university.

One of the highlights of the conference is expected to be the speech of Dr. Charles Edward Russell tonight in the mistreatment of the Negro race in the textbooks used in the public schools.

At the last moment, Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, who was to have addressed the conference, asked to be excused because of illness and death in the family. Lester B. Granger will speak today to a mass meeting dedicated to young people on the subject "A Challenge to Youth".

'Birth of Nation' Shows Here; Protests Mild

The revival showing in Los Angeles of the allegedly race-hatred inciting picture, "The Birth of a Nation" failed to draw the vigorous protests from Angelenos that it drew in other major cities of the United States.

Opening here Tuesday of last week at the Criterion, a downtown theatre, the picture was greeted by little comment.

In a statement to the "Eagle" Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said that the Association sent a letter of protest to the authorities, but decided to take no further action because of the small attendance attracted by the picture that was once the screen's greatest box-office hit.

Pioneer Angeleno Heralds Vacation-Time; Has EAGLE Sent to Chicago

THE missions have swallows to proclaim Spring . . . the East has the ground hog . . . the beach towns have grunion runs, but the CALIFORNIA EAGLE'S herald of vacation-time is George E. Johnson of 815 E. 28th street, pioneer Angeleno and long-time Eagle subscriber.

Every year along about this time, Mr. Johnson notifies the circulation department to change the mailing address of his paper to Chicago, Ill., where he spends his summer vacation. Then later in the summer, he has it switched back again to his home address.

In case you should be thinking of a vacation, don't leave all of home behind. Keep up with the news and your friends' activities with the "EAGLE".

A telephone call or a card, addressed to the Circulation Desk, The California Eagle 4075 S. Central Ave., Los Angeles, will insure you all the news, when its news, as you vacation anywhere in the United States, Canada or the Hawaiian Islands.

And if you aren't a subscriber, we have an attractive vacation subscription offer, two months for 60 cents. Try it. You won't regret it.

Mr. Johnson, incidentally, left the city Monday and will return on July 31.

Morticians Meet in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, June 30. (ANP) —Hundreds of morticians from all sections of the country, are here this week attending the 13th annual Convention of the Independent National Funeral Directors' association.

William J. Morsell of Chicago is president. The Atlantic Coast Line States are backing C. P. Hayes of Richmond, for president, while Baltimore and New York seek the 1939 convention.

Northwest Offers Unlimited Opportunities, Says Medico

Although it was long before the advent of Mae West that Horace Greeley advised "Go west, young man, go west", and although legions have since followed the great journalist's advice, there still remain there vast acres of unsettled land and virgin territory for business developement.

That fact was brought to mind this week by the presence in Los Angeles of Dr. Emmett Elmore, only Negro physician of Tacoma, Washington.

In Los Angeles, resting after a strenuous winter, the Doctor in an interview with an Eagle reporter, said that the Great Northwest, in particular, offers unlimited opportunity for business development and Negro business, especially "if the race businessmen are capable of delivering the goods". He is stopping at the Dunbar Hotel and will remain in the city until the last of this week.

A well set-up middle aged man, the Doctor, who seemed unusually well informed on current "conditions", talked at length on business opportunities afforded by lack of segregation in the Far North.

There is room for race business, he reiterated, but as the five or six hundred Negroes in Tacoma and the 50 , or 60,000 in Seattle can go anywhere they are so minded, such business, to make good, would have to measure up to the standard.

The only medico in Tacoma, Dr. Elmore said there was only one lawyer, but four or five Federal employees, no police or firemen. There are no "ghettos". Negroes living anywhere and everywhere in the city, no Central Avenue and no inter-marriage laws.

There is a good deal of illicit intermingling of the races, he said, in particular between Negro me nand white women. As yet, he pointed out the practice had aroused no definite antagonism among the whites, but frequent disturbances and encounters with the law make responsible people apprehensive as to the ultimate outcome.

Politically, Dr. Elmore said Negroes are not a factor which to be reckoned any i nthe Northwest. The fact they live in scatteredly pre the possibility c there bei large bloc of votes.

Dr. Elmore is a graduate Meharry Medical School in W ington, D. C., and is a nativ Mississppi. He is active in the fairs of the city of Tacoma a member of the medical associ iation, the Chamber of Commerc and several civic planning committees. He is married to hte former Minnie Gilbert, a Fisk grad.

While here he has visited with a brother, James Elmore, a barber in Long Beach. He has made frequent trips to Los Angeles in years previous to the death of his mother, Mrs. Jane Elmore who died here in 1930.

YOU BE THE JUDGE IF THIS a fair question or not. *You evidently want the paper and enjoy reading it and yet so many there are who neglect to pay for it. *We have several collectors in various parts of the city and when called upon, won't you kindly respond with a payment. *In the event a collector does not call on you, mail or bring you money into the office. *We want to thank those who are paying regularly. *The EAGLE is your paper —help us to help you.

THINK, MAN . . . THINK!

You work hard for your money, make your money work hard for you!

The Victor Clothing Company, located at 214 South Broadway in downtown Los Angeles prides itself in having among its 85,000 happy satisfied customers, a big percentage of fine colored accounts. The colored people are always welcome at the Victor. There they are assured of getting only the finest type of high-styled merchandise, and on the easiest, most humane credit terms in Southern California.

JOSEPH L. JONES

Oil magnate. Shreveport, La.; president, Universal Oil, Gas & Mining Corporation; capital stock $200,000; employes all Negro mechanical crew; holdings extensive in Texas.

This week the Victor Clothing Company brings to a climax, 18 years of faithful service, and brings to their many colored friends, the clothing event of the century. A gigantic, unrepeatable demonstration of the Victor's value giving supremacy. The "Sale of Sales". Offering you more for your clothing dollar than ever before. For full details of this gigantic event see the large Victor ad which appears on this same page.

The Victor's "Easy-pay" credit plan offers many desirable features not found in other so called esay credit plans. Mr. Leo S. Fon-a-row, the directing manager of the Victor Clothing Company says; "I believe that it is every man's right to wear and enjoy fine quality, high style clothes, regardless of the amount of his income. I know that a man's appreciation of the finest things of life is not governed by the size of his pocket-book. Here at the Victor, everyone can dress up in the finest of clothes, BRONSON CLOTHES, and the size of his pocketbook has nothing to do with it."

"More than 18 years ago, I conceived the plan of "Easy-pay" credit. At that time, my competitors scoffed at me. Now they have proved that I was right, they have all immitated me in one form or another. BUT . . . even tho the genuine Victor "Easy-pay" credit has been immitated by many . . . NONE have been able to duplicate it. Because of the fact that the Victor Clothing Company is located out of the high rent district, they naturally have a low overhead . . . and it is because of this fact that the Victor will never be undersold. They positively cannot be undersold."

If you have been employed steadily for the past TWO months. If your income is at least ten dollars a week, you may enjoy a genuine Victor Easy-pay account, where-by you pay no money down and terms are as little as 75 cents a week. At the Victor you do not pay interest or carrying charges. Victor Credit is Free Credit. No co-signers are required. Another big Victor money saving service is Free Alterations, and a perfect fit is absolutely guaranteed.

"Friends" says Mr. Fon-a-row "make our store your store. Wear god clothes. Be happy. Enjoy life to the utmost. Victor-ize and you'll econom-ize!"

Don't fail to read the big Victor ad appearing on this page. When you go to Victor to buy your two suits for the price of one, don't fail to tell them that you read this ad in the California Eagle. Thank You!

Posthumous Art Exhibit Thrills L. A.

Artists and critics of Los Angeles and Hollywood who have studied the exhibit of the late Julian C. Robinson held last week at the Henry Goode Art studio have acclaimed the work of the artist. Robinson, who met death by drowning off Brighton beach June 4, studied under Goode for a number of years. The exhibit had been planned by Robinson and Goode, and Robinson had worked diligently to finish several canvases.

Popular demand has forced Mr. Goode to coninue the exhibit for another week as several classes and clubs telephoned their desires to visit the exhibit. Some 30 finished and unfinished canvases are on exhibit and great interest has been shown in the painting "The Rape of Ethiopia." The planting though done in oil, is done in mural effect.

Mr. Robinson's work includes landscape, still life, portraits, and yet another type of painting which defies classification. While most of his work shows a startling, yet very pleasing, color design which is probably the one outstanding trade-mark on all the Robinson paintings, there is a wide range of subject matter. This is shown in two paintings, "Trees", a landscape of lacey entwined lane of trees, and a "Spiritual Head."

Akronites Honor Firestone Memory

AKRON, O., June 30. (ANP)—A tribute to the memory of Harvey S. Firestone, founder of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, was paid by thousands of Negroes here recently. More than 1,400 attended a service held in the Second Baptist church and hundreds later attended the presentation of a beautiful silver plaque to the Firestone family at the annual meeting of the Association for Colored Community Work, local Negro service and welfare organization, of which Mr. Firestone was a founder.

The Firestone company is one of the largest employers of Negro labor in America, and Mr. Firestone was the first employer in the rubber industry to offer opportunities for employment to Negro workers. Besides hundreds of colored employes in the American factories, Firestone gives work to between 15,000 and 20,000 on its Liberian plantation.

Catholics Install Jim Crow Signs

NEW YORK CITY, June 30. (By Leon Lewis for ANP)—Catholic New Orleans, with which more than 60 per cent of the city's 156,000 Negroes are classed, set up a new custom in Southern jim-crowism. Catholic churches, for years the only denomination renowned for their liberality and interracial activity, have installed jim crow signs designating pews for colored and white worshippers. Negroes desiring to attend mass at these churches must occupy back seats or pews behind the signs.

Most shocking among these is the Sacred Heart church, located in a parish 80 per cent Negro populated. According to information received, this church set the jim crow precendent that has caused a furore within the circles of its attendants. Since late in the 19th century, Negroes have enjoyed the democratic principles upon which Sacred Heart church won its popularity.

Man Who Sang at John Brown's Funeral Honored

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., June 30. (ANP)—Town and village officials last Monday joined with friends of Lyman Epps in honoring the aged man on his 98th birthday. A feature of the celebration was the sing by Nonogenerian Epps of "Blow Ye the Trumpets, Blow" the song he, as a small boy, sang here in 1859, at the funeral of martyred John Brown.

Mr. Epps is the last of a group brought to North Elba by Brown and Garrit Smith, who, in the early Fifties made an unsuccessful attempt to establish a colony of free Negroes. As a boy, Epps sat on the knee of John Brown, later hanged for his part in the attempted seizure of the Harper's Ferry, W. Va., arsenal.

Epps was born in Troy, N. Y., the son of Lyman and Anne Epps, who escaped slavery in the South. When the body of John Brown was brought from Harper's Ferry to the farm near here for burial in 1859, historians record that at the funeral services "the silver-voiced Epps sang sweet music."

Pitts and Edward Hawkins, program committee members.

Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Tate, Mr. Darden, M. Parks and W. J. Duncan were elected to the advisory board. James M. Jones is current topics reader with Mrs. M. B. Fariera as assistant. A. Hall is sergeant-at-arms and Hilton A. Phillips is librarian. Loren Miller, attorney, will install the new officers at Sunday afternoon's meeting.

NEWSBOYS TELL MOTHER

DETROIT, June 30. (ANP)—It wasn't until 40 minutes after Joe Louis had belted out Max Schmeling Wednesday night that his mother heard he had won--and then the information came from a newsboy calling out extras on a her corner.

"I wasn't worried," she said later. "I knew he was going to win, because he told me so!"

"Didn't you even have a radio in your car?" she was asked.

"No, I just didn't want to listen to it."

"She didn't have to," spoke up one of Joe's cousins, a little woman who said she was one of the Barrows from Alabama. "If you were in Detroit, all you had to do was hear me yell when Joe won."

Mrs. Barrow seemed to be about the calmest person in Detroit, for the rest of the city went crazy. Impromptu drum corps paraded in the streets and celebrants danced and shouted in the glare of burning red torches until long past midnight.

Mrs. Barrow said she didn't want to see the fight or hear it broadcast. So she went out riding, leaving the rest of the family huddled about the radio in the big house her son had given her. As soon as her car rolled to a stop and the policeman on guard in front of the house opened the door, the entire family of cousins, brothers and sisters rushed

Dixie Farmer Plows Up Gold Fortune

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30. (ANP)—While plowing on a Beaufort county farm Dallas Jordan struck a hard object, which he investigated and finally dug up three bars of dull-colored metal. He rushed with the bars to a local jeweler, who after a close inspection, said they were gold.

A sample was sent to an assayer and last Monday Farmer Jordan was informed that the bars had a high content of gold. After selling a small amount to the local jeweler, Jordan sent the remainder of the metal to Washington, D. C., where it was found to be worth between $1,500 and $1,600.

Jordan thinks the gold bars were buried during the war between the states by a Southerner who feared the Yankees would get his treasure. It was recalled by county residents that a similar bar of gold was found several years ago by a colored woman. Another theory of the buried treasure is that it was planted by Blackbeard, the pirate who once operated in this section.

Famed Children's Author in Nazi Disfavor, Claim

Vienna knows Felix Salten no more, and the author of Bambi and The Hound of Florence has exchanged the freedom of the forests for the armed guards of a concentration camp.

Seventy years of age, the amiable writer was first put in prison in Vienna and then taken to a concentration camp over the border in Germany.

"Non-Aryan" though he is, it is almost beyond conjecture why Felix Salten, of all men, should have disappeared under the Nazi regime in Austria. Bambi, his most famous work, is a gentle book full of a quiet feeling for forests and small animals. It is one of America's children's well-beloved classics.

Perri, his newest book, is in the Bambi strain, a charming animal story without political preaching of any kind. Yet in accordance with the boycott of "non-Aryan" enterprise, publication has been stopped in Austria, though Perri will be published in the United States in September by the Bobbs-Merrill Company.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

Every Porter A Reporter

UPTON SAYS—

I have always thought that when it comes to raising H-----, and celebrating, the Shriners took the prize but after making a trip up and down Central Avenue by motor the night Joe Louis won the fight I will have to give the prize to my Race. However, I guess you just can't blame my people if they didn't go in for a whole lot of high faluting extravagance. You see times are a little tight right now and instead of using regular high price confetti they just used plain old cheap toilet paper. Nothing like being saving you know.

JOE LOUIS WON.

Faultfinders never become Pathfinders.

LOVEL ESTELL JR., BOY SCOUT REPORTER

Graduates from Foshay

Lovell Estell Jr., Boy Scout reporter for the California Eagle, was the proud owner of one of them precious diplomas last week from the Foshay Junior High School. Estell was also an honor student and bugler and cornet player in the Foshay Band. Being the nephew of the writer, he is a chip off the old block and a hound for news. Even the grown-ups read his Scout news in order to keep up with their military sons. He will attend the new Dorsey High School in the fall and we wish him the greatest of luck. Congratulations.

NOTICE

With the exception of the above article this week's "Railroad Clatter" is entirely written by Clarence R. Johnson.

LABOR VIEWS

By CLARENCE R. JOHNSON

June 28 was the date set by the carriers' joint conference committee wherein they had requested a similar committee representing 19 Labor organizations to meet with them at Chicago to discuss the carriers' national request on all rail employees for a wage reduction. The original request of the carriers indicated their intention of reducing all rates of compensation, arbitraries and other allowances 15 per cent, effective July 1. No such reduction will be put in effect on that date in view of the provisions of the Railway Labor Act which makes it mandatory for certain mechanics of procedure to be engaged in before any change at all can be made.

Dining Car employees, acting nationally through the Joint Council of Dining Car Employee Unions, had invited carriers serving notice on Dining Car Employee Unions to meet with them at Chicago on national basis for the purpose of handling the question to a conclusion. Dining Car Employee Unions, through the Joint Council stand adamantly opposed to any reduction and if necessary are prepared to take a national strike-out, concurrent with all other organizations, for the purpose of protecting their economic and industrial rights. If railways are financially in bad shape, it is not due to high wages paid Dining Car employees, but due to minmanagement of the roads and the raiding of the treasuries of these carriers by the banking interests. Rail workers are being called upon in this crisis to protect the fundamental interests of the nation's workers as a whole. A reduction in pay for rail workers would be the "green light" for other industries to go ahead and ruthlessly slash the already low wages of other groups of industrial workers.

RAIL LABOR WINS NEW LEGISLATIVE VICTORY

Organized Rail Labor won a smashing victory for railroad workers when Congress ignored the propaganda of carriers' lobby not to pass the Rail Job Insurance Bill. Under the provisions of the new act just passed by Congress, railway workers will come under a Federal Unemployment Insurance Act. Heretofore they have been under the various State acts and in no instance are any two State laws similar. I order to protect the interest of rail workers, it was necessary for the Federal law to be passed. The Federal Unemployment Insurance Act provides many features superior to those embodied in the State laws, particularly as to benefits of low paid workers. The Federal law provides for a greater unemployment payment to employees in the low pay brackets against the high brackets. Unemployment annuities start in at $1.75 per day, graduating to $3 per day. Very significant, the Federal law does not require any contribution from the employees as required under the State law. The California law requires employees to contribute 90-100 of every dollar, or ninety cents upon the hundred.

VICIOUS ANTI-LABOR PETITION BEING CIRCULATED

Under the dignified name of "The Women of the Pacific" an organization supposedly interested in Industrial Peace, this group is circulating a vicious anti-labor petition for the purpose of incorporating labor unions but more correctly for the purpose of killing Labor Unions. The law was drafted by Attorney-General U. S. Webb, State of California, and embodies everything that predatory interests, reactionary business, and the vicious merchant manufacturers' association can desire. The law purports to provide fora Labor Commissioner to be appointed by the State, whose business it will be to pry into the affairs of all Labor Unions, say who can or can not become members of such Unions, regulate the affairs of the organizations to the extent that it would strangulate their operations; also provides htat employees can not stop work at anytime without giving the Commissioner and the employer an extended notice of such intent; permits employers to review the financial records and the minutes of the Labor Union; finally, practically puts the Unions under the domination of employers.

Certainly the State of California does not require the incorporation of any business concern nor does the State attempt to regulate these businesses except as the law requires under certain types of investments. Moreover, employers and corporations do not permit, nor does the law require that they open their books —financial or a record of transactions.—to employees or to the public for inspection.

Boy Scout News

By LOVELL ESTELL, Jr.

School is out and dear old vacation time is here again. So scouts and scouters, I will be signing off for the summer. Mrs. Bass says it is all right for a fellow to take a rest once in a while.

The Girl Scout Camp Osito opens its second season next week. It will give hundreds of girls an opportunity to develop skill in arts and crafts during an eight-week period. The camp occupies 160 acres of forest land near Big Bear Lake on what is known as Merriam Meadow about 110 miles from Los Angeles

Swimming at the Pan Hot Springs pool will be a new feature this season as well as horse back riding. Hiking, overnight pac ktrips outdor cooking, archery, camp crafts, singing, folk dancing camp fire programs, and dramatics will be part of the camping program.

Campers are registered for two-week periods, enrolling according to age, 10 to 18 years, grade and experience.

The girls live in small groups or units placed in separate areas. Three special counselors for each unit are in charge of and responsible for living and program arrangements. For many of the scouts this affords the first opportunity to be away from home and completely "on their own" the camp staff includes nearly 40 adults.

Congratulations to Vance Jones of Troop 702 who graduated from McKinley Junior High School. Vance gave the flag salute and was president of his class.

A good vacation to all you scouters. Will see you in September.

Corona High has Lone Negro Grad

CORONA, June 30—Only one Negro was in the Corona high school graduating class. Commencement exercises for which were held here last week. He is Terry DeBal, son of Mrs. Armeda DeBeal of Corona.

Young DeBeal, who has several scholarship offers from various colleges, finished his prep school career with a fine record. During four years at the high school he held several offices in the school's music societies and was a member of the debate squad.

Active in sports he had to his credit four years in varsity track and football.

SUMMER SCHEDULE AT PLAYGROUND

Summer vacation playground schedule began at Holmes Avenue Playground Monday, June 27 with Miss Emily Jane Greene, director in charge, and shall last from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., from Monday through Friday.

Programs for the summer will include sports, dramatics, handcraft, story telling and clubs, the aim being to interest both small and older children.

Parents are asked to take advantage of this by allowing their children to partake of these opportunities.

JOE LOUIS GIVES NAACP $2,500

NEW YORK, June 30—A check for $2,500 was presented to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here today from Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion, by John Roxborough, one of his managers. The check was a part of the champion's share of the fight in which he defeated Max Schmeling June 22. The presentation was made to Walter White, N. A. A. C. P. secretary, by Mr. Roxborough. A check for the same amount was presented to the National Urban League.

Local Boys Leave for Boy State

Two Eastside boys left on the American Legion Special Saturday night as part of the Los Angeles delegation to the Boy State, to be held at Sacremento this week-end. With band and cheers the boys, Alvin R. McDowell and Morgan Moten, Jr., were given a big send off for the youth project.

Young McDowell is the son of Afue McDowell, Attorney of 4624 South Central Avenue, and Mrs. Leona McDowell. He is a senior student at Los Angeles High school and has won recognition as an art student and a member of the R. O. T. C. He has ee for the August C. M. T. Camp compited examinations as a train- at Fort MacArthur.

Young Moten is an L. A. High school student and recently qualified to attend the Camp at Fort MacArthur. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moten of 1013½ East 28th street, and is active in Hi-Y activities at the 28th Street Y. M. C. A.

The Boy State is a project in government and citizenship promoted by the American Legion, Cailfroinia. Last year some 254 boys participated in the enterprise; this year there will be some 500 boys taking part. The boys will return to the city Sunday night.

Both McDowell and Moten were sponsored by the Benjamin J. Bowie Post No. 228, of which George Burleson is the commander and Baxter S. Scruggs is chairman of the Community Betterment Commission.

Liberty Magazine Will Publish White Article

NEW YORK, June 30—An article by Walter White entitled "How It Feels to be a Negro" will be one of the features of Liberty Magazine, the issue of July 9. Write head ....2Pv.x...

Author Cites Problems of Negro Maids

Better treatment for hard-working and small-salaried Negro maids is urged by Thyra Samter Winslow, noted author and magazine writer, whose story of a colored girl, "Sophie Jackson", appears in July Pictorial Review magazine.

Commenting on her story, the first of a series dealing with Negro life in America, Miss Winslow finds a more friendly and helpful attitude needed toward all household workers.

"Get better acquainted with these women," advised Miss Winslow. "Many of them have valuable ideas and helpful counsel to contribute to your home. Be more considerate of them."

Sophie Jackson, in Miss Winslow's story, had worked for many years as a maid in homes where employers were inconsiderate and petty and the children annoying. But from insults, low pay and long hours, she landed a job with a mysterious young woman who lived in luxury. This employer, whatever her code of honor, was friendly and recognized Sophie's simple loyalty and honesty. In this luxurious apartment Sophie found a haven until tragedy entered--and Sophie had to look for another job.

Citizens to Give Henry Armstrong Gala Farewell Reception and Dance at Elks'

Henry May Talk On Telephone to Louis

Honoring the greatestfighting machine in thehistory of the ring, Los Angeles will give HenryArmstrong, two-time world's champion, a gala reception and dance to-night (Thursday) at theElks' Hall. It is expected that a capacity crowd of well wishers will be on hand to mingle and socialize with Henry and wish him well on his trip to New York seeking his third world's title in July.

Some time ago Mr. George Raft, famous Paramount star, promised Armstrong a $10,000.00 speed boat if he would win the world's welterweight championship. True to his word, Raft will make his presentation Thursday night at the reception.

The committee in charge is now attempting to contact Joe Louis for a telephone conversation with Armstrong at the dance, which, if successful, will be amplified so that the crowd may hear the conversation. Plans for this extra thrill are still in the making.

"Henry is truly representative of Los Angeles", stated George E. Burleson, Commander of the Benj. J. Bowie Post, sponsoring the affair.

"Benj. J. Bowie's famous Drum and Bugle Corps will escort him into the building and set off the fireworks for the gala affair. We believe that this affair will show the world that our citizens appreciate this great little gentleman and champion, and that more than a capacity crowd will be on hand to bid him success in bringing back more honor and glory to Los Angeles. Representatives from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will be present to make a citation, expressing the busines interest of Los Angeles in appreciation of this great little gentleman," he concluded.

Dance music will be furnished by Woodmen Brothers' incomparable swing sirens. There will be no rounds in this bout, as dancing will continue until 2 a. m., Burleson assured.

Strode Looks Forward to AAU Meet

EVANSTON, Ill., June 30 (Special to the Eagle)—"You know, after my defeat at Minneapolis, I felt very badly. But I feel that I have partially redeemed myself here in the Big Ten meet and I hope to wipe out my previous failure completely in the Nationals next week."

So said Woodrow Strode, hefty UCLA athlete, after winning the shot put in the Big Ten-Coast Conference track and field meet here Monday evening. Strode referred to fourth and sixth places taken in the shot and discus at the NC2-A meet in Minneapolis the previous week-end. The "Nationals" are just that, the National A. A. U. events to be held in Buffalo this coming week-end.

Clearly demonstrating their superiority over the Eastern athletes, a picked West Coast team from California, UCLA, Stanford, USC, Oregon and Washington State, humbled the cream of the Big Ten Universities, 101 to 35 in the second annual East-West duel. An estimated crowd of 10,000, among which were many Negroes, lured by the appearance of thsee colored athletes on the Western team and four on the Eastern squad, almost filed the Northwestern University Stadium.

POSTPONED

The meet was postponed from Saturday to Monday because of rain. Weather conditions previous to that had been idea. Had the warm weather hed out, better than five new meet records might have been hung up, judging by the competition offered. Marks, however, were comparatively low and times slow.

Strode's toss of 50 ft., 3 3/4 in was way below even his fourth place mark in the Minneapolis affair. It was good enough, nevertheless, to defeat Stanford's Anderson and Michigan State's one man sepia track team, Bill Watson. Watson was a good bit off form, throwing 49ft., 1 1/4 ins A duel between him and Strode, both rated as super athletes in their respective conferences, had been anticipated, but fell short.

Watson took a second in the discus at 150 ft., behind Stanford's Zagar who did eight feet better. Strode did not enter that event.

LACEFIELD OFF

William Lacefield of U. C. L. A., winner of the NC2-A broadjump at over 25 feet, was a disappointment. He was beaten by Arnold Nutting of California and shaded for second by Mack Robinson of Oregon. Nutting soared 25ft., 2in., his best jump all season. Robinson's mark was 24ft., 8 1/2in. with Lacefield five inches behind.

Robinson, who was a member of the Olympic team of 1936 when he was yet a junior college student, has not lived up to his potentialities since the early season duel meets when he customarily won four events in better than average time. He placed second to Vickery of USC in a 22.9 low hurdles, third in a 21.3 furlong and did not enter the 100 yard dash.

Other colored athletes were Dave Albritton, high jumping star of Ohio State and the Olympic Games, who won his event at 6ft. 6 3/4in., James Smith and Fred Elliot of Indiana, Smith placing third to Chuck Fenske and Louis Zamperini in the mile and Elliot a leg on the quartermile relay.

Hold Drawings for Southern California Tennis Tournament Tomorrow Evening

Play Will Start Saturday at Pasadena Jaysee

Drawings for the annual Southern California Tennis tournament, to get underway on the Pasadena Junior College courts Saturday afternoon, will be held tomorrow evening at the home of Roii B. Canada, 1063 Morton avenue, Pasadena, it was announced this week by Clarence Mills, president of the Western Federation of Tennis clubs.

Play will start at 1 p. m. Saturday and will continue through Sunday and Monday, the 4th of July. The Apex Tennis Club and the Crown City Athletic and Tenunis clubs are hosts.

Players are limited to two of the scheduled events, men's single's and doubles, women's singles and doubles, women's doubles, junior boys' singles or junior girls' singles.

RECORD ENTRY EXPECTED

A record entry for a Southern California tournament is expected as more tennis is being played in these parts this season than in many years, doubtless due to the publicity given last year's Pacific Coast matches.

The supremacy of several Pacific Coast champions, as well as Southern Cal. title-holders, will be on the block because with but few exceptions, holders of West Coast titles are Southern Californians. Results of these matches, however, will not affect State rankings as Coast championships must be won or lost in the Coast tournament.

STOCKS EXPECTED

Champion for more years than you have fingers on your right hand, James Stocks is expected to give all the boys, who haven't grown discouraged, the annual and heretofore futile, crack at his crown. "Slick", a member of the Crown City Club, is co-holder of the National doubles championship and more West Coast titles than Helen Wills has Wimbledon cups.

His strongest competitor this week-end, in my opinion, should be young and debonair Jimmie McDaniels of the Ross Snyder club. Ed Toppins of Pasadena went to the finals with Stocks last year and he will doubtless be back for more.

POINTS TO AAU SPRINT VICTORY

TOMMY NELSON, Fresno State sprinter, is crouching for the start of the 100 yard dash in the A. A. U. meet to be held this week-end in Buffalo, N. Y. Tommy arrived in New York early this week and will be pointing for a victory in the 100 yard dash. The sprints will be highly contested from the heats through the finals. Arrived also in Buffalo this week is Archie Williams, formerly of California at Berkeley, who will face a fast field in the quarter-mile.

ROBERSON UNTHREATENED

Unless a dark horse gallops onto the scene, Gwen Roberson will come away with her second title, Mrs. Roberson, holder of the Pacific Coast singles and women's doubles title, and the Southern California singles and mixed doubles championship, is in fine form after a busy winter season, playing in the public court matches.

Juliette Harris, former title holder and number one challenger to Mrs. Roberson, is just now getting back into shape, therefore is not expected to seriously threaten Gwen.

Carriebella Deane, also a one-time champion has been keeping her game a secret, playing, it is suspected over in Pasadena. If Mrs. Deane is in condition, my wager would be on her, but as 'tis she's an unknown quantity.

FULLER MENACED

There are a lot of youngsters out to get Leonard Fuller the little red-head who has held the junior title since he was big enough to wield a racket. If they can get under the age limit several unknowns who have been sharpening up on their games over at Jefferson High school, will coax Mr, Fuller to the court on Saturday morning.

ROSS SNYDER TENNIS CLUB HAS ELECTION

All set and ready for the Pacific Coast Tournament, scheduled for Los Angeles in September, the Ross Snyder Tennis club this week made announcement of its new officers.

Headed by Colquit Fisher, the club will play host to tennis players from over the Pacific Coast the 3rd, 4th and 5th of September.

Officers in addition to Fisher, are T. Lee, Edgar Foley, Wendell Gladden, Elysie Buie, Leona Ward, E. Bell, and Bill Deane, vice president, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, financial secretary, sergeant at arms and official refree in the order named.

EDDIE TOLAN IS RUMORED ENGAGED

NEW YORK, June 30—Eddie Tolan, be-spectacled Olympic champion from Michigan State, once the world's fastest human, is engaged, it has bee nlearned. Tolan, accompanied by his fiancee, Miss Johnnie Mae McConico of Detroit, attended the Louis-Schmeling fight.

Coates Loses to Dallas

Charlie Coates, sometimes called "Killer" and more often "Ex-Killer", was outsmarted at the Olympic Tuesday night by Texas Jack Dallas, in a slow 10-round bout, to lose the decision.

Chuck Crowell flattened Eddie Hogan of New York in the third stanza of the other ten.

In the preliminaries Tino DeRama was too good for Archie Grant; Larry Angelo outpunched Dick Ritchie; Andy Vasquez drew with Phil Ortiz, as Vasquez accidentally butted the latter and Referee Benny Whitman stopped it in the third.

Next Tuesday night at the Olympic Little Dado boxes Pablo Dano.

Riverside Jaysee 4 in AAU Meet

RIVERSIDE, June 30—Riverside Junior College's record-breaking four man relay team left here Monday evening for Buffalo, New York, and the A. A. U. meet. Composed of Bryant Allen, colored speedster, formerly of Jefferson High School in Los Angeles, Finley Culpepper, also colored, and Clyde Jeffery and Hovis Bess, two white youths, the team worked out in Chicago yesterday (Wednesday) and will arrive in New York today (Thursday).

Before he left, Culpepper a Riverside youth, told an Eagle reporter that the quartet will "attempt to put Riverside on the map". Each of them will run the 100 and 220 yard dashes, in addition to the 440 yard relay.

'FIGHTINGEST YOUNGSTER'

Judging by the above photo, there isn't anything Irish about young Jimmie Liddell, but he's the fightingest youngster in these parts and should claim kin on that basis to the fisticuffing sons of Erin. He tells all about himself in the article beneath this caption.

I've Always Wanted to Be a Boxer, Says Hank's Protege

By ALMENA DAVIS

It is seldom that one finds the combination of a doctor's son, a boxer and an artist rolled into one, but Jimmy Liddell was born the first and has found time in the short 18-years of his life to get on the road to being the other two.

"It was hard, at first, accustoming my parents to my being a boxer", Jimmie said in an interview last Saturday afternoon "but I told them a man could be a gentleman in anything he wanted to do."

"I ran away from home last year. Went to Chicago and when I came back home, they were reconciled."

Jimmy is the son of Dr. James Liddell, practicing physician on the Eastside. He is the only boy in the family and we imagine the Doc sort of wanted "Son" to follow in his footsteps, for which he couldn't be blamed . . .

But it's no mending broken bones and caring for the sick for Jimmy. Paradoxically enough, he's in the business that puts folks under the doctor's care, witness Mr. Schmeling after last week's fiasco.

"I've always wanted to be a fighter," the youngster, who is a member of Henry Armstrong's "stable", his "protegee" he claims proudly, said.

"I had to fight at first to defend my honor when the boys called me a sissy because my mother made me wear short velvet pants. Then I got in a gang and we fought every day. I also used my little sister as a decoy when I went to Wadsworth Grammar school.

"I'd egg her on to have the boys sass her and then I'd wade in and beat them up. Once, however, I waded into the wrong guy."

He told me how he "sicked" Little Sis on the decoy. Little Robert, a stunted fellow who was a boxer a few years or so back. Lil Robert was about eighteen but to Jimmy's inexperienced eye he looked the same age as he, ten. So Jimmy hit him and he hit Jimmy and Jimmy hit the ground. From that day Jimmy resolved to become a boxer so he could whip Lil Robert. Able to do it today, he won't, for the two are great friends.

To concentrate on training Jimmy left Jefferson High school when he was in the 12th grade. He plans to go back to school some day and take up art.

When he talks about his future or about "Hank" Armstrong, he gets as earnest as only an adolescent can. His boyish face atop his finely developed body-looking as strong as a man's, is rather disconcerting.

When he came into our office, he was carrying swimming trunks.

"I like all kinds of sport," he said. To avoid weakness he explained that he greased his body with vaseline. That keep the water out of the skin, an idea inspired by watching the swimmers at Catalina Island.

Hustlin' Hank thinks Liddell is a great boy and a coming featherweight champion. Hank has taught Jimmy his own style of fighting and even spars with his protegee occasionally.

SAME STYLE

To the answer "Does he hurt you"—

"Sure he hurts anybody. But it doesn't do either of us any good to fight each other. We use the same style, standing in the middle of the ring and swinging.

I think Henry Armstrong is one of the greatest fighter in or out of the ring. He's swell", he finished with boyish enthusiasm.

Jimmy weighs 126 pounds, is 5 feet 5 inches tall and has a very long reach for a featherweight. He lives at home with his folks, who keep a watchful eye on him.

Out of 114 fights, the youngster has won 111, been beaten once and held to a draw twice.

We didn't have an action photo of him on hand so we asked him for one. He loaned us one he had given his mother, autographed "To Mother from her always devoted son" in a fine clear hand. It was taken at Pompton Lakes Training Camp where Armstrong trained for the Ross set-to. Jimmy fought in the preliminary, a youth named Frankie Aeslo who held him to a draw.

Thirteen Millions Federal Funds for California Roads

About $13,500,000 of the appropriation of federal funds for aid to the states in highway work during 1940 and 1941 will come to California. The measure was recently signed by the President.

Acording to an analysis by the Automobile Club of Southern California, which joined with organized motorists throughout the country in opposing curtailment of federal road funds, California's share for regular federal aid highways will be about $3,768,000 in 1940 and $4,470,000 for 1941. The 1940 allotment is about $1,000,000 less than the present annual amount, instead of the $2,000,000 cut once threatened. The 1941 allotment is close to the current figure.

In addition, California will receive $583,000 each of the two years for secondary or "farm to market" roads; $750,000 in 1940 and $1,166,000 in 1941 for assistance in grade crossing elimination; and $1,400,000 in 1940 and $1,900,000 in 1941 for national forest highways, roads and trails.

Woman Flyer Gets License

CHICAGO, June 30. (ANP)—Mrs. Willa B. Brown of the Research department of the University of Chicago, Wednesday received a private pilot's license. She is understood to be the first colored aviatrix to receive this license.

This license permits the young aviatrix to carry passengers, give instructoin, or make cross-country flights.

Getting the coveted license does not completely satisfy Miss Brown's ambition. "I shall work next fall toward getting a limited commercial license," she said Friday. "That will permit me to take up passengers for pay. And I'm dreaming of the day when I'll be able to own a plane of my own. What I really want is a low-wing Ryan monoplane, with an all-metal fusillage and speed to burn. I'll have one someday."

Suspend Boxer Jack Trammell

CHICAGO, June 30. (ANP)—That two-round "knockout" of Jack Trammell by Jimmy Adamick, white, in Mills Stadium on June 8 resulted in the suspension not only of the boxers but of the handlers and promoters when they appeared Monday before the Illinois boxing commission for a three hour investigation.

During the hear, the referee and judges said "neither fighter contributed his best efforts and the match should have been called no contest."

The hearing will be continued July 5 when Jack Kearns, manager of Adamick, has been asked to be present. The commission has asked the California, Missouri and New York athletic commissions to concur in its indefinite ban of all the principals. Part of the fighters' purses, amounting to $1,500, are on file with the commission awaiting a final disposition of the case.

The attractive residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fortier was the setting on June 12th of a private picnic, given by Mrs. Fortier. The guests who enjoyed the outing were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Bratton, Mrs. Ellen Gates, Mrs. Chas. Tounsel, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Horto, Mr. and Mrs. Evans and family, Mrs. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Drake, Mrs. Jozella Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fortier, Miss L. Morgan and F. O. James.

Several friends who enjoyed a vacation at the Fowler cabin the past week were Miss Omelia Chatman and Mrs. Clara Henry, nurses at the General Hospital, Miss Reba Kinney, who is recuperating from an illness, Mr. Graham and Mrs. Louise Broadus.

Mrs. John Davis, after spending two weeks rest period at the Taylor Ranch, returned to her home in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac B. Hunter and family, who recently purchased the Givens property, moved into their home last week. They are congenial people and are welcome. Mrs. Ella B. Hilsman, of San Bernardino, mother of Mrs. Hunter, spent several days with them.

Pastor S. K. Williams, Mrs. Williams and their niece, Miss Mary Jones, spent a few days in the quiet atmosphere of the Taylor Ranch. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Troy Hooks, Mr. and Mrs. Inman McGruder, Mrs. A. Woods, Mrs. Amanda Woods, Mrs. A. C. Coles, Mr. J. H. McAdams, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Edna Kather.

About 75 students from the Inglewood high school held a delightful dancing party at the club house last Thursday evening. Light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Mazie entertained about 50 guests at the club house, Friday evening. Dancing was enjoyed by this ever welcome group.

Saturday evening, about 15 couples from Santa Monica and Ocean Park danced at the club house. The male members of the party belong to a Business Men's Organization at the beach cities. A very delicious chicken dinner was served by Mrs. Alice Gafford.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Franklin, former residents of Val Verde were Sunday visitors here. Many friends were pleased to note the improvement in Mr. Franklin's health and we hope he will be a regular visitor.

Sunday, June 19th was an epochal day in the history of Val Verde when Gordon L. McDonough turned the first spadeful of earth in the construction of the swimming pool and bath house which will be completed before the next summer season. A large enthusiastic crowd witnessed the ceremony and listened attentively to the splendid addresses made by master of ceremonies, Fred M. Roberts, Dr. Claude Hudson, L. G. Robinson, Mrs. C. A. Bass, Mrs. Betty Hill, Hugh Macbeth and others. Everyone is elated over this long looked for park improvement which will tend to further popularize Val Verde.

'Hustlin' Hank' Thrills Patients

Henry Armstrong, welter and feather weight champion of the world thrilled patients at the Veterans Hospital at San Fernando in a personal appearance last Wednesday.

The champion, escorted by Colonel D. C. RFarnsworth, Commanding Officer of the Hospital, stopped at the bedside of every patient in the sick wards, then made a short address over the house broadcasting system.

One of those most pleased by Armstrong's visit was Joseph (Daniel) Boone to whom "Hustlin' Hank" promised he would give the gloves which he wore when he defeated Ross.

Redlands Juniors in Athletic Activities

Redlands—

St. Paul AME Sunday School is still holding its own, even though the attendance has fallen off on account of summer vacation. The district conference was held in San Diego, and the report was sent by mail.

Last Sunday evening, Rev. U V. Green was the guest speaker at Santa Monica AME church. Rev. A. K. Quinn is the pastor.

Rev. J. C. Burns, a student of Western University, was the guest speaker at St. Paul AME church of Redlands last Sunday.

All sorts of games and amusements will be conducted each day at most of the centers, with special events arranged for small children. at the Redland's City Hall, several types of craft instuructions will be given.

The new centers are located at the junior high school and McKinley grammar school grounds and St. Paul AME Church.

James Layne is in charge of athletic events at Redlands junior high school grounds. Volley ball, indoor baseball, soccer, and tennis will be played. Marian Osley will be in charge of children's events each afternoon including story hours and musical games. McKinley, under supervisor Clifton Sanborn, is planning to have indoor baseball, soccor, volleyball and other games.

At the Second Baptist Church Rev. J. L. Foster, pastor, basketball, baseball, and other games which require little organization, will be planned for the children of the community.

Also at the City Hall classes are being conducted in puppetry, 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. each day; model aircraft construction, every afternoon; woodship, from 10 to 12 and from 3 to 5 o'clock each day.

Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Foster of Redlands are proud parents of a baby girl. Mother and daughter reported doing nicely.

In Redlands on June 26 at her home, 110 Delaware street, Mrs. Lola H. Beal, 53, native of Marshall, Texas, and resident of Redlands for 35 years passed away. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the F. Arthur Cortner chapel.

Cover was laid at a buffet-luncheon given by Mrs. J. R. Collins in honor of her daughter, Helen for the 1938 high school graduates, Wednesday evening. Those present were, Misses Vera Harris of San Bernardino, Alice and Esther Freeman, Dolores Burton and two hostesses Helen and Bessie Collins.

Jackson Bows to LaSalle

Although the favorite, Young Peter Jackson, weighing 142, bowed to Kenny LaSalle, 146, at Gilmore stadium last Friday night. Jackson lost the 10-round decision.

LaSalle deposited Peter on the canvas for a nine-count in the second round. A right flush on the chin turned the trick as the pair broke from a clinch. The bell rang as the count reached nine

It was Jackson's second appearance at Gilmore, having stopped Pete DeRuzza a few weeks ago.

The bout was marred by repeated clinching. Mushy Callahan was the referee.

In the other half of the double wind-up Georgie Hansford nodded Nick Peters in a bruising bout.

Featherweight - Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong was introduced before the LaSalle-Jackson go.

MARVA LOUIS

Marva, Harlem Go Wild Over 'Bomber' Victory

NEW YORK, June 30. (ANP)—Marva Louis, lovely wife of the world's heavyweight champion, wasn't a bit nervous as she sat with friends in the apartment of Mrs. Mae Savage on St. Nicolas avenue in Harlem awaiting the bout between her husband and Max Schmeling.

Marva even said she wasn't nervous, and even at five minutes before the broadcast started, she was complimenting her hostess on one of those big, wide straw hats. At 10, she went over and sat by the radio, playing with the dials to show she was absolutely composed.

As the announcer began, she looked almost bored. Then when Clem McCarthy described Joe's blows to Maxie's face, she was the personification of calmness.

When suddenly the announcer shouted, "He's down! Schmeling's down"—

Marva's calm went beserk. She gave a yell and a squeal that didn't let up until long after the fight had been halted.

But Marva was not alone in her joy, for all Harlem went wild as Joe atoned for his suprise defeat of 1936. Over 1,000 extra patrolmen, 200 detectives and the crews of three emergency trucks were on hand to preserve order. Although the crowd was enthusiastic and demonstrated until daybreak, there was no rioting nor were there any interracial clashes.

WAITER DROPS DEAD AT FIGHT NEWS

SEATTLE, Wash., June 30. (ANP)—Elza B. Jones, 56, a waiter for the Great Northern railroad, shouted, "Boy, Louis won the fight!" Wednesday night after hearing the broadcast, then dropped dead.

NOTABLES ATTEND JOE-MAX BOUT

NEW YORK CITY, June 30. (ANP)—Yankee Stadium, the nation's center of attraction last Wednesday for the Louis-Schmeling fight was the convening point of thousands of celebrities and leaders in all walks of life.

CLEVELAND COPS USE TEAR GAS

CLEVELAND, June 30. (ANP)—One man was shot, probably fatally, two policemen were felled by flying bricks, a street car was stoned and passengers hurt as Cleveland fight enthusiasts staged so wild a celebration over Joe Louis' victory Wednesday night that police had to use tear gas to quiet the huge crowd.

Police Stop Gary Riot; 1 Hurt, 3 Jailed

GARY, Ind., June 30. (ANP)—Three men are in jail and a white woman is in a local hospital critically injured from a bullet wound as the aftermath of Gary's celebration of Joe Louis' victory over Max Schmeling.

The trouble was the climax to last year's celebration of Joe's knockout of James J. Braddock when several carloads of men invaded the white Glenn Park residential district and created a disturbance. This year, in anticipation of a similar happening, a band of white youths lay in wait and when a dozen cars came up the youths laid down a barrage of overripe fruit and vegetables. The invaders turned back.

A few minutes later, the cars returned. From the lead machine came a succession of revolver shots. One bullet struck Mrs. Harry Nehring, standing on the corner, in the side. The whites rushed the auto, turning it over, and pulled out the occupants, Joseph A. Bitts, Carl Corrothers and Perry Bell, all over 35 years old. An angry crowd gathered.

Police who were nearby and members of an American Legion post just concluding a meeting rushed to the scene. A riot call was sent in for every available policeman. Firemen were also ordered out. The crowd of angry whites meanwhile had increased to over 2,000, and many of those present were shouting, "Lynch them!"

After firemen threatened to turn their fire hose on them, members of the crowd opened up and let officers take the trio to a patrol wagon. The three men are being held in jail pending the outcome of the woman's condition.

Columbia Prof. Raps Race Myth

NEW YORK, June 30. (CNA)—An expose of the pseudo-scientific theory that "Nordics" alone have the inductive spirit for achievements in scientific problems was made here this week by Professor Franz Boaz, of Columbia University, an outstanding American anthropologist.

In a letter to the New York Times, Prof. Boaz takes issue with a recent article of Professor Stark in the magazine 'ature', and asserted that "only blind prejudice can claim any intimate relation between racial descent and form of thinking."

Pointing out that German scientific achievements were at a low ebb in the early part of the nineteenth century, Prof. Boaz stated that it was such nonaryans as Hageland Schelling who raised the low level and whose "philosophies controlled the thinking at that period."

Professor Boaz quotes Dr. Geo. Wendriner who showed that in the field of astronomy, physics, chemistry and other related sciences, the whole course of development "was a social process in which members of all nations and races participated in Germany as well as in other countries."

Westside Agent Makes Good

Miss Frances Cruse aside from ably representing the California Eagle on the Westside, is also president of the Allen C. E. League of Bethel A. M. E. Church. Miss Cruse left Saturday on the Streamline train with a delegation (white) for Oakland to attend the Los Angeles County Endeavor Conference which meets in Annual session.

Miss Cruse who is visiting vice-president of the organization is creditably serving her second term in that capacity. She comes from a fine pioneers family, her mother having recently passed away.

RECORD AUDIENCE APPLAUDS AVALON MONTHLY MUSICALE

Holy Communions to Mark Sunday Services

A full capacity interracial audience generously applauded the twelfth monthly musicale of the Avalon Christian church Sunday night, June 26, which featured two choirs, Avalon and Alhambra Christian (white). Alternate renditions by the respective choirs and combined presentations characterized the program, with Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke directing the Avalon group and Selmer K. Bridston directing Alhambra, and each director conducting the entire aggregation in brilliant anthems.

Especially outstanding were the spiritual group by the Avalon choir, "Listen to The Lambs" and "Unfold, Ye Portals" by the combined choirs. The Quartermasters, Alhambra male quartet, were also presented in a group of three selections. The Rev. Ira T. Ketchem is minister of Alhambra and the Rev. Baxter C. Duke of Axalon.

Holy communion services will be administered at most of the churches in keeping with the first Sunday in the month proceedure. At the People's United Church of Christ, East 105th and Wilmington Avenue, where Rev. T. F. Jones is pastor a revival will begin Sunday morning with Dr. Emmerr H. Booker of Washton, D. C. as speaker. The meeting will continue for two weeks. Dr. Booker is a graduate of Howard University and studied at Columbia. He is accompanied by his wife, also a Howard graduate.

Rev. T. T. Addison of the Goodwill Missionary Baptist church will preach on the "Euchrist" and will administer the Lord's Supper during the eight o'clock evening services. On July 7, Rev. L. B. Brooks of the Evening Star Baptist church will preach at 8 o'clock.

The Holy Communion will be administered at both services of Wesley Chapel M. E. church Sunday. Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor, will speak in the morning from the subject, "A New Deal For God". In the evening on "Qualifying For Service."

Rev. William R Carter, D. D. secretary of the Department of Social Relations of the California Church Council and State Missionary, will preach at the 11:00 o'clock services of the Second Baptist church Sunday. Rev. Herbert A. Foster will speak in the evening and communion will be served.

Dr. T. L. riffith will return to his pulpit at Second Baptist on Sunday, July 10. Bishop A. P. Shaw will speak in the evening of that day and the Vesper choir will sponsor an inter-church choir recital.

Evangelist P. G. Rodgers of the Seventh Day Adventist Church spoke to a packed Tent last Sunday night and very large audiences have attended the services under this beautiful Square Canvass Pavillion at 49th Street and Central Avenue. Topics stirring to every inquirer are presented every night with screen pictures to illustrate them. A great choir of trained voices renders music nightly Sunday, July 3, the Evangelist will take for his subject "Were the dust storms of the mid-west anything more than just dust storms?" Services begin at 7:30 p. m.

For the twentieth consecutive year, Rev. S. M Beane, pastor of the Hamilton M. E. Church at East 18th and Naomi, was returned to his post at the close of the Southern California Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church last week. Rev. Beane will administer the Holy Communion and occupy the pulpit at the morning and evening services.

Bishop A. P. Shaw will be the speaker at the morning services on July 10.

For publication on or before Saturday, July 2, 1938

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The words of the Psalmist, "We will rejoice in thy salvation, and in the name of our God we will set up our banners," are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "God" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

A Scriptural selection in the Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from Matthew: "Then was Jesus led up of the spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil.... Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; And saith unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me. Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve. Then the devil leaveth him, and, behold, angels came and ministered unto him."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "We lose the high signification of omnipotence, when after admitting that God, or good, is omnipresent and has all-power, we still believe there is another power named evil. This belief that there is more than one mind is as pernicious to divine theology as are ancient mythology and pagan idolatry."

Venice Minister's Natal Day Observed

The eighty-second birthday anniversary of the Rev. Mr. C. H. Duvall was celebrated at the First Baptist church of Venice, Thursday, June 16, with an enlightening and interesting program. The Rev. J. D. Gordon of Los Angeles, was guest speaker, and a commendable crowd attended to pay homage to Rev. Duvall.

NOTICE, GIRLS!

A call is being heralded to girls, girls and more girls, especially those who have Drindl or Peasant dresses or plan to get one, to be on hand Saturday promptly at 3 p. m. at the California Eagle newspaper office, corner 41st and Central Avenue to meet the chairman of Girl's Day for Second Baptist Church. A special program featuring girls in colorful dresses has been planned and a mass of girls are asked to participate.

IRENE BETTIS BEIZE RETURNS FROM FUNERAL OF FATHER

Mrs. Irene Bettis Beize, 9432 Success avenue, returned to Los Angeles last week-end from Wichita, Kansas where she attended the funeral of her father, Lieut. William A. Bettis, who died at the State Soldier's Home at Dodge City, Kansas June 17.

Lieutenant Bettis is well known among Los Angeles' Kansas colony. He was the first lieutenant of Company E, 23rd Kansas volunteers, Spanish American war, a regiment he recruited.

Bettis was 70 years old and lived in Wichita most of his time before going to the Soldiers Home in Dodge City. At one time he edited and published "The Protest" in Wichita.

Survivors are his wife at Fort Dodge, one son, Charles Bettis of Wichita, and two daughters, Mrs. Beize and Mrs. Corinne Bettis Smith, both of Los Angeles.

Funeral services were held June 30 with military services at the grave.

R. B. PORTERS FETE CHICAGO MINISTER WITH DINNER

On Tuesday evening, June 14, the home of The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Porter was the scene of a very lovely dinner party given to honor the Porter's guests Dr. and Mrs. J. H. L. Smith of Chicago, Ill. Those bidden to the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Grant Harris, Messrs. and Mmes. R. N. Washington and S. P. Johnson.

The Smiths were guests in the Porter home for one week and left Wednesday morning, June 22, for San Francisco, Oakland, Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, Yellowstone Park and thence to Chicago. Dr. Smith is pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church of 15,000 members in Chicago and chairman of the Home Mission Board of the National Baptist Convention, unincorporated. Accompanying them on the trip were the R. N. Washingtons. Mr. Washington is a trustee of Ebenezer and a progressive realtor.

OKLAHOMA MATRONS FETED BY ONE AFFAIR AFTER ANOTHER HERE

Saturday, June 25, was a day of one fete after another for Mrs. Pearl Owens and Mrs. Bertha Mason of Boley, Oaklahoma when they were honored with breakfast, luncheon and a buffet dinner.

At ten o'clock Saturday morning, Mrs. Cora Thomas entertained in her sister's home at 1055 East Fiftieth Street with breakfast, and at three in the afternoon luncheon was served on the lawn. Later, Mrs. Maud Robinson, 952 East Thirty-fifth Street entertained with a buffet dinner.

McKinney-Jackson Nuptials Performed

Miss Ethel McKinney, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. L. McKinney, was married last Thursday to Johnny Jackson in an elaborated marriage ceremony held at the Church of God in Christ, 33rd and Compton avenue. The marriage service was read by Bishop W. L. Sledge of the Independent Church of Chicago.

Rev. McKinney is pastor of the Church of God in Christ, located at 53rd and Central avenue. He and Mrs. McKinney wish to thank their friends and the public for courtesy shown them during the "hour of marriage".

Young People in Program at Scattergood Club

The Scattergoods are glad to welcome home for the summer Anthony Maie Moreland who for the past two years has been studying in Spelman College and Clark University. She received special commendation on four outstanding achievements when she graduated from Spelman. She is now taking special studies along lines of business administration in Clark University and seems especially talented in this field. Mae Reese Johnson, superintendent of the Scattergood Association, Inc. has been a potent factor in her educational promotion.

Many of the boys and girls are securing summer work and several are planning camp vacations. Some go to Catalina, Camp Conifer and Griffith Park.

The Boy Scouts won several honors in Arcadia at their jamboree. Mr. A. H. Shaw, Scoutmaster deserves much praise.

Monday evening was a highlight at the club house, 855 N. Fair Oaks. College and University young people brought greetings from their various schools. Nathan Banks, a teacher in Shiloh Academy, Chicago, Ill., Nathaniel Moreland, Redlands University, California, Anthony Moreland, Clark University, Atlanta, a., Clifton Walker, Lincoln University, Pennsylvania and Marjorie King, Pacific Union College, California, Verdia Mae Hickambottom from Tuskegee Institute, Alabama was special guest of honor. She joined the L. T. L. children's department of the W. C. T. U. at its first meeting 12 years ago. She is now a junior at Tuskege and the Scattergoods are proud of the enviable record she has made.

The Superintendent received an invitation from Frances Brock announcing the graduation exercises at Atlanta University where she received her M. A. After teaching in Summer School her many friends will welcome her home.

Betty young daughter of our pharmacist is chairman of the social committee and with her capable staff will serve refreshments at the June 27 meeting.

The Scattergoods wish to thank Clarice Thompson for a piano selection, Julia Bailey for a vocal solo, James Shaw for greetings and Betsy Young for music on her Ukelee.

The Board of Directors of the Scattergood Association, Inc. wish to extend greetings to Mrs. Clarence Mills, Mrs. S. U. Young and Mrs. Herman Smith as new workers, also to Mrs. Anna Ray of Nebraska who as Matron is filing a great need in the work.

ZION TEMPLE CHURCH
1315 E. Vernon Ave.
Bishop Butler, Pastor

Sunday, July 3rd, will be a memorable day in the history of the Temple, for it will mark the first service with the new, completely finished pews. Our dynamic little Bishop has striven unceasingly to reach this goal, and deserves to be commended. She was away from the city the greater part of the week, attending the Eastern Star convention in San Diego. However she will be at her post on Sunday, full of new vigor and determination.

As usual, this being the first Sunday in the month, Holy Communion will be administered, and new members fellowshipped into the church on Sunday morning. At six o'clock the weekly class in "Truth" will be held, taught by Mrs. Lillian Fleming. It has proven to be a very helpful one, and all Truth-seekers would profit much by attending this class.

Night services begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Bishop Butler will speak on the subject, "Where He Leads You, Will You Follow?" Altar Healing, and Candle-light service at the close of this meeting. Only last Sunday night, a lady who had been away from the city four years testified publicly that she, a former invalid, had been completely healed through attending one service at Bishop Butler's first little store-front church. You are cordially invited to worship with us on Sunday.

W. M. Baeley was elected to the presidency of the Los Angeles Protective League of the Hall of Justice, County Janitor's Dept., it was announced today.

Silas Thrills Listeners in Recital Here

Septimus Silas, well known baritone triumphantly met a host of appreciative folk when he was presented in recital Tuesday evening, June 21, at the Second Baptist Church by the Booster club of the church.

Displaying his unusual range of two and one half octaves, from tenor to bass baritone, Mr. Silas was likened to a Roland Hayes in such numbers as "The Pretty Creature" by H. L. Wilson, and a Paul Robeson, drama et cetera, in "De Glory Road", by Jacques Wolfe.

Besides a number of music classics actual German numbers among which was "Le Captif" (The Captive), by A. Gretchaninon was rendeded; the Prologue to the Opera "Pagliacci", and a choice collection of Negro spirituals were rendered.

Resounding applause as the audience spontaneously exhibited tremendous satisfaction of the ingenious manner in which "De Glory Road" concluding number, was presented, brought the artist back to the stage to sing "Danny Boy", and caused those assembled to predict a future for this young man similiar to that of Gertrude Farrar, Metropolitan Opera Star, once student of Prof. Albert Ruff, whose muscular voice system Mr. Silas represents.

Mrs. Luvenia Harper Dones accompanied him.

During the intermezzo, Mr. Curtis Mayo, renowned musician and University teacher from Tennessee, rendered two organ solos. E. J. G.

Senior Choir Concert Pleases

A capacity audience attended the closing concert for the season of the senior choir at People's Independent Church of Christ last Sunday afternoon.

Under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, the group used the theme, "Advent of Summer". Each number was enthusiastically received by the large audience.

The program was sponsored by Mrs. Dorothy Coty and Miss Gwendolyn Diggs.

SECOND BAPTIST SETS BOYS' DAY

Boys' day at Second Baptist church will be observed on Aug. 7. Arthur Nunn has been selected as leader for the day and promises the best program ever staged with participants from outstanding boys' organizations throughout the city. The finance committee is under the direction of James Lawson and Artis C. Brand is chairman of publicity and advertising.

GRADS HOSTED BY BETHEL AME

A very impressive reception was sponsored by the Bethel AM E Church; 1511 West 36th street, to honor high school and college graduates. Official hostesses were members of the Women's Mite Missionary Society. Greetings and refreshments lent a festive air to the occasion.

ALLIANCE SEES ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE FILM

A representative of the Anti-Saloon League presented the motion picture, "In The Shadow of Our Schools" to the monthly meeting of the Inter-denominational Ministers Alliance Monday, June 27.

Dr. P. P. Samuels of Philadelphia was principal speaker. Among the visitors was the Rev. H. B. Gant, formerly of Los Angeles, now pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, Pittsburgh.

Fight Aftermath: 1 Casualty

The only casualty reported on the Eastside as an aftermath to hilarity surrounding the victory of Joe Louis over Max Schmeling Wednesday night of last week was a skull fracture suffered by C. J. Thornton of 1053 E.49th street.

Thorton bet Warren James of the same address, that Louis would win and the day after razzed the loser for his choice. James assertedly became enraged and broke a chair over the Joe Louis' champion's head.

Mrs. Noreen Forney head of the Forney School of Stenography at 220 East Vernon avenue, left Monday for points east to be gone approximately two months.

In Chicago Mrs. Forney will take a six weeks' post graduate course in her line at the Gregg school. Leaving there she will visit her relatives in Kansas City.

Out of town guests were Mmes. Roberta B. Carter, Pasadena; E. L. Rollins, teacher from San Antonio, Texas.

Special Notice for 4th of July

Come to the Old Time Pentecostal Holy Ghost Rally and the First Annual Session of the Apostolic California State Council, which convenes with the Universal Church of Jesus Christ-Holiness, at 9316 Parmalee Street, Central Avenue Gardens, beginning Sunday, July 3 to July 10.

A great outpouring of the Holy Ghost awaits you a special Spiritual programme all day Sunday. Monday, the 4th, the Holy Ghost Rally will begin at 6 a. m. with prayer. Come and let us pray together. From 7 a. m. and the hours to remain there will be a spirit-filled speaker who will render the sermon.

Songs of Zion and Praises to God all day long will be the theme of the day. If you miss this you will miss a Spiritual blessing. Bring your instruments, all of God's people, and whosoever will are invited to come and spend the day with us. Bring your lunch or you can buy your dinner here. A place for out-door eating and resting has been provided. Plenty of cold refreshments for your comfort throughout the day.

Bishop John C. Caldwell, chairman; Sister Lillian W. Prater, pastor.—Adv.

NATIONAL • POLITICS • STATE—CITY

POLITICAL POT-PIE

By IRA

Saturday the gates closed at 12:00 o'clock and last rush filings of candidates taxed the registrar's office to capacity. When the smoke cleared away more than one hundred has paid the required fee for the right to pat shoulders, tell lies, stab friends in the back and do a Judas on the babies. Of course, all are not of the type mentioned, hence the voters will have to resurrect the old fine-tooth comb and with the aid of a magnifying glass begin the task of separating the good from the bad. According to the readings of our little crystal ball, a politician would rather tell a d--- lie on credit than come through with the truth than for cash. We hold 'em guilty until innocence is proven beyond reasonable doubt. We've found that it works. Try it.

For Congress, 14th District we find William D. Campbell 2 times loser for the office and Fred M. Roberts, with a pair of defeats for the Assembly dangling from his belt, contesting for the Republican nomination. Both by education, training and experience in the science of government, are perhaps the best fitted men in the district for the post, and which one will be chosen for the honor will have to be decided at the primaries in August. Campbell's backers give him the preference because of several years experience as secretary to a Congressman and also work in other capacities of the government. On the other hand, Roberts' followers contend that his 18 years in the State Assembly and life-long residence in the District make him the logical man. They say that Fred above all men, knows more thoroughly the wants and needs of the District and his years as a law maker have taught him how to secure it. Mr. Campbell is a prominent member of the Los Angeles bar and Mr. Roberts is an honor member of the Fourth Estate. Go to it boys and may the best man win!

As the situation looks now Hatfield has the Republican nomination in the bag and Senator Olson will emerge with the Democratic plum. Fred Dockweiler claims ye scribe is kidding himself as to Olson.

xxx

According to Albert Williams, campaign pilot for Spurgeon Jones, the Assembly race on the Republican side of the fence says the filing shows besides his candidate: Tommy Miles, Jim Alexander and two others whose names I am unable to secure at the time. A. Hartley Jones didn't file although his petition was filled, because he found his business wouldn't permit him to give time to the campaign.

xxx

Dan Shaw and Douglass Green are plotting the downfall of the same candidate. Both are Democrats, but who are they supporting? It's time to crawl from beneath the covers boys!

Some of these cubs in an effort to horn into politics are using every means fair and foul to create a rift in the Republican ranks between Roberts, Campbell and their supporters but cannot get it across.

Superior Judge W. Kenney was presented an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the commencement exercises of the Pacific Coast University Friday. He's a candidate to succeed himself.

A partial list of candidates who are before the August primaries include:

Mayor during the next ten days will have 23 vacancies to fill in the city government, when the terms of 22 board members expire, including the Civil Service Commission. Chicago, New York and other metropolitan cities have Negro Civil Service board members, and now is the time to push our claims in Los Angeles. The Group has always received anything but a square deal from the local Civil Service body till Mayor Shaw took office. We feel our interests would be best served with such appointment, a place that is justly due the Negro.

WILLIAM H. POLLARD

June the month of brides and graduates—has ginally come into prominence. What could be a more appropriate gift to the June bride or deserving graduate than a brand new Ford V-8 or a Lincoln Zephyr? Or, if one of the latest model cars doesn't exactly fit into your budget, out of an assortment of reliable R and G (renewed and guaranteed) used cars, there is sure to be one that will meet with your approval in both style and price.

Mr. Pollard, well-known Race salesman and the only one in Los Angeles County that enjoys the distinction of being a bonded salesman, located at J. A. Nadeau, Ford dealer at Central Avenue and Slauson Boulevard, will be on hand to assure your purchasing a good, dependable car to fit your need no matter if your taste runs to the beautiful new Lincoln Zephyr with the improved V-type engine, either of the two bigger and better Ford V-8's, Standard V-8 and the luxurious V-8 Deluxe, both with either 60 or 85 horsepower engine—or a good buy in a practically new used car.

Among his many satisfied and regular customers there is constant praise and appreciation of his unfailing integrity and courtesy in his business dealings. Having been at his present location for a period of two years and with a foundation of 8 years' experience as a salesman elsewhere, you may rest assured that Mr. Pollard is a well versed salesman with a comprehensive knowledge of values.

Call on your Bonded Salesman today at J. A. Nadeau, Central and Slauson Avenues, and inquire for him at the floor. If he is not in at the time leave a message for him and he will call at your home. Phone ADams 7141, residence REpublic 5077.

PROPOSES DEBATES

LAWRENCE B. MARTIN, candidate from the Sixteenth congressional District in a communication this week proposed to Leland M. Ford, another candidate, that they debate issues that are facing the nation today to enable voters to better select their candidates.

Martin pointed out the fact that the Lincoln-Douglas debates was the most democratic means of laying bare the problems of their day and that vital issues of today be treated advantageously in the same manner. Ford is a candidate on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

Platform Of Spurgeon Jones

CANDIDATE FOR ASSEMBLY, 62ND DISTRICT

The platform on which Spurgeon Jones, young business executive, affiliated with the Eastern Store, located at 45th and Central avenue, will run for the office of Assemblyman from the 62nd District on the Republican ticket, was released today.

Prominent plank in Jones' platform concerned representation on the Housing Commission that has jurisdiction over the Eastside of Los Angeles, but has no Negro member. Direct quotations from the releases follows:

"If nominated and elected, I am going to use every amount of energy I possess to be a good American citizen and be unbiased in the conduct of my office. This office, however, I am seeking only to gain prestige whereby it will be possible for me to institute my '50-50 Program'. The '50-50 Program' is to influence all business institutions in our district, whose very existence depends upon our Negro trade, to hire one colored person for each Caucasian they employ.

"True, I am not a dyed-in-the-wool politician and neither have I an exorbitant amount of campaign funds to use to further this issue. However, I am of the opinion that today, instead of politicians who are self-centered and have their own interest at heart only, we need men trained in the business world who realize that each dollar has but 100 cents, men who do not know the various tricks by which they can hoodwink the citizenry.

"When elected, I am further going to use my influence to have a re-apportionment made of the 62nd District so that it will be possible that in the Los Angeles City Council at least one Negro will sit."

MERRIAM CAMPAIGN PLANS COMPLETE

LOS ANGELES, June. 30 — With the naming of Governor Merriam's reelection sponsors and the selection of county chairmen, plans for an intensive campaign in Southern California today were reported complete.

In Los Angeles County, chairmen for the Merriam drive in the thirty assembly districts have been chosen and committees will be announced later this week.

MURRAYS' RANCH FOR THE FOURTH

Special week-end rates up to Victorville and Murray's Dude Ranch over the Santa Fe Transportation System only, were announced this week by Mrs. Lela O. Murray, ranch proprietor.

Tickets are $2.70, good for 60 days, by train or bus either of which will be met by Ranch cars. For information as to the trains or buses call the Santa Fe, Mu. 0111.

another, but something much greater.

Not by the choice of America or the world at large, the contest had become a fight between an Aryan and non-Aryan, a super-man, and a lesser one. Or thus stated German press releases. By all the gods of Hitler and Goebbels the triumph of a physically and mentally perfect German was to occur at the Yankee stadium last Wednesday night. The world was to see the victory of an Aryan, not merely a pugilist. However, the psychological superiority of which Herr Schmeling boasted availed him nothing against the battering fists of a Brown Bomber who inadvertently K. O.'d both a fighter and a nation's superiority complex.

THIS WEEK we learn that the New York Stock Exchange has taken several upswings. We find trading the best in months. There must be some reason for this sudden rebound from the pit of what we termed "recession". There is: President Roosevelt has cajoled a subservient, election-fearing Congress into a "Recovery" appropriation of approximately five billion dollars.

That is, the United States government is borrowing money to purchase recovery. This is a very short-sighted policy, in our opinion.

True, the Stock Exchange has taken on new life. And why not — with a hyperdermic injection of five billion dollars any commercial institution should betray immediate and sweeping signs of rejuvenation. But, the questions remain—What will happen when the five billion is gone? What have we now that can make this five billion effect a permanent prosperity when the thirty-eight spent in the last five years ended only in recession. Will the nation simply borrow some more billions when these give out? And, of course, the great final questions — How far WILL our credit stretch? And who will pay?

On what the President grounds his faith in the new cure-all five billion is obscure unto invisibility so far as we can perceive. What was unconstitutional three years ago is unconstitutional today. What was a rubber-stamp Congress three years ago is a very different one today. In the Judicial Department the President is only slightly strengthened; in the legislative branch tremendously weakened by the Court-Packing and Reorganization Bill failures — and in his own executive division Mr. Rooosevelt is considerably less all-powerful than once upon a time — this through loss of that political essential "prestige". Certainly, then, five billion, facing all these difficulties, cannot perform that which an unfought thirty-eight failed to.

Bartender Roosevelt has intoxicated America with the champagne of borrowed billions — and in this drunken stupor America does not realize the bill is yet to be paid.

SEEKS TO RETURN RAPE SUSPECT

Earl Broady, head of the juvenile bureau at the Newton St. police station left the city last night for Sacramento where he will obtain extradition papers from Governor Merriam to return Henry Ford Harvey, 28 year old porter, to Los Angeles to face trial for the rape of a 13 year old school girl.

Harvey was a roomer in the child's parents home when he forced the child to submit to his attentions on two occasions, once in December, 1937, and again in February, 1938. The child told her mother that she was afraid to speak of the occurrences because the man threatened her.

Rex Ingram in Tuskegee Film

TUSKEGEE, Ala., June 30. (ANP)—"Let My People Live", the movie short with an all-Negro cast which was made on the Institute campus a few weeks ago under the auspices of the National Anti-Tuberculosis association, had its first showing here Monday night in Logan hall.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL
Society Editor

At two minutes and a few seconds past six o'clock last Wednesday evening . . . a hush descended on Central Avenue for a split second . . . and then the Angel City Harlem went wild . . . There was the funeral and Moxie buried with flowers becoming the Nazi exponent . . . There were helpless street car motormen left gaping while celebrators took charge of 'U' cars and headed them in the other direction . . . There was the fire department being called out . . . only to have the ladder truck "borrowed" for a ride! Standing on the jammed corner of Forty-second and Central in front of the Dunbar . . . where the pulse of the city beats hardest . . . one sensed just what Joe's victory meant to a people . . . and didn't mind plodding eighteen blocks home 'cause the street cars couldn't get through . . . A wise entrepreneur could've made plenty of money with horns and confetti . . . however, the Avenue did very well with tin cans nad stray tissue . . . And I loved it for such a response . . . So . . .

That made Friday night more enjoyable when the J. C. Fentresses "suppered" the Henry Armstrongs in their cozy home on Naomi. They're quite the nicest pair of hosts I know . . . making you feel at home and wanting to stay and stay. "Hustlin' Hank" is as unassuming as a high school lad . . . a lover of laughter and beer . . . and apparently proud of the role of attentive "hubby" and father. Mrs. Armstrong wore a white sharkskin fitted frock with dainty bolero jacket trimmed in navy and navy pumps . . . and likes New York.

'TWAS THE THING TO DO:

So Sunday morning with Sol being so generous, Phillip's Temple CME church was good for the spirit . . . and for meeting the folks who're summering here by the dozens. Ran into the Boswell sisters (Vivian and "Dance" Bradshaw) that're favorite chums . . . elbowing their oldest sister, Mrs. Ruby Hickman, who's here for the summer after teaching all winter in Texas . . . An impromptu invite to dinner took us to their cozy home to meet Misses V. Langhrum and Zephyr Pruitt, Zeta sorors and the Boswell guests for the summer . . . Both are Dallas teachers and attending USC . . . be here until September . . . The afternoon passed leisurely until five when we scurried to the AKA tea in the garden of Mrs. Louise Kenner . . . honoring grads of one degree and another. Light comraderie prevailed over cool punch and pink and green cake.

Sunday night . . . to Avalon late — not so late — to be carried into a realm beyond care and hot, mean days on the wings of music from forty voices . . . now forty other voices . . . and now eighty! So sorry that time forbade the visit to the social hall where everybody got acquainted with everybody over cups and sandwiches.

Deaderick F. Jenkins, would-be "Red" and champion of the non-breadwinners, writes our editor from Philadelphia that he and company were tired, hungry and worn on reaching the city of disappointing "brotherly love" and their disposition none the better for it . . . "But imagine our changed disposition when we saw a copy of The California Eagle" . . . he continues "It made us feel at home away from home" . . . In recounting just how thrilling it was . . . Jenkins says the first thrill was in passing through the Allegheney Mountains . . . and the second seeing the EAGLE. We're all chesty about the generous praise and wish him a grand stay in the East.

LOOKING FORWARD:

The grandest of summer holidays turns us about face to a week-end teeming full with places to go and things to do . . . Above the crack-crack of fireworks and attending hilarity, the elite will pull things to an even tempo with quiet parties and picnicking at Elsinore, Val Verde and other resort spots.

Pre-holiday events get off with a bang when the Ten Men's Club stage a sport dance at the Black and Tan Cafe on Jefferson and Normandie, Thursday night . . . top-notch music and entertainment are promised by the hosts . . . Friday evening, the fraternal summer events will swing in with a dance given by the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity to honor sorors of Zeta Phi Beta. The affair, a semi-formal one, will mark the first open function of the Sigmas and the first presentation of Zeta sorors who just recently received their charter.

Sunday will have its usual round of teas . . . but a number of tennis fans — and fans of anything — will head Pasadena way to attend the Pacific Coast Tennis tournament on the courts of Pasadena jaysee . . . Finals will be held Monday. Sun glasses and picture hats will be the principal things you'll need . . . unless the weather man goes back on us . . .

In the East are Mrs. A. H. Lee, of 1654 East 23rd street, mother of Mrs. Helen Williams Hairston, druggist, and Mrs. L. C. Tibbs, who entrained last Monday on "The Challenger" for Chicago, New York and New Orleans and . . . cities in between; and Mrs. Julia Brooks, nine-year resident of L. A., who left last Sunday for New York to visit old friends and relatives . . . returning in November.

HOSTING SORORS

Oklahoma Guests Feted in South Los Angeles

One hundred guests were bidden to the cocktail party honoring Miss Edna L. Chapman, Sunday afternoon in the beautiful South Los Angeles home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Chapman. Miss Chapman, an Oklahoma school teacher, is visiting her brotner, John Chapman, with their mother, Mrs. Nancy Mims Chapman, for the summer.

Miss Olive Minter entertained the Chapmans with a dinner party last Saturday evening.

Rainey-Jeffres Nuptials Held in Long Beach

Miss Loddis Rainey and John W. Jeffres were quietly married last week at 1010 Twelth Street in Long Beach, California. Guests were J. P. Walker, Jeems Mills and Mrs. Hellen Cooper.

Nebraskans Settle in Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Pettiford of Omaha, Nebr., drove here for a brief visit with old schol chums, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harrison, 663 East 36th street and also Harry and Rose Johnson, old time vaudeville stars. The elaborate dinner parties, climate and scenery so charmed the Pettifords that they sent for the remainder of their belongings and will make Los Angeles their future home.

We have with us: Dr. and Mrs. R. Giles of Columbus; Eleanor White, teacher from New Orleans and guest of the T. Broadways of West 28th street . . . Dr. and Mrs. James F. Smith and daughter of the Windy City, who're on the Great American Tour . . . and the guests of Dr. Smith's aunt, Mrs. Sarah Lewis, in East Forty-second place. The Smiths are smiling favorably on Los Angeles as a probable future home. In Long Beach, James Elmore is hosting his brother, Dr. E. Elmore of Seattle.

Graduation echoes are still in the air . . . Nevin Avenue School faculty and one of the nursery matrons surprised Mrs. Leona B. McDowell, who will be graduated from USC in July with honors, by presenting her with a pair of sterling silver candlesticks . . . A nice thing to do. Wish you the grandest of Fourths!

AKA SORORS CHOOSE HOLIDAY WEEK-END FOR REGIONAL CONFAB

Beta Kappa of San Diego is Hostess Chapter to Two-Day Meet

While businesses and other organizations "close shop" for the holiday week-end, coast sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha will go into a huddle in sunny San Diego for their annual Far Western Regional conference, headed by Mrs. Ursula Adams, of Los Angeles, regional director. The Beta Kappa chapter will host the nine chapters from Seattle, Oakland, Phoenix and the Angel City.

Registration will begin at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, July 3, at the Clay Street YWCA, 2905 Clay street with Evada Long and Alvessie Hackshaw in charge of housing. Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton will superintend the public meeting to be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the auditorium of the Bethel Baptist church. Miss Eleanor Coleman of Los Angeles will deliver the principal address and musical selections will be rendered by sorority members. The public meeting will be followed by a reception.

The sorors will be entertained Sunday night at a beach party by the Mariners Club assisted by leading business men of San Diego.

Conference sessions will be held throughout the day on Monday, July 4 and will culminate in a closed banquet with Lucille Culberson acting as toastmistress.

Bessie Dones Presents Pupils in Studio Musicale

It was really a capacity house of lovely guests including parents, musicians and music lovers who gathered on Sunday afternoon of June 19th in attendance at the Studio of the violin pupils of Mrs. Bessie Dones assisted by piano pupils of Miss Ruby Lyle. The recital held at the studio of Mrs. Dones was indeed an exhibition of the musical developement steadily going forward among the youth of the community.

In both violin and piano branches there were pupils from the pre-school age to the advanced grades and they were thoroughly delightful both in solo and ensemble numbers.

Mrs. Dones is featuring special classes in ensemble work this summer. For further information call Adams 7389. Studio is located at 818 E. 32nd street.

MONROVIA NEWS

Second Baptist Church
Maple and Shamrock Aves.
Rev. John A. Davis, Pastor

Another very wonderful day was experienced by all present at the services last Sunday. The Sunday School opened on time with Mrs. Elmira Enge acting superintendent. This being Woman's day, all classes were taught by the women of the church. Class No. 1 taught by Mrs. L. Anderson, No. 2 by Miss Alice Presley, No. 3 Mrs. Chafis, No. 4 Mrs. M. O. Jackson. No. 5 Mrs. D. Brown. The lesson was very beautifully reviewed by Mrs. M. W. Davis, acting pastor for the day.

A large gathering was present at the morning hour to hear Mrs C. A. Bass, Managing Editor of the California Eagle, as she brought a very logical message, filled with enthusiasm, and deep thought. She said among many things, that there was a time when the mothers would tell the children where to go, but now the children are telling the mothers where to go. That if the 15 million Negroes in America, would awake to the realization of their strength, great things could be done by them. Mrs. Bass, urged very strongly, the building of business among the Negroes, if they are to ever become an independent race. A very inspiring message. Dinner was served to all. At 2:30 p. m. in the dining room of the church, Mrs. Washington of New Hope Baptist rendered two very fine selections. Mrs. Ross of our church also rendered a selection.

At 3 p. m. another very splendid attendance was on hand to hear a message delivered by Mrs. Viola Brazil, an outstanding woman Evangelist. Her subject was: "Rise up ye women." She made very clear, some of the things which are holding our women back. Mrs. M. W. Davis was the mistress of ceremonies for the day.

At 8 p. m., under the direction of Mrs. Viola Brister, a Vesper Meditation service was very impressively conducted. Principals in this pageant were: Mrs. McKinly, Mrs. O. M. Cobbs, Mrs. G. Abernathy, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. F. Goodwin and Mrs. Gaston, Mrs. Enge and Mrs. Wyatt.

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Society will be held Friday from 10 to 4 p. m.

The A. H. J. club will give its regular annual celebration for all the graduates of this year. Among them are Misses Alice Presley, Muriel Simonds, Eslie Adams, from our local high school. This celebration was held in Jackson's Park.

The pastor and church is worshipping with the Macedonia Baptist church on Friday, July 1 at 8 p. m.

A mass meeting was held in the church on Monday night, at which time all property owners in the Mattoon Act-District were requested to be present. The matter had to do with the refunding of the Mattoon Act-District, which had been pending for some years, and the refinancing of the District financial plans. The pastor wishes to thank the following members for the surprise birthday party given him on last Friday night. Rev. and Mrs. Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jackson, Bro. and Sister R. Gaston, Bro. and Sister S. Goodwin, Bro. and Sister Johnson, Mrs. S. Castle, Mrs. R. Thompson, Mrs. Viola Brister, Mrs. M. J. Davis, Mrs. Stanton and Bro. E. J. Layne.

Many useful presents were received by the pastor and felicitations for having reached another mile stone in life.

Victorville

By VELMA JEAN RYALS

A lovely surprise birthday party was given by Mrs. Lucy Thompson on the night of June 18, in honor of her husband, Mr. George Thompson, and was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noley Murray owners of the beautiful Overall Wearing Dude Ranch, in Victorville.

The most enticing attraction perhaps, was the elabbrate dinner, served in four courses by the true and efficient waiters. The gracious host, Mr. Noley Murray, showing each and every guest, twenty-seven in number, such an enjoyable and memorable time. The entire menu consisted of the following: fruit cocktail, salad, southern fried chicken, mashed potatoes, carrots and peas, hot biscuits, soft drinks, ice cream, and a delicious cake. Nine of the guests hailed from San Bernardino, Calif. They were Mrs. Florence Knight, Mrs. J. E. Muckleroy, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Andrews, Mrs. Bertha Foster, Mr. Otheniel Foster, Mrs. E. F. Johnson and others. Mr. and Mrs. B. Johnson of Corona, Mrs. Pitts of Riverside, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Jones from Los Angeles. Those present from Victorville were Mrs. C. L. Blythe, Mrs. M. Ryals, Miss L. White, Miss Dorothy Washington, Mr. Ernest Moore and Mr. Theodore Smith. Many lovely presents were received by Mr. Thompson.

The party proved to be a splendid affair, and was immensly enjoyed by all.

Miss Dorothy Washington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ryals, made her safe arrival home after having a very enjoyable visit of seven month's duration in Houston, Texas, with her Uncle and Aunt, Dr. and Mrs. B. J. Covington. Miss Washington was greeted by many friends and relatives, each of whom were very glad to see her, and she reports that although Texas does appeal to her, she is happy to return to her own home town.

Mr. John R. Evans, who is now visiting his brother in St. Louis, Mo., plans to visit with his aunt, Mrs. Carrie Story of Victorville for a few days after his return.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Herd of Los Angeles visited with Mrs. Lilla Way last Sunday, June 26, and took in the sights and hospitalities of the Murray Dude Ranch.

Mrs. Margaret W. Holt, who has been on the sick list for some months has very much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson spent the past week at their desert Ranch home in Victorville, which is becoming another beauty spot of the desert.

Members of the AME church were proud of the presence of their pastor, Rev. L. R. Dyas of Los Angeles, who on Sunday morning, June 26, was accompanied by two visiting ministers, Rev. Thornton and Deacon Arball, of Los Angeles. The sermon was delivered by Elder August Taylor, of Victorville, and the entire service was greatly beneficial and enlightning to all who attended.

At seven o'clock speaking was held from the platform. The speakers were Messrs R. Smith, director of the WPA, Swarty of Education, Ward of City recereation. J. Jackson was the chairman and the main speaker of the evening was Rev. T. Patterson of the AME church who spoke on "The Progress and Beliefs of the Negro". Immediately after the program the street was cleared for an enjoyable evening of dancing.

Miss Mary Lou Philip, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Philips, left Sunday night for Howard University in Washington, D.C. to work towards her Masters Degree. Miss Pihlips attended Redlands University and was graduated from UCLA. where she was an Alpha Kappa Alpha and president of the Brigadetts Bridge club. Those bidding her bon voyage was her sister, Miss Tommie Philips, Evelyn Johnston, Constance Boyd, Lucille Wyndon, Messrs. T. Smith, Orville Diggs, club members, and many friends. She will be missed in the community by all.

The Negro recreational center located at Seventh and L Streets was opened officially Tuesday with Mayor C. T. Johnson, Councilman Sheehan, Mrs. F. E Clough, and M. R. Smith as guest. Music was furnished by Jones' orchestra who are doing fine work. Vocal solos were rendered by Marian Gordon and tap dances by Shirley Banks and Felitas Green. Refreshments were free. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend the Center at any time.

Those attending the district conference held at San Diego were Mesdames Muckelroy, Boston, and Messrs Carl Ingraham, Patterson, Miss Juanity Blakely and your reporter. We all enjoyed the hospitality of the San Dieogeans.

"I hear of."

The pastor, Rev. F. D. Haynes spoke to many fathers on the subject "The test of a father's love." Mrs. Ida Mae Brown was the soloist of the morning. Rev. Haynes presided at the last service for the Rev. D. J. Crawford of the 2nd Baptist Church in Woodland, Calif. Club No. 1, with Mrs. Annette Haynes as program chairman, presented a delightful musical program with Mesdames Ida Mae Brown, Gladys Davis and Messrs William Turner and Miss A. Jones and Nettie Lawson as guest artists. Mrs. Naon. Johnson was accompanist. Mr. Wesley was master of ceremonies.

The Jolly Eight Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Tull in Margaret Avenue on the past Wednesday night. All delighted in a Mexican supper and Mrs. Birdye Andrews won club awards.

Mrs. Adah Wilson was hostess to the Thursday Afternoon Bridge club at her home in Sutter street. Guests present were Mesdames Madge Kelley, of Los Angeles, Misses Belle Fleming and Leuthetis Larkin and Mrs. C. Moore. Mrs. Zela Hulsey won first club prize while Mrs. Kelly, first guest.

Little Miss Ruth Cochran is somewhat despondent with vacation, you'd be too if you had the "Mumps".

Tulare—

W. G. M. Moss is Speaker at Tulare Festival

Sunday marked the most successful celebration of St. John's Day, within the memory of local citizens. From points as far North as Oakland, and South to Bakersfield, they gathered--enthusiastic Masons, bent on making the most of their day. Theodore Crawford was at his best as Master of Ceremonies. Worthy Grandmaster, Theodore Moss of San Jose made inspiring remarks, followed by Mr. Hardy, Treasurer of Oakland. The sermon was delivered by Rev. J. N. Cherry of Tulare, while the choir was directed by his able wife.

Spirituals and the Negro National Anthem were rendered with beautiful finesse.

Carl Young, Tulare's standby, sang and accompanying himself, "Mother O' Mine" in his usual good style.

Mr. Russell of Bakersfield, an officer of Craft, was a speaker on the program.

On the refreshment Committee, and responsible for the barbecue dinner which delighted the huge crowd, were Messrs and Mesdames Raymond Carter and I. N. Young. They were assisted in serving by Misses Elizabeth Vinson, Mayme Goethe, Daisy Booker, Ernestine Ashley, and Deborah Carter.

Mr. J. Knicholls, a high officer in the craft from Fresno, doffed his dignity and dispensed barbecue sauce with a lavish, and expert hand.

After the program visitors and citizense went to the Masons' homesite to inspect and admire the new building which was recently completed and entirely free from debt.

Tulareans were shocked at the tragic death, by drowning of Elber Amos, one of the finest of Tulare's youths. Elber was loved by the entire city. Not being an expert swimmer he met his death in a swirling vortex of treacherous water near Earlimart last week.

The huge crowd in attendance at his funeral, Saturday, attested to the high esteem in which this splendid boy was held. Besides his deeply brieved parents and friends he is survived by a heart broken brother, David.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson and children, Marguerite and Robert, Jr., Mrs. Juanita Stewart and children Zanada and Edward were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs Carl Young of Tulare last week. Mesdames Wilson and Stewart are sisters of Mr. Carl Young Tulare's young ladies Dramatic Club is sponsoring a trip around the world Thursday June 30th. Good luck to these talented girls.

Hanford

Hanford is playing hostess this week to the following visitors; Miss Eva Blanch Kinnard, of Los Angeles and her brother, Douglas of San Jose, who are visiting their mother, Mrs. C. Kinnard; Mrs. Lucinda Lewis of Monterey visiting her sister, Mrs. Burchiel Kelley; Mrs. Francis of Stockton visiting her sister, Mrs. Susie Moore; Mrs. Gussie Strauder of Corcoran visiting Mrs. Clara Davis. Miss Pearl Walker of San Jose spent Sunday visiting friends.

The "Hard Times" social, a menu of just beans, given by the trustees of the AME Zion church was a success.

Rev. Maggett of the Baptist church spent a few days here last week and preached on Tuesday evening. Last Sunday Rev. Cotton held services at the Second Baptist Church.

Charles Greenway returned from the hospital last week and is reported doing nicely.

Rev. George H. Maunder, pastor of the AME Zion church spent a few days with his family in Los Angeles to attend the graduation exercises of his son, Leonard at the Jordan high school. Emil, the youngest son, is now vacationing in Hanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Crawford, Mr. Harold Hill and Miss Doretha Carol motored to Fresno last Sunday.

South Los Angeles—

Young Man is Author of Three Song Hits

By BILLIE JONES

Frens I greet you. Although your truly is still agog due to the fistic artistry of our one and only Joe (Champ) Louis last week, I shall endeavor to give you some awaited news . . . The charming mother of Clem (Atlas) Hooks, Mrs. Emily V. Smith, has returned to her home at 1802 E. 108th street. After a grand seven weeks vacation in Santa Barbara, her stay in S. L. A. is quite indefinite. Mrs. Smith has as her house guest Mr. Eda Williams of upper L. A.

Current Dilly Dally . . .

On Juneteenth Miss Lena Jones and yours truly were the guests of that fine gent and friend, War Perkins . . . Those two handsome, debonair, and just too popular bachelors, Bruce Jones and Ishmail Evans, from upper L. A. motored out to add extra glory to the day.

Dootsie Williams breezed home the other noon to give us greetings and leave a cute snapshot of himself. Bakersfield does agree with the lad I mean sho-nuff.

Carl (charmer) Jefferson, former Wattsonvite, a senior operator at Henrietta's Beauty Schol has written three tunes: "A Fool In Love", "I'll Still Be Here" and "You're Number One On My Hit Parade". Carl is a mighty fine musician also, and minor keys on that sweet sax aren't a bit of trouble to him. Right here I'd like to say, I have never seen any two "orbs" quite so beautiful as those of Mrs. Faustina Johnson . . .

And now for our Question of the week . . .

Who was it that said of popular R— H—, "I don't care if she is the only woman in his life, or how well she drives his Ponteek. He is the fruit of my eye and some day at some time I'll be able to inform Miss R— H— that he and I are Mr. and Mrs. Guess Who?

Next week I am going to give you news fans a grand treat. I shall steal into the home of our well-knowns, interview them (you know, what they think, and why, why they eat, and when) and give it to you as was whispered to yours truly.

Long Beach—

Party Given By James Elmore Honors Brother

By LULA PATIENCE

Honoring his brother, Dr. E. Elmore of Tacoma, Wash., James Elmore, 1407 California Ave., was host to about 40 guests Thursday night at a most enjoyable bridge and cocktail party. He was assisted in arrangements and serving by Mrs. Winifred Jimerson and Edward Murphy. The ladies present were adorned in beautiful floor length dresses which added much to the attractiveness and gaiety of the party. Those attending were Mesdames Bertha Roberts and Roberta Wood of L. A. and from Long Beach, Misses Alberta Chambers, Julia Combs, Jessie Graves, Rhoda Champion Helen Cooper, Billie Hammond, Lula Patience; Mesdames and Messrs Levi Howard, R. O. Wilson, John Hayes, Jesse Wills, Emery Fisher, Glover Williams, John Marks, Mesdames Lelia Thoten, Winifred Jimerson, and Messrs. Oliver Fritz, R. B. White, Minard Ammons, Edward Murphy, Townsend, Elmer Tidwell. Mr. Elmore is a local barber and proved to be an excellent host as well.

The formal opening of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves' ranch on W. Carson Road was celebrated by many local and out-of-town people Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Malinda Cohn was hostess to the T. E. Social and Charity Club Wednesday night, June 22nd at her home, 1411-A California Avenue. Guest for the evening was Mrs. Ella Wills. Those winning bridge prizes were Miss Jessie Graves, 1st; Miss Pearl Norris, 2nd; and Mrs. Ella Wills, galloping prize.

Ivory Lane, L. B. Poly Hi-June graduate and heavyweight, was again victorious in a boxing match at Santa Monica Monday night, June 20th, when he scored a knockout in the second round.

Miss Jessie Graves, 1324 California avenue honored Jerry White of San Pedro with a delightful birthday party, Thursday evening, June 23rd.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Winnie Jimerson, 1407 California Avenue, June 19th were Mrs. Grace Shelton of Bakersfield and Dr. E. Elmore of Tacoma, Wash.

Breakfast guests from L. A. at Al Reeves' ranch last Sunday were Miss Bernice Walker of L. A. daughter of Mr. J. P. Walker, L. B., and Mr. Johnny Jones, also of L. A. Horse-backing riding was enjoyed previous to breakfast.

Very regrettable was the passing of Mrs. Dan Meadows last Monday morning. A native of Louisiana, Mrs. Meadows had resided in L. B. for many years. She leaves in L. B. her husband, a daughter Cora, and son, Mr. Eddie Knowles. Interment will take place in Louisiana.

Santa Monica—

Officials Urge Attendance at July 1st NAACP Meet

On Tuesday evening, June 21, the S. M. Boys' Cosmopolitan Club was feted by Mr. and Mrs. Earle Evans, popular Westwood socialites. In addition to club-members, there were several well known visitors present, namely Mrs. Bernice Lawson, popular member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Reports were given by the various committee heads which included proposals for the expansion of the activities of the club. Mr. George Savage, California Bank employee, proposed that the Cosmopolitan Club invite the various officers of local civic and political organizations to a joint meeting the third Tuesday in July. A proposal was also made to give a banquet at the Wayside Barbecue Inn honoring the visiting officers.

Mr. Alden W. Prudhomme, vice-pres. of the local N. N. C. and Dr. Herbert Ward, corresponding secretary, reported the results of the last business meeting of the National Negro Congress and announced that all the officers and committee heads of the Cosmopolitan Club and all other progressive organizations in the Bay District are urged to attend the next business meeting of the National Negro Congress which will be held on Friday evening, July 1, eight o'clock at 1508 19th street, Santa Monica. Miss Lillian Jones and Mrs. Clyde Howell, officials of the Los Angeles Council, will be present at this meeting.

Mrs. Eunice Russell Ward, club president, with the aid of Miss Thelma Fletcher and Mrs. Laura Mar Manuel, are taking the lead in establishing a Juvenile Welfare Department that will extend the activities of the C. C. to cover the investigation and care of needy and underpriviliged children of minority groups in the Bay area. Miss James Stout, club parlimentarian, and Mrs. Laura Mae Manuel, are taking the lead on the work of this department. Others deserving credit for their outstanding contributions in this field are Mrs. Thelma Kinnedy club secretary, Miss Jerry Whitehead and Mr. Ralph Tucker.

Mr. Charles Middlebrook has been negotiating with a S. M. real estate broke for the purpose of leasing new quarters for the Cosmopolitan Club. Mr. Middlebrook reported that the negotiations were most successful and that an available building that is adequate to house all the departments of the C. C. plus offering the proper facilities that will meet the requirements of same has been found. The new quarters will be open for inspection all this week. Phone S. M. 23161 or Venice 64811 for further information.

The educational department of the C. C. has enlarged its scope of activities to cover the study of national and international events. Dr. Herbert Ward, American Legion chaplain and choral director of a government radio program, has been added to the department of education. Miss J. Stout, is collaborating with Dr. Ward in extending the work of the departments of investigation and research. Miss Thelma Fletcher, a member of the S. M. Playground System, is in charge of the departments of gymnastics and athletics.

The Bee Square Club entertained with a Pot Luck supper Thursday evening, June 23, at the home of the president, Mrs. Bessie Lawrence, 1847 21st street. This affair has also celebrated the several club members birthdays including: Messrs. and Mesdames Layne, John Lee, Mrs. Loretta Edwards, Mrs. Rosie Cook, and Mrs. Ally Cook. The evening was spent in playing bridge, dancing, and roasting weiners outdoors. Each member contributed a variety to the menu. An enjoyable time was had by all.

El Centro—

School Principal Speaker at Church Conference

Rev. and Mrs. Hayes Hayter attended the San Diego District Conference of the AME Church, San Diego during the past week. Rev. L. N. Minor and Mrs. Bessie Tolan represented the Imperial A. M. E. church and auxiliary. Reports are that the meeting that is in session is a very helpful one. Dr. H. Francis McClure, Presiding Elder of the District has taken great care in presenting a program for this meeting. The needs of the several phases of church work had been studied and efforts made to reach a helpful solution. Mrs. L. H. Owens conducted the Scholarship Fund section, presenting Prof. A. E. Prince directing the panel discussion which sought ways and means to make more effective the work of the church schools. Mrs. Aubrey Hackshaw, the Rev. Harold Wilson and Mr. H. Manley a student at the San Diego State College assisted Prof. Prince in the discussion, Rev. L. H. Owens, the pastor, proved a thoughtful host-housing most comfortably the large delegation; planning nourishing and appetizing meals; furnishing helpful and entertaining recreation and even installing in the Social Hall a Philco which brought to the young people the returns of the Louis-Schmeling fight.

Mrs. Essie McGee and Mrs. Nina Williams have returned from the annual Convocation of the Church of God held in Los Angeles. They represented the Holt Avenue Church.

The men of the Second Baptist church wil have charge of the church's activities Sunday, July 17. Plans are already being made by them to present a program of spiritual inspiration and a financial epoch for the church. The women of the church will present their special program on July 31.

The membership of the church as well as the churches of the Southwest Baptist Association are planning for the annual session of the Association in San Diego. The meeting will begin Friday evening, July 9, when the young people of Bethel Baptist church will hold the Commencement exercises of the Vacation Church School. The business sessions of the Association and its auxiliaries will be held Saturday closing with a Supper-Social session conducted by the W. W. G. The Moderator, Rev. David Campbell of Blythe; Rev. J. L. Branham, acting pastor of Calvary Baptist church; and Rev. C. H. Hampton, State President of the Western Baptist State Convention will preach the sermons, Sunday.

The ladies of the Second Baptist Church Missionary Society tendered Mrs. Ira Craig a linen shower last Wednesday evening. The Craig residence was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. Members of the church and friends of the family assembled on the lawn of the Paynes' Brighton Ave. residence, brilliantly lighted, and enjoyed the social hour. Mrs. Payne and her daughters served the guests refreshments.

W. A. Payne was a visitor in San Diego during the week, attending sessions of the District Conference and delivered one of the addresses Wednesday afternoon.

The recently organized chapter of Eastern Star has gotten off to a good start. The Friendly Circle Club organized by Mrs. Lottie Augustus last year formed the nucleus for the organization. The officers are: Mrs. Izora Yoakum, W. M.; Eddie James, W. P.; Mrs. Irma K. Laurence, Associate Matron; John Fair, Associate Patron; Mesdames Lottie Augustus, Conductress; Emma Lou James, Associate Conductress; Bernice Fair, Secretary; Sarah B. Gillum, Treasurer; Martha Chism, Adah; Julia Blake, Ruth; Pearl McKinney, Esther; Lee Etta Bostick, Martha; Jewel H. Tolbert, Electa; Alberta Hayes, Warden; Mr. W. V. Laurence, Sentinel.

BAKERSFIELD

The young people of Mt. Zion Baptist church enjoyed and appreciated the wonderful sermon preached by the pastor, Rev. H. A. Green, subject: "The Game of Life". Mrs. C. B. Howard was the soloist for the morning. Father's Day also was a great event at Mt. Zion. The Usher Board under the leadership of Sis. W. M. Austin presented a one act play, subject: "Geraldine's Inspiration".

Last Monday evening Ne Plus Ultra Temple, Daughter of Elks entertained the State Officers, Miss Lois Small, first vice-president of the Pacific State Association, and Mrs. Clara B. Howard State recording secretary. The evening was spent playing bridge and dancing. The brother Elks made the party a great success. Mrs. G. A. Jackson left for San Diego to attend the grand session of the S. M. T. Sister Ethalena Upshaw has also returned from the Sunday School Congress.

HANFORD

The AME Zion Sunday School under the leadership of Mrs. Cornelia Blakeney has taken on new life and expression. Last Sunday, two beautiful Bibles were given in a memory test. Mrs. Lucinda Lewis and Mrs. Johnny Mae Walker being the recipients.

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 59—NO. 12 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1938

The LAUNDRYMAN

Hello, Folks! I guess you are all very happy now since Joe Louis won his fight with Schmeling. I wouldn't like to be in the latter's shoes when he faces Hitler, and the Fuehrer asks him "How Come?"

However, as a group we can't afford to sit down and fold our hands and think that we ourselves won't have to keep on fighting for OUR rights, because right now within our midst, an enemy stalks who is far more dangerous than the German prize-fighter. And that enemy is the discrimination practice by the F. H. A. and the Home Owner's Loan Corporation.

Perhaps many of us do not know that F. H. A. loans are very difficult for members of our group to obtain, but they are. Very few of us have been able to secure them, especially on the Eastside, our most densly populated section. Invariably, applicants are turned away with various excuses; the house are too old, the zone is not included in the F. H. A. survey, or the applicants earning power is not sufficient; some of which explanations may be true, according to the regulations.

But the thing that I cannot understand is, that if the Eastside zone is so far below the standard, WHY in the HELL does the Home Owners Loan Corporation ask such big prices for property they have up for sale in our zone? It may be well to mention just here that there and loaneth are just about two building and loan companies (white) who will make a loan on the Eastside to our group as I mentioned some time in this column, the policy by the H. O. L. C. is not commensurate wit hthe amount of the loan which can be secured from either of these companies. If it were not for these two companies, property owners on this side of town would be in a pickle.

What is the solution? Fuming and bemoaning our predicament individually? I say, No, because singing individual Blues will get us nowhere. ORGANIZED pressure should be brought to bear upon the Federal Government to do ONE of two things; either to loosen the rigid zoning regulation in regard to our most heavily populated Negro sections, or else to lower the prices the H. O. L. C. asks for properties they have for sale in such sections. If our most dersly populated zones are not valuable enough to warrant Government loans, then the Government should not ask fancy prices for properties it has for sale in such zones.

"But how can we buck the government?", you ask. It may not be so difficult as it appears on the surface, if we set about it in the right way. To my mind, the key to the solution lies in the staff or Appraisers of the H. O. L. C. I may be wrong, but I have an idea that these appraisers are appointed through political channels. If so, are task becomes simpler, and resolves itself into a phase of Political presure.

I am convinced that an Organization composed of the colored Real Estate Brokers and Musiness men of all our large cities could bring sufficient pressure to bear—through petitions— to have Negro Appraisers appointed to appraise properties offered for sale by the H. O. L. C. in colored sections.

Some may say that this smacks of segregation, but I contend that the End will more than justify the Means. For it will mean the saving of thousands of dollars for the meagre pocket-books of our group.

We should lose no time in sifting this matter to the bottom. We have Negro Real estate brokers who are in every way capable of filling such positions, and in justice to ourselves, and for the economic welfare of our group we wage war ceaselessly upon these conditions until they are remedied.

In Which A Double Champion Bears Out Our Suspicions That He's A Remarkable Little Big Man

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

WE CORNERED this Little Big-Man, Henry Armstrong, a few nights ago. No, we weren't crazy! It wasn't in a ring, we made sure of that, just in an informal conversation. We can't say that we were surprised by what we heard. On the contrary, our suspicions about this Little Big-Man were more than just suspicions, as it turned out. He proved them to be honest-to-goodness facts.

When this Little Big-Man, who rules the featherweight and welterweight boxing roosts of the world, quits the squared circle he will retire to a life of comparative ease. This will be possible because he is using a little forethought and thinking ahead. He is securing annuities, getting another as fast as one is paid up. He is purchasing income property. And when he quits the ring, he plans to open up a little business, capitalizing on his popularity with the ring-bugs.

About this little business. It seems that after so long a time a champion gets used to the idea of crowds and hand-shaking. From the way this Little Big-Man tells it, it gets in the blood to the extent that it would be well nigh impossible to quit the ring and retire to a settled life.

For in quiet, secluded and settled living all of the excitement, crowds and, if a champion, the handshaking, is missing. So, the Little Big-Man plans a little business, something to keep him busy after the blood-thirsty mobs are through yelling as he stalks his prey in the squared circle.

He got the idea from the present activities of such former ring greats as Mickey Walker, Jack Dempsey and Jim Braddock. All of these ex-gladiators opened restaurants in New York, the nation's fight center, and the way this Little Big-Man tells it, are doing a great business. It keeps them busy, says Hank, keeping alive the old spark of comraderie that belongs to a champion and his supporters.

Armstrong told us of the place "Jersey Jim" Braddock has, featured by the improvised ring in the center, with its patch of white light beaming upon it and the seats at ringside all around, which form the bar. He described it so colorfully that we imagine that if we ever go to the Big Town, "Jersey Jim's" place will be quite familiar.

There are reports current that the boxing impressarios are thinking about bringing Jimmy McLarnin, the ex-welterweight kingpin who lost his title to Barney Ross, out of retirement as an opponent for this Little Big-Man. It appears that such a match would stir up quite a lot of popular appeal. It probably would at that, because we understand that Jimmy has kept in good condition since retiring not so long ago.

So well does this Little Big-Man rule his kingdoms the Powers-That-Be have to draft men who have had enough of wars out of retirement to keep him amused. There seems to be but two outstanding challengers on the horizon at present. One is the lightweight champion, Lou Ambers, and the other, the bolo-punching Filipino, Ceferino Garcia.

We thought at one time that Garcia might prove a tough hurdle. But now, at this writing, we don't. Of the two challengers who are scheduled to do battle with this Little Big-Man, ruler of featherweight-welterweight divisions of fistiana, we have a feeling that Ambers will prove toughest.

It is true that local boxing experts thought little of Ambers on his two recent appearances here. His showings, we admit, were anything but conclusive of his right to wear the lightweight toga. Nevertheless, he does and, being a Big Town product, he must have won his spurs the hard way. The hard way is no stranger to the Little Big-Man either, so we feel on that score alone, both having had the same teachers, we may look for a surprisingly great battle.

We suspected that the Little Big-Man had analyzed the current fistic situation in the three divisions he hopes to rule. We suspected, and had heard that he was laying aside a nice sized nest egg for a rainy day. We suspected that he had no intentions of winding up, on the down-and-out side of the Ledger of Life. We suspected that he was just as much a gentleman as he was a great ringman.

And, speaking in that convincing, entertaining, and logical way of his, we got that old feeling that here was a remarkable Little Big-Man. No, we did not corner him in a ring. We're too smart for that. With the same degree of effectiveness and dispatch with which he causes his opponents to be borne out of the ring, so were our suspicions regarding him borne out of the realm of doubt to that of light — the light of knowing his business that protects this remarkable Little Big-Man!

EARL DANCER, EDITOR

NEGRO PUBLIC AND PRESS DEMAND RECOGNITION FROM HOLLYWOOD MOTION PICTURE MOGULS WHO IGNORE RACE

LIGHT and SHADE

By EARL DANCER

MAKING MY debut in the journalistic field, I feel that my first article should have a message, one that should inspire the young and hopefuls who are embarking on a theatrical career. I will ever try through my comments, criticism to be constructive. And if at times I should happen to err, as most of us do, it will be a mistake of the head and not of the heart.

I don't propose TO EVER BE MALICIOUS and attempt to DESTROY that which is good. I will ever AID AND ABET to the VERY BEST of my ability TALENT wherever I find it. With that thought paramount in my mind I must quarrel with one Porter Roberts, columist, whose BRIEF CAREER has been punctuated with more brickbats, than orchids.

For a number of years I have wanted to pay tribute to Ethel Waters for her contribution to the American stage. Porter Roberts now affords me that opportunity. One does not attempt to destroy Carnegie Institute or the Smithsonian Institute or Tuskegee Institute. Those are great and worthy institutions. And so is ETHEL WATERS A GREAT AMERICAN INSTITUTION.

And I am most concerned with the preservation of that institution. Like any person who helped build a beautiful house, even though he might not live in that house, should he happen to pass and discover bad boys throwing mud on it, he would stop them.

Seldom have I found reputable and worthwhile critics who are not located in the metropolitan centers. All great and worthwhile productions are produced in New York, a few in Chicago and Hollywood, which are recognized as our theatrical capitols. An artist never reaches the acclaim of the American public unlss he or she achieves fame in either one of these capitols.

A critic, to be able to know and judge the merit of these productions and the versatility and artistry of the artists who appear in these productions must necessarily reside in those cities. I understand that Mr. Roberts has spent most of his life in Toledo, where I am quite sure, that few, if any, of these productions and artists appear. So I challenge Mr. Roberts, his knowledge of the thing he attempts to criticise, namely the theatre and its people.

Mr. Roberts first came to the attention of the public when he attempted to attack Bill Robinson, from his hiding place—Toledo. Mr. Robinson, being the philanthropist that he is, attempted to help his education by bringing him to New York to witness a Cotton Club show, the like of which, I am sure, Mr. Roberts hadn't witnessed before. I noticed immediately after his visit to New York he was loud in the praise of the man he had attempted to malign in his column a few months previous.

I am wondering if all artists that he attacks, is it necessary for them to invite him to New York to see their performances? No, I think not, because I found the type of writer that Roberts represents is never able to do any good, but loads of harm. I would like to tell Mr. Roberts some of the truly great accomplishments of Ethel Waters, whose achievements in the theatre stand out just as forcibly as Booker T. Washington, Fred Douglass, Paul Lawrence Dunbar, Phyliss Wheatley, Sojourner Truth, W. E. B. DuBois, George S. Schuyler, Weldon Johnson, C. C. Spaulding, Harry Pace, Jesse Binga, Anthony Overton, Dr. Mary Bethune, Dr. Robert R. Moton, Major R. R. Wright and others in their respective fields. They, like she, had a definite goal and they accomplished that goal. That spells success.

Waters, unlike the majority of the above mentioned, had little or no academic background. Her beginning was meagre, but despite the handicap of her lowly surroundings she became an artist who 13 years ago, Ashton Stevens, dean of theatrical critics, proclaimed, "THE GREATEST ARTIST OF HER RACE AND GENERATION."

When I first saw Ethel Waters 18 years ago in a place that today would be labeled a "honky tonk" little did I think that the girl singing a smutty song entitled "I Am Trying To Teach My Man Right From Wrong", with patrons tossing quarters and dollars on the floor to see her perform a shake dance (let me say here that it was the grandest shake dance I have ever seen) would years later be singing "Suppertime" in "As Thousand Cheer."

Ethel Waters didn't jump from the honky tonks to "As Thousands Cheer in one leap. Hers was a long and bitter fight. Ethel Waters first came to the attention of the American public through the medium of the 'Black Swan' records, where she soon became one of America's most popular record stars.

Then a tour of the theatres that

LONG LIVE THE QUEEN

Recently Ethel Waters was the storm centers of controversy started by a young newspaperman. It provoked many who knew and loved her for her achievements in the theatre. The editor of these pages in his column to the left entitled "Light and Shade" reveals some interesting facts about the First Lady of the Stage and Vice-President of the Negro Actors Guild of America. The Editor has known Ethel Waters for a number of years and knows beyond a reasonable doubt that the unwarranted attack made against her a few weeks ago was ridiculous.

Robeson Injects New Philosophy Into His Acting

LONDON, England, June 30. (ANP)—A mild sensation in theatrical circles here was created by famed Singer-Actor Paul Robeson when he turned down a lucrative offer to appear in a West End Play, elected instead to work with a group of cooperative actors at Unity theatre in the play "Plant in the Sun", which deals with a sit-down strike in America.

The play, written by Ben Bengal and produced by Herbert Marshall, had its premiere Tuesday. In this and future play, Robeson is reported as declaring he will portray "honest parts" instead of portraying characters he doesn't believe in. He wants to be himself, a plain singer and actor, expressing the philosophies of his own people.

Robeson's friends say he cannot forget that his father was a slave, that he himself once worked as kitchen-boy and waiter. "Heck!" he asks, "can I forget that?"

It means that he will sing fewer songs like "Steal Away", "Old Black Joe", and "Mighty Lak' A Rose", and more "songs of protest" as Robeson terms them, like "Go Down, Moses", and "All I Want Is The Cold, Iron Shackles Off My Feet". His ultimate ambition is said to be forming of a permanent Negro company of American actors and bringing the company to England.

'It's Time to Wake Up', Says NAACP Leader

COLUMBUS, O., June 30 (ANP)—The Empress theatre on East Long Street, this city, is owned and operated by colored men, and of course the colored people and all other peoples, are treated exactly alike when they patronize it. There is no segregation of white people, who chose to attend this theatre.

But another concern has now established a theatre for colored people, directly across the street from the Empress, with the avowed purpose of breaking up the regular Negro theatre.—and this new theatre is owned by whites who have five or six theatres downtown in which Negroes are not allowed. The white owners therefore propose boldly, not only to shut the Negro out downtown, but also to come out into the Negro section and break up a Negro theatre, and so compel Negroes to take the segregation and like it.

Experts who count the traffic on East Long Street declare that the block where the Empress is now located will not support two theatres; that the new theatre must either drive out the Empress or itself be driven out.

The Columbus citizens including the NAACP membership, are determined to impress colored people that this bold effort to both injure and insult them must be resented. William Pickens, in mass meeting, recently said to them "It is entirely up to the colored people; downtown they can refuse your money and then be exonerated by double-crossing officers of the law. But out on East Long they cannot take your money without your consent. If the colored people break up their own theatre and allow a concern which jim crows them downtown to come out and take their money, in their own section of town, then the colored people deserve to be jimcrowed downtown and kicked hard in the pants, when they attempt to enter downtown theatres."

Many colored people declared Dean Pickens is not thinking of the future, nor much of the present, and these may stroll into an attractive show-place without knowing of the social connections and the consequences. If the matter is called to the attention of the Negroes of Columbus, the new theatre will not be patronized by the majority of them. The new theatre concern has even arranged to get pictures from the producers, to the exclusion of the right of the Empress to get the pictures. Thus, both economic and racial murder is committed.—unless the colored people SEE and FIGHT BACK, simply by refusing this patronage to this meanest method of segregation.

Editor Accuses Film Heads Of Fostering Malicious Propaganda

By EARL DANCER

Drama Editor

For 25 years, Black America and its press has contributed millions of dollars, oceans of ink, galleys upon galleys of type, fortunes in the engraving of photos publicizing the motion picture industry. Let's see what they have given us in return.

First, we must take all the "Aunt Jemimas" and "Uncle Toms" because there has been more of them than anything else.

Secondly, an occasional musical sequence where they make us contort ourselves in grotesque make-up and caricatures that they label authentic characterizations.

Oh yes, they gave us "Hearts in Dixie" which, I am sure that very few Negroes sat through the entire film and then that other "epic", "Hallelujah" which was the sister to "Hearts in Dixie", and the great, great granddaughter of "Uncle Tom's Cabin".

For these types of pictures we have had to contribute yearly over $50,000,000. And you must admit that as high as things are supposed to come from the glamour city that is an exorbitant amount for even those "masterpieces".

They gave one of our great artists, Bill Robinson, a contract and one or two minor players. For that great bit of generosity we are supposed to sit back and say, "Hollywood is doing fine by the brethren and sistern of Black America".

But a worm will eventually turn. So Black America is tired of asking. The Negro Press is tired of exploiting. We are demanding what is rightfully ours. First, better and more sympathetic roles for our players. Authentic, and not caricatured, persons of black skins. Representation in the studios in the technical departments and Negro composers receiving credit for their music, instead of white composers who take their tunes for two-bits and sell them to the studios for thousands.

We admit the Negro has been considered the laborer because he has helped to build this great nation. In the entire history of the Negro he has done something besides open doors and saying, "Yassuh!"

A few years ago there was so much propaganda against the Chinese people that everyone thought they could only say, "Me no likee" or "It was velley glood". But the Chinese objected, we mean the American Chinese objected, and now only impeccable English is used whenever we see a Chinese on the screen. Today they have made the Chinese famous by saying, "Clever people, these Chinese!"

Still, these same producers use our millions of dollars to foster the subtle and obvious propaganda that all Negroes speak southern dialect. We are not asking the producers to portray our doctors, our lawyers and our educators of which we have as many proportionately as any other single group. But we are asking them to show the average Negro as he actually is. We have bricklayers, carpenters, brakemen on trains, engineers who work in round houses. We have mechanics who work in our automotive industries. We have Negroes who speak the King's English as well as their fellow workers of a lighter hue. And I am quite sure that even the white Solid South could not resent this type of Negro in our modern films.

The motion picture industry in its advertising allotment includes newspapers of every nation in the world, except the Negro. So I am charging the motion picture industry with gross neglect of the people who have contributed so much toward its growth. But I warn them that the Negro is fed up. So now, you say what will we do about it? This is what we will do about it! You can still make the type of pictures you wish, Mr. Producer, because those are your studios. But we will keep our money in our pockets and stay away from the theatres where those pictures are shown. And I am quite sure that you will need our millions long before we will need that type of entertainment that you insist upon presenting for our consumption.

There is a growing movement of the entire Negro Press to help make Black America aware of this alarming condition. I have the assurance that Earl J. Morris, Motion Picture Editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, whose paper carried an article on this subject a few weeks ago, Ralph Matthews of the Afro-American and Howard Woods of the St. Louis Call, James Gentry, Theatrical editor of the Chicago Defender and others are presenting a United Front to erase this vicious propaganda which is a vile and contemptble as Nazism. And it is very contradictory that the majority of men who control the motion picture industry are Jews who are supposed to be against anything that smells of fascism or nazism.

It is a far cry from the Jew who has been segregated in Germany and most European countries for centuries where he has been jim crowed, to the Jews in Hollywod who insists that the Negro must portray illitrate and pitiful parts in the scheme of things in the motion picture industry.

No I must believe it is AN OVERSIGHT. I can't believe that a group of people who produce such a beautiful thing as "The House of Rothchild" which makes a lie of anything that a HITLER could do or say, wouldn't want to produce something just as beautiful of a group of people who has ever been in THEIR CORNER with a TOWEL instead of a BRICK.

BABY WITH 3 LEGS BORN IN W. AFRICA

LAGOS, W. Africa, June 30—A native woman in the village of Obio, Nigeria gave birth to a handsome baby with three legs, it was reported here.

BLANCHE THOMPSON, star of Irving C. Miller's "Brownskin Models" like Irene Rich of the screen, has proved that time does not dim that which is truly beautiful. Miss Thompson is one of our girls who had the good fortune to possess brains as well as beauty.

Picture: "Test Pilot"
Players: Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, Spencer Tracy
Place: Tivoli Theatre

"Test Pilot" is a return to that healthy melodramatic type movie which was best exemplified in such works as "Hell's Angels", "Dawn Patrol", "Hell Divers", "Devil Dogs of the Air", etc. The shift is a welcome one.

Wearied as we are with a series of imitations of "My Man Godfrey" and "The Awful Truth", "Test Pilot" comes along at what is termed the psychological moment.

The teaming of the three box-office draws, Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, and Spencer Tracy is ideal; each has the sort of role at which he or she is best. For instance,C. G. is the dashing, reckless aviator; Myrna Loy his pally, man-to-man sort of wife, while Spencer Tracy excells as the caustic, sour-puss pal.

The whole thing is handled extremely well by director Victor Fleming, and the picture really boasts some of the best air photography yet seen. The several crash sequences are guaranteed to have you gripping your seats--unmindful of the incredibility of some of the escapes.

Story concerns test pilot Gable who forced lands on the farm of a farmer whose daughter is Myrna Loy. The two fall in love, and when Gable leaves he takes college-educated Miss Loy with him. They are married, and the remainder of the pic occupies itself with exposing the terrific strain the test pilot's wife and pal undergo while he is up some thirty-thousand feet in bombing planes, racers, etc. Pal Tracy is the one who gets killed in the end, however, and forth with Gable looses his tests for flirting with "Lady Blue-Gown" (the Sky). He settles down to teach young army recruits the fundamentals of the flying profession. There is a fade-out on the happy family group--Gable, Loy, and child.

Gloria Golden (Muni's wife in "Zola") and Lionel Barrymore contribute flawless supporting performances.

The film's real power, though, is in the magnificently-photographed air sequences. Also, there is one moment when Spencer Tracy is informing Myrna Loy of the great danger her husband risks in flying . . . "It ain't safe to sit in 'em, (airplanes)" . . . "It ain't safe to look at 'em!" . . . wherein that actor exhibits the why of his recent Academy award.

Picture: "Hawaii Calls"
Players: Bobby Breen, Ned Sparks, Irvin S. Cobb
Place: Tivoli Theatre

"Hadaii Calls" could be called a number of things. However, it is adevrse to the policy of this publication to print profanity.

P. S. Ned Sparks was good, though.

LIGHT AND SHADE

By Earl Dancer

Roberts decries, namely the colored houses, the famous T. O. B. A. Here she proved to be a godsend to the theatre owners who seldom could get attractions that would do the business of a Mamie Smith, Bessie Smith, Trixie Smith, Butterbean and Susie and a few others who made this circuit possible which gave employment to hundreds of sepia performers.

Her next step was vaudeville where in a few years she became a recognized headliner. She received top billing with the greatest stars in that field. But she still wasn't a Broadway star, because she hadn't had a Broadway show. Many sepia artists might have been satisfied with this measure of success. But not Waters. She hadn't reached the end of her goal.

So she sat out to win Broadway. Through the medium of the "Everglade cafe" where she was a sensation she received her entree to Broadway. Florence Mills was across the streets at Lew Leslie's Plantation Revue. Sam Salvin who was the owner of the "Club Plantation" and backer of Lew Leslie saw Ethel Waters at the "Everglade Cafe" and engaged her to follow Flo Mills when Leslie took Flo to London starring in a show. This was in the summer of 1925.

There Waters proved that she was the greatest comedienne the Negro race had ever produced. It was in that show a female producer, Carolyn Dudley, saw Josephine Baker who was a soubrete in Waters' show and gave Miss Baker her first break by taking her to Paris.

Following the Club Plantation revue Waters toured the north and south in her first show, "Miss Calico". Then Broadway with "Africana". It was in shows of this type that a number of our present day greats were given their first opportunity.

By this time Ethel Waters had arrived as a star of such magnitude that she could be placed at the head of a super musical revue. And let me add here Mr. Roberts that producers and men of money will only put money into a show when it carries a reputable star with a definite box office appeal.

Her next move was back to vaudeville as a super headliner where she topped the bill. Billed over some of the biggest white names in show business, but still that wasn't enough for Ethel. Her goal was to co-star with other white artists as the late Bert Williams had done in an all white productions.

And Waters was the first Negro woman and the second Negro to achieve this distinction in the production by Moss Hart "As Thousands Cheer," along with the late Marilyn Miller and Clifton Webb.

By then Ethel Waters' great star had risen to such great heights that even after the illness of Marilyn Miller and the absence of Clifton Webb she was able by her own box office appeal to carry that show into the depths of the South and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. An achievement that no other Negro in the history of the theatre had ever accomplished.

And even you, Mr. Roberts, must admit that it was a far cry from "I Am Trying To Teach My Man Right From Wrong" to that great star who moved vast audiences to tears with her rendition of the imortal "Suppertime."

Ethel Waters was not through when she won fame as a record star. She wasn't through when she won success as a vaudeville artist. No, she wasn't through when she won fame as the greatest comedienne in Broadway cafes. She wasn't through when she made the entire world sing, "Am I Blue" in the motion picthre, "On With The Show". She wasn't through when she sang "Suppertime" in "As Thousands Cheer."

She wasn't through, Mr. Roberts, when for the first time in the history of Broadway that a colored and white star, together, received top billing over the name of the production in which they appeared, namely, "At Home Abroad." It was Ethel Waters and Beatrice Lillie.

No, Porter Roberts, Ethel Waters is not through.

Either at Home or Abroad.

FOOTLIGHT FLICKERS

By Alvin Moses for ANP

NEW YORK, June 30—"Midge" Williams, the pretty peach complexioned lass with the soft golden voice, literally panicked the audience last Friday when she blew into Frank Schiffman's Apollo theatre.

Manager Jimmy Marshall has a man sized job on his hands in bringing a singer in next week to compare with crowd pleasing Midge. Definitely Jimmy, she's on the . . . Maxine Sullivan type, and--that is competition enough for anyone alive as we view the situation.

"Satchmo" Louie Armstrong all week long proved one thing . . . he's the king of the trumpeters, and in addition . . . his "mugging" at the mike makes the crowd forget all about those who figure to give him his stiff-fest competition.

And while on the subject of "Trumpet King No. 2", we might add that looking around the house while covering the show, who did we glimpse in the audience talking softly with Manager Marshall but . . . that sensational young star of the trumpet . . . Erskine Hawkins. Did someone say . . . The king goes out to meet the king . . . or words to that effect???

Singers may come . . . or--Go with the wind, but for our few dollars (darn these days, folks), Sonny Wood scan warble far and away above the field. Maybe it's the manner in which Sonny has his introduction to current song hits arranged that slays you. Perhaps, it's due to the fact that for a seemingly little guy by comparison to some of the singing giants (Jimmy Melton et al), his voice volume wins you to his corner. But whatever it is, don't overlook this fact: Sonny just goes out there and sings like hell.

Walked a block with Bill (Bojangles) Robinson, Hollywood star, and world's greatest tap dancer today, and naturally, we talked nothing else but--Joe Louis.

Bill, came in to see his adopted son fight . . . pardon my glove, kayo the man who beat him mercilessly two years ago. Robinson looked grand, not like a man of 60, but rather a sparkling young fella of 40 odd. He must live the life he loves . . . Love the life he lives . . . and Mrs. Robinson in addition to being an ace wife . . . must be some cook.

CLARENCE MUSE TO STAGE GALA MOVIE BALL AT WARNER'S

Famed Actor's Rise Inspires Young Artists

Clarence Muse's history has been a curious one. He has gained experience from the oddest sources; as a singing waiter on the Hudson, and in the lovely cafes of Palm Beach, Fla.; as an instructor of drama in a Chicago School; as an ordinary trouper on the road, as a producer of traveling shows in the deep south; actor and star of the Lafayette Players, National Broadcasting artist, and as a featured motion picture actor in over 293 pictures in ten years. Crowded in this full life he went to college, studied law, finds time to help all worthy causes and is working just as hard today for success as the young fellow who is just dreaming of big things. Eternal youth follows him and tremendous enthusiasm. At present he is directing Hall Johnson's play "Run Little Chillun" that opens at the Mayan July 22nd with the largest cast ever assembled for the Federal Theatres, a Negro folk drama with music. It played Broadway, and along with this great fun he is directing the first real movie ball of the Golden West Lodge of Elks, to be held at Warner Brothers' studio stage 6 in Hollywood Thursday night, July 21st. As might be expected, the stage is a strong love with Mr. Muse. As with many other actors their first grounding in the drama came through the medium of the flesh and blood theatre. There is no thrill for him like the thrill of playing before a crowded gallery and hearing the thunderous applause that greeted a particular brilliant scene.

Mr. Muse says the only hope for the young Negro actor is the loyal support of colored audiences. If they fail to come to the theatre the young Negro artist is doomed. His success points directly to the days at the Lafayette theatre in New York when thousands of Negroes came weekly to see him and encourage his efforts while doing roles like "Dr. Jekyle and Mr. Hyde", "The Master Mind" and "Svengali". Modestly he says "I have just begun to work."

Raves about Miss Ruby Elzy his new find, star of "Porgy and Bess" and Florence O'Brien, a young Los Angeles girl, who never had a chance before, the capable actor Jess Lee Brooks Gertrude Saunders, Cleo Desmond, Olive Ball, Alfred Grant, a Pasadena "find" and Carlyle Scott's Choral group.

Earl Dancer, "is one of America's best Negro theatre thinkers", was Mr. Muse's concluding remarks.

An overflow audience composed of some of the city's most prominent citizens greeted these young people Thomas is the son of Dr. T. L. Greene, prominent dentist of Los Angeles.

MELLOW MUGGING

By Earl Dancer

A few words to my young friends. These pages would not be complete without informing our reading public of some of the achievements in the theatre of our younger group. Alan, of the dance team of Alan and Anise, a Los Angeles boy, needs to be brought to your attention more often. These kids typify all that is beautiful and clean cut.

When Anise and Alan appeared on the profesional stage for the first time at the "Harlem Opera House" in New York they were canceled after the first show. But that didn't stop these youngsters. It only made them more determined to succeed in their chosen profesion, namely the theatre.

I saw these kids a year or so argo in Lew Leslie's London edition of "Blackbirds," where they were an outstanding hit. Today they are the most representative ball room and adagio dancers.

Those two fine youngsters, The Nicholas Kids, who are to this generation what Buck and Bubbles were a few years back.

Nias Berry of the Berry Brothers, brings back memories of the great Geo. Walker. I think Bernice "Tanya" Bruce, the clever contortionist caused more heads to be lost than Salome of old.

Pops and Louie are not doing bad for themselves. You must admit that our enemies of today are shapelier and infinately more beautiful than showgirls of yesteryear. Because in the last few years they have turned out some beautiful b-b-b-babies.

Lena Horne, who gave such grand promise when I saw her with Noble Sissle and of whom I predicted then, because of her great beauty of face and form and her natural charm, would go very far in the theatre. I don't know whether it was her temporary retirement or not, but the girl I saw in the "Duke is Tops" was an absolute stranger to the girl I saw with Noble Sissle at the Apollo Theatre.

The theatre is a very jealous mistress. It demands all of your interest and all of your time if you expect to achieve permanent success.

In thinking of different young personalities to mention I find the field rather sparse primarily because most of our younger people won't take their work seriously. They take one hit to interpret permanent success. They refuse to study. The ambition of most young people in the theatre today, is to earn just enough money to furnish them with a 'front' as far as their personal appearances is concerned. Money enough to get "high" and "knock" themselves out with "some fine jive" or some dragging lush".

Take it from one of those who has been "in the groove" for a long time and is "solidly hipped" from waaay back. Now let me "bust your conks" and "hip" you to what it is all about. You think you get your boots on and laced way up to here, but you are really wearing sandals. I know from the days when peppermint candy was peppermint candy.

Believe me a long time ago I put on some fine iron boots and took off the tissue paper ones that it is better to be "knock in" than "knocked out". So quit mugging lightly and get your knowledge box charged with this mellow line of correctness or you will forever be a drag, a solid bring-down. So now if you are drug and think that I was beating my chops on some bring down gumbeat, skip it and fo' git it cause any old timer will tell you that there is nothing new under the sun.

So my dear little hipped cats trot home before the early brightness slips up on you and collar your correct nods in your pilch and stay away from the righteous pads and you will find that some day you will have the twisters to the slammer of one of those fine palaces.

PRETTY MAE DIGGS

SHE'S MELLOW

Mellow as a chello is Miss Mae Diggs, who after staying on the coast for a number of years is now in the East winning new laurels.

Thomas Greene III Heard in Violin Recital

Little Thomas A. Greene, III, surprised and delighted his hearers last Sunday with his masterful rendition of a program that would have taxed a more mature player than this lad of nine years. His tone, technic, intonation, double stopping and phrasing showed the excellent training he is receiving under the tutorship of Miss Victoria Rice.

His soulful interpretations prove him to be an embryo artist whose progress will be worth watching. He was assisted by his sister, Lulu Catherine Greene, who rendered two brilliant piano selections and by Morrisontine Dunn, who was well received in her vocal selections. The children received many beautiful flowers and gifts which together with the palms made the stage look like a page from a picture-book of dreamland.

Guild Actors Score Grand Slam in Prize Radio Drama

By LOU LAYNE

Registering a grand slam for the Negro Actors Guild of America, a brilliant cast of dramatic stars made radio history last Thursday night in a streamlined broadcast version of "In Abraham's Bosom," Pulitzer prize-winning play of a dozen years ago.

The play, one of a series of those which in past years have received the much-coveted award, originated in the studios of the National Broadcasting Company in Radio City. A sustaining feature, it was released over a nationwide wire.

Heading a sepian cast composed entirely of members of the Negro Actors Guild, Franc Wilson, star of the original production during the 1926-27 season, played the role of Abraham McCranie, a plantation worker whose ideal is the education of his race. As the son of a Southern plantation owner and a former slave girl during the reconstruction period, Abe is possessed of an avid desire to take his place in the academic field, spreading the light of knowledge among the down-trodden. His militant fight produces a story gripping in appeal and dramatically suited to Wilson's undenied thespian talents.

No less cintillating a star is Laura Bowman, whom Canadian theatre audiences of a decade ago viewed in her role of Thursday night, that of Abe's querulous mother, Muh Mack. The dual performance of Juano Hernandez as narrator and Lije Huneycutt found him alternating between the suavity of a dulcet-toned voice personality and the homespun quality which did much to enhance his exposition of the latter minor role.

As Goldie McAlister, Abe's self-effacing sweetheart who marries him and enters a life of drudgery to help further his aims, Christola Williams, once the protege of the late Richard B. Harrison draws ever closer to the dramatic glory the "Green Pastures" star felt was her right. Painstaking, sincere and faithful to the script Miss Williams drains the lines of every ounce of histrionic appeal.

Two members of the Southernaires, tenor Homer Smith and basso William Edmonson, were heard for the second time within a fortnight in NBC dramatic roles. Following their characterizations in the Magic Key production of the biblical "David the Giant Killer" two Sundays ago, they turned in creditable performances as Puny Avery and Bud Gaskins for Thursday night's show. As Douglass, ne'er-do-well son of Abe, J. Stone Toney, a third Southernaire, did justice to his part. When not doing straight drama, Smith, Edmonson and Toney joined Lowell Peters, the remaining member of the singing group, in incidental music.

Playing no small part in the complete picture of the presentation was the Juanita Hall choir which, under Miss Hall's able direction, handled the bulk of the musical assignment and off-stage voice.

IS JOHN HAMILTON LOSING HIS MIND?

John D. M. Hamilton, chairman, Republican National Committee, has been heard from in the deep South.

Hamilton is reported to have been, bidding to moss-backs of that benighted region to form a coalition with the Republican Party in an effort to wrest the government from New Deal control.

The flame-haired Kansan is said to have suggested a fusion of Republicans North and anti-New Deal Democrats South. That is, the convention of each party nominate the same candidates. Of all political hook-ups and alliances, this suggestion takes the prize, and coming from a Kansan is almost unbelievable.

Imagine a Negro supporting Tom Heflin, Bilbo, Alred, or Graves for President or any post in the Federal government.

John Hamilton is all wet and such foolish cracks, if he's guilty, forebodes the Republican Party no good. The suggestion has torn a hole in the fence already that is going to take much time and effort to repair.

No, no, Mr. Hamilton, if you, or other leaders can't see beyond the Dixie coalition a Republican comeback is doomed.

Imagine such distinguished Kansans as Senator Arthur Capper, William Allen White, Henry J. Allen and John Hamilton's father, were he alive, hooking up with such a gang. It just won't down, John. Forget it!

THE LAST FRONTIER

To the deep concern of all Californians, the incoming migrant tides continue to swell. The urgency of this problem confronting farmer and city taxpayer alike demands an immediate practical solution.

During the first four months of this year migrants registered a highly disturbing increase of between 20 and 35 per cent over last year. And, says the State Board of Health, there is no sign of an end to this migration which in two and one-half years has mounted to 259,654!

Despite rehabilitation programs in Texas and Oklahoma, which yield the bulk of this ever-growing army of job-hunters, the siren call of California sends the refugees bundling into their jaloppies for a bee-line westward.

They, too, are the people — these lean, hardy, jobless Americans. But California's farmers cannot hand all of them jobs, and California's taxpayers cannot tote the relief road. We need a workable and speedy solution to this crisis. A practical-minded and successful farmer like Dr. Walter Scott Franklin urges in direct fashion, "We must act now! Eliminate further complaining and worrying, and let us immediately proceed to demand the cooperation and aid of not only the Federal Government, but of those states, like Texas and Oklahoma, who are chiefly responsible for placing this unwarranted burden upon California's farmers and taxpayers!"

That this able farmer aspires to the lieutenant-governorship where, as presiding officer of the Senate — seat of rural strength — he can play an important role in effecting remedies for this and other urgent problems, marks a welcome development in politics. The State can use such experienced "newcomers" to bring a practical, as distinguished from a purely political, approach to a pressing economic and social dilemma.

The unrelenting streams of migrants is one such problem. The time has come for California to unite in achieving its speedy solution!

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS

The redemption of California by the Republican Party rests in the hands of those steering the ship. Dodging issues, sidestepping past due promises, denial of full participation in all party functions, etc., will eliminate the party from the picture.

Let's quit kidding ourselves, and face cold, hard facts. Same as two years ago, the Democrats beat us in registration and still have us snowed under. These facts are a matter of public record.

A bolt in the Democratic ranks against Sinclair carried with it the overwhelming Democratic registration of Negro voters and as a result, Gov. Merriam was elected, otherwise he would have gone down with the remainder of the ticket.

Gov. Merriam made fair and square promises to the colored voters, which to this day he has failed to keep. He's had hundreds of opportunities right now to give Negroes recognition in his administration, which he stubbornly refuses to do. However, the old man has the guts to ask for and is foolish enough to believe that colored voters will again support his candidacy.

Party leaders should profit by Merriam's mistakes and learn now for all time that the colored brother must be in on the pie-cutting if his vote and support is expected.

The Democrats are really playing bull with the Negro. The Republican Party, if it expects to win, had better throw off the mantel of prejudice and meet the issue squarely.

MASSIES AT IT AGAIN

Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie, of the United States Navy who, in 1932 was convicted for the murder of a Hawaiian athlete along with his mother-in-law and two enlisted sailors, for which the Alabama born naval officer and his aides served one hour in jail, seems to be a source of disturbance when on foreign soil, and we'll always believe the government erred in not dismissing this chap from service as would have been done in the case of any other convict.

Massie divorced the wife that caused the lynch-murder of the Hawaiian and married another woman. Now Wife No. 2 looms into the spotlight for him again to show his southern chivalry for his women by failing to heed the command of a Japanese sentry in war-torn China. Doubtless she felt that she was Mrs. Massie and didn't have to take orders from the little yellow, almond-eyed gent with a gun and as a result, got her face slapped. Realizing that he was outside the pale of mob murder, the lieutenant's head was as cool as a cake of ice and sought solace thru diplomatic action by the United States.

It's not nice to slap any woman, be she American or a jungle dweller but when they trespass where armed conflict is in progress, and try to bull their way over law, military or civil, they must expect to abide by the consequences. First of all, Massie is fully aware of conditions on that side of the world and should have left his wife at home where she belongs.

TOO MUCH OF IT ALREADY!

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

A MAYOR WANTS HELP

Relief has wrapped itself around State and County politics as easily as a mink coat surrounds a chorus girl — so we hear — but it has remained for a Washington mayor to show us Californians just how desperate this politics-in-relief crisis is getting to be.

Kenneth Simmons, mayor of Milton, Wash., tossed a smoking hot protest at the Pierce County Commissioners a few days ago, claiming a "foul".

As political jack-of-all trades and offices, Mr. Simmons not only has been serving his constituents as mayor but also as chief of its fire department and head of its police force.

He was also on the WPA until the county commissioners struck his name off the rolls and precipitated the vigorous reaction from the mayor.

"I've got to get back on the WPA!" Mr. Simmons was quoted as saying. "After all — it's the only one of my jobs that's paying any money!"

Unless the commissioners can produce someone who wants to be mayor, police and fire chief of Milton for nothing, we think Mayor Simmons has the Relief Board over a barrel. Or he could resign his offices anyway, get on WPA, then run for office on a platform to keep the WPA out of the police and fire department. That might satisfy the county commissioners!

GO FOURTH — IN SAFETY!

Thousands of motorists are taking to the highways for the double holiday over the Fourth of July.

Let's make it a safe and sane Fourth on the road!

Let's exercise an added bit of courtesy, season our driving with an added bit of patience, an extra ounce of caution. Surely that is small enough payment to ensure our lives, and those of other people, with protection against traffic tragedies. Let's drive carefully and come back alive!

There's grim humor to the report that the War of the Revolution resulted in the death of 83,340 persons. Of these, 4040 died in battle. The remainder were killed celebrating the victory during the last 154 years.

This year's traffic death rate has been markedly lower thus far than last year's. Let's continue the good work, and go Fourth — in safety!

HERE'S TO LIFE!

Life is looking up!

Due to the increasing care of medical science, and a more widespread public concern for healthful living habits — in which newspapers, we believe, played no small part, the national infant mortality rate for 1937 was the lowest in the history of the Bureau of the Census.

The 1937 rate, according to the figures which were made public only a few days ago, was 54.4 deaths of infants under one year of age for each 1,000 live births. This marked a total decrease of over 3000 from 1936.

But California has an even better boast. This state's birth rate in 1937 — 14.4 per 1000 population — was the highest in years, with 94,286 births compared to 84,460 in 1936. Californians also have been passing out the cigars, for life, it seems, is definitely looking up!

Guest Editorial

AN ADVANCE BACKWARD FOR YOUTH . . . By William Alfred Wilkins
President, Pasadena NAACP

Two current releases have bearing on our activities here. The July 'Commentator' contains an article by Lois Mattox Miller, on "Solving the Servant Problem", showing how a private agency was concerned about the widespread unemployment of domestics while there was a distinct shortage of help, and how by training schools, it sought to provide help even for the homes that could not previously afford to pay them. In the Chicago Defender Miss Nannie Burroughs, principal of a schol for girls in Washington, famous for a great work done in a great way, enthuses over $35,000,000 added to the work relief bill to train domestics. In the metropolitan area of Los Angeles, the alert CALIFORNIA EAGLE describes the plight of domestics who have been defrauded of meagre earnings, and gives news of a project underway to provide a center for the training of more and better domestics, and so solve the servant problem in this area.

The masses in every nation are hewers of wood and drawers of water, the laborers and servants for the wealthy and the well-to-do. Until recently the theory of American Democracy was equable right of the lowliest to rise to a position of mastership, if he could. Now under the guise of arguments tenable when the immortal Booker T. Washington pointed out the necessity of industrial training and training in the household arts for the sons and daughters of salves and of their former masters, the theory is being challenged as for years the fact had been made obscure.

Just when scientific research and mass production are making possible the emancipation of the servant in the house, agencies are re-discovering a fortune in the preparation of better trained servants for the "middle class American homes" which until now struggled along with "shiftless, ill-trained part-time yorkwd T arthe ed part-time workers or indeed, no servants at all", according to Miss Miller. Nothing is said about the practice of catering to lazy, bridge-playing, duty-shirking middle-class Americans who might be prevailed upon to take courses from Dale Carnegie on "how to treat the girl, who prepares my meals or takes care of the baby, as a human being." Here is the crux of the "servant problem" in New York and in Los Angeles.

But now comes the Federal government to provide thirty-five millions to train white apron and white cap workers for the various and vital services in the American home. As Booker T. Washington pointed out, and Miss Nannie Burroughs is still pointing out, efficient home management is necessary to cultured home life. Few persons question the need of training home-makers. But any tendency to train cheap domestic labor for homes, unable to pay decent wages and provide humane conditions of employment, ought be frowned down. Any tendency to limit the vocational training of the youths in any community to cooking, cleaning, laundering, table service and care of children ought be discouraged. It is impossible for all of us to be doctors, lawyers, professors, engineers, designers, draftsmen, architects, etc. It is likewise impossible for all of us to be chief-dieteticians. It is folly to hold out hopes which will lead hundreds of young persons, uncertain as to future employment into a field already glutted with ill-paid workers.

Many public speakers can appreciate this experience of Dr. DuBois: He had addressed an audience on Negro disenfranchisement in society, in politics and in industry. At the end, the lady with the cold green eye came up and asked: "Do you know where I can get a good colored cook?" He didn't know. She shook a finger in his face, panting, "Why--won't Negroes work. I have given money for many years to Hampton and Tuskegee and yet I can't get decent servants. They won't try. They're lazy. They're unreliable. They're impudent and they leave without notice. They all want to be lawyers and doctors and ladies."

In that chapter of "Darkwater", the Servant in the House, DuBois outlines the trouble with the service occupations which even government grants cannot take away, the "unnatural assumption" that between servant and employer there is no common humanity.

Edgar G. Brown who made the very persuasive explanation to the Senate's committee considering the work relief bill, stated that if opportunities for their training were provided, at least half a million colored girls and women would seek employment in domestic service. Again he purported to show from a survey of the labor market for domestics in the United States that there were vacancies in homes for domestic servants amounting to more than 400,000. In the metropolitan area of Los Angeles, in recent months, all colored girls and women applying for work, are told only domestic employment is available, regardless of training in other fields of endeavor. If this is characteristic of all areas of America, and the facts indicate it is so, Negro Americans are being led "gently but firmly" into a caste of domestic serfs. Social security and unemployment insurance legislation, deliberately omitted the service vocations. Attempts to organize in this sphere have been discouraged.

The CALIFORNIA EAGLE has been exposing the viciousness of apartment service, how domestics are being defrauded out of meagre earnings, with little if any recourse to law. There is a limit to the leisure time enjoyed by domestics, apart from alternate Sundays and Thursdays Seldom is there any regulation of "hours on duty". The sense of the committee which heard Mr. Brown as related to the Senate in debate was that a group of colored people who modestly ask to be equipped to do useful work were going to be fitted to be better cooks and child-attendants to relieve "tired business, statesmen and shop-weary wives who will experience a new freedom from household cares and come into a "heavenly haven of peace and happiness", as presented by Mr. Brown. On this basis, the amendment to the work relief bill to provide for the "training for domestic service" passed. So when other interests can be safely ignored and Negro Americans, for the most part, herded into the service vocations, youth will have learned that "advance" for us, means traveling in reverse some forty years to the time when over half-Negro Americans were servants and serfs, "relieving" the tired business men and society-crazy ladies of the nation. With the state of domestic service as it is, low wages, hardly human accomodations, that agency does youth a disservice whether in the name of Welfare or of Government Aid, to encourage entrance here, where in order that America's servant problem might be solved. Sure 'tis to "advance" backward.

OTHER PAPERS SAY

Those June Graduates

What mean these going forth of the graduating classes in our Negro colleges? Ever larger and more impressive is the army of Negro graduates. They may easily become blessings to their afflicted people but they may just as easily become blights. Strangely enough we suppose that they are quite different from what they were when they entered college four years ago. As a matr of fact, they are about the same so far as character is concerned. They nave only built upon a foundation that was laid earlier in childhood but hardly have laid other foundations. Character is still homemade and education is merely the garnishment thereof. Character and not education will be the ultimate determinant whether these young graduates will be blessings or blights to the Negro race in particular and the nation and world in general.

A few days ago I talked with a mother whose daughter is graduating at a certain college. The mother glowed with enthusiasm as her daughter received her degree and I rejoiced with bothe the monther and the daughter for I understood most keenly the sacrifices and labours behind that degree. The mother had just recounted to me how she enslaved herself in the wash tub and iron board to the end that her daughter might have the opportunities of education. Then she said that she hoped that her daughter would not have to what she, the mother had done. And then I shuddered in my spirit for the safety and future of the daughter. Not only had that mother hitched her hopes for her hopes for her daughter to a star, but doubtless the daughter's hopes were also hitched to the proverbial star. One of the tragic sequels of the psychology of misdirected youth is the greater emphasis that is put upon the paternal dreams for their children. At heart children want to be what parents hoped they will be and it is a mighty fine thing for parents to dream glorious dreams for their children. But there is always the danger that something will frustrate the hopes and dreams of fond parents and thus the hopes and dreams of the children. If that mother does not want her daughter to de the things she has done then the daughter will spurn the very ladder by which she rose.

Each of the thousands of Negro graduates had the same kind of paternal hopes and dreams behind him. If then the young graduate cannot fulfill the hopes and dreams of ambitious parents his life is frustrated and he is thereby unfitted to dow hat his hands find to do. There is no greater tragedy than for a child to be inspired for one level of life and is forced by untoward circumstances to land upon a lower. Theer is no end to the evils of such maladjustment. What that ambitious mother should have hoped was, for her daughter to have the character and stamina to educate a daughter even if she had to do the same things as her mother.

When parents intimate that their children are superior they need not be surprised if children in time will believe it. The servant is no better than his master and the daughter is no better than her mother. The ideal of wash-tub mothers wishing for piano playing daughtersis mighty fine for the mothers but mighty dangerous for the daughters. So general is this type of thinking among Negroes that today nobody wants to do manual work that we must get done or go into racial bakruptcy. Going to wash-tubs would be much better than doing some things these over-inspired daughters will have, in many cases, to do to live up to mother's dreams. It would be a mighty fine thing if each hard working mother's daughter could land something better; but in times like these the chances are against it. It is said that if a hundred sheep are passing through a meadow over a narrow path and a stick is put across the path the first sheep will jump over it an dso the second. The stick may be taken away but every one of the hundred sheep will jump at the same place. There is a lot of the stick-jumping stuff in all of us poor mortals. The extent to which our graduating classes are filled with stick-jumpers is the extent to which the future of the Negro will be gloomy. The mother mentioned was stick jumping in her thinking and there are thousands of others with daughters graduating. Our penchant for "higher" education is born of this stick-jumping thinking. Our situation demands a change of tempo.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I certainly did enjoy your talk over the radio Sunday evening, June 26, 1938.

I admire the fearless stand you took, and feel that you should be complimented.

For the corageous effort you have made in behalf of so many of our Race.

I know that it was deeply appreciated by all who had the extreme pleasure of hearing you.

I am eagerly awaiting your speech this coming Thursday evening, believe me.

Very sincerely yours,

Mary Frances Ashley

"BLOCKADE"

Dear Editor:

I wonder how many of the readers of the "Eagle" have gotten around to seeing "Blockade". I am willing to start a one-woman advertising campaign I was so impressed by this picture. It's exciting, well acted and history in the making It makes your heart bleed for the Spanish people, oppressed by that baby-murderer Franco. You want to do something to help the Loyalists even if it's only dropping a card to President Roosevelt, asking him to lift the embargo against Loyalist Spain.

I hear the reactionaries are starting a sampaign to discredit the picture. Let us combat their influence by writing to congratulate Warner Brothers and Walter Wanger for their courage in producing it. If you haven't seen it yet, demand that your neighborhood theatre book it in the near future.

Very faithfully.

With the news of the death of James Weldon Johnosn this week, my mind has turned to wondering just who will take his place—in fact, who will replace all our fine, yet aging leaders of today and yesterday, whose footsteps inevitably are directed toward the last great portals. Johnson is dead. DuBois, removed from the fighting lines, is ineffectual, and despatches state that Dr. Carver is seriously ill. Yes —the Old Guard is thinning out.

At the varying periods throughout the Race's history in America, it has always been beset by some particular economic problem. No group ever has had to contend with so long and unbroken an era of money woe. However, during the different economic epochs there have risen great leaders. To lead from slavery, the militance of Douglass, Sojourner Truth, and Harriet Tubman; to subtley woo financial security, Booker T. Washington, who preached the dignity of honest labor; and to stem a tide of unwise compromise and feeble acceptance, a Burghardt DuBois, who resurrected a high, unflinching ideal. All these men and women presented to the problem of their day a definite solution. They each saw a road down which the group must travel . . .they each made the decision, voiced the protest, and for the most part sounded the battle cry for the whole of Afro-America.

When Negro Leadership and Frederick Douglass were synonymous, the black population was content to heed his-thundering cries of fight!. . .fight! . . . Fight slavery! . . .fight intolerance!. . . fight ignorance! . . . fight everything! And when that great man fell and left, like the pine, a lonesome place in the sky of racial leadership, it was not many years before the common-sense philosophy of an Alabama educator again brought into sharp focus one man . . .one leader, to voice the sentiments of all..

But soon after another came forward to contest the General's mantle. . .a little man who was weary of compromise and concession . . .a bewhiskered gentleman who re-sounded the old cry of fight. And for a few years the nation stood on the side-lines and watched a Race's two great minds clash in undeclared conflict . . .watched the sly-humor of one man who sneaked an economic concession while reciting a homey chicken-thieving tale' . . .and was held spellbound by another whose scholarly pen cut a new niche in America's literary Hall of Fame.

It is strange that the two men, apparently opposed, performed such correlated works. Dream of Dubois' militance is the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, while the world knows Tuskegee, Alabama as the home of its finest manual arts institution . . . the brain-child of Booker T. Washington. Today Tuskegee bi-annually graduates scores of young Negroes expertly prepared to fill trusted positions in all walks of endeavor . . . . and today the NAACP is the greatest weapon in the land for guaranteeing these young-hopefuls a place in the economic and political set-up of the country equal to their preparation.

For the past two decades, however,—that is, from the time of Booker Washington's death —there have been a confusion of leaders and pseudo-leaders. Or else, if there has been one motivating influence, we are too close for sufficient perspective to see it.

There have been the late James Weldon Johnson, the poets—Countee Cullen and Langston Hughes, the fanatic, Marcus Garvey, and the indefinable Walter White. For a moment, Johnson tells us in his mighty work "Black Manhattan", Marcus Garvey held in his palm the dream of a half-century's politicians— that is, a unified race. But Garvey forsook the high duties he might have performed for gold-braid, steam-ship lines, and high sounding titles.

Today we find a change coming about. The NAACP remains the most effective weapon we possess, although the International Labor Defense and kindred radical organizations, up to and including the Communist party, grow more and more concerned with Black Man's Woe. Walter White appears on the horizon as a potential Douglass, Washington, or DuBois. A wholesale repudiation of ministerial leadership is voiced in the great metropolises and only young hot-heads such as New York's Adam Clayton Powell, who embellishes religion with swing concerts, keeps his pews packed. As evidenced in the increasing number of articles by and about Negroes appearing in nationally distributed magazines, white America is prepared for a change, and begins to perceive that the Negro has progressed from that stage wherein his inter-racial vocabulary consisted of the two words, "Yassuh, Boss". Many wail that the old leadership is corrupt and the new foolish—that the Race is destined for even a more sound economic thrashing than heretofore suffered.

But I am of the opinion that a leader will rise. As in the past, there will come a Messiah —either to lead in wisdom or folly—but certainly to lead. Who or what he may be, I can-

Notables Gather at James Weldon Johnson Funeral

NOTED POET BURIED IN LOUNGING ROBE AND FORMAL TROUSERS WITH COPY OF "GOD'S TROMBONES" IN HIS HANDS

NEW YORK, July 7. (ANP)—With the galleries of historic Salem M. E. church packed hours before the funeral, and many notables in attendance, James Weldon Johnson was buried Thursday as he had requested, in his "working clothes" of a lounging robe and formal morning trousers with a copy of his famous book of poems, "God's Trombones", in his hands.

The eminent author, diplomat, professor and lecturer was en route to his summer home at Great Barrington, Mass., last Sunday after a visit in Pleasant Point, Me., with Dean E. George Payne of New York university, when his car was struck by a passing train near Wiscasset, Me. His wife, Grace Nail Johnson, driver of the car, was seriously injured. Poor visibility through fog and a heavy rain was blamed for the crash which snuffed out Mr. Johnsons' life almost instantly.

The Rev. Frederick Cullen, pastor of Salem and conductor of the services, led the procession followed by Father Shelton Hale Bishop, Gene Buck, white, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, directors of the funeral; NAACP Secretary Walter White, Arthur Spingarn, Col. Theodore Roosevelt jr., Hubert Delaney, Carl Van Vechten, Elmer Carter, Fred E. Moore, Harry T. Burleigh, Judge Charles Toney, W. C. Handy, Stanley Howe, Mayor LaGuardia's secretary, and others.

Members of the family included Rosamond Johnson, brother and noted composer; Mildred, the daughter; Mr. and Mrs. John Nail, sister and brother-in-law; Mrs. Bertha Randolph and Mr. and Mrs. John Nail jr. The wife is still confined in a Maine hospital.

Ala. Gov. Commutes Scottsboro Boy's Death Sentence to Life Term

Surprise Action of Governor Follows Recommendation of Board of Pardons; Norris was to Go to Chair Aug. 15

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 7. (Special)—Governor Bibb Graves commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Clarence Norris, one of the ill-fated Scottsboro boys, in a surprise action late Tuesday evening. Norris had been condemned to die in the electric chair August 15, next.

Gov. Graves, who has heretofore refused to take action in the odorous Scottsboro trials, which have stretched out over the past seven years, acted Tuesday a few minutes after the Alabama Board of Pardons had recommended commutation for Norris, the only one of the nine youths sentenced to death.

A legal notice, stating gubernatorial pardons would be asked for the five Scottsboro boys under sentence was published Monday of last week in a Decatur newspaper. Alabama law requires public advertisement of intention to seek pardon. At that time the governor refused to comment.

At the same time the Scottsboro Defense Committee in New York revealed that actual presentation of the application for pardon would be made around July 15 and that a nation-wide petition was being circulated for pardon which all individuals and organizations were being asked to sign.

Whether action to obtain a full pardon for the youths would go on was not stated by the Defense Committees.

Three of the five youths remaining in jail are serving long term sentences. A fifth, Ossie Powell, pleaded guilty to assault with intent to commit murder charges growing out of an alleged attempt to escape and got twenty years. Four were freed over a year ago on motion of the State after they had spent six years in jail.

The youths were arrested in 1931 after two white women tramps claimed they had assaulted them en masse.

Apartment Service Moves to New Quarters as Negroes Discharged

Moved to new headquarters at 9441 Wilshire Blvd., allegedly as a bill-dodging measure, the Wilshire Apartment service has decided to discharge all Negro employes and hire Swedes, reports state this week.

The Apartment service, which supplies swank Hollywood hotels and apartments with domestics, has occupied the headlines for more than a month as new disclosures and developments were brought to light concerning its alleged "slave racket". In many instances colored domestics have been refused pay on the ground that they have broken some one of the many complicated stipulations in the lengthy legal docfrustrate her efforts at collection. ument which all Service employ-

With the new instances of irregularity in operations of the Service occurring weekly, it is believed the failure to act of Deputy A. L. Barnes of the Division of Labor Law Enforces must sign.

Failure of Syphilologist to Accept Spingarn Medal Eliminates Award

NEW YORK, July 7. (ANP)—Having announced upon receipt of Failure on the part of Dr. William A. Hinton, noted dermatologist and syphilologist, to accept the award of the Spingarn medal when proffered it by the Spingarn Award committee of the NA ACP, eliminates the possibility of anyone receiving that distinction for 1938. This is the first time since J. E. Spingarn established the award in 1914 that there will be no medalist, the committee Dr. Hinton's refusal that it had decided to make no award.

Dr. Hinton is said to have refused on the grounds that there was some controversy over the discoveries in his field on which some of his fame rests and that he, therefore, did not feel justified in accepting the award at this time. The medal is granted for meritorious achievement during the proceeding year.

California Negro is Oldest Civil War Vet at Experimental Camp

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 7. (ANP)—William A. Barnes, a Negro Union soldier, who now lives in Oakland, Calif., is the oldest veteran at the experimental encampment of 2,000 Northern and Southern Civil War Veterans held last week at the historic site of the Battle of Gettysburg.

Barnes is now 112 years old, with his age confirmed by G. A. R. records. He is still active for his age and belies the claim of other oldsters that abstinence caused them to pass the century mark by revealing he likes an occasional drink of gin.

For the most part, the old Confederate and Union veterans attending this re-union have laid aside their hates and prejudices of the 1860's to chat of old times and re-fight old battles without rancor, but some die-hards have refused to completely bury the hatchet.

One grizzled old soldier from the North was heard to remark, as the encampment began, that if a Confederate flag was raised aloft, he would "tear it down", while a Southern veteran stated that if "any of them damn Yankees" got too "cocky" it would be "just too bad".

Racial Identity of Bandit-Slayer of Cameraman is Not Known

Police have no positive proof the hunted man is colored, white and little indication, in fact, that the bandit-slayer of King David Gray, 52-year-old movie studio cameraman, (white) was a Negro as had previously been claimed in Los Angeles daily papers.

Although the Los Angeles Times, in particular, declared yesterday morning that a search for a Negro hold-up man was underway as police sought to solve last Thursday's murder of the photographer, police stated that there was no definite proof that

Gray's body was found Thursday in his automobile, parked on a busy street near the Hollywood post-office.

Some evidence in the mystery death pointed today to the possibility of some friend of Gray's having killed him, and not an assassin with intent to rob. Nothing was taken from the car or the body although there was a large sum of money found in Gray's wallet, police said.

Haile Selassie Gets Right to Have Suit Tried in England

LONDON, July 7. (ANP)—The court of appeals Thursday granted Emperor Haile Selassie the right to have his suit for about $53,065 against the Cable and Wireless company tried in English courts, ordering it sent back to chancery court for trial.

The decision reversed a ruling of the chancery court March 23 in which Justice Bennett refused jurisdiction. The case revolves about whether Selassie still is emperor of Ethiopia. The negus contends the money is due him under an agreement for wireless service to London the day he fled from his capital.

RECORD FIRST TRAFFIC FATALITY SINCE MAR.

A 50-year-old Negro became the first Eastside traffic fatality since March as Thomas L. Harris, 1019½ E. 43rd place, was killed early Sunday morning by the speeding automobile of Ralph Cude, white, 844 W. 76th street.

Cude was held to answer a manslaughter charge by the coroner's jury at the inquest held yesterday afternoon. The jury declared that Cude had not exercised proper care in handling his automobile.

The accident occured at the intersection of 43rd and Central avenue at 5 a. m. Sunday morning. Harris, going West, was struck as he reached the middle of the street by Cude's southbound auto. The car, a Hudson, was going approximately 50 miles per hour, according to witnesses.

Cude stopped and attempted to render first aid, but Harris had been killed instantly.

Witnesses were Alton Reed, 1553 E. 33rd street, George Forrest, 1308 W. 35th Place, Joe Williams, 1201½ Central Avenue, N. Mounday, 5808 Naomi, Toy Johnson, 1129 E. 41st street, and C. F. Bradford, 1195 E. 42nd street. Officers Broady and McGruder of the Newton Division investigated the case.

Small Businesses Burglars' Prey Over Week - End

Burglars concerted their attacks on small business places over the long-week-end from Saturday through the 4th of July, according to the reports at the Newton Street Police Station.

One of them, however, was unsuccessful and is in the Newton jail awaiting formal charge of burglary. He is Theodore Watts, 22 year old laborer, who was arrested at 1 a. m. Tuesday while in the act of burglarising the Electric Appliance shop at 4020 S. Central avenue, of which Mrs. Zora Williams is proprietor.

Watts, giving his address as 5109 McKinley was nabbed by special policemen in the Elks' building, Thomas Cobbs and Perry Lamont, as he kicked through the glass front door to get out of the shop, and held by them until police arrived. He had entered through a rear window and was attempting to carry out a radio, it was believed.

To Sentence Man for Bigamy

Found guilty of bigamy Robert Mallory, alias William Robert Mallory, will face sentence on July 14, it was learned this week.

Mallory was returned to Los Angeles 4-weeks ago from New Orleans after he fled there to escape arrest. He married Miss Myrtis Young of Los Angeles in 1937 without first having divorced Miss Eunice Orphie of New Orleans.

Slayer Granted Reprieve to Oct.

SAN QUENTIN, July 7—Harrison Wells, slayer who was to have died July 1 on the gallows was granted a reprieve to October 14 a scant 12 hours before execution, by Gov. Frank Merriam, while his case is being studied by the Advisory Pardon Board.

This action was based on Wells' offer to give his eyes to the Rev. U. E. Harding of Portland, who appealed for healthy eye tissue to be grafted to his eyes and restore his sight.

Dunbar's Home is Dedicated

DAYTON, O., July 7. (ANP)—Just 32 years after he died, the home of Paul Lawrence Dunbar, famous poet, became his memorial Sunday when the frame house was dedicated as a state museum.

Dr. George Haynes of New York, secretary of the Race Relations commission of the Federal Council of Churches, eulogized Dunbar, who died in 1906 at the age of 34, as "a poet of nature" whose talent "reached almost to genius."

SCOTT INJUNCTION TRIAL SET FOR OCT. 17

WASHINGTON, July 7. (ANP)—Dr. Emmett J. Scott's suit against President Mordecai Johnson to prevent his release as secretary of Howard university has been set for trial October 17 in district court. The date was set after Dr. Scott had been given permission Tuesday to withdraw a plea for a preliminary injunction to prevent his ouster Thursday.

Sports Writer Reports Theft

Paul Lowry, white sports writer on the Los Angeles Times, reported to Newton street police late Monday the theft of his wallet from his automobile, which he left parked, for about ten minutes, at 5th and Central avenue.

Lowry said that he left his car, a Buick sedan, unlocked for about ten minutes. When he returned, the glove compartment had been slit and the wallet taken. He said the wallet contained $7.00, a driver's license, a peace officer's card and other minor identification pieces.

THEODORE MOSS

Theodore Moss Joins Eagle Staff

As state political and commercial advertising representative, Theodore Moss, well known fraternal leader and financial figure, was announced this week as affiliated with the California Eagle Promotion department.

Addition of Mr. Moss to the staff of California Eagle attaches is part of the paper's drive to completely cover the entire state and mass the strength of Negroes within the state for political and economic advancement.

As grand master of the California jurisdiction of Masons, comprising a membership of 3500 for the past eight years, Mr. Moss is well known in public life. He has lived in California for 37 years and has been in business in San Jose, his home, for 22 years.

Last Person to See Lincoln's Slayer Dies

RICHMOND, Va., July 7. (ANP)—Mrs. Louella Beazley Smith Sterling, white, believed to be the last person who saw John Wilkes Booth alive after the assassination of President Lincoln, died here last Monday.

A few hours before his capture in the barn of her cousin, Booth rode into the yard of her father, John Pemberton Beazley, at Port Royal and asked for a drink of water. Mrs. Sterling and her governess were at the well and served the drink. Shortly afterward the federal cavalry rode up and the family then learned the stranger was Booth.

The next morning Mrs. Sterling saw the body of Booth as it was being taken to the ferry for Washington.

Pasadenans Launch Jim Crow Fight

PASADENA, July 7—Headed by Mrs. Sharnette Floyd, secretary of the Bethune Political Study club, and the Rev. W. A. Wilkins, president of the local branch of the NAACP, Pasadena colored citizens this week were believed successful in a fight to stem the oncoming tide of race prejudice in the Crown City.

Latest incident reported to the Pasadena Eagle news bureau concerned a discrimination attempt at Ralph Perkin's Moonlight Rollerway in East Pasadena. The Roller drome was scheduled to open last Friday night and had been advertised extensively in Pasadena daily papers.

In the June 29th issue of the Pasadena Independent and the June 30th issue of the Pasadena Star-News advertisements appeared carrying 12 rules, and regulations prohibiting intoxicating liquors, fast skating, chewing gum, persons under 13 years of age and rule 7 "We cater to the Caucasian race only."

Mrs. Floyd and the Rev. Wilkins phoned the manager of the rollerdrome, who referred them to his counsel, an Attorney Morgan of Alhambra.

According to the Attorney the "advertising was a mistake and went in without my knowledge." He said further that he did not know what the attitude of the management would be if colored people desired admittance but said he would certainly acquaint his clients with the state law, prohibiting discrimination on account of color.

To Rev. Wilkins, the attorney offered to use a synonym for the term enter but was informed that it was not the form that offended but the biased attitude of the concern.

Texas Pastor at Hamilton M. E.

Rev. C. Halbert Pierson, pastor Lee Chapel M. E. Church, Bryant, Texas, will be the morning preacher at Hamilton M. E. Church, East 18th Street and Naomi avenue Sunday, July 10th at 11 o'clock. Dr. Pierson is vacationing in Los Angeles and is one of the outstanding M. E. pastors of the great state of Texas. Hear him.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Now that all the excitement of the Holidays is over, we look around to see what IS THE NEXT thing to YELL ABOUT or to FIRE OUR guns. Here's one thing we almost need a special day TO GO over GOOD. News slipped thru by the UNDERGROUND TELERAPH system that some prominent member of our GROUP has submitted a request to SOME OUT-STNDING white residents of PASADENA for separate SCHOOLS. It sounded so ridiculuous that I was about to pass it over, but several of the OLD CITIZENS both White and Colored called me in on it. AND almost DEMANDED my point of view. Don't misunderstand me, NOT if I thought it was RIGHT or not, but WHAT SHOULD THEY do with a colored person who would even ADVANCE such a thought. Of course there are a lot of DRASTIC remedies, but I think the PASADENA spirit of doing things in the best manner WILL BE THE BEST. Make it known that you DON'T WANT IT, and wont have it and I think the persons who thought THIS A GREAT scheme to get a job will see the TERRIBLE MISTAKE in a State that has less PREJUDICE of any in this REAT UNION. JOBS always the same question that drives us insane. THE PICTURE business has almost forgotten TWELVE MILLION GOOD SOULS, who love amusement and pay for it. NO JOBS for colored extras or bit players, NO WORK FOR FEATURE ACTORS, BUT their expenses go on just the same. They must keep up their dues in THE SCREEN ACTORS GUILD, THE RADIO, THE ACTORS EQUITY, but no jobs. It is not our custom to PROTEST and SEEK MASS meetings, but I do think it is serious enough for ACTORS TO write their GUILDS; PEOPLE to write the Studios, and the MOTION PICTURE RODUCERS. The stories can be changed, and we will receive some recognition IF YOU WILL help. JOBS are here, business is good all over and GETTING BETTER. But you must fight for yours on a PURE AMERICAN platform. NO OTHER way. A citizen that PAYS TAX, that was born here, THAT FOUGHT FAITHFULLY in all wars, WILL ALWAYS be LOYAL and an AMERICAN that paid for their rights in 200 YEARS of FREE LABOR. Yes, the FOURTH is over but the fire-works for JOBS have just begun. WRITE TODAY, GOOD LOGICAL LETTERS, asking for a chance to live and spend more MONEY. Write today, EVERYWHERE. Ministers, YOU CAN HELP TOO!

Have San Diego Day at Murray's Victorville Ranch

Sunday, July 3rd proved to be San Diego day when the Bide-a-Wee Bridge Club entertained their husbands with the annual dinner at the Ranch. 24 members and friends traveled through the mountains and valleys to Murray's Ranch for the occasion and claimed to have spent the most enjoyable time in the history of their annual events. Those enjoying the outing were;—Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Lanning, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Little, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ehelton, Mr. and Mrs. Issac Wooten, Mr. and Mrs. S. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Watson, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Jack White, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Merrick, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin White, Melvin White Jr., George Edward Lanning and Miss Eleanor Merrick.

Sunday night and Monday, 4th, was onther historical event for the Dude Ranch, for with every bed reserved days ahead, people still contiued to find their way all night to the Ranch, hoping to be able to find room and because of the congenial and cooperative attitude of the Guests already housed, we were able to provide room for many more. We personally want to thank the guests that made it possible for us to accomodate so many.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sweeney of Pasadena, came to the ranch after their wedding Wednesday evening to spend a week in the Honey-moon Cottage.

Champion of the World, Henry Armstrong, his wife and party one of whom was Joe C. Bradfield of Cleveland, Ohio, spent the Holidays at the Ranch playing soft-ball, basketball, swimming and horseback riding and promises to return at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jenkins Jr., known as the oil kings of Texas, and are visitng friends in San Bernardino were guests at the ranch last week.

Admirers Praise Priestess Theola

Los Angeles, Calif
July 2, 1938

I write these lines in all sincerity, and the utmost gratitude to the most Christ-like person that I have ever encountered, in the person of Priestess Theola.

I attended a spiritual social sponsored by the Circle of The Star Spiritualist Church, at the Masonic Hall after a long persuasion of a friend, of which I shall ever be grateful; and while I am totally ignorant as to the ethics of spiritualism, I am neverth less in perfect harmony with all truths of God.

After carefully noting each word of Priestess Theola's message, I am forced to admit that she has no equal, not only in our own race, but in no other race of people.

There is no Man or Woman that speaks as this fearless woman. I am still wondering how it can be possible, that such a person as she, can be so scarcely known after residing here among us so long; but since pondering over the few words that I had with her after her discourse, I can clearly see why so little is known of her here. In the personal conversation that I had with her, in answer to one of my questions, she said that the greater part of her time during her ministry, had been spent among the most ignorant among our people; just as it was with Christ, she too came to her own race, and finds the majority of them too ignorant to receive her. To substantiate her statement, I ask who were some of her first followers? After a short hesitation, she told me of some who went out from her, and tried to conduct a church before they had gone through four or five years preparation for same. I instantly remembered having visited some of those mentioned, and found that she had spoken the truth.

She said that she was now seeking the cooperation from those of a higher degree of intellect. I find in this beautiful woman, the solution to the churches' severest problems; and have offered her my most sincere cooperation.

By a well wisher of good works.

Los Angeles, Calif.
July 2, 1938

I feel it a heart felt duty of our race, to make mention of the greatest event ever witnessed in our city. The appearance of Priestess Theola on the above date, is a day never to be forgotten. The title which she bears, was well defended by her, and her staff as well.

Truly she is the greatest personality that I have ever seen or heard of; and as usual, the so-called intelligent of our race, failed to render due respect to one who has well proven herself to be the emancipator of a forgotten race of people. Her message to us, is indeed a tonic that will heal our very ill. She left us with the assurance of her return, provided we make it so by our hearty cooperation. And I for one, will join hands with all who will open the doors of this city to her, and give her a whole hearted support in establishing her work here where she is so greatly needed.

Long Live Priestess Theola The Great

Words can never express to the human race, the wonders of Saturday evening, July 2, at the Masonic Hall, where we sat in hushed silence, to the greatest wisdom ever to be uttered since Christ spoke to Mankind.

As strange and mysterious as it may seem to many, yet of a truth, we actually sat there looking, and listening at the wonder woman of heaven, of whom John Divine writes in 12th Chapter of the book of Revelations. I wonder if such a treat will ever return to this City of lost Angels?

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

Did you know that Marie Antoinette, who could afford gardenias, wore potatoe blossoms in her haid? . . .That the Duke of Wellington snored audibly during sermons in Church?. . .That the celebrated painter, Whistler washed his hair three times a day? . . .That the great Confucius wa sa weak, spindling infant whom his father was ashamed to acknowledge?. . . That Thomas Babington Macaulay paid all his bills within twenty-four hours after they were made?. . . That the famous Disraeli wore lavender kid gloves and Horace Walpole, lavender suits? . . . That William Thackrey used to lift his hat whenever he passed the house in which he wrote "Vanity Fair"?. . .That Napoleon was struck off army lists five times during his student days?.

Perhaps you thought you were already very familiar with these characters whose achievements have made history, but you will find that a glance at many recent biographies will reveal a host of fascinating incidents concerning their lives which will increase your understanding of their genius and your appreciation of their worth.

Carl Crow, author of "400,000,009 Customers" has just published "Master Kung," a new biography of Confucius which reveals the man behind the legend. Disappointed when is wife presented him with nine daughters in a row, "Kung the Tall", a brave warrior, divorced his wife and married another who subesquently bore him the son who was to become the most famous Chinese who ever lived — Confucius. Because Master Kung was a weak, deformed child, he only tried to learn how to live happily and, more comfortably. Despite the fact that he did not try to be a great religious leader, his ideas for successful living have been taken as the basis for one of the greatest religions of the world and his teachings have influenced millions of people.

Those who plan to see the newly released picture "Marie Antoinette" will surely want to refresh their memories with Kathrine Anthony's charming biography which bears her name. Andre Maurois' popular volume devoted to the celebrated "Disraeli" gives a fine picture of the man and of England's Victorian Age which recalls one of the finest motion pictures ever produced with George Arliss in the title role. Napoleon is the subject of numerous biographies and recently has been featured in many splendid biographical novels.

These are only a few of the many interesting characters to be found on the biographical shelves of the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Avenue, and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Avenue.

Crown Citians Plan Strong Pasadena Section in Eagle

PASADENA, July 7.—Declaring their paramount purpose the formation of a strong Pasadena section in the California Eagle, a representative group of Crown City residents met at the home of the Rev. W. Alfred Wilkins, vicar of St. Barnabas chapel, last Friday night.

Guests of honor were Mrs. C. A. Bass, editor of the California Eagle and her nephew, John Kinloch. Through several spokesmen the group presented their ideas to Mrs. Bass and laid plans for complete coverage of Pasadena by the "West's Best".

Interested persons include Miss Charlene Bird, Mrs. Eva C. Burton, Mr. Brook, Rev. W. H. M. Dickerson, George Garner, Miss Gordon, Mr. Harrison, Mrs. Eugenia Calloway Hatley, James Howard, Mrs. Ollie Ann Robinson, Arthur Newsome, Chrisp Noches, Jack Robinson, Mrs. Hazel Stoard, Warner Starks, Mrs. Wilkins.

ment, to whom an appeal was taken, will be challenged.

Laxity of other law-enforcing agencies to act in the women workers' cases has been commented upon. The District Attorney's office and the Bunco Department of the police organization have been appealed to also.

It is believed that the multiplicity of legal documents, statements, etc., which employes must sign keeps the organization within the letter of the law. It is also noted that operator Luena Haswell's husband is an attorney.

Reports state that the Apartment Service contemplates a suit against the California Eagle for printing the stories in this case.

Hawaiian Official Stops Here

Completing an extended vacation and business trip to the mainland which has taken him through the middle west, Wilber S. Wood, recreation director of Palama Settlement, Island of Oahu, Hawaii, stopped over in Los Angeles this week for a few days as the house guest of J. L. Hill, manager of the Angelus Funeral Home.

Mr. Wood was delegate from the islands to the annual convention of the Boys' Clubs of America which met in Chicago in May, and also represented Hawaii at the National Council of Social Work at the annual session in Seattle last week. Before sailing Friday morning he will make a brief survey of the work among boys in Los Angeles.

Following graduation from the Universities of Nebraska and Iowa, where, besides completing a pharmaceutical course, he also did special work in chemistry and physical culture, Mr. Wood operated a drug store in Kansas City, Missouri, for fifteen years.

From there he went to Honolulu and engaged in recrational activities, working up to his present position, which is wholly executive. He is the only Negro in the organization which is housed in a plant valued at nearly a half million.

Mr. Wood is married and has three children.

ATTEMPTS TO STAB WIFE

The vicious example set by Wm. Hansen, white litigant in a property settlement suit, who shot two attorneys in open court last week, was followed Monday evening by John Allen, laborer, in an attempted stabbing of his wife, Leona Allen, 1651 E. 41st street, in an open hospital ward.

Allen was arrested by police from the Central Police station when nurses at the General Hospital complained he came there Monday evening armed with two knives, approached his wife and hissed:

"Just like Hansen killed those two attorneys with others in the court room, I am going to kill you in this hospital ward."

Mrs. Allen had been taken to the Georgia Street Receiving Hospital and later transferred to the General Hospital, suffering from knife wounds inflicted by Allen Wednesday night of last week, following the Louis-Schmeling fight. At first she told police at the scene of the cutting that an unknown woman slashed her about the face and neck, necessitating 39 stitches. Later, she admitted that her husband did it, but said because he was standing in the crowd about her aiming to do her further bodily harm, she was afraid to accuse him.

Scottsboro Boys to Ask Pardons

DECATUR, Ala., July 7. (ANP)—A legal notice stating gubernatorial pardons would be asked for the five Scottsboro boys under sentence was published Monday in a Decatur newspaper. Alabama law requires public advertisement of intention to seek pardon. Gov. Bibb Graves declined to comment.

At the same time, the Scottsboro Defense committee in New York revealed actual presentation of the application would be made around July 15, and that a nation-wide petition is being circulated for pardon which all individuals and organizations are being asked to sign.

UPTON SAYS—

That good looking, handsome young man named Spurgeon Jones who has pitched his hat in the ring for the office of Assemblyman of the 62nd District is going to be a hard man to beat, in spite of the seasoned veterans in the race. I found out as much on Fourth of July up at Val Verde. You see that platform is bound to do the trick. Now I don't mean the platform that Mr. Jones is running on. I mean the one Mr. Jones and Mr. Williams acted as master of ceremonies on in Val Verde dance hall on the Fourth. It's like this folks, when Spurgeon introduced that cute little hoochie koochy dancer who strutted her stuff and did everything but turn inside out, I says he's got something there.

It so happened that I was surrounded by about forty or fifty other old men all about my age which begins at forty and ends near sixty and everyone of them old birds swore by all that's holy that if Spurgeon would just keep that gal a dancing at the different meetings where he makes his stump speeches up until election time, the boy would win hands down. One old man standing in back of me said a seat in the state Assembly was entirely to small for a man that can produce that kind of entertainment, he should run for President of the United States.

One thing I will say to Albert Williams, his campaign manager, you just about broke even on votes in my family. The Mrs. had to come in that hall and drag me out, it appears she knew right where to find me, Al, over in the corner with the rest of them old men. So don't count on her vote, because she caught me with a pencil and a note book in my hand and swore up and down I was trying to get that dancing gal of yours telephone number. Goodbye boys, it looks like you are Sacramento bound.

Life is like a bank. We get out what we put in, with interest added.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

WOMEN'S ECONOMIC COUNCIL TO ENTERTAIN NEW YORK GUESTS

The Women's Economic Council will entertain Mrs. Mapp and Mrs. Rutledge this evening at the headquarters of the Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters according to Mrs. C. Fletcher, president of the organization. The visitors are members of the Women's Economic Council of New York and are out here on a much needed vacation. All Pullman Porters and their wives are cordially invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

MR. AND MRS. WM. ASBURY ENTERTAIN WITH SQUAB DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Asbury entertained Mrs. and Mrs. Chas. L. Upton and Mr. and Mrs. James White with a squab dinner last Friday evening in their beautiful residence, 1439 E. 58th street. Mrs. Asbury and her charming sister turned out to be admirable hostesses and made the party feel like they were dining in the Biltmore Gold-room. The table was beautifully set with the choicest of viands which I can assure you did not go begging. Mr. Asbury, who formerly operated to Seattle, is now on the Chicago run.

BROTHERHOOD OF SLEEPING CAR PORTERS PICKETS "SCAB" DANCE

On May 19, members of the Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters of New York City picketed a dance sponsored by a rival stool pigeon organization, many persons believing the affair to be given by the Brotherhood strutted boldly up to the ballroom, but upon seeing the many large lettered placards loudly decrying the 'Uncle Tom' sponsored dance, hurried away in disgust with many staying to help on the picket lines. Reports are that the stool-pigeon affair was a sad flop with more people on the Brotherhood picket lines than in the dance hall.

1,000 Texas WPA Students Complete Hi School Study

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Enthusiasm, which a heavy rainfall failed to dampen, ran high as an estimated crowd of 2,000 persons attended the second annual meeting of Negro adult education students of the Works Progress Administration, held in the O. J. Thomas High school at Cameron, Texas, Friday, June 27.

Certificates of achievement and special awards were presented to nearly one thousand Negro students enrolled in WPA adult education classes in five central Texas counties. Making the journey from Bell, Brazos, Milam, Robertson and Williamson counties, these students gathered to compete for honors in arithmetic, spelling, reading, industrial, and homemaking art, speaking, and music as well as a number of athletic events. More than 400 pupils took part in the all-day program. In spite of the heavy rains during the earlier part of the day, the weather cleared up in time to permit a street parade and athletic field events, according to schedule.

O. J. Thomas, president of the Negro State Teachers' Association, and principal of the O. J. Thomas High School of Cameron, served as official host for the five county conference.

Amid cheers, Carl W. Huser, State Director of Education for the WPA, presented awards to numerous winners in academic and athletic events during the formal evening program held in the O. J. Thomas School auditorium. C. C. Come, Supervisor of Education for the Austin District, Roby W. Hilliard, State Supervisor of the Negro Division, T. M. Burton, Senior Field Supervisor of Austin, and L. J. Buchanan, Senior Field Supervisor of Temple, were in attendance.

Under the WPA adult education program there are now enrolled in the five central state counties 943 Negroes studying subjects ranging from literacy work to college level. According to Mr. Muser, since July 1, 1937, teachers in this territory taught 745 illiterate Negro citizens how to read and write. The WPA now employs thirty-four Negro teachers in the five-county area.

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE QUARTET IN L. A.

Saturday afternoon, the quartet visited the offices and plant of the California Eagle with I. Henderson.

Holds Johnson Memorial Service

Realizing that one of the brighter stars has fallen in the untimely death of James Weldon Johnson, the Scott M. E. Church of Pasadena, will hold a special memorial service commemorating the monumental work of that great leader, Sunday, July 10, at eleven o'clock.

"The verse in the National Negro Anthem beginning with the words "God of our weary years, God of our silent tears . . .keep us forever in the path we pray", has been a constant source of inspiration to me" the Rev. Karl E. Downs has often intimated.

It is hoped that the homage to this great leader will be shared by a great congregation of grateful people.

Fete Shackelford at Tenn. State

NASHVILLE, Tennessee, June 30.—The Negro History Class of Tennessee A. and I State College entertained J. H. Shackleford of Los Angeles and the Conference Deans and Registrars, which is now in session at Fisk University, at a Breakfast Seminar, June 21, at the Tennessee State College.

"Next steps in the education of Negroes must be made by Negroes, and must be started from where we are and go to some great goal", stated President W. J. Hale, Tennessee State College, as he gave a challenge to the group. "There is no peace, life itself is a challenge and fight; there is no safety where a great goal is to be reached. We must keep on toward our goal, keeping in sight our cause and losing sight of our own personal safety".

Tree-Raising Ceremony Held in Southeast L. A.

A. R. GIFFARD who presided at "Tree Raising" Ceremony.

The celebrating of the making fast of the highest point of the House No. 1 at "Eastern's F. H. A. Demonstration Village" took place July 4th at 2:30 p. m. A large group attended.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

The Master of Ceremonies was A. R. Giffard, Executive of Eastern, who introduced as first speaker Mayor G. M. Baumgardner, of South Gate. Mayor Baumgardner said in part, "While it is true the Eastern hopes to profit somewhat for sponsoring this project, in the selling of more home furnishings, we are indebted to this organization for the type of homes it is constructing and the payment plan tendered, which will assist in building up our communities."

Mr. O. R. Angelillo, President of the Low Cost Housing Incorporated said, "This project is to further the idea as is now being publicized by our government—to make it possible for the wage-earner in the lower bracket to own his own home, properly built and completely furnished on monthly terms he can meet with ease. The type of homes we are building, under the direction of Americas' foremost architect, Paul Williams, will increase real estate values and make this section of Southern California outstanding."

C. A. Carmona, Manager of Eastern in Huntington Park, informally circulated in the crowd and explained in detail the many questions asked him about the project.

Closing remarks were made by A. R. Giffard, who said, "We can liken these five houses to guinea pigs, for experimentation —not in construction but setting a pattern whereby the people can finance, buy, build and completly furnish homes on a profit-sharing basis as simply as purchasing groceries at the corner market. When this is accomplished, a dream of Mr. Sieroty's, Vice-President of Eastern, will homes which creates jobs, on mass production, which will give buying power and make for prosperity."

The first five model homes are now under construction on San Luis Street between Liberty and Independence Boulevards in South Gate.

Citizens Prompt Action Kills Jim Crow Bar at Hall

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 7. (ANP)—As a result of prompt action on the part of this city's leading residents, headed by Atty. J. LeCount, president of the local City officials, then to Louis Pierl, Branch of the NAACP, last week's attempt to bar Negroes from the Duke Ellington dance at Rhode Island Auditorium died aborning.

A citizens' committee complained to Atty. LeCount when they saw newspaper ads of the dance containing the proviso: "Rights of admission reserved." Scenting 'something rotten in Denmark', an appeal was made to auditorium manager. The latter, facing the alternative of a suit for damages, promptly lifted the restriction. About 75 colored couples attended the dance and enjoyed themselves without molestation.

TESTED RECIPE
By Frances Lee Barton

ON a summer Saturday, when the youngsters go off on their own, bearing baseball paraphernalia or home-made fishing rods, it is up to mother to provide the eatables. The young ones take the sandwiches for granted — but they always get a thrill over the little frills you add to the lunch. These coconut date bars will get a rousing hand. In fact, your own grown-up guests will find them just as acceptable.

Coconut Date Bars

1¼ cups sifted cake flour; 1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 cup sugar; 2 eggs, well beaten; 1 tablespoon melted butter; 1 cup finely cut dates; 1 cup shredded coconut; 1 tablespoon hot water.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add sugar gradually to eggs, beating thoroughly. Add butter; then dates and coconut, mixing thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with water, beating well. Turn mixture into two greased pans, 8x8x2 inches, spreading batter thin. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Cut in bars, 2¾x1 inches. Remove from pans. Makes 4 dozen bars.

DOWN IN FRONT

There is no better time than now, with the Nation standing in the need of quiet, after a noisome Fourth to let someone else write this column.

And there isn't any more appropriate piece of guest columning to hand than this answer to one of the anti's in the fight to get Negroes in Big League baseball, written by Bud James sports editor on the Chicago Daily Record. The Record, I had better add before you notice the "brotherly" attitude taken by Brother James, is one of the most thriving of the flushed sheets.

"According to Ford Frick there are no rules in baseball which would exclude Negroes from participation. The matter, he says, is purely up to the discretion of the individual club owners. These men have chosen to exclude Negroes.

In considering the reasons that these owners keep them out it is necessary to consider certainly peculiarities of the present set-up of baseball. . .

Baseball is the only sport, except perhaps, horse racing, which is owned and controlled completely by big businessmen. The teams and parks are owned either by wealthy individuals like Phil Wrigley, or Jake Ruppert, or by syndicates of business interests.

These men, by running the sport like a slave market, control every action of every person participating in it. They buy and sell players, they dictate technical points of the game, tate salaries, they even decide What they say goes

The people who watch the game, the men who play the game have to take the dictates of a few beer barons and chewing gum magnates if they want to watch or play baseball.

It is because these men who run the game are not merely ball club owners, but also business tycoons that Negroes are excluded. An owner who has only a ball club might be more inclined to get players who would win for him and make money. He might be happy to take Negroes.

But a man who runs a chewing gum plantations and pays starving wages to thousands of Negroes, a man who can conveniently turn Negro against white to break organized labor, has little interest in allowing whites to know the Negroes as they really are. Worse still, he doesn't want the white to learn to admire the Negr

And such a man knows only too well that teams with Negro ball players would be a great step toward wiping out this prejudice.

If there are some among the owners who don't object to Negro participation, pressure from his brother businessmen is more than enough to keep him quiet and in line.

Any sport run by big business is bound to take on all the aspects of big business. All the prejudice, the greed and the penny pinching will be there. And nowhere is it more obnoxious than in the vicious exclusion of Negroes in baseball.

Lloyd Lewis, in discussing the case of Joe DiMaggio's holdout, unwittingly pointed the way to the solution of the Negro discrimination in the game. Lewis hinted that DiMaggio was being robbed. He continued by saying that the fans were paying to see the game and they had a right to demand the best that baseball had to offer. And then he suggested in a round about way, that perhaps the fans should have taken steps to see that Rupert was forced to pay the $40,000 that Joe was asking.

That we think is the partial solution to the whole problem. Democratization, and some participation by the fans in the control of the game might help to take it out of the dictatorial hands of the gum chewing beer barons. Only when the grip of these men is broken will it become the truly American sport it should be. The fact that it has prospered as much as it has is a great tribute to the inherent qualities of the game".

PICK EIGHT NEGRO SPIKESTERS TO TOUR EUROPE THIS SUMMER

Bill Lacefield, UCLA Broadjumper, Member of U. S. Team of 40

BUFFALO, July 7. (By Special EAGLE Correspondent)—Eight colored youths, including Los Angeles' star broadjumper, Bill Lacefield, are among the 40 athletes who will compete in ten European countries in dual meets this summer.

The youths were picked Sunday evening by an AAU committee, following the close of the AAU meet held here Saturday and Sunday. Selections were based on meet performances and influenced by records maintained during the track and field season just closed.

For the first time in the history of track and field in the United States, athletes from colored colleges in the South will be included on the team roster. Ever since last summer when Ralph Metcalfe's Xavier University (New Orleans) track and field squad broke precedent by competing in a meet at Randall Island, those schools have continued to invade the East. They reached their stride this year with Mozelle Ellerbee of Tuskegee's victory in the 100 yard dashes of the Drake Relays and the N. C. A. A. meet, and with John Borican of Virginia State's hurdle victory at the Penn relays.

Both Ellerbee and Borican are on the team that will compete in Europe, next month the latter in the 400 meter hurdles, in which he placed second to Jack Patterson of Rice Institute, Texas (white) Sunday, and the former in the sprints in which he was third Sunday.

JOHNSON TO SWEDEN

Ben Johnson, Columbia U sprinter will compete first in Sweden and later in Germany, as will Gil Cruter, Colorado State high jumper.

Jimmy Herbert, New York U quartermiler is a member of the team that will tour England, as is Mel Walker, Ohio State high jumper.

The remainder of the youths, including Lacefield and Michigan State's Bill Watson, will leave for Germany in August.

LACEFIELD WINS

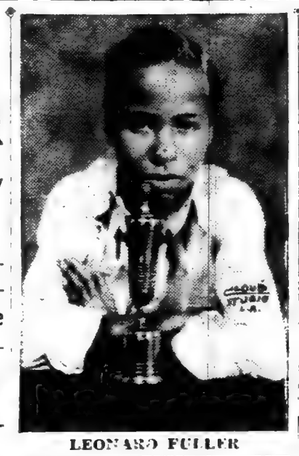
Lacefield, a comparative newcomer to inter-collegiate sports, repeated his performance of the NC 2A meet at Minneapolis NC2A meet at Minneapolis three weeks ago, winning the broadjump at 25ft. 3-10in. Third place winner was Jack Robinson, younger brother of Mack Robinson, famous Olympic runner. Jackie, the day before had won the broadjump in the novice division, composed of athletes who had never before won an AAU title, or who had not won a major college event. Bill Watson of Michigan was fourth at 24ft. 2in. 5-10ths less than Jackie's mark.

Mack Robinson, incidentally, was not picked to make the cross pond jaunts. It was believed that the committee tried to give the trip to athletes who had not previously had the experience. Robinson won the 200 meter run from Perrin Walker, white and Clyde Jeffery also white in 21.3.

Also entitled to the trip but foregoing it, was Dave Albritton, Ohio State high jumper and Olympic star, who placed second to Walker in that event. Lloyd Thompson, Xavier's hope in the high barrier, tied for fourths placing him just out of the money.

The colored athletes did extremely well in the meet, especially in the novice division the day before. Fine marks were made by the youngsters competing in those events although they were not eligible for the European trip.

Lenny Spencer, California miler, capped his collegiate career with a second place in the 1500 meter run. Bryant Allen won the furlong in 21.9 and Xavier's Lloyd Williams won the shot event.



GEORGE CROUCH
SPEED BURNER

Featured in a double main event at the Olympic auditorium next Tuesday night are Georgie Crouch and Henry Mobley.

Crouch, called one of the coast's classiest lightweights, will face up-and-coming Babe Brandelli, in what should be a slam-bang duel. Mobley, lanky lightheavyweight, will square off against "Texas" Jack Dallas who decisioned Charley "Killer" Coates at the Olympic two weeks ago.

Both matches figure to attract the fistic buffs.

Results of Tuesday's bouts at the downtown swatatorium are as follows: Paulo Dano easily outpointed inexperienced Manuel Cruz in six rounds; Al Romero handily nodded Ray Vargas in six; Lad Haystead Sloan dropped Slade Hagler twice in the first stanza to win on a technical knockout in the third six-rounder. The preliminaries saw Tommy Tucker stop Larry Wright in the first. Frankie Heinz outpoint Elmar Lewis; Rip Slade drew with Tuffy Crane and Louis Reed draw with Don Brooks. Abe Roth refereed the six-rounders, and Frankie Van handled the prelims

LEONARD FULLER

Joe Calls Off Bouts for Rest of Year

CHICAGO, July 7. (ANP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis will fight neither Max Baer nor anybody else this year, nor will he sail for Europe on Wednesday as was originally planned, Co-manager Julian Black revealed Thursday night.

"Joe has been working too hard and needs a rest", Black said, adding he spoke to Mike Jacobs who agreed that four title defenses in a year was enough work. If Joe boxes before next spring or summer, it will be in exhibition matches. However, Baer is still No. 1 on the challengers' list and will remain so unless he is defeated before 1939. In that case, Gunnar Barland, Finnish conqueror of Buddy Bear, would get the spot.

The European trip was called off indefinitely because Louis wants to supervise building of a new home for his mother, Mrs Lily Brooks, of Detroit. He left Chicago Friday to help her pick a lot for its construction, and after remaining in the Motor City for a time, was to go to Black's summer home at Stevensville Mich.

After a vacation at Stevensville Louis intends to go to New York to attend the lightweight fight between Champion Lou Ambers and Henry Armstrong at the Polo Grounds on Aug. 10

Phil Edwards Visits Mother

NEW YORK, July 7. (ANP)—Dr. "Phil" Edwards, Canadian Olympic runner who is now a surgeon in Barbados, arrived here last week aboard the C.N.S. Lady Hawkins to visit his mother who is ill.

Dr. Edwards was born in British Guiana. At Barbados, he is chief surgeon in the general hospital. He attended New York university, and retains his Canadian residence for Olympic purposes. He has represented that country in the last three Olympic games, was captain of the running group at Berlin in 1936, and expects to compete again in 1940.

Sweeping to new glories, the California Eagle Negro Newspaper of the Air interviewed William Grant Still last night. The famous musician, whose works are internationally famous, was very interesting

JULIETTE HARRIS AND JIMMY McDANIELS COP S.C.T.T. SINGLES TITLES

Harris Comeback Matches That of Helen Moody

PASADENA, July 7—Highlighted by the return to form of a one-time champoin and the crowning of a new men's singles king, the Pasadena tennis clubs, the Crown City and the Apex, hosted a very successful Southern California Tennis tournament on the courts of the Pasadena Junior college last weekend.

Juliette Harris, for many years the outstanding woman player on the Pacific Coast, dethroned two years ago by several younger players, matched the thrilling come-back of Helen Wills Moody two days previously at Wimbledon, over-riding all opposition to win the Southern California title.

Young Jimmie McDaniels, seeded in the Griffith Park matches (white) and recognized for the past year or so as potentially the best colored player on the Coast, was victor in a final grudge match over Bill Deane, one time top man, to make the first new men's singles title holder in Southern California for the past 8 years. The championship has been held for that time by James Stocks of Pasadena. Stocks did not play this year, automatically relinquishing his title.

With the exception of Stocks, all the players mentioned above represented the Ross Snyder club of Los Angeles. As to team totals, the Ross Snyder group was victor, taking every title from the boys' singles to the mixed doubles. In doing so they but repeated performances maintained for many years, excepting Stocks' singles title.

SANCTIONED BY A.T.A.

The tournament was sponsored by the Western Federation of Tennis clubs of which Clarence Mills of Pasadena is chairman, and received the sanction of the American Tennis Association, of which Mrs. Josephine Brown of Los Angeles is Western field secretary.

A goodly crowd witnessed the show that began on Saturday and continued through Monday evening. The four courts were kept almost continuously in use as a larger turnout of players was recorded than at any previous Southern California play-off.

Miss Harris' march to the victory stand commenced Sunday afternoon when she defeated Almena Davis, Eagle reporter, member of the Surburban Tennis club 6-0, 6-0. An hour or so later Miss Harris took on her clubmate, Elyse Buie, and the next day defeated Otis V. Wiggins in the finals.

The meeting with Miss Wiggins was something of a surprise. Miss Wiggins upset the Southern California and Pacific Coast title holder, Gwendolyn Roberson, in the semi-finals, causing all the polite society bets to go haywire. Mrs. Roberson was a favorite to hold her title.

Miss Harris' match with Miss Wiggins, therefore, was easy, score 6-0, 6-2. In the match preceding that, with Miss Buie, she met her stiffest competition. A dogged determined Elyse played what was undoubtedly one of the best matches of the entire tournament. Almost an equal to Miss Harris, she matched volley for volley, lob for lob in a fierce attempt to win. One volley for one point crossed the net fourteen times by actual count. It was a case of endurance and accuracy in which Miss Harris proved herself the super-player.

FIVE SET MATCH

McDaniels' progression to the championship was along an easy route until he met Bill Deane in the finals. The match went five sets with the score as follows: 3-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Both fellows are merciles players with cannon-ball serves, baseline drives and smashing net games. Deane perhaps had an advantage in experience, but the competition McDaniels has met in the past year at play at Griffith Park and Exposition in Los Angeles told the final story. With his older brother, Al, he easily won the doubles title also.

Mrs. Roberson and Miss Wiggins had an easy time of it in the women's doubles and the former with Colquit Fisher, semi-finalist in the men's singles, advanced with little trouble to the top of the mixed doubles heap.

Diminutive Leonard Fuller was sorely pushed but he came through to win his third junior title from Leo Lewis, member of the Jefferson High School tennis team.

The tennis players close up shop now until September when the Ross Snyder group is host to the entire Pacific Coast at Los Angeles.—(A.D.)

Coast Stars Run Into Jim Crow at Hotel

CHICAGO, July 7. (ANP)—Quartered with their white Pacific Coast teammates at the Sovereign hotel on the Northside while awaiting their track meet with a Big Ten squad at Northwestern university's stadium Monday of last week, four colored stars packed their bags and went to the Southside to escape jim crow practices at the hotel.

The four who ran afoul of discrimination were Mack Robinson of Oregon, second in the 200 meters at Berlin in 1936; Bill Lacefield of University of California at Los Angeles, intercollegiate broad jump champion; Woodrow Wilson Strode of UCLA shot put star, and Leonard Spencer, California miler.

According to Spencer, he was told he could not use the front entrance and on Friday, when a wedding was scheduled at the hotel, the four athletes were told they could not eat in the dining room with the white squad members but would be served in their rooms. Angered, the boys packed their bags and moved to the Southside. Tom Berkeley, UCLA hurdler who was not competing in the meet, was already visiting relatives on the Southside.

Seek Olympic Tryouts

DETROIT, July 7, — Willis Ward and Eddie Tolan are seeking to bring the final tryouts for the 1940 American Olympic Team to Detroit, it was reported this week.

CONGRESS OF METROPOLITAN CHURCHES OPENS HERE SUNDAY

Bishop W. F. Taylor of Kansas to Attend Meet Here at Triangular Church of Truth

The Thirteenth Annual Congress of the Metropolitan Churches will be welcomed to Los Angeles on July 10 by the Triangular Church of Truth at 52nd and Wadsworth streets, pastored by Pearl C. Wood. The congress will continue to July 17 and promises the presentation of notables throughout the church world. Sessions will be held each day from 12 noon to two, and in the evening at eight.

Preeminent among those scheduled to attend and participate in the congress program is Bishop W. F. Taylor of Kansas City. Also in attendance will be the Reverends C. H. Cobb of Chicago, G. T. Murphy, and Fields of Tulsa, Okla. All meetings are open to the general public.

The congregation of the Corner Stone Baptist were guests of the Bethlehem Baptist church Sunday afternon at three. This Sunday afternoon the preachers and deacons council will be in charge of the service. The Rev. D. Austin is pastor.

BOB PARRISH to be guest vocalist on Independent Radio program, "The Visitor".

Accompanying Rev. Clayton D. Russell, "The Visitor" in his weekly Sunday morning journeys over the airways to the homes of the sick and the shut-ins next Sunday will be Bob Parrrish a product of Los Angeles schools, whose rare baritone voice has made an international figure.

As guest soloist for the regular broadcast over KFOX at 10:15, he will share honors with William Gillespie, featured soloist with the large choir of People's Independent Church of Christ under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew. Bob will sing "Hear My Cry, O Lord." He leaves at the end of the month for an engagement in London.

Sponsored by the Angelus Funeral Home, "The Voice of the Visitor" is now in its second year of carrying messages and songs of cheer and comfort to the shut-ins throughout Southern California.

The Angelus is the only Negro business in the United States that has sponsored a broadcast continuously for such a long period. A continuous stream of mail from all over the state speaks for the continued popularity of this unique and helpful program.

"Religion and Money" has been announced as the subject for the morning sermon at Wesley Chapel M. E. Church by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, next Sunday. In the evening, the sermon will be brought by a guest speaker, Rev. Pierson of Bryan, Texas. Holy Communion was administered at both services last Sunday.

The Shiloh Baptist church services Sunday were conducted by Deacon Hutcherson and the morning sermon preached by the pastor, Rev. Marshall. Among the many visitors were Mrs. Carrie Wilson, evangelist of Augusta, Georgia.

Revival meetings began last Sunday, July 3, at the People's United Church of Christ, Wilmington Avenue at East 105th St. with the Rev. E. H. Booker of Washington, D. C. in the pulpit. The meetings will continue each night and Rev. Booker will also preach at Sunday morning services, July 10, it was announced by the pastor, Rev. T. F. Jones.

Dr. W. R. Carter preached to the Second Baptist church congregation in the absence of Dr. T. L. Griffith Sunday morning and communion was administered in the evening by the assistant pastor, Rev. H. A. Foster. Dr. Griffith will return to his pulpit this Sunday after attending the BYPU Congress at Tuskegee, Ala. Bishop A. P. Shaw of the M. E. Church is expected July 17.

Bishop A. P. Shaw, because of an unexpected meeting of the Board of Bishops, will not be able to be at Hamilton M. E. Church, East 18th and Naomi Avenue, Rev. S. M. Beane, Pastor, until Sunday, July 17th, at 11 A. M. A telegram from him gives this information. You will hear him to your profit at that hour, so get ready to be present. Next Sunday the pastor will deliver the sermon from the subject, "We Begin Again". You are cordially invited to worship with us at each of our services.

Epworth League services at 6 P. M. Come and spend an hour with the Young People.

Family Day will be held on Sunday, July 24th at the morning and evening hours. 36 hostesses and host, will have charge of the pews for that day, sponsored by the Home Department of the Church school.

For publication on or before Saturday, July 9, 1938

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Communion Services will be conducted on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Sacrament," and the Golden Text is from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians: "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity, and truth."

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon are the passages from John: "But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore: but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus. Then Jesus saith unto them, Children, have ye any meat? They answered him, No. And he said unto them, Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes.... As soon then as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread.... Jesus saith unto them, Come and dine."

The Lesson-Sermon includes also this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "This spiritual meeting with our Lord in the dawn of a new light is the morning meal which Christian Scientists commemorate."

Next Sunday, July 10th is Young People's Day at the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church, 46th and McKinley, Rev. J. A. H. Eldridge, pastor. The day's interesting program will begin with the 11 o'clock morning service, featuring the Rev. Chalmers Gaither as speaker. In the afternoon, a popularity contest will be held between Babys Smalling and Baskerville, to be followed by a Young people's program at night. Come and bring all your friends.

Rev. G. W. Washington was this week's speaker for the Baptist Minister's Union which held its regular meeting Tuesday in the Second Baptist church. Rev. Washington's subject was the 'Relationship of Work and Faith'. Rev. L. D. Stevens conducted devotions and Dr. W. H. M. Dickerson brought current news.

The outdoor evening services conducted by Evangelist-Pastor P. G. Rogers of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in the tent at 49th and Central Ave., reached the climax last Sunday night when the 950 chairs were occupied and scores thru the services. If this tent was twice the size that it is, it would be over crowded judging from the great interest shown night after night in the strong sermons presented by the speaker. Sunday night there will be a picture sermon entitled "Will Christ come from Heaven or from Harlem?"

The Pastor of the Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, at Vernon and Hooper avenues who was a delegate from the Southern California Congregational Conference to the National Council of Congregational and Christian Churches, held in Beloit, Wis., June 15 to 22, returned to the City last Thursday and resumed his duties. He spoke at both services the past Sunday, using as his morning message "The Way of the Cross". The Lord's Supper was administered at the close of the service. At the evening hour he began a series of Sunday evening messages on "High Lights of the Council" or "What I Saw and Heard".

This Sunday at the morning hour Rev. Lightner will begin a series on "Some Fundamental Needs of Men", speaking at that time on "The Need of Courage". In the evening he will give the second in his evening series.

Pastor Returns

Rev. E. E. Lightner

Rev. E. E. Lightner, pastor of the Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, Vernon and Hooper Avenues, who was a delegate from the Southern California Congregational Conference to the National Council of the Congregational Churches of America, held in Beloit, Wisconsin, June 15th--22nd, returned to the city, Thursday of last week, to resume his Pastoral duties. He reports a History making Council, both in the inspirational meetings and in the legislation passed affecting the true welfare of the church. A National Conference of Congregational young people of all races was held in Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., at the same time of the Congregational Council at Beloit. Rev. Lightner addressed this Conference of young people, Saturday, June 18th, on: "The Race Question." Following the Beloit Council, he spent several days in Chicago, and was the guest speaker at the Bird Memorial Congregational Church (white) of Chicago, of which his school mate, Dr. Thomas Lineweaver, is Pastor, Sunday morning, June 26th. In the evening of the same day he worshipped with, and was the guest speaker of Greater St. John Baptist Church, of which Dr. O. W. Williams is pastor.

Rev. Lightner returns to his work filled with enthusiasm, instilled by the experiences and contacts in the middle west. This Sunday, July 10th, he begins a series of Sunday morning messages on: "Some Fundamental Needs of Mankind," speaking at that time on: "The Need for Courage." In the evening he will give the second in a series on: "High Lights of the National Council," or "What I Saw and Heard". Every one invited to hear these.

RELIGIOUS LEADERS COMMUNE WITH BOOKER T.

A group of proponents of religious education who appeared on the program of the National BYPU and Sunday School Congress which convened at Tuskegee Institute last month snapped beneath the monument of Booker T. Washington.

Girls and Boys Entertained

More than 300 boys and girls, representing all the churches in the community, were guests of Peoples Independent Church of Christ at a party in the annex of the church at 18th and Paloma, Tuesday evening of last week, honoring the participants in the annual Boys' and Girls' Day programs held last month.

Nearly all the members of the 100-voice girls' chorus attended. Refreshments, games and music featured the evening's entertainment.

The young people raised on the two Sundays over $600.00.

Church Clinic to Re-Open

Following a number of necessary changes in its plan of operation, the free clinic of People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, will reopen its doors for patients next week.

Since its beginning over a year ago a large number of needy persons of all races have been served without cost by a large and efficient staff. Local physicians, dentists and surgeons have given their services free to carry on the extended community program of Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of the church.

Big Improvement Program Benefits L. A.

Citizens of Los Angeles received the benefit of a vast public improvement program during the past fiscal year, ending June 30, totaling $10,533,565 in cost and financed without bond issues, special assessments or additional taxes, according to data released this week by Mayor Frank L. Shaw as he commenced his sixth year as the city's chief executive.

Federal funds were used to finance a major part of the huge program with State gasoline tax revenues meeting a portion of the cost.

Ten construction programs, representing an outlay of $5,894,694 in Works Progress Administration funds and 15 PWA jobs costing $1,979,712 were included in the public improvements completed and accepted during the past twelve months. Approximately 10,000 persons were given steady employment in the cities public works program during this period.

Other major improvements affecting the Negro colony directly include Alameda Street to Wilmington Boulevard $181,287; Hooper Avenue storm drain, $620,174; North Central business storm drain, $353,348; Fifth and Eleventh street storm drain, San Pedro, $114,286.

DONES' STUDENTS TO BE PRESENTED SUNDAY

A twilight recital by the violin students of Mrs. Bessie Williams Dones will be presented at the First AME church, 8th and Towne Avenue on Sunday evening, July 10, from five to seven o'clock. Assisting in the recital which under the auspices of the Sunday School for the beenfit of the piano fund is Miss Ruby Lyle. The public is urged to attend. Fred Baker is superintendent of the school and the Rev. H. Mansfield Collins pastor.

We give courteous and careful attention to all details; efficient service with modern facilities.

Baptist Forces Gather Here

The Los Angeles District Association, Rev. D. Albert Miller, Moderator, held its annual session with the Faithful Central Baptist Church, East 40th Place, and Paloma streets. The Associational theme was "Vision Before Works". Two days were crowded with inspirational songs and praise services, helpful addresses, spiritual sermons, and educational panel discussions. The annual sermon was delivered by Rev. H. B. Thomas, pastor of the Second Baptist church, Santa Barbara. Rev. Thomas is one of the pioneer pastors and leading spirits of the Baptist families of the entire state. His years of service are recognized and appreciated by all the Baptists of Southern California. Moderator Miller and his corps of officers are closing a very successful years work and are prepared to render a gratifying report to the annual session of the Western Baptist State Convention which meets in Pasadena in August.

MINISTERS' WIVES PICNIC AT BEACH

The Minister's Wives Council will have their annual picnic at Cabrillo Beach Wednesday, July 13. The starting point will be 9 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Mary Caddell, 1031 East 52nd place. The Interdenominational Ministers Alliance of which Rev. S. M. Beane is President will be the guest of the Council.

Notice!!

The Mens Club of the Abyssinia Baptist Church located at 42nd and Hooper avenue, Los Angeles wil sponsor a week's program commencing on Monday night, July 11th, 1938, and will continue until Sunday, July 17 at 3 p. m.

On each evening at 8 o'clock, there will be a fine program and preaching by the different pastors of the city. Wednesday night, July 13th will be the special night. There will be a Candle Light Service, conducted by Rev. Grant Harris, and the members of the Zion Hill Baptist Church. This service will be one of the greatest services that will be rendered during the entire week. However, we are expcting ach night to be great, and you cannot afford to miss any of it--therefore--we shall expect you to worship with us, and assist us in making the week a very great occasion. Don't forget the time: Monday, July 11 through Sunday, July 17.

WELCOMES PASTOR

Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, will be greeted by a record attendance on Sunday morning when he returns to deliver the morning sermon. Dr. Caston has just returned from the annual meeting of the National Baptist Sunday School and BYPU Congress at Tuskegee, Ala., where he was called to make an address, and the Twentieth Annual Meeting of the International Council of Religious Education at Columbus, Ohio. He is an approved Dean of Christian Education, accredited by the former organization and by virtue of that fact was urged to attend their meeting by the Western Baptist State Convention, of which he is Commissioner of Education. Splendid and helpful sessions are reported from each body. Trinity Baptist Church and the entire West-side community are expected to turn oud to share in the benefits he has reaped from contacts and discussions with the religious leaders of our race and denomination, as well as those of other races, nations, and denominations. Services begin at 10:45 A. M.

Settle 6-Yr.-Old Church Fuss

NASHVILLE, July 7. (ANP)—A controversy raging for six years between "the Church of the Living God, the Pillar and Ground of the Truth", and "The House of God, which is the Church of the Living God, the Pillar and Ground of Truth without Controversy", was settled by Chancellor R. B. C. Howell last Saturday with the merging of the warring groups.

In his decision, Chancellor Howell enjoined the congregation from "any disorderly conduct, including the use of brickbats, knives, razors, guns, 2 x 4's and similar weapons of offense."

ADMITS NEGRO M.D. TO CLINICAL STAFF

ORANGE, N. J., July 7. (ANP) Climaxing a fight made for many years by Dr. W. G. Alexander, this city, to have reputable Negro physicians added to the medical staff of public hospitals, Orange Memorial hospital last week admitted a colored doctor to its clinical staff.

Just why these white men think the Negro should feel disposed to keep them in office is a problem too complicated for this dough mixer to solve. No clerks, deputies or messengers are on the payroll.

Positions in their power to award have been distributed among every group save the Negro. Talk about guts, these birds have an over supply and the cheek and gall of a Missouri jackass to face a group of colored voters and ask for votes with an appointment to some job in his hip pocket for some white individual that should be given the Negro.

Well, they're doing it and moreover there are plenty black "camp followers" collecting so much, for who would part with their best friend if you question the attitude of his candidate in dealing with the Negro. Well candidates from dog felter up to U. S. Senator are as thick as Alabamans at a lynching party and it's up to you to study, think and decide for yourself. Here's a brief glance at a few of the dear, dear good friends who seek to serve the county, state and nation.

Hon. Leo V. Youngworth, native son, 56 years of age is a candidate for Superior Judge, Office No. 17. He's an able lawyer, well known and highly respected as a citizen.

The Watts Non-Partisan Voters League will hold a series of meetings to be addressed by speakers from the Merriam-for-Governor headquarters as follows: Grape Street School, July 12, 19; 102nd Street School, July 11, 18, 25; 111th Street School, July 7, 14, 21, 28.

State Controller Riley, candidate to succeed himself, has ably served the people and his friends are not wasting any time in the fight to put him across.

Challenging all other candidates to a debate on issues of the campaign, Samuel W. Jones, race man, and candidate for Supervisorfi Second District, so far has no takers. Jones styles himself as a leader of the unemployed workers.

Earl Warren, 13 years District Attorney of Alameda County, seems to be gaining friends in his race for State Attorney General. Mr. Warren is a native son and received his elementary schooling in Bakersfield. He also saw service in the World War.

Gov. Merriam headquarters is featuring the reprieve of a Negro condemned to die on the gallows for murder. The Governor granted a stay of execution until October 14. Poor bate to catch votes. Harrison Wells received a fair trial before a jury of his peers; found guilty and sentenced, and just what solace can be found in sparing the life of killer goes over our head. In this act only the Governor and Wells are benefitted. The former's conscience, if he has such a thing, is at ease and the latter is enjoying that which even animals love—life.

Senator J. L. Seawell is making a strong bid for Lieutenant Governor. He is seeking nomination on his record as a lawmaker, which is one of honesty and efficiency. In case anyone may desire to get in touch with the Senator, headquarters are located at 510 W. Sixth street.

According to Manager Albert Williams, his man, Spurgeon Jones has the G. O. P. nomination for Assemblyman, 62nd District sewed up. The Eastern Outfitting Co., employees are behind Jones to a man.

One man this dough mixer longs to gaze upon, is that two masted schooner, Tommy Myles. For lo these 18 summers we've traversed these highways and by-ways, we've never been honored to see the man who wants to handle the Republican end of the rope in the Assembly from the 62nd District. If current reports are true, he's a hum-dinger.

Sid Dones told ye scribe: "I'm too busy putting over Landon, the new rural village to play politics, but a group of business men forced me into the Assembly race by circulating and filing the petition and paying the fee. I'd be a poor sport to throw 'em down, so I'll make the fight.

Lawrence F. LaMorr, head of news gathering syndicate, is pitted against Atty. Loren Miller for a place on the Democratic County Central Committee.

Hon. Wm. D. Campbell and Hon. Fred M. Roberts will shortly touch off the fireworks in a spectacular batter for the Congressional nomination in the 14th District. Both are old school Republicans, well known in the District and have powerful friends. On with the dance boys!

Every Democrat you meet is talking Olson and if you chance upon a Republican he's bubbling over with enthusiasm for Hatfield. Just now it looks as though we'll have to choose between these two men for a governor.

The Democratic Central Committee, 62nd District is sponsoring a district publication called "Democracy". The crafty Dick Abrams has his name in the 'flag' as business manager.

Met the Rev. E. T. Hubbard, retired Methodist minister, some two weeks ago. He said he was running for Congress 14th District on the Republican ticket. Haven't learned whether he raised the dough to file or not. He wound up a lengthy talk on his candidacy thus: "My soul ambition is to beat Fred Roberts and I have the votes behind me to do it. Just watch!"

Pierson Hall has killed whatever chance Sheridan Downey had of landing the Democratic Senatorial nomination. Hall is the bird who couldn't see his way clear to give the group a place in his office while serving as U. S. District Attorney. We're also told that he showed disrespect to a group of colored ministers while a member of the City Council.

Central Avenue sportsmen are offering odds that Gus Hawkins will receive more votes on the Democratic ticket than the combined vote of the five candidates seeking nomination on the Republican ticket. Hawkins is also booked at 2 to 1 to win in the general election by a vote of 3 to 1. Want to sport some? Here's your chance.

According to a Northern California daily John Fowler, Democratic State organizer for Senator Olson, spoke in Oakland, and other bay cities latter part of the week winding up at Santa Barbara, Sunday, thence to his home in Watts where he celebrated the Fourth.

Russell H. Ewing Favors 'Equality' in State Schools

Russell H. Ewing, University of Southern California instructor and candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, today declared he favored "equality of educational opportunity" for all races and "expansion of recreational facilities" in California schools.

The educator, who announced he planned to open a branch campaign headquarters in the Central Avenue area for his race for the non-partisan office, said:

"Equality of educational opportunity, both for students and teachers and regardless of race, creed or politics, is part of the American heritage. Expansion of recreational facilities of the schools will be a powerful deterent to juvenile delinquency."

MERRIAM ASKED TO VISIT TRUTH HOME

Mrs. Geneva Wade, secretary of the Sojourner Truth Home, 1119 East Adams, has extended Governor Frak F. Merriam, an invitation to visit the home on his next arrival in Los Angeles.

Vesper Octet Gives Semi-Formal Fete

Sponsored by the Vesper Octette of the Second Baptist Church, a highly successful semi formal reception was given this year's graduates in the Second Baptist Dining Hall Monday evening of last week.

Expert Directress of Ceremonies was Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow, who introduced Mrs. Ernestine Jones-Wade, vocal solo; Miss Mae Rosseau, trombone solo; Miss Geneva May Bass, piano and the Gilbert Allen Choir of radio fame.

Highlight of the musical program was the powerful renditions of the Gilbert Allen Choir, although each solo was extremely well executed.

The main address of the evening was given by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass EAGLE editor, and the "graduate's response" by Mr. Crispus Wright.

After the entertainment and speeches, the graduates, from College, High and Junior High, were formed in lines to accept the congratulations of the audience. Refreshments were then served.

Graduates from High school included James Lawson, William Elkins, Leroy Solden, Douglas Van Vactor, Lloyd Herbs, Robert Wilson, Geraldine Stewart, Martian Bundice, Elizabeth Jones, Margaret Hearon, Lydia Armas, Addena Ecles, Bernice Hanstrack, Inez Lyons, and others. A partial list of the Junior High Graduates would consist of Gloria Jones, Jean Banks, Elmer Leon Jones, Harold Arnold, Alice Isom, Robert Crowley, Ruth Cornish, Gertrude Lomax, Ruth Pier, John Adams, Robert Hearon, Sara Johnson and Thomas Albernathe.

Those receiving degrees: Miss Geneva May Bass, Miss Beatrice Day and Mr. Crispus Wright.

Among graduates introduced were Inez Hamilton, A. B.; Georgia Williams, M. S.; Crispus Wright, LL. B.; Edythe Meaux, A. B.; all of the University of Southern California, and Josephine Blodgett, A. B. of UCLA.

Mrs. Blanche Hamilton is president and Mrs. Neoshe Tatum secretary of the organization sponsoring the affair.

Theatre of Air Programs Announced

A group of special choral numbers featuring Sherman Walker's popular Negro vocal orchestra will highlight tonight's "A Capella In Bronze" program.

Federal Theatre of the Air's quarter hour musical treat reaches KMPC listeners at 9:30 and striking vocal numbers will include "Bury Me In The East", "Every Time I Feel The Spirit", "Sing You Sinners", "Goin' Home" and "Crying Holy Unto The Lord."

Amos Reese acts as tonight's exhorter and other favorites include Johephine Burke, and Earl Smith.

KAGWA'S LIFE

Sir Apoplo Kagwa, the African Negro who rose to fame as a prime minister, will be honored on today (Thursday) "Turning Points In Famous Lives" presentation, reaching KRKD listeners at 11 a. m. and promises an exciting quarter hour.

Kagwa's life, paralleling fiction's most fabulous adventure tales, embraced religious persecution, attempted assassination, high honors in England's political circles and eventual knighthood.

Principals include three outstanding Negro artists, Charles Hawkins, Earl Smith and Josephine Burke.

A CAPELLA IN BRONZE

The death of an old mammy and her fantastic flight through the skies to "heaven and final rest" is depicted in tonight's "A Capella In Bronze" program, coming over KMPC at 9:30.

Y Camp Exhibit Week Announced

The week of July 11-16, will be known as "Camp Exhibit and Registration Week" at the 28th Street Branch YMCA. During this period a display will be placed in the boys' lobby showing the many advantages to be found in the "Y" camp at Little Green Valley, in the San Bernardino Mountains, it was announced by "Y" officials.

The exhibit will be open all during the week. However, special features will be presented on Tuesday and Thursday, July 12 and 14, at 7:30 p. m. A motion picture filmed at last year's camp will also be on the program.

Franklin Forges Into Lead in Lieut.-Governor Race

Dr. Walter Scott Franklin of Santa Barbara, only Southern California candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor, has forged into the lead over his four Northern California rivals both in the southern counties and in rural areas throughout the state, according to a positive declaration made by Robert F. Craig, of Los Angeles, former secretary of the Republican Assembly, following a check of state-wide polls recently completed.

"Dr Franklin, as a successful rancher, has the confidence of farmers and rural voters generally and his program for sensible economy in government and peaceful settlement of labor disputes has won wisespread support," said Craig.

"In Los Angeles County and Southern California generally our check-ups, together with polls taken by other candidates, show Dr. Franklin running better than a 2 to 1 favorite over his nearest opponent."

Dr. Franklin, for many years a member of the University of California medical staff, also has a host of friends and supporters in the San Francisco Bay Area, Craig said, and campaign committees are being completed in every county in the state.

JUST ANOTHER SCRAP O' PAPER!

One-Horse Stable of Jim English Wins Owner $691

ST. LOUIS, July 7. (ANP)—Jim English, only Negro stable owner at the Fairmount track and once one of America's premier jockeys, had a winner Wednesday. It was his stable's only horse, War Jest, a three-year-old filly that took the second race and fattened his purse to the tune of $691.

"I bet all I could rake and scrape on her," the jubilant 62-year-old horseman confided afterward. "I placed $20 to win and $20 to place, and I should have bet the whole $40 on her nose. She paid $21.40 to win, $9.20 to place and $6.80 to show."

Years ago, that would not have been much money to Jim English. In 1891 he finished second high among American riders when he won the Tobacco Stakes at Latonia aboard Mora, and the Quick Step Stakes at Washington Park, Chicago. But today his sole stake is War Jest.

"I bet on her, and I told my friends over in St. Louis to be on her," he declared. "I certainly hope they all laid it on this filly."

SLEPT IN BARN

He revealed that the night before the race, he slept in the barn next to her because he knew she was going to win and din't want to take chances with anybody coming around. Back in the early '90's, when English was bringing home winners at Spotsman's Park where races were run under electric lights, he got mixed up in a queer case.

"That's the time they put me on a ringer," he recalled. "It was in the first race one night, and the program said the horse was High License. I rode him and he won, at big odds. But when I got off in front of the stand, there was white paint on my boots and then the judges found the horse's legs were painted white and his face was painted white. That horse was really good nag called Uff, but they had painted him to look like High License. Well, there was a mess of trouble about that, but they didn't blame me. Uff had actually won five straight races before he was painted."

War Jest, his lone horse, is well bred, a daughter of Strolling Player and War Wedding, the latter an offspring of Man O'War. She has won three times and finished third three times in 22 starts and seems to have plenty of speed. English was surprised that the betters let her go to the post Wednesday at odds of 10 to 1, but he wasn't sorry. His $40 bet brought him $306, and the purse of $385 will help both him and War Jest to fight it out in many more races.

CRACK RACE DRIVER RAJO JACK

He is reputedly the only colored race track driver in the world.

CBS indicates the Columbia Broadcasting System; MBS, Mutual Broadcasting System; NBC Red or Blue, National Broadcasting C.. (k) is the abbreviation for kilocycle. Consult your individual network stations for broadcasts listed, subtracting time given (E.D.T.) to your own time zone.

Prefaced by a brief poem entitled "Dreams," Federal Theatre of the Air's popular presentation brings a quaint sermon, preached by a kindly old parson who uses the poem, "Go Down Death" as his text.

Enhanced by Sherman Walker's vocal orchestra the quarter hour musical broadcast features a cast of favorites that includes Ruby Dandridge, Lester Wilkins, Amos Reese and Herbert Ward.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Recognizing the increased part part which Negro youths are playing in public affairs and politics, the Young Republican National Federation at its biennial convention earlier this month elected Charles M. Stokes, 33 year old, of Leavenworth, Kansas, as a vice-chairman of this nation-wide organization.

Stokes' election followed amendment of the Federation's constitution that hereafter one of the seven vice-chairman must be a member of the colored race.

7TH DAY ADVENTIST TENT MEETS DRAW

Bible Prophecy has always been a source of great interest and timely information, as is attested by the large crowds attending the Seventh Day Adventist Tent meetings at 49th and Central. The problems of today are vividly explained by word and picture, and the leader, Elder P. G. Rogers needs no introduction to Los Angeles, for a number of years, meetings led by this God-inspired man have drawn capacity audiences wherever he held forth, proving the power of the world cannot keep people from seeking God's word. Visit the clean comfortable tent at 49th and Central. God's music, clear pictures and thrilling messages.

PROGRESS EXPO TO TELL RISE OF NEGRO

DETROIT, Mich., July 7.— The 75 Years of Progress Exposition which will be held in Detroit in 1940 will not only attempt to portray the rise of the Negro in America, but it will also depict the progres of Africans, it was learned this week. Bishop R. R. Wright of Africa, has indicated his willingness to serve on the National Committee which is headed by Governor Frank Murphy, of Michigan, according to Dr. George W. Baber, executive chairman of the steering committee.

SPORT ? BOX

Q. A bets B that Joe Louis' trainer Jack Blackburn once spotted a heavyweight 70-pounds who two weeks prior had gone the route with Jack Johnson, beating the heavy in question worse than smiling Jack did?

A.—A wins his bet. Blackburn scaling 138 pounds whipped John Willie (rough second rater not two weeks after, but only one week after Johnson had toyed with the burly Chicagoan at the Olympic club of Philly, 1906.

Q. Would you say that Dehart Hubbard because of his uncanny consistency up around the 25 foot mark at broad jumping, deserves a niche slightly above Jesse Owens in that branch of athletics?—Herman Bell, 217-19 W. 11th St., N. Y. C.

A.—My vote is NO.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL
Society Editor

The morning after the night before . . . and though the night wore into the magic hour of midnight and on to two . . . there is no let-down in the impression of one of the smartest dances of the season. It's nice to wake up in the morning and still feel that you had a good time . . . and that slight tiredness of the feet is a small price for so much fun . . . Maybe 'twas 'cause the affair was colored by sentiment; but methinks, 'twas because it was so well planned and executed by the genial president, William Perry, and his associated fraters who make up Phi Beta Sigma chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity . . . To get on with the story:

There was Zeta pledge Lillian Jennings Fentress very demure in sheer blue print set off by a corsage of gardenias and delphiniums . . . with her corsage ditto-ing Lillian's, Jocelyn Watkins, dean of pledges, was queenly in blue. Newcomers Dr. and Mrs. Albert Richardson, formerly of Washington, D. C., were the cynosure of more than one admiring pair of eyes . . . She was striking in net with a three-quarter cape falling over "peaches and cream" shoulders . . . He's a recently graduated dentist . . . and waiting on state board verdicts . . . wish him all the luck. There was Edythe Meaux's sister, AKA soror, in peach net . . . she has a Spanish-sounding name which I can't spell . . . but that doesn't stop her from being a Missouri pride.

MORE ABOUT FRIDAY EVE:

Ere the dance, it was pleasant to see Arthur Adams and congratulate him on the very recent life venture . . . of taking unto himself a bride, Mitzi Jackson . . . They slipped to Santa Ana Thursday with intimate friends and Mitzi's mater . . . to become one in the home of friends.

At the dance . . . 'twas nice to dance and chat with Johnny Brewer, Kappa polemarch . . . because once upon a time I was wary about whether or not I'd like him . . . confession, Johnny . . . and to banter with up and coming Atty. David "Bill" Williams . . . to note that Reginald Williams and William "Six" Sharp were conspicuously sober . . . with the former giving last notes on the coming Kappa caravan . . . and quite an experience to see Dee Hodge non-plussed because he didn't think his frat pin could be so easily lifted by a lady . . . Well, Dee, there're ladies . . . and ladies . . . His wife, Helen, was lovely in pastel taffeta . . . to see again Mrs. George Beavers, quite the lady in sheer dark with white . . . and to meet her guest, Miss Nicholson and friend, Miss Bodwell of Kansas City.

Impromptu breakfast with Connradene "Connie" Fields Saturday morning . . . revealed that her marriage to William Woods was just a few hours off. They were married at five o'clock Saturday in St. Odelia's Catholic church at 53rd and Hooper . . . received congratulations in a reception at 1045 East 50th . . . and hied to Murray's Dude Ranch in Victorville for the week-end . . . By the by, the Edward Atkinsons jr. (Antoinette Gamble) are "infanticipating" . . . and last week, the Samuel Browns (Virgil Johnson) celebrated their first wedding anniversary. Congrats to both couples . . . Prominent on the visitor's roster is Mrs. Olean Foreman of Oklahoma City, guest of her sister, Miss Bertie Simmons, 1134 East Forty-third street.

THE FOURTH, ET CETERA

There just couldn't have been a grander holiday than putting in two days on Pasadena J. C. campus where the Southern California Tennis tournament was held with the Apex club and the Crown City club as hosts . . . Very kind ones they proved to be, too . . . letting the guests walk off with the laurels!

Got there Sunday around one . . . and joined chief rooters Josephine Brown, coast field secretary and Leona Ward, who's saving up for the September tournament . . . Later came Charlene Byrd in beige and wine with her Venice "moment"; the Richard Ellis Salisburys jr., and three-months old son, R. E. 3rd; and the Albert "Lefty" Johnsons . . . she in cool green two-piece printed sheer and wide beige straw hat. There the whole time . . . Clarence "Pop" Mills and wifey of six months; Edwards, the referee and his very attractive spouse smart in a mail man blue suit . . . The Pasadena Johnsons and Turners . . . Eloine Thornton, girl with the perfectly moulded figure . . . and intriguing face who promises to enter the game again . . . The McDaniels brothers . . . two of them in the tournament (Jimmy walking off with the men's singles championship . . . and he and brother Al taking the men's doubles). The law off duty, Officer Reed, with the likable Mrs. White (mother of Ouida) helped things along Sunday until they got hungry. Our editor turned out to be an ardent fan Sunday . . . staying until the last point was made . . . Sunday at twilight.

It was grander still meeting sportsmen like Jack Canado, Apex prexy, who spaghetti-ed and wined Angelenos Monday evening at his home in Morton street . . . and William Hines, who hails from Philly; since last December he's decided to call this home . . . so after a trip to the Keystone state in August, he intends to learn to be a native. 'Twas a thrill to shake hands with Viola Turner, teacher in Dunbar High, Dayton, Ohio . . . and a friend of so many friends and classmates that we only needed imagination to be back in the Buckeye province. Viola wore white . . . and won admiration with that low soft voice . . . For the sake of Daytonians, she's here until July 29.

It was inspiring to see Juliette Harris on the comeback trail . . . won women's singles; and the gameness of Elyse Buie . . . the rise of "Babe" Wiggins; and the coast champion Gwen Roberson playing that way . . . the fight put up by Dean, Coblin, Fisher, Dunbar Hunt . . . and protege Almena Davis . . . and best of all seeing Leonard Fuller, junior champ, retaining his crown in a hard battle with the youngest of the Lewis brothers of the Crown City club. 'Twas pleasing, too, talking with Edgar Foley, good racket wielder . . . but more than that, friend and companion of every member of the court . . . and a little chesty over his Ross Snyder team's complete victory.

Current visitors include Mrs. Louise Lott Cooper of Kansas City, Missouri, guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. L. Fountain, 1207 East Twenty-third. Mrs. Cooper is the wife of a member of the Kansas City Police force, Melvin Cooper, and will be here three weeks before entraining for Denver. Mrs. Vivian Servis of Detroit, niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nelson, owners of the Dunbar hotel, will make her home in Los Angeles . . . Mrs. Louisa A. Reed, teacher from New Orleans, is hosting visitors William Reed and Mrs. F. Gant, also of the Creole city, at 642 East Thirty-seventh street . . .

This week-end offers: A musical and fashion show at Temple Health Institute Sunday; Bessie Dones pupils in recital at Eighth and Towne; the American Legion Auxiliary program at Second Baptist; the Kappa closed caravan . . . and anything else you want to do. If that isn't enough, it'll have to DO! . . . Bye.

Avalon Center to Sponsor Second Night of Play

Rivaling the premier presentation of Hall Johnson's "Run Lil Chillun" being staged by the Federal Theatre Project will be the second night run of the production to be sponsored by the Avalon Community Center at the Mayan Theatre, Eleventh and Hill streets on July 23 at 8:30 o'clock.

ECHO ROBINSON MADE CAMPAIGN MANAGER

At the June meeting of the Council of the Women's Political Study Club, the appointment of Mrs. Echo Robinson as Manager of the Campaign Headquarters to be established by the club, was ratified by that body.

The Executive Secretary, Mrs. Betty Hill, announced that Misses Flossie Williams and Marjorie Shores had been placed as stenographers in the Hatfield and Rolph Headquarters. She explained that the candidacy of Fred M. Roberts for Congress was not a party issue, but a racial one, and she urged the members to support him.

Mrs. Vivian Johnson gave a fine report of the June meeting of the Temple Health Clinic. Long Beach reported a very successful dinner.

The following units announced Teas to be held Sunday afternoon, July 10: Theodore Roosevelt, at the home of Mrs. Taylor, 3754 So. Harvard Blvd.; G. W. Wickliffe, at the home of Mrs. Spencer, 1206 N. Commonwealth.

August 7: Harriett Tubman at place to be announced later.

Mrs. Hill announced that the Annual Scholarship Tea would be held August 28th at Sojourner Truth Home.

July 28th was set as deadline for raising Campaign Funds.

Fashion Tea for Clinic Sunday

A musical and fashion show will be presented Sunday, July 10, on the lawn in the rear of 4920 South Central avenue by Miss Viola V. Taylor for the benefit of the Baby and Adult Clinic conducted every third Sunday of each month. The program will feature such well-known musicians as ilbert Allen, Clara Lemont, and Merriot Matthews. Among the models are Misses Beatrice Washington who will model hair styles and Katherine Johns, clothes of the latest modes. The event will continue from 2:30 to 5:30 and will be climaxed by technicolor moving pictures being taken of participants and guests. The Temple Health Institute staff will be hosts.

For the second time on Thursday evening, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, EAGLE editor-publisher, will appear on the California Eagle Negro Newspaper of the Air tonight at 8:15 over station KGFJ. Mrs. Bass' editorials have brought increasing comment and it is estimated that many thousands hear her weekly talks.

NATHAN BANKS RETURNS TO VISIT PARENTS

Nathan Banks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Banks, 934 Winona Avenue, has returned to his home for a short visit with his parents. Banks plans to depart August 1, accompanied by his brother; visiting schools in the south and in the East returning to Chicago where young Banks will assist in the conducting of a summer camp.

A native son of Pasadena Banks is a Pasadena Junior College and Pacific Union College graduate having finished from the latter institution with a degree in chemistry. While in Chicago he plans to do some work on his master's degree in the department of physics, the University of Chicago. For the past two years Banks has been employed as a teacher in the Seventh Day Adventist School.

C. C. A. Holds Enthusiastic Meeting

C. C. A. met June 27 at the home of Mr. Robert Daniels, 1559½ W. 36th Place. The meeting was called to order by the president at 9:30. It was gratifying to see a great number present. We believe it is due to the fact, after formal business is discussed at these meetings, the president no soner lays the gavel down than an impromptu party ensues. Every one enjoys himself very much. This occasion was no exception to the rule. Our good host outdid himself with honors. Boy, oh, boy! beer, wine, and Scotch flowed freely, followed by a course of chicken mushroom spaghetti.

The application of Mr. Roy Johnson of 2107 W. 29th street was accepted.

Meeting was adjourned to meet at the home of Mr. Osa Gresham, 1436 W. 35th place.

Popular Federal theatre prices of fifty-five and twenty-five cents will be charged July 23 for the Avalon Center promotion of "Run Lil Chillun" at the Mayan theatre.

No Wonder These People Are Unhappy

Are YOU Suffering the Discomfort of Itching, Burning, Soreness of BUMPS, RASHES, ECZEMA?

YES—few things in life make a person as miserable and unhappy as the discomfort of "skin irritation". So try what thousands of people have used and praised—Black and White Ointment and Skin Soap.

Bathe your skin with Black and White Skin Soap: Then use Black and White Ointment as an antiseptic and germicidal dressing to relieve the itching, burning, soreness of pimples, bumps, rashes, eczema and other skin blemishes due to external irritation. Be sure to get original and genuine Black and White Ointment and Skin Soap.

The 50c size of Black and White Ointment contains more than twice as much as the 25c size. Large bar of Black and White Skin Soap, 25c. Trial sizes of both Black and White Ointment and Skin Soap are sold for 10c at all five and ten cent stores.

If you want a gentler acting preparation, use Black and White Skin Whitener to help yourself to a fairer, brighter complexion. Sold by dealers everywhere, 25c.

By GEORGE GARNER

From Lin Yutang's all enjoyable "Importance of Living" I found quotable . . . "Writing is good or bad, depending on its charm and flavor, or lack of them. For this charm there can be no rules. Charm rises from one's writing as smoke rises from a pipe-bowl, or a cloud rises from a hill-top, not knowing whither it is going" . . . and then: . . . "One never learns anything from a book when he hates the author."

Back from an excitable semester at fashionable Howard University comes youngerset member, Marge Collins . . .with as interesting story of life in the East as any born and bred Southwesterner might want to hear.6 .what with a stay in Philadelphia, New York and Chicago. ; .with all the attendant gayety . . not of course, without making a scholastic record at the Washington, D. C. Institution . . Marge comes back to take her place as a reigning favorite among her countless friends . . .while in Chicago she was the guest of her prominent aunt and uncle, the Midian O. More than 100 persons attended the July breakfast session of the Pasadena Fellowship Breakfast League, unit of the Pasadena Community Sing Association held Sunday, July 3, in the hall of the Garner Community eCnter, 470 Blake Street.

Principal speaker of the morning was Judge William E. Fox, whose address to the assembly was very warmly received. Reverend E. W. Moore, chaplain of the Breakfast League, delivered an eulogy and a brief synopsis of the taims of the organization. He also gave comments on events current during the past month, prior to his introduction of the principal speaker.

Highlighting the musical portion of the programme were Negro spirituals and secular songs sung by members of the Knoxville College quartette, directly from the Knoxville College at Tennessee. The foursome are under the direction of Mr. Paul A. Napier. Music furnished by the group was enthusiastically applauded by the members and guests who were present.

Announcement was made of the forthcoming Pasadena Community Sing's Vesper Service to be held in the First A. M. E. Church, Colorado Street and Oakland Avenue on Sunday, July 17, 4:00 o'clock.

Guests introduced were on in accord for the League's splendid program for racial advancement. An hour of fellowship was spent at the conclusion of the meet.

STYLE NOTES

"Life is no longer when we worry", wrote a sage . . . With due apologies, let's parody it into: "A woman's glory is no prettier for her fretting" . . . her glory, of course being her hair.

Any beautician will tell you that constant fretting can not be offset in its effect on the hair, no matter how many oils and scalp lotions are applied. Now, if you just must worry, choose a day for it and get it out of your system for the rest of the week and concentrate on being the "woman beautiful".

Another very necessary item in cultivating luxuriant hair is a well balanced diet. That doesn't mean that you go on a vegetable of meat rampage . . . it means b-a-l-a-n-c-e-d in the full sense of the word--meats, vegetables, poultry, milk, etc. . . It's the finicky eater that usually suffers a hirsute crown instead of the glorious mass of locks that draw admiring glances.

Of course, we couldn't talk about hair and leave out the home treatment . . .home care will lessen your beauty shop bill and enhance your appearance. You owe your hair five minutes each night no matter how crowded the day has been . . .or how sleepy you are. A brisk massage of the scalp with the fingers and thumbs followed by brushing seperate strands briskly and application of a good scalp oil twice a week do marvelous things for you.

Finally, take note of your daily life . . .don't spend too much time in the wind and sun with your hair unprotected and, by all means, get plenty of sleep and rest. Exercise out of doors . . .and don't worry. . . even when your best beau stands you up! . . . .and keep every tool for beautifying your hair fastidiously CLEAN!

Former Chicago Girl Becomes Bride of Arthur Adams in Santa Ana

Miss Mildred Jackson formerly a favorite in Chicago's younger set, became the bride of Arthur Floyde Adams, Jr. of Los Angeles on Thursday evening, June 30 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy in Santa Ana. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Baxter Carroll Duke before members of both families and a few intimate friends.

An afternoon dress of Roman striped sheer with a black off-face hat, black pumps and bag and white gloves were worn by the bride. Her corsage was of gardenias. The pair were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel and Virgil Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold and Nellie Brown.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Jackson of Chicago who came here for the wedding and the groom son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Floyde Adams, long time residents of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams will be at home at 1036 East 42nd Place after August 15.

PERSONALITIES IN MUSIC

CHARLES WAKEFIELD CADMAN, A.S.C.A.P.

From Indian to Modern Music

COMPOSER, pianist, educator and lecturer on Indian music, Charles Wakefield Cadman, A.S.C.A.P., holds a distinguished place in the roster of American composers.

Johnstown, Pa., saw him first, descendent of a long line of Revolutionary War patriots. His music line descends from great-grandfather Wakefield, builder of the first pipe organ west of the Alleghanies. He was church organist in Pittsburgh, music critic of the Pittsburgh Dispatch, director of music at the Wolcott Conservatory in Denver and the University of Southern California. Educated almost entirely by Pittsburgh music teachers.

His interest in Indian music took him to the reservations at Omaha and Winnebago. Collaborates most frequently with Nelle Richmond Eberhart, A.S.C.A.P., with whom he composed "At Dawning," "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," the grand opera "Shanewis" and many other works.

Performances by great symphony orchestras over large radio networks maintain his high standing in the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP), which licenses his compositions for public performance for profit. He is also a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and Doctor of Music at University of Southern California and Wolcott Conservatory of Music, Denver. Now resides in San Diego, California. His latest orchestral work, "Dark Dancers of the Mardi Gras," with Cadman as pianist, was played twice by the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic.

Cadman says, "Only one-fifth of all Indian thematic material is valuable in the hands of a composer, and is suitable for harmonic investment."

INVITATIONAL TRACK, FIELD MEET TO BE HELD AT WHITE SOX JULY 28

Great Athletes, Film Notables to Participate in Annual Event

Headlining event of the sports year in Los Angeles' sepia colony, was announced today when Rod Castillo, owner of White Sox Park, and the Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health association completed arrangements for the first annual Eastside invitational track and field meet, July 28.

The event will attract a million dollars worth of stars."

Many great Olympic champions including Earl Meadows, pole vault record holder of USC, and Louie Zamperini, the brilliant distance runner, will compete with the outstanding Negro athletes, Costello claimed.

Due to the tremendous strides made by Negroes in the ranks of the collegiate and high school track and field contestants the "who's who" of the colored runners, jumpers, hurdlers and weight men will virtually mean the class of the Southland.

From Compton will come Cornelius Johnson, the record high jumper who soars over the bar well above 6ft., and the meteoric Wilbur Miller, a quarter miler who travels like the wind.

Woodrow Wilson Strode is a natural standout in the shot and discus where strength is paramount, just as he was as a football star for U. C. L. A. Kenny Washington is being sought to make a football throw for distance in an effort to set a world's record.

Jack Robinson, broad jumper of Pasadena Junior College; his brother Mack Robinson of Oregon who runs the low hurdles, 220 and broad jumps; and so many other Negro high school and college stars that White Sox Park will sparkle with stars under the arc lights on the night of July 28, will be entered.

Dean Cromwell of U. S. C.'s national championship team, and Harry Trotter of U. C. L. A., Herschel Smith of Compton Junior College, Jess Mortenson of Riverside and Otto Anderson of Pasadena J. C. are among those who will officiate and otherwise lend their assistance, it is reported.

This will be a Negro Olympiad but the Negroes will be up against some of the greatest white athletes in the world.

It will also mark the first time that high school and junior college boys have had an opportunity to compte with college stars.

Plans to make the event a rousing success are being pushed forward by Mrs. Fannie Williams and Dr. Leonard Stovall.

It is believed that Bill Robinson, Clarence Muse, Henry Armstrong if in Los Angeles, and other notables will occupy boxes.

General admission will be 40 cents while the camparatively few box seats available are reserved at $1.10.

"This is the biggest undertaking we've attempted at White Sox Park," said Rod Castillo after the A. A. U. sanction was received. "But it will be a grand show. We plan to make it the big annual event of the eastside".

CHURCHES

Holy Communion was administered at the eleven a. m. services of the Bethel A. M. E. church with the Rev. L. H. Owens delivering the sermon.

Several out-of-towners from Pasadena and Santa Monica were present at the morning services of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church. Many of them were former members of Rev. Johnson's church in Arkansas and offered the church great encouragement.

Sunday will be observed as Women's Day at Mt. Zion. In the afternoon the Missionary Society will meet and all the Societies in the city are invited to be present.

The women are also working hard preparing for the Progressive Baptist District association.

TULARE, CALIF.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Straughter had as guests Sunday, Mrs. Straughter's cousin, Mrs. Kitty Kimbers, and husband, and Raymond Jones of Bakersfield. The party motored down and had an enjoyable day.

Miss Marion Hinds was a house guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Young, of Bakersfield, over the 4th.

Miss Mayme oethe of Tulare, is employed in Visalia at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Pyle are the proud parents of a brand new daughter, who was born July 3rd. We have not learned the young lady's name.

BOXER VAQUERO BACK IN SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, July 7—Jackie Vaquero, the ring's number one jitterbug, arrived here this week, sans his protege, Patsy Wray the eccentric Panama boy, leaves next week for Hollywood, to visit his cousin. After a month's rest, the spidery, hazel-eyed welterweight leaves for Milwaukee, to fight under the direction of Al Fain.

Although he started his career in Cincinnati, Vaquero got his real start here in San Diego under the wing of Dick Dillard 8-years ago.

BAKERSFIELD NEWS

By L. FLEMING, JR.

The Bakersfield Cubs defeated Delano by a score of 12 to 8 in a baseball game last Sunday at Recreation Park. A fairly large crowd watched the Cubs' spree with four runs in the fourth inning, five in the fifith and three in the seventh. Demery, the Cubs' first string pitcher turned in a good game as catcher. Demery by the way pitched a four hit and eleven strike out game the previous Sunday.

Ragsdale pitched the first six innings and was replaced in the seventh by Brown, who struck out six men in three innings.

She plans to enter college in September.

SCHOOL BOOKS DEFILE OUR HISTORY--RUSSELL

COLUMBUS, O., July 7—A slow poison that continues to seep into the minds of millions of American school children is contained in seventeen textbooks used in some 12,000 public schools in this country today, Dr. Charles Edward Russell told the twenty-ninth annual conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People meeting here this week.

Miss Venovia Colbert with Mr. Scipio were visitors in Tulare, among friends recently. Miss Colbert's friends are glad to know of her recovery, from a painful foot injury suffered recently.

Miss Ossie Mae Calvin, recently returned from her vacation, was hostess last week to Mrs. Lula Goethe and Miss Deborah Carter of Tulare.

Mrs. J. N. Cherry, wife of Brooks Chapel's minister, is in Los Angeles, on a business trip.

Mrs. Otey Kahn, a former resident of Tulare, now living near Fresno, visited her old home Sunday with her young son, John, to the delight of her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Young and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young on the 4th after a theatre trip on the part of the N. Youngs.

SANTA ANA, July 7,—Reputedly a full-blooded Mojave Indian, the Rev. J. C. Burns, student of Western University, Kansas iCty, Kan., is scheduled as guest preacher at the Johnson Chapel A. M. E. Sunday in the afternoon and evening. Houseguest of Rev. and Mrs. C. N. Austin of the AME Church, Rev. Burns is in California attending the AME confab at San Diego. Rev. Harrison, presiding elder will hold quarterly conference.

The Junior group of the Baptist church was presented in a musical Sunday evening under sponsorship of Mrs. Ada Williams Wyatt and the BYPU. 18 young people and tots, comprising a community chorus from Johnson Chapel and Second Baptist church participated.

Mrs. E. P. Holmes was hostess on the 4th of July at a very delightful dinner party, after which the guests assembled in her beautiful garden. Trees, flowers and a a cactus garden of unusual variety was a back ground for group pictures, taken by Mrs. Wyatt and William Jones, Jr., who is home for his vacation from San Jose State College.

The afternoon was spent in games and musical numbers in which all guests took part.

While the men sat around the fishpond and smoked and socialized the ladies chatted.

Bidden guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Askem of Pasadena with their house guests, Mrs. Mary Simms and daughter of Guthrie, Oaklahoma, Santa Ana guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. Walker, Lou Robinson, Mrs. Marjorie Bennett and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wyatt, Mr. O. J. Duncan, Mrs. Ollie Woldridge, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Burks and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald who assisted the hostess in entertaining the guests so royally.

Last but not least at 6 p. m. the guests re-assembled in the garden on the lawn where delicious water-melon was served to all.

Thursday evening, June 30th, Ralph Jones was host to the "Men's Social Club of Santa Ana at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Burks. After the regular business session a very interesting program was enjoyed. The program chairman, Mr. J. J. Wilson spent much time in preparing the program which was in honor of Flag Day and the 4th of July. Mrs. L. R. Burks, President of Women's Political Study Club read a paper on "The Flag".

Mrs. F. Buchanan, President of Women's Charity Club head "The Flag of Our Country Forever".

Mrs. E. Wyatt, sang "America the Beautiful".

Rev. Z. Dean talked on "The Negro and the Flag".

Mr. J. J. Wilson also sang a solo, "The Flag of the Free".

The entire group sang America and the "Star Spangled Banner" accompanied by Mrs. Burks.

After light refreshments the guests reluctantly made their departure.

The WSPC is planning a fine programme for the Anniversary Supper to be held the last of this month.

A. H. J. Club Host to Graduates of Monrovia Schools

Second Baptist Church
Maple and Shamrock Aves.
Rev. John A. Davis, pastor

The Sunday school was called to order by Dr. William Enge, assistant superintendent oh time. Enthusiastic students awaited the teacher in various classes. The review was conducted by the pastor.

A splendid audience was on hand to greet the pastor, and listened to a splendid message from the subject. The resurrection and the life. Text John 11th Chapter 25th verse. Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth in me though he were dead yet shall he live. He brought a very spiritual and impressive message. Mr. McAlpine was present. The BYPU opened on time with a good attendance. The lesson was taught by the pastor from the 14th Chapter of John. After the lesson period, there was a Bible drill, boys vs. girls. The girls won by 15 points. Miss Alice Presley was elected pianist for the BYPU and K. Brown was elected secretary. President Mayfield has decided to put over a big program for the BYPU during the coming quarter. The Covenant meeting and Lord's supper was administered at the evening hour to a good congregation.

The pastor will speak Sunday, July 10th; 7:30 p. m. in the First Baptist Church, (white). This is the annual Union service between the churches of Monrovia, and is designated as Second Baptist night. The pastor will bring the message, and the choir render the music. The pastor and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will attend the Tri-County Association which convenes in the Macedonia Baptist church. Wednesday, Thursday, July 6-7. The pastor will bring the message on the night of the 7th.

The pastor and Mrs. Davis, and a number of the members of the church and choir journeyed to Watts last Friday night, on the occasion of the 13 anniversary of the pastor of the Macedonia Baptist Church. We enjoyed a very fine evening. The Missionary Society met in its regular monthly meeting at the church on Monday night. Mrs. Davis is the president. At this meeting each section of the Missionary Society will make their report for the month. Deacon J. J. Jenkins, will deliver the welcome address on behalf of the church at the Quarterly meeting of the AME Zion District Conference. The pastor being in attendance at the Tri-County Association.

Last Thursday, June 30th the A. H. J. club entertained the graduates as is their annual custom for a number of years. The following graduates weer in attendance: Misses Muriel Simonds, Alice Presley, Eslie Adams from Monrovia High School in June. Mrs. G. Ferris the same school in February. Mr. Simonds from Pasadena Junior College and Miss Tressie Gardenhire from Citrus Junior College. A very pleasant afternoon was spent. This affair was staged in Jackson's beautiful garden. Mrs. Nowell the president of the club, spared no pains in the entertainment of the graduates. Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Presley, Miss E. Jones, Mrs. Stewart, Miss McKinley, Mrs. Enge and Rev. and Mrs. Davis were on hand to congratulate the graduates. The pastor made a very brief, but pointed address to the graduates, and bid them to study to show themselves approved workmen that need not be ashamed. He told them also to not give up and say what's the use, but to be prepared for any emergencies that may arise, for it is only the man or woman who is really prepared, who can grasp the opportunity when it comes.

The pastor was elected to attend the Grand Lodge session, as a delegate. The session will be held in Oakland next month.

FRESNO NEWS

By M. L. MILLIGAN

There is something new under the sun, at least in Fresno. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burns, proprietors of Dixie Cabin, sponsored a cocktail hour featuring Miss Melba Campbell, the sepia songbird of San Juaquin" assisted by Norxell Reeves, Harlem Inn's emcee and Bob White, radio star, Thos. Watson, Howard Berry, Robt. Burns and others.

The affair was well attended and will be featured every Sunday afternoon.

Flash! Flash!!

Of wide interest was the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. ranville Berry of the wedding of their talented daughter, Miss Addie Mae Berry, graduate of Fresno Tech high, and former student of Fresno State College to the debonair, Mr. Jessie J. Elliott, son of Mrs. Elvira Holmes of San Francisco. Rev. A. W. Hubbard tied the golden knot at the family residence, 930 B street Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Dorothy Davis, matron of honor, Mr. Harold Judson, best man. Out-of-town relatives and friends here to attend the wedding are: Sisters, Mrs. Lula Allen, Oakland, Lee Lofton, Clyde Finley of L. A. and Mrs. M. Clifford Jones of Berkeley.

NAACP Conference Holds Johnson Memorial Services

COLUMBUS, O., July 7—At the same hour that funeral services for James Weldon Johnson, famed poet and professor of creative literature at Fisk university, were being held in New York City, memorial services for him, a one time executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were held here June 30 at Shiloh Baptist Church, where the Association's twenty-ninth Annual Conference was being held.

Marked by a simple yet moving solemnity, the service, quickly arranged as a part of the conference agenda, was attended by delegates, local citizens, staff members and members of the national board of directors of the organization. Walter White, executive secretary of the Association was in New York, where he attended the funeral.

William Pickens, director of association branches, urged members of the organization to "waste no tears" on the death of James Weldon Johnson, but put into practice the words of his famous anthem, "Lift Ev'ry Voice years God of our silent tears . . .

"I believe that is the way James Weldon Johnson would have wanted us to react to his death," he said, and so I repeat after him 'God of our weary God of our silent tears . . . Keep us forever in the path we Keep us forever in the path we pray . . .'"

As a benediction, the audience closed the service by reciting this paragraph from the author's book, "Negro Americans, What Now?"

"I will not allow one prejudiced person or one million or one hundred million to blight my life. I will not let prejudice or any of its attendant humiliations and injustices bear me down to spiritual defeat. My inner life is mine, and I shall defend and maintain its integrity against all the powers of hell."

LYNCHING FIGHT TO CONTINUE - - WHITE

COLUMBUS, O., July 7.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will continue its fight for passage of a federal anti-lynching bill in the next Congress, Walter White, executive secretary of the association said this week at the association's conference.

Val Verde Mecca for Pleasure Seekers July 4th

Mr. and Mrs. George Williams of 2089 W. 27th street spent their honeymoon vacation at the Casa de Baldwin. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Starks of Raymond Avenue were among other guests at this popular place.

Mrs. Emma Johnson of Oakland, California spent the week end in the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hodge and Mrs. Vada King of Santa Monica were recent visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Taylor and Mrs. McNarry and son have been visiting in Val Verde.

June 23rd, the Past President Club of the Baker Auxiliary of the Spanish American Veterans met at the Taylor ranch. Past presidents present were Amanda Glenn, Sheba Scott, Gussie Davis, Fannie Keene and Comrades James Taylor and Glenn. The hostess, Mrs. Clara Taylor, also a Past President served a tasty dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Hardimon and Dr. Bledsoe of Los Angeles were week-ender at the Taylor Ranch.

Monday, July Fourth was another big day in Val Verde. The crowd was one of the largest ever assembled here. The several thousand happy people who enjoyed the day playing games, holding picnics, dancing, hiking among the hills and visiting with old friends felt more than repaid for the journey to this delightful spot. The sports events of the day were in charge of Spurgeon Jones and Albert Williams, two pleasing young men connected with the Eastern Company. This company furnished the prizes awarded contestants in the different races. Mr. Jones who is a candidate for Republican nomination for State Assembly from the 62nd District, made many friends and a splendid impression with those present.

The week end crowd taxed every accomodation to the limit, in the valley.

Judge Kennedy of Newhall, entertained a group of people at the Club House one evening last week. A chicken dinner was served by Mrs. Allie Gafford.

El Centro Women's Club Entertains on 4th of July

The Women's Civic and Improvement Club furnished Fourth of July amusements and entertainment for a number of persons remaining at home. An all day picnic was held in the City Park. Free lemonade for the kiddies, sports of all kinds with liberal prizes given to the winners were features of the day. The day closed with a dance given in the Elks' Ball room. There were a number of out of town visitors.

The citizens of Brawley celebrated Independence Day with a Rodeo in the City Park and a ball game with the El Centro boys. The day's celebration attracted a large number of persons.

Notices are posted to the effect that the business place of the Economy Cleaners will be closed from July 15 to September 15. R. J. Burleigh is the proprietor of the establishment. He has the reputation of being The Valley's premier cleaner. In addition to the large volume of business turned out by his own place of business, he is also workmen no. 1 for the Marsh Dry Cleaners of this city who conduct the smartest establishment of the kind in this section.

The Burleighs will attend the Grand Lodge of Masons; Mrs. Burleigh who is a past president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs will atend the annual meeting in Los Angeles and will assist in the unification of the clubs of the Northern and Southern Sections. They will later make an extended visit through the state of Texas where the newcomer Miss Jontille will be presented to the Burleigh dynasty. After a visit elsewhere in the East they will return to El Centro ready to begin their work in the community. Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh are very serviceable in church, community and fraternal affairs.

Rev. David Campbell of Blythe, Moderator of the Southwest Baptist Association preached the evening sermon at the Second Baptist church last Sunday evening. The association over which he presides will meet in San Diego July 7-10. The local church is sending delegates from the church and the several auxiliaries.

The pastor Rev. I. N. Whitten and a number of the members of the church attended the installation services of the Rev. N. S. Merritt as pastor of the New Bethel Baptist church, Brawley. Rev. Campbell preached the installation sermon.

An exceptionally large congregation attended the communion services last Sunday evening. Among the out of city worshippers were the Rev. Merritt of the Brawley church and Rev. Edward Haywood a local minister.

Mesdames Martha Chism, Irma Laurence Luvenia Gibson and Daisy Lucas returned last Saturday from Oakland where they attended the annual session of the Pacific States Association of Elks. They report a profitable meeting and an exceptional grand social entertainment. Mrs. Lottie Augustus the retiring president remained in the Bay Cities for an extended visit.

Members of the local Elk Lodge and Daughter Elks Temple, and citizens of this section are congratulating W. A. Payne on his election as President of the Pacific States Association. Whole hearted pledges of cooperation are made by those interested.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas and family of Redlands are spending their holiday vacation here visiting relatives and friends. The Thomas' family was among the first of our group to come into this section. Their high standard of citizenship is well known and they will continue to have a large number of interested friends. Mr. Thomas senior is running a dairy ranch in the Mt. Signal section and is numbered among the Valley's thrifty citizens.

Mrs. Eugene Perue is visiting her sister and family in the city of Bakersfield. Rev. Green her brother-in-law is pastor of the Mt. Zion Baptist church of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. George Venable and family and Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Venable's mother, left for Los Angeles last Thursday. They will spend the remainder of the vacation period in that city.

Miss Regenia Payne leaves Tuesday for Asilomar where she will attend the Girl Reserves' conference.

Woman Sharecropper Steals Show at NAACP Conference

COLUMBUS, O., July 7, —A kindly, tired gray-haired mother of eight children, who was driven 700 miles from Memphis, Tenn., to tell the story of her fight to organize Negro and white sharecroppers in Arkansas, stole the show at the conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

More than 2,000 persons who jammed the church, strained eagerly to hear every word of Mrs. Henrietta McGhee, as she poured out her story of slave labor, beatings, arrests, and persecutions at the hands of southern white landowners and law enforcement officers.

"But, I can say," she concluded, "that I never lost faith in the union, and I ask you all to help us in our struggle for us poor Negro and white sharecroppers. All we want to do is make a decent living, but it looks like some of the white folks down in Arkansas don't want us to live like decent folks."

Mrs. McGhee is now out on bail, and has been touring the country under the auspices of the Southern Tenant Farmers Union, in an effort to spread the story of the plight of the white and Negro tenant farmer.

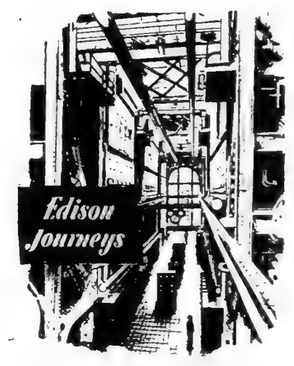
FOUND! THE SECRET TO YOUTHFUL-LOOKING HAIR

• • • Drab, Lifeless, Gray-Streaked Hair Takes on Glowing Beauty with a Single Application of Larieuse

THE middle-aged woman whose hair is soft, alluring, colorful, always sparkling with dancing highlights—how does she do it? What is the secret to her youthful-looking hair?

Chances are she uses a hair coloring and chances are the hair coloring she uses is Godefroy's Larieuse. Years ago this "secret" was generally known only to professional hairdressers. Today it is shared by women everywhere.

You, too, can have beautiful hair by using Godefroy's Larieuse, the quick-acting, easy-to-use hair coloring in the red box. Whatever its condition—whether drab, lifeless, off-color, or streaked with gray—Larieuse will make your hair one even, lustrous, natural, youthful-appearing color. Choice of 18 shades, including jet-black, black and brown.



Remember—ugly hair sometimes kills a man's interest in a woman.

Don't risk it—use Larieuse. Satisfaction guaranteed or your dealer will refund your money.

Larieuse Shampoo
. . . produces a remarkably cleansing shampoo which leaves the hair soft and fluffy.

Larieuse Stain Remover
. . . removes hair dye stains from hands, forehead and scalp. Will not affect color of hair.

If your dealer does not have it, send $1.25 direct to . . .

BOILER ROOM, PLANT NO. 3
LONG BEACH STEAM STATION

Towering as high as a six story building, this double row of gigantic boilers forms Southern California's "Grand Canyon of Industry." Operating at capacity, these boilers convert twenty tons of water into steam each minute. The boilers are fired with either natural gas or oil—and Long Beach Steam Station is the world's largest industrial consumer of natural gas.

Edison's fuel-electric generating plants are inter-connected with its twenty-four hydro-electric plants, to provide Southern and Central California with an adequate, assured supply of electric energy.

In Which We Arrive At A Conclusion After Talking With Ralph Metcalfe

THE NEGRO college-developed Negro athlete is 10 years away from comparison with the Negro athlete developed in mixed schools! We have the word of Ralph Metcalfe for the above statement. You all know Metcalfe. He's the lad, who a few years ago, set the track world on fire with scintillating performances on the cinderpath, and who is co-holder of the world record for 100 meters at 10.3 seconds.

Upon completion of his prescribed course at Marquette university where he captained the track team, an unheard of honor until achieved by him, Metcalfe hied away to New Orleans, Louisiana, and Xavier university, accepting the position of track coach.

There only for a short time, Ralph has developed some particularly outstanding athletes. We had Track Coach Metcalfe as our Sepia Sportscast guest last week and put the question, "Do you think the athlete in is beginning to compare favorably with the Negro athlete in the major universities of the West and East?"

We were prompted to ask this question because of a desire to get some first-hand information in light of a problem here on the coast.

As has been stated in this column before, first brought to our attention by Gene Coughlin, sports writer and columnist for the L. A. Examiner, there seems to be an increasing desire on the part of coast universities to play Negro athletes as less as possible.

Of course, one easily sees that if the Negro prep star is not encouraged to enter coast universities, where will the potential world-beater go? Or will he hang up his spikes and go nowhere?

The situation appears to have more ramifications than we care to go into. However, we detect a desire among coaches of the Metcalfe type, in the South, to develop athletes to compete in major competition such as the NC2A and IC4A, besides regular conference meets.

We see in this, a sort of bait for the outstanding Negro prep star who is looking about for some place to show his wares. Creditable performances by athletes from Dixie schools in these meets, with attendant publicity in the nation's press couldn't help but attract the would-be record-breakers.

As was pointed out by Examiner writer Coughlin, Metcalfe said that Dixie schools find themselves handicapped by lack of efficient coaching, although blessed with a wealth of raw material.

This would lead us to believe that if the few stars developed in mixed schools would embark on coaching careers it wouldn't be too long before the Negro athlete in Dixie schools would compare favorably with those in mixed universities.

Who will deny that the mixed university Negro star must be twice as good as the non-Negro to win a berth on the varsity in any sport? Being twice as good must necessarily mean that he knows his fundamentals in his particular sport twice as well, plays his position twice as well, knows the rules of the game twice as well, knows all the tricks twice as well, and is two-times the sportsman of any other player on the field!

Such knowledge as this can be gotten only by playing on mixed teams. An athlete so equipped, it appears, would make a helluva good coach.

As Metcalfe says, the responsibility that is placed on the Negro aspirant for a place on the varsity in any sport of a mixed university serves as a challenge to the best that is in him. And when a Negro athlete lives up to that responsibility he has the best wishes of his teammates, his school and his opponents.

Metcalfe, himself, was an outstanding example of this. He was the first Negro track captain in the history of his school. He lived up to his responsibility. We understand that after Metcalfe, another Negro, whose name escapes us, lived up to his responsibility, and like Metcalfe, was named track captain.

Few make the grade, but when they do — they're tops! We have reason to believe that more and more Metcalfes will accept coaching positions in the Negro schools of the country. Also, we have reason to believe that more and more Negro prep stars, who have learned something of the fundamentals in the particular sport in which they have excelled while attending mixed schools will go to these Negro schools which appear to be more conscious of the dilemma in which these prepsters finds themselves.

And, in another 10 years, we may see athletes developed by Negro schools compare favorably, not only with Negro stars, but any star developed in the major universities of the nation!

PREDICTIONS: We like Georgie Crouch over tough Babe Brandelli in the Olympic feature Tuesday eve. Ditto Hank Mobley over "Texas" Jack Dallas in the other half of the double-windup.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By Miriam Matthews

In grandmother's day, and even later, there were definite rules laid down for young people to follow. Every adolescent knew what he could do and what he could not do. Today, as a result of certain distinct changes in the social order, the adolescent finds himself faced with many problems which neither he nor his parents are prepared to cope with. If one should suggest a standard set of rules for the modern child's guidance, a violent discussion would be the result in any modern family. To make these adolescent adjustments easier, many fine books are now being published, giving general suggestions which may be adapted to the peculiar needs of the individual. Among these is "The Adolescent," by Dr. Ada Arilitt, which yeilds much new information of great practical value on emotional control, character training, mental growth and education for home and family life. It is written in a simple and informal manner but is thoroughly scientific and convincing.

"From Friendship to Marriage," by Dr. Roy A. Burkhart is a frank and helpful discussion of boy and girl relationships from adolescence to maturity. In straight forward style, and without dodging the issues involved, the author points out the values to be preserved and the snares to be avoided in problems of such genuine significance to young people as "dates", engagements and marriage. The author's wide experience in working with thousands of young people has made possible this splendid interpretation of the subject which will be read with profit by young and old alike.

Two school teachers, Frances S. Miller and Helen H. Laitem present "The Personal Problems of the High School Girl" in a handy little volume, to meet the numerous requirements of girls who do not have time to study all of the courses in the home economics cirriculum, yet are interested in knowing how to select food and clothing for health and good looks, how to handle their money to best advantage, how to behave in different social situations, and to understand human relationships—in short, all of the things girls are anxious to know so that they may live more abundantly. Two very fine books to study at the same time are "Good Taste in Dress," by Fredia McFarland and "Your Clothes and Personality," by Mildred Graves Ryan because they, too encourage girls to make the most of their appearance and individual personalities.

Borrow these books from the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 S. Central Avenue and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Avenue.

Masquerades As Woman!

FUGITIVE ASHAMED AT RECAPTURE; GETS TERM

KINSTON, N. C., June 30. (ANP)—It was a nice idea when he first thought of it, but now Budd Suggs, 26, isn't at all enthusiastic over posing as a woman since he was recaptured and sentenced Tuesday to serve five and a half months at the state prison camp.

Suggs hung his head in shame as fellow convicts called him "Flossie" and "Nanny". And not the least of his painful memories had to do with Police Capt. George Canady and Police Judge Joseph Dawson.

After being sentenced to six month sthree or four weeks ago, Suggs escaped. Police, thinking he would return home, went there. In his home they were treated to the sight of a "woman" wearing a green picture hat, a black evening gown, decollete; a purple jacket and suede slippers, plus silk stockings and underthings. Eyebrows were penciled and lips rouged. Completing the picture were horn rimmed spectacles. Officers Charles Moore and Wheeler Kennedy were fooled completely untll the "woman" started walking around. Although dainty in attire, the "woman" walked like a plow hand and officers knew it was the escaped convict.

He was kept in jail for a time, then led before Judge Dawson in his feminine attire. Suggs objected, but he was ordered to put on everything down to the last stitch--including panties, gloves and fan. En route to court, the blushing prisoner begged to be permitted to go up the stairs, He lost tha targument.

Judge Dawson remarked, "Dressed up, aren't you, Bud?" Suggs hid his face. The court thought he had been punished enough for the escape, and merely ordered him to complete his sentence.

According to reports from the state prison camp, Suggs will be gvien "domestic" employment such as cooking and sweeping, although he has begged to be permitted to work on the farm or dig ditches beside roads.

OHIO RACE BUSINESS SELLS HALF MILLION GALLONS ANNUALLY

COLUMBUS, O., July 7. (ANP.—The Sohio Gas Stations, owned and operated by Orval Peyton, popular business man of the East End. Across the top are the stations on the corner of Leonard at St. Clair and Spring at Grant and across the bottom are the stations on the corner of Long at Monroe and St. Clair at Mt. Vernon.

Center: Mr. Orval Peyton. bought his first station Long and Lonroe, in 1931 and his next two Leonard and St. Clair and Mt. Vernon and St. Clair i 1932. He took over the station at Grant and Spring in 1937.

The stations have proven so successful that they turn over a half million gallons of gas annually and the amount is on the increase. Each station is staffed with a competent and courteous group of men and the personnel of each station is very popular with the patrons.

My Peyton is prominent in many civic and social functions. He recently headed the successful YMCA membership drive. He was educated in Columbus. He is a World War veteran and saw much service. Columbus is proud of Mr. Peyton and feels that the city grows as he grows and expands his oil business.

Inglewood off sailing with no sign of red ink . . Los Angeles is fast becoming the greatest sporting city in the country with races the year round, with the mutual take five or six hundred thousand dollars a day . . . Ir Grant arrived in time for the Inglewood opening which was a bang-up event.

Hotel Goff, run by Wm. "Spooks" Goff and his wife, Pauline, is open and all set for business. Goff, why don't you tell the public about your swell hotel and Gold Room out San Francisco way?

Clocker Berman of race track fame and lobbyist at the Dunbar hotel, L. A., may not know the bookmakers are laying 1000 to 1 that he does not round back into the big money by 1940.

Betty Treadwell, entertainer, who walked down the gang plank from an ocean liner and then traveled across the country was reported saying, "Gene Alexander and myself were at one time thick as dough, but it doesn't seem to be the same old smile anymore."

Eddie Anderson, billed as a Hollywood screen and radio star, was quoted as saying to his boss, "I couldn't spare the time to stay away from the Hollywood track if my photo was on the front page of the Eagle".

Foster, proprietor of the Alabam restaurant, Fresno, knocked an exmaster of ceremonies on his "fanny" for ordering dinner, bawling him out and refusing to pay the bill.

Lester Mapp, front man for the Show Boat floor show with an all-star Creole rescue, and the bosses have come to a climax; why no one knows. Woo, woo, woo!

Fern Martin of 836 Front St., San Diego, is reported to be very kind to some of the playboys. Fern is swell but plenty rough.

Mrs. Lestley Arston and Tillie Clement can be seen with their swell summer toggery which is real quality and tops.

Never realized how cute, pretty red-headed Alice Keyes is until I got a flash at her form in a pair of white silk slacks one Sunday in front of the Dunbar.

John Ferguson, race tracker, has ogne suing pretty Minnie Robinson for a coat which cost him five figures. Minnie walked out of the San Francisco store with the coat on and caught the first train for Los Angeles.

Louie Lee, of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin and who takes his mail at 1716 Webster St., after romancing pretty Dee Dee Earl, entertainer and buying her outfits which cost $80, then invited her up to his apartment to have lunch, but Dee was heard to say, not until I know you better!"

Morris Moore, one of New Orleans' big shots, bankrolled Bob Crawford to play cards--Keno and black jack--but sent one of his sweeties to watch him and report on his gainings. Bob made love to the pretty, both taking the train and they are now in San Francisco.
